Nab Leader in Employment Racket Here

Suspected of being a ringleader in an employment racket here, Truss Joiner, 43, was arraigned for trial in Division 7, of the Municipal Court, Friday, on suspicion of violation of section 1531 of the labor code.

Officers Conway and Smith, reported that Joiner had taken clothes and money, usually in sums of $2, from a number of persons he promised jobs in return.

Slips of paper with names of his "clients" were found in the suspect's possession. Victims are reported to have been: James Puckett, 1411 Hooper avenue; Mary and Sam Smith, Willie Barfield, Oscar Phillips, Clarence Perkins, Suthie Shirley, and Ernest Broussard.

RAISING MONEY

PROF. N. W. COLLIER

Veteran President of Florida Normal College, St. Augustine, who is now organizing a "Club of 10,000" among graduates, former students, and those interested in higher education, in a drive for $150,000 to develop a bigger and better institution. The money is being used for both building and endowment. Response is being received from all over Florida and from other states, and President Collier is well pleased with the general interest shown in the school.

Tennessee State Gets Huge Grant

WASHINGTON Mar. 3 —President William J. Hale announced here today where he stopped over on his eastern trip, that the Federal Government had just allocated to Tennessee State College, Nashville, a grant of approximately one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. The plant already valued at more than three million dollars, will be beautified and much additional equipment will be provided. Since the State will furnish much of the material used, the whole appropriation will amount to almost a quarter-million dollars.

Pretty Clerk Tries Suicide; Will Recover

Dotty Lewis, aged 24, pretty Federal Theatre clerk, living at 1185 East Vernon, is reported recovering from self inflicted injuries when she attempted suicide by inhaling gas late Thursday evening.

According to Miss Kate Collins, who summoned the Newton street ambulance upon discovering Mrs. Lewis in a semi-conscious state, the girl had become despondent over separation from her husband, Earl a postal employee. She said that she was sick, had no money and did not want to live.

Emergency Hospital physicians declared her condition not serious.

Liberty Building-Loan Stock and Shareholders in Meeting

Stockholders and shareholders of the Liberty Building-Loan Association, nad several interested visitors gathered in the Association's assembly room Wednesday evening of last week to hear explained the new plan of insurance of accounts recently obtained from the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation by the Liberty.

Following introductory remarks by the president, Louis M. Blodgett, Deputy District Attorney Charles H. Matthews discussed the insurance plan and gave a brief history of the Corporation which operates as a permanent agency of the United States government, capitalized at $100,000,000.

In his remarks Mr. Matthews, stressed the ultimate value to investors and the community in general of continued confidence in the Association. Its conservative policy, he said, deserves great praise, and is basic cause for its successful growth since it opened its doors in 1924.

"Not only is the Liberty Building-Loan Association a credit to the Race," said the young member of the district attorney's office, but it is also a credit to the community as a whole; and with its individual accounts up to $5000, protected by Federal insurance, the Liberty is insured against the "death' of its investors' money."

Especially gratifying to those present were the president's statement that the Association "made money last year" to the extent of several thousand dollars.

"We are now on first base," he added. "Where we go from here is up to the people of the community."

In discussing the connection of the Liberty with the Federal Home Loan Bank, the secretary said:

"The Association is a member of the Federal Home Loan Bank which is an institution formed by Congress to act as a banking house for building and loan Associations. Through its connection with this bank the association enjoys a degree of liquidity not possible for buildng and loan associations before the depression. Through this connection it is posible to obtain advances of from 50 to 90 per cent of its mortgage loans. This means that that amount of cash is always available to take care of any withdrawal claims the association may have. This reminds one of the saying about eating your cake and still having it. Our condition contradicts this saying. You can invest your savings in your association whch will in turn lend the funds to its members to finance their homes and then if the money is needed over half of it can be returned to the investors at once without disturbing the loans on tht members' homes. Thus we enjoy the use of our money and still have it at our command."

Encouraging testimony was given by a number of old investors, and persons whose homes had bten saved through the efforts of the Liberty. A general theme of satisfaction with the progressive management of the institution was expressed in the general remarks.

In his concluding remarks President Blodgett said:

"The Liberty Building-Loan Association is not a one or two man job. It was established to fill a definite need and render a special service to the community to which it belongs. The Liberty is now insured, solvent, and in excellent conditon, according to the State Building-Loan Commissioner, and offers the greatest possible safety to its investors.

"The Liberty is more than just another organization of which we have many such as lodges, churches and the like, all very necessary to make up a community. It is an opportunity in itself and the only one of its kind among us and its possibilities are unlimited. It is not a mere building organization or company. The name building-loan is a term prescribed by law for such institutions in the State of California, but it does not imply the full extent of the activities of the Association.

"This is a savings institution. It encourages thrift, and helps people finance and refinance their homes. The association enables them to purchast homes, gives employment to our boys and girls, and through its financing ability gives work to our men, assisting them in caring for their families and educating their children."

It was further pointed out by the president that money put into the Liberty is assured of earning power. Insurance of accounts, he said guarantees the safety of all money invested.

The increased rate of earnings of money invested was also shown by the statement that the money invested in the Association, the higher the rate of earning power grows on invested funds.

Early's Trial Date is Set

Trial of Charles Early, former playground director, charged with two counts of suspicion of rape, is set for March 11, in Department 46 of the Superior Court.

Early is out of jail on $1000 bond. He was dismissed from his position as director of playground activities at the East 22nd street playground, pending outcome of the trial, but is presently employed on another WPA project.

Mystery Assault Baffles Police

C. H. Florkon, of 1316½ W. 38 Place, reported to detectives at Newton street station that he found an injured man near 1303 E. Vernon late Monday night of last week as he was walking home.

The victim refused to give his name o Georgit Street Hospital attaches summoned to his aid but stated that a Negro man jumped on him and struck him several times with some unknown weapon.

Cause of the assault is still a mystery with the victim in a semi-concious condition and unable to supply investigators with detailed information.

Robbery as a motive was discounted after officers discovered that nothing had been taken from the victim.

Crap Game Loser Attempts to 'Shoot Up Works'

When James W. Richbur, 28 year-old chauffeur, lost ten dollars in a crap game, he assertedly grew belligerant and attempted to "shoot up the works" with a double barreled shot gun, officers said.

According to officers Clarke and McGruder, of Newton street poice division, Richburg is suspected of having fired into the house of Charles Swam, 919 East Adams, four times last Friday night.

On complaint charging suspicion of assult with a deadly weapon, he was arrested and held under $1000 bond.

2 MEN ROB MAN; TRY TO ATTACK WOMAN

Two Negroes, one armed with a piece of concrete, allegedly forced Hubert Cooley, 6521 Gifford avenue, Bell, and Miss Velva Fograty, 6256 King avenue, to drive to a lonely spot on Slauson avenue, where they robbed the man and attempted to attack the girl, it was reported today.

The couple was unable to furnish officers with a complete description of their assailants

CORRECTION

The address, 1124½ E. 27th St., listed in the California Eagle of Feb. 24, as the residence of one Mrs. Billie Kuy Kendall, arrested for prostitution by Newton Street Police Station Vice Squad was found to be incorrect this week.

The address, obviously erroneous, was listed on the police blotter of the Newton street station, from which it was taken by a California Eagle reporter.

2 LeMoyne Debaters Go to Australia

MEMPHIS, Tenn. March 3.—Two LeMoyne College debaters and their coach will leave in June for Australia and New Zealand as the first Negro debating team from an American Institution to compete in foregn lands, Dr. Frank Sweeney, president of the college announced this week.

The tour will include debates with colleges and universities in New Zealand, Australia, and Tasmania and will continue through August, when the winter term ends in those countries.

Professor Boris G. Alexander, professor of political science and debate coach, will accompany the LeMoyne representatives, who in the past few years have visited some of the nation's largest universities on debate tours, including New York university, Stanford, Rutgers and the University of California.

The tour will be co-sponsored by the National Students Federation of America, who is cooperating with the National Union of Australian University Students and the New Zealand University Students' association.

None Claim Body of Killer of Two

Ossining—No one came to claim the body of Charles J. Brown, 30, who died in Sing Sing's electric chair Friday for a double murder.

Brown, a Negro, went to the chair without naming the "preacher" he claimed was his father and with a record of having spent eight months in the death house without having a single visitor.

He died for the murder of Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Handleman in Ellenville, who was slain in a robbery of their home. After killing the couple Brown fired the house to conceal the crime.

RAILROAD CLATTER...

By Charles L. Upton

Every Porter A Reporter

UPTON SAYS:

Have you played the new game yet? What game? Well, folks, I will tell you all about it. The game is called "Putting the Negro Hour Program on the Pan". Apparently, it is becoming more popular every day. If you don't believe me, just read "The Eagle's Feathers". And, here are the rules and regulations:

First, listen in on the program Thursday night from 9 to 10 p. m. over station KEHE. Get a note pad and a lead pencil and jot down everything you personally think is wrong, then sit down and write a long letter criticizing the master of ceremonies and every other thing that should happen to enter your mind. Purchase the Eagle next week and see your name in print, then show it to all your friends and brag about what you did to make the Negro Hour broadcasting program a success and nine chances to one you are all wet. Second, things not to do—don't, beyond all means, write a letter of praise for the tireless efforts of the ones who are doing the best they can to give you an interesting program on the air or you will be disqualified.

Yes, folks, I think that real, sincere, constructive criticism is O. K. but it should come from those who are qualified themselves by experience. It's a great game and one that my race has been playing for many years—tearing down what others are trying to build. Out of all the letters I have read in 'The Eagle's Feathers', the one which was published in last week's issue, under the name of Eddie Green, is the only one that seems to ring true and sincere. Mr. Green, first outlines his authority and qualifications on radio programs and then points out the ways and means to correct the things that are lacking in the "Negro Hour Program", such as time specifications, etc. Let's try to build up for a change and not tear down. My hat is doffed to the sponsors and to those who are endeavoring to keep the program on the air against odds.

Be often disgusted with yourself, but never discouraged.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS:

"Many happy returns" to the following readers who celebrate their birthdays during the month of March: J. H. Rouse, E. G. Brooks and Owen Brown. Congratulations.

JAMES WHITE CHEERS FOR WRONG HORSE

Tired of trying to make both ends meet on a little bit of money, James White, Wm. Asbury, T. D. Starks and Mrs. James White made a fortune hunting trip to the races. James White having read in the papers of the new Federal Housing Loan had visions of building a mansion on the westside with a swimming pool and everything to go with it, but the bathing beauties. Well, the gang all piled in T. D. Starks' car and headed for Santa Anita with plenty of long green. After making several bets on nags that failed even to make a start fast enough for their oats James White, seeing his mansion slowly fading away, made one last bet on a horse by the name of "Avatchy". I am told the price was $17.80. He instructed his betting agent Wm. Asbury to shoot the works, and his betting agent Wm. Asbury did just that thing. As the horses came to the post and got away to a flying start, a nag by the name of Torchy took the lead and showed the rest of the field his heels and was never headed. James White yelled his head off for his nag, Torchy, and Torchy won. There's my mansion, boys, shouts Jimmy and he turned gleefully to Susie, his wife, and says, Honey what kind of a swimming pool do you want to build. We got the jack now. Do you want tile or marble. Oh, anything, Daddy, says Susie, always the kind and loving wife easy to please. Then James White, sport king turned to his betting agent, Wm. Asbury and was startled seeing that far away look in his eyes. "What's the matter says Jimmy didn't you lay that bet? Wm. Asbury, his erstwhile and faithful betting agent, said with that gloomy look upon his pan. Sure, but you told me to put it on Avatchy. Not Torchy, and you see it was Torchy that won. Well for C——Sake!!!! How are we going to get home? As luck would have it, Susie had placed a bet unnoticed on a nag by the name of Dizzy Bee and saved the day and I am told that the gang wound up at the home of Mrs. Asbury at 6 a. m. for breakfast. Needless to say Mr. Asbury has lost his ojb as betting agent for Mr. White.

The theme of the meeting was to obtain the opinions and views of the various civic leaders regarding the present condition n the city, through resolutions.

JOE---A SISSY!

Joe Louis was called a sissy last Sunday morning in a feature article, explaining what is wrong with present day boxng, written by Jack Singer of the Los Angeles Times.

Louis was taken to task for certain fastidious habits, authentic or otherwise, by Singer, conducting an imaginery interview with "The Old Timer", boxing fan of the day's of Sullivan, Nelson, Ketchell or Dempsey.

The special gloves that Louis assertedly has to wear in tackling an opponent was the first object up for ridicule.

"Why he could have flattened Mann with a roll of tissue paper wrapped around each fist," the mythical Old Timer snorted.

"But that ain't the half," the garrulous old cynic exclaimed, "This Louis, this champion goes on to say that unless he's allowed to wear purple trunks, there ain't gonna be no fight. Now it seems that this Mann also wants to wear purple trunks, and they have quite an argument, but because Louis is the champion he gets to wear the purple trunks.

"Pretty soon he won't use anything but lavender-colored mouth pieces and his seconds will have to wear green striped turtle neck sweaters with red mufflers."

All-Southern Negro Youth Confab Convenes April 1

The Second All-Southern Negro Youth Conference will convene in Chattanooga, Tenn., April 1, 2, 3, 1938. It has received the endorsement of fifty leading Southern citizens. Printed announcements of the Conference are now available for general distribution. Copies may be secured upon request.

In February, 1937, five hundred and thirty-four delegates, representing 250,000 young people, assembled in Richmond, Va. for the First All-Southern Negro Youth Conference. Young people met "to provide a medium of expression for Southern youth and to determine how Negro youth in this area may work together to advance their mutual welfare." The delegates were unanimous in the opinion that the stated objectives were achieved. They established the Southern Negro Youth Congress, a federation of Southern youth organizations, as the liason body through which existing youth groups cooperate jointly in dealing with matters of mutual concern to Negro youth.

The Chattanooga Conference will re-examine the plans made in Richmond. It will review the work of the Cingress during the last year. It will further the program initiated at Richmond to build "a better world for ourselves, our people, and our nation".

The Conference will be composed of officially elected delegates from Southern organizations. All agencies interested in the problems of young people are invited to send delegates. Each organization of 100 members or less is entitled to two delegates, and to one more delegate for each additional 100 members or major fraction thereof. Each Council of the Southern Negro Youth Congress is entitled to four delegates.

Youth groups from Northern communities are invited to send fraternal delegates in the capacity of observers. Observers are permitted to participate in the discussion without, however, the privilege to vote.

Registration will take place during the day of April First. At the time of registration, housing, programs, delegate cards, and other Conference material will be secured. A fee of fifty cents is assessed to each delegate and one dollar to each observer. Preregistration credentials should be sent to our office by organizations sending delegates to the Conference. The fee is payable at the time credentials are maled in.

PROGRAM

The conference will open promptly at 8:15 p. m. Friday, April First. It will adjourn promptly at nine p. m., Sunday, April Third.

A city-wide youth rally will open the Conference on Friday evening. Dr. Charlotte Hawkins Brown, president of the Palmer Memorial Institute, and William F. Richardson, chairman of the Southern Negro Youth Congress will be among the speakers.

The Conference will be held at the First Baptist Church, 8th and C streets, Chattanooga, Tenn.

Louis Struck Stride Again?

oOo oOo oOo

Mann Thinks He Has and So Does Joe

NEW YORK, March 3.— "I just went out there and started bopping him" said Joe Louis after his smashing three-round knockout of Nathan Mann last Wednesday night.

The champion, who hardly got up a good sweat in the brief workout, took his second successful defense of his heavyweight title entirely in stride. He was so fresh he didn't lie down on returning to his dressing room.

"He hit me some good punches in the first and second rounds, but they didn't hurt," he said. "I don't think he hits as hard as some of the other fellows I've whipped."

"Didn't that right in the second round hurt some?" a reporter asked.

"No. I felt it, but it didn't hurt."

"It annoyed you a little though, didn't it?"

"Well, I reckon it did sort of wake me up. That's when I really started too work. Looks like I was a little slow warming up, don't it?"

Louis, who feels that he has struck his old time stride again, want to defend his crown again in April if Mike Jacobs can dig up an opponent. Also he is willing to go to the post in May, before his June fight with Max Schmeling.

Mann said he didn't remember a thing after Louis caught him with a savage left late in the second round until he heard Referee Arthur Donovan call "ten" after the knockout punch. The entire third round was a blank to him, he said.

"I didn't see the blow that knocked me out. I don't remember being knocked down in the second rount. That Louis sure can punch. It's been so long since I was on the floor I just forgot wh.. to do.

"I was in there gambling to win and put all I had into it while it lasted. Louis hurt me plenty, but I'll bet some of those rights I shot into him in the first and second rounds hurt him too. It's too bad I had too let all those swell Connecticut folks down."

Minnesota U. Anti-Bias Fight is Won

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Feb. 23—Dean Guy Stanton Ford, acting president of the University of Minnesota, announced last week that equal dormotory privileges would be accorded Negro students.

The Federation of Colored Women's Clubs, joined from time to time by various other organizations, including the Minnesota Negro Council, and student bodies, had kept up a running fire of protest for three years against the denial of these privileges to Negro students.

In a poll of the student residents of the hall, it was found that 44 favored Negro admission, while 66 protested.

Ozie Powell Put On Chain Gang

NEW YORK, Feb. 23—Ozzie Powell, one of the five imprisoned Scottsboro boys, has been transferred from Kilby prison, in Montgomery, Ala., to the chain gang at Atmore, Ala., it was announced here this week.

Powell, already partially paralyzed from a lynch attemp on his life in 1936, is now in a serious physical condition. No reason was given by Alabama officials for his removal. The Atmore camp is notorious for its brutal treatment to prisoners.

Grand Elk Officer On Way East

Miss Buena V. Kelley, grand secretary of the Daughter Elks of I. B. P. O. E. of W., left Los Angeles Tuesday evening for her home in Norfolk, Virginia, by way of New Orleans and Chicago, after a round of festivities throughout Southern California at which she was honored guest.

Miss Kelley's stay was concluded with a trip to San Diego as guest of Nautaulis Temple and Elcentro where she was honored by Phyllis Wheatley Temple. Leaving Los Angeles last Monday for the trip south accompanied by Mmes. Lela O. Murray, Adele Ashford, and Edna Elgin, the grand secretary reached San Diego Monday night where a banquet was given in the Community Center; Tuesday was spent in sightseeing, and on Wednesday, the party journeyed to El Centro where they were guests of Mrs. Lottie Augustus. Wednesday night, a banquet was given by the Phyllis Wheatley temple at the Elks temple where representatives of El Centro school teachers, together with members of the lodge and temple complimented Miss Kelley.

Friday morning the group left El Centro for Murray's Dude Ranch in Victorville and stopped en route at the home of Mrs. Robinson, Rialto street, San Berardino where Arrowhead temple served dinner. In Victorville, they were roundly feted with dinner and desert tours. The weekend culminated in Elks' Day on Sunday, February 20, when members of the antlered order warmed the ranch where riding, croquet, and tennis were principal diversions of the day.

Mrs. Lela O. Murray was hostess at the ranch and with her husband, N. B. Murray and ranch attendants, made the day one that will be long remembered in Elkdom as well as in the annals of Southern California society.

Armstrong May Not Box Arizmendi

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

Although Henry Armstrong is scheduled to fight Baby Arizmendi in the Olympic main event next Tuesday night, reports from Minneapolis stated yesterday that the featherweight champion sprained his wrist in knocking out Charles Burns last Monday night and that Eddie Mead, his manager, has asked postponement of all bouts scheduled for the next two or three weeks.

These reports, however, have not been verified. Therefore, the bout is on until declared off.

Last Tuesday night at the Olympic auditorium, Lou Nova and Lee Ramage "fought" a somewhat listless 10-rounder that went to Nova, the so-called state heavyweight champion. Chuck" Crowell or "Big Boy" Bray could have taken them both, on what they showed a good crowd of customers.

The two judges split the decision, and Abe Roth, referee, decided in favor of Nova.

PARKS LUCKY

Chester Parks was lucky to get Referee Frankie Van's decision in his bout with Eddie Dreher. It was unpopular and, to us, would have been a better draw.

Benny Wilson was no match for Bobby Yannes in the special. Besides being knocked out in the second round, the sepian is also said to have suffered a broken jaw.

"Haystack" Sloan lost to Frank Riggi, heavyweight; Jimmy McDaniels was too clever for Carmen Georgino; and Jimmy Liddell, much improved, won an impressive decision over Ernie Rodriguez.

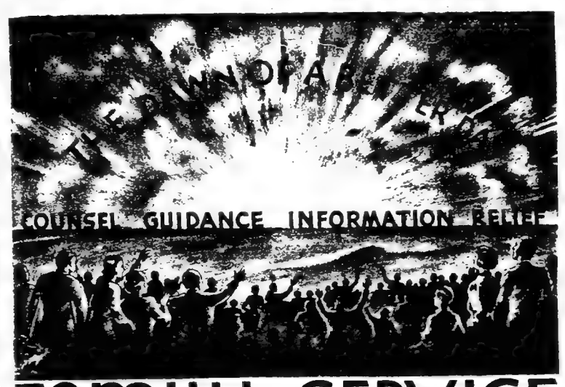
GUESTS AT CARTHAY CIRCLE THEATRE FETE

Little Vivian Janetta Towns celebrated her birthday early this year, by entertaining twelve of her little friends at a theatre party.

The tiny misses attended a Saturday matinee at Carthay Circle of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs".

Those present were the little Misses Barbara Garrott, Mildred Houston, Daphne Williams, Georgette Shores, Tannis Fortier, Pat Brown, Marjorie Garrott, Annie Smith, Puffy Houston, and Clyde Jean Towns and Vivian Janetta Towns, the hostess.



The children enjoyed the afternoon, and an outing that they will long remember.

Giant Stalks Housewife in Assault Try

Relating a harrowing tale of how she had been followed at 2 a. m. Saturday by a giant, six-foot man who attempted to assault and rob her, Mrs. Vernon Washington, housewife, of 2811½ South Central avenue, gave detectives Clarke and McGruder of Newton street station a detailed description of the suspect that may lead to the arrest of the "gorilla man" said to have been attacking women in this vicinity and outlying districts of the city for several months.

Difference between Mrs. Washington's attacker and the so-called "ape-man" is that the latter's assailant wore a tan overcoat and cap and he did not leap out of the bushes. But he did try to carry the woman off to a vacant lot protected from view by an abundance of uncut weeds.

"I was coming home from work," Mrs. Washington told the police, "when the man walked up behind me, stuck a gun in my back and ordered me to keep going. It happened at 31st and Central avenue.

"He tried to steer me into a vacant lot where he threatened to rape me but I began to loud-talk him and attracted the attention of passersby."

The suspect became frightened the woman alleges, cracked her once over the head with the instrument in his hand, snatched her purse and ran.

Walter White Threatened by Mob Law

NEW YORK, Mar. 3—As a "sure test" of whether or not lynchings are dying out in the South, one South Carolina editor has suggested that Walter White, secretary of the NAACP, go into the Deep South and make himself known.

The editor declares that if Secretary White did not "wind up at the end of a rope" he could return to the North and withdraw the anti-lynching bill because he could be sure then that lynching was all but stopped. The complete editorial, written by W. W. Bruner of the Batesburg-Leesville Twin City (S. C.) News, follows:

"If Walter White, Negro head of the Association for the Advancement of the Colored Race, and the unrelenting force back of the anti-lynching bill, wants to make a test of whether or not lynchings have all but stopped in the South, he should drop down in some section of the Deep South and make himself known. If he does not wind up at the end of the rope, he can return to New York, call off his dogs and assure his organization and the Yankee this act for passage that bill is Democrats in Congress pushing have really forgotten how to lynch."

New Farm Bill May Benefit Negro Farmer

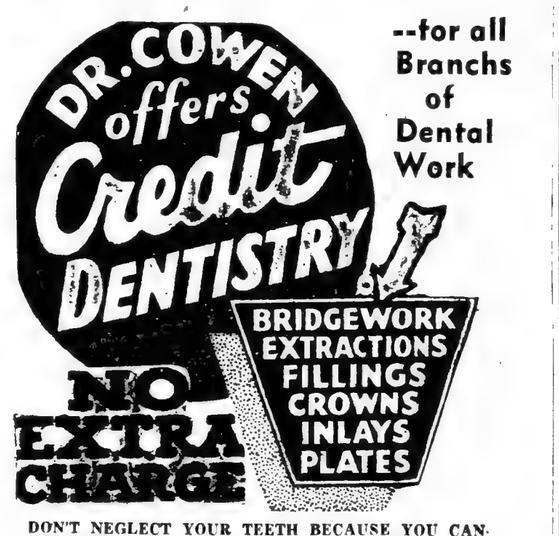
WASHINGTON, D. C. Mar. 3—(ANP)— Small farmers should be benefitted by many of the special provisions contained in the new farm bill which was passed last week by the Senate following spirited debate.

One of the most important of these provisions specifies that conservation payments of less than $200 from the AAA programs.

The new act also stipulates that payments to be divided between landlords and tenants will be divided as the crop is divided. For example, a sharecropper who got half of the cotton he grew would get half of the AAA payment diverting cotton land.

The act provides for the farmers themselves to vote for or against marketing quotas for certain crops when surplus in any previous year threatens to pull down the price. If one-third of the voters are against quotas they will not go into effect. All farmers who grew cotton in 1937 are eligible to vote in the referendum on cotton which will be held 30 days after the Act is signed.

MAY APPEAL



The Act also states that "any farmer dissatisfied with his marketing quota may appeal withing 15 days to a local review committee which will be named by the Secretary.

This farm bill, in the opinion of Secretary Wallace, is one of the most significant pieces of farm legislation ever enacted.

"Viewed in a broad way," the Secretary continued " The Act supplies the basis for a six-point program designed to provide farmers with adequate facilities and with stability of income needed to enable them to go to one producing abundantly and to maintain ample reserves of farm commodities for use of the nation."

Briefly summarized the six points include:

1. Continuance of the AAA Soil Conservation Program "as part of a permanent farm policy.
2. National acreage allotments for cotton, corn, wheat, tobacco, and rice to insure ample production for consumption and reserves wih payments to farmers to plant up to their allotments.
3. Crop loan provisions to encourage systematic storage of surpluses.
4. Marketing quotas following big crop years which will be subject to approval by a two-thirds vote of producing farmers.
5. Release of storage supplies to shortages caused by any emergency.
6. Crop insurance.

Ministers Ask Clean - Up of 'Our City'

Los Angeles, California,
February 28, 1938

The following resolution presented by Rev. E. W. Rakestraw, was passed unanimously by the Ministers Alliance at its meeting at the YMCA Monday, Feb. 28, 1938:

Whereas, The Committee of Twenty-five, representing the religious and moral forces of our city, have taken cognizance of the vice conditions rampant in our city, and the apalling situation existing in our city government in partcular; and

Whereas, the Committee has taken definite steps to place before the citizens of Los Angeles, the conditions as they exist; and

Whereas, the Committee of Twenty-five is summoning all forward looking citizens to its side, in its effort to eradicate the evils which exist, besmirching the fair name of our city, and holding it up to the ridicule of the nation; therefore be it,

Resolved, that we the Interdenominational Ministers Alliance, in regular Session assembled, do hereby pledge our unqualified endorsement of their noble purpose, and our unyielding support in the accomplishment of the ends they seek, the making of Los Angeles a cleaner, better, and safe place in which to live and work.

REV. DOWNS SAYS YOUTH WANTS CHURCH AS OPEN LABORATORY

Social Service Committee Appointed By L.A. Alliance

Rev. K. E. Downs, pastor of Scott M. E. church, Pasadena, told the Interdenominational Ministers' Alliance that youth expects the Church to provide them with a reality of the true Christ and God and to meet them as an open laboratory in his address Monday morning on "Youth and The Church". The meeting was held at the 28th Street Branch Y. M. C. A. Outstanding among the business of the council was the appointment of a social service committee made up of the Rev. Messrs J. L. Caston, K. Downs, Baxter C. Duke and R. B. Porter.

Attending the meeting was a representative of the American League for Peace and Democracy who spoke on the bill now in Congress concerning conscription of people for wars. The issue was referred to the fact finding committee fo further investigation. The Rev. Mr. S. M. Beane, president presided at the meeting.

"The Day" directed by Mrs. Davis is planned for the second Sunday evening in March at eight o'clock. Rev. T. T. Addison, minister will speak at all regular services this Sunday. The social winners for the contest groups, one and two of the BYPU will be announced Friday evening at 6:30.

This Sunday, March 6th being the first Sunday in the Lenten period, the pastor will begin a special series of Lenten messages on: "Following the Trail of Jesus", at the 11 a. m. It is also "Communion Day". The Lord's Supper will be administered at the close of the morning service. The choir under the direction of Mrs. C. D. Frederick will render special music for the occasion. The evening service which comes at 7:30 o'clock will be sponsored by the deacon board. An excellent program is being worked out, and you will want to witness it. We are in an endeavor to have every member attend at least one service each Sunday during Lent. In spite of the down-pour of rain the past Sunday a goodly number of members and friends were present to hear the pastor's message on: "Things Left Undone". You are cordially invited to worship with us at all times. "Always something worth while at Lincoln."

At the morning hour Dr. Rakestraw, Wesley M. E. church, 8th and San Julian Sts., uplifted his hearers with a great sermon from the subject "The Masterfulness of Jesus" at the evening hour he delivered another helpful message upon "The Absent Signs." Sunday at the morning hour, Dr. Rakestraw will speak from the subject: "Pure Religion." The evening service will be a special communion service at which time Dr. Rakestraw will deliver a communion message upon "The Wounds of Jesus."

The Holy Communion will be administered at the 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. services on Sunday, March 6, by the pastor, Rev. S. M. Beane of Hamilton M. E. church, East 18th and Naomi Ave., who will also deliver the communion meditation.

The Epworth league will hold its service at 6 p. m. All young people are invited to attend this service.

The 19th anniversary of the pastor and the church at this place will be celebrated during the week of March 20 and 27th. Special services each week with different city pastors will feature the services. The annual anniversary reception will be held on the evening of March 28 at 8 p. m.

"The Garden of Prayer", inspirational service planned by Ward Chapel AME church for last Sunday was postponed because of inclement weather and will be presented at a later date. Sunday afternoon Rev. J. M. Brown with his junior and senior choirs of the First AME church, Pasadena conducted the services. Mrs. Minnie Albritton was soloist.

On Sunday, March 13, the quarterly conference will be held and communion services will follow.

For full thirty years, Pastor Rodgers of the Adventist Church at 40th place and Wadsworth Avenue, has been preaching from the Bible Prophecies that the time would come when the Yellow and Brown races would rebel against the rule of western powers. Sunday night, March 6th at 8 p. m. the pastor will illustrate with the use of scores of marvelous pictures, just how the Pophecies have evealed these matters and just what they signify to the world in general. Sabbath (Saturday) he will speak at 11 a. m. on the decline of liberty and the uptrend of intolerance.

St. Paul Baptist Church
21st and Naomi Avenue
Rev. S. A. Williams, Pastor

Sunday services were well attended at St. Paul. At the 11:00 o'clock hour an ope ndiscussion was held on the subject "Serving God in the Face of Opposition." Ministers speaking on the subject were Rev. E. A. Anderson, J. S. Langely, C. Lowe and J. Moore Each speaker spoke very convincingly on the subject. Hearts were made to rejoice and there were two accessions at the close of the service.

Visit our Wednesday Night Bible Movement and hear our pastor teach from divine inspiration. TheMissionary Movement at 7:30 o'clock invites everyone to attend and be blessed.

Special services are to be held Sunday March 6 afternoon at 4 p. m. This service will mark the conclusion of the $500.00 rally led by 100 captains.

Rev. F. E. Taylor brought a very interesting message at 8 o'clock. There were two accessions at the close of the service.

Mass Meet at Avalon Successful

The mass meeting celebrating the first aniversary of the Avalon Christian Church, 43rd and Avalon was highly successful in spite of the continual rain Sunday afternoon. More than three hundred persons attended to hear the Rev. Mr. R. H. Peoples, national secretary of the Negro

MRS. W. C. ANDERSON, pagentry specialist.

Churches of the Disciples of Christ, laud the work and review the accomplishments of the church under the guidance of Rev. Baxter C. Duke.

Sunday evening the celebration featured an initial recital by the Avalon Mixed Quartet which was trained and directed by Miss Juanita Terry. At the close of the commendable recital, Miss Terry was presented with a beautiful bouquet of flowers by the Avalon Choir for her unselfish and thorough work both with the choir and quartet.

W. C. ANDERSON, head of pagentry troupe.

Monday evening, the social hall was transformed into a banquet room of arresting beauty when the first annual banquet was held with more than two hundred persons in attendance, 125 of them white members from city Christian churches who are interested in the progress of Avalon. Music was rendered by the Cardinal and Avalon Quartets.

Following the banquet, a basketball game was staged in the gymnasium of the church between the Japanese Institute and Avalon teams with the latter winning.

Tuesday evening began a series of meeting conducted by the Rev. Mr. Peoples for which the settings are created nightly by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Anderson and troupe who are specialists in music and pageantry.

Ask Sale of Bob Church Property for $55000 Taxes

MEMPHIS, Mar. 3. (ANP)—Property along Beale street owned by Bob Church, Republican leader, which was once valued at $120,000 will be sold to collect $55,000 back taxes, if a suit filed Friday in chancery court is won by the city and county.

This is the first action of its kind ever taken jointly by city and county, and seeks to consolidate all suits filed against the Church estate since 1917 and includes front foot assessment levies for 1036 and '37. It also asks that the sale be made in bar of redemption, which would mean Church would not get the customary two years to redeem it, if sold.

Twelve pieces of property, the residence of the estate left Bob and his sister, Annette, by their father, R. H. Church sr., ex-slave, are involved. The realty once was valued at more than $200,000, and was actually assessed at $120,000. Officials doubt, however, that it would now bring the $55,000 in taxes due.

"Highlights of American History" led by Mrs. L. Leota Caston was the subject of discussion at the Interdenominational Ministers Wives Council meeting Wednesday, February 23, at the home of Mrs. Pearl Moten, 1468 East 49th street. Mmes. Elmira Addison and May Hooper were co-hostesses.

Mrs. Margaret Rakestraw brought a paper on the discussion subject and Mmes. Jean W. Holmes and Caretha Lovell sang a duet. Visitors included Mmes. Gertrude Brown and P. A. Wallis, bishops' wives; Mrs. Shaw and Richardson.

Birthday gifts were given to Mmes. Mamie Rhea, Caretha Lovell, and Pauline Venerable, all who were born in February. Forty-five persons attended the meeting. Mrs. Amelia Lightner and Mmes. Johnie Beard, and Olivia Cobb will be co-hostesses at the next meeting which will be held at the home of Mrs. Lightner.

Choir Union in Fellowship Fete at Second Baptist

The Interdenominational Church Choir Union entertained with a fellowship reception Tuesday evening, February 22, in the banquet hall of the Second Baptist Church. The program was arranged and presented by Mmes. B. Riley and A. Morrow.

The hall was festooned with red, white, and blue commemorating the birthday of George Washington. Opening the program with the pledge of allegiance to the flag, each choir was represented and greeted with hearty applause.

At the close of the program, Mrs. Riley presented the new president, Granville Smith, who urged continued cooperation of the choirs and presented the other officers who are: vice-pres., Kieff Bolt, Mt. Zion choir; second vice-president, Mrs. Grant Harris, Zion Hill Choir; Miss Frances Cruse, recording secretary; John Hill, Independent Church, president of the board of executives; Ira B. Bell, Tabernacle Baptist, president of the director's council.

125 persons were in attendance at the reception and nine choirs represented.

L.A. Loses Bid for Church Confab

Despite the invitation of Governor Frank C. Merriam and other state and city officials of Los Angeles and California, the General Conference Commission of the African Methodist Episcopal Church voted 6-11 to take its General Conference in 1940 to Detroit. The Rt. Rev. J. S. Flipper, senior bishop, presided at the meeting and the Rt. Rev. R. R. Wright, Jr., of South Africa delivered the annual sermon.

Outstanding among discussions of significance by the Connectional committee of ministers and interested laity were: the repossesion of church property allegedly appropiated by Ira T. Bryant of Nashville, and the increase in the number of bishops in 1940 elections.

'Man' is Christian Science Subject Sunday

"Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Christian Science Churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. Paul's words to the Romans, "As many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God", are the Golden Text.

One of the Bible selections in the Lesson-Sermon cites the words of the Psalmist: "O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy name in all the earth! who hast set thy glory above the heavens . . . What is man, that thou art mindful of him? and the son of man, that thou visitest him? . . . Thou madest him to have dominion over the works of thy hands; thou hast put all things under his feet."

The Lesson-Sermon includes also these words from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The enslavement of man is not legitimate. It will cease when man enters into his heritage of freedom, his God-given dominion over the material senses. Mortals will some day assert their freedom in the name of Almighty God."

Zion Temple Sunday Services Set

The weekly schedule for Zion Temple is as usual a busy one throbbing with carefully planned activities. Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, as is usual on every First Sunday, a Holy Communion and Fellowship service will be celebrated. Bishop Butler will preach on the subject "Power In The Blood."

At 7 p. m. Sunday night, the Junior members of the Temple will take charge of the weekly Forum, presenting the following subject for discussion; "Does a college education materially aid the younger generation in preparing for the battle of life"? At 8 o'clock regular church services begin with the usual invocation and song service. Bishop Butler will lecture at this meeting upon the following topic, "Have You Found The Light?"

Weekly Meditation though "Now, everyone who loves the Truth, comes to the Light; He does not fear to have his deeds made manifest". Tuesday evening at 8 p. m., a class in Occult Science is taught by the Bishop setting forth the fundamental Principle of Universal Truth. Thursday, at seven p. m., a class in pathology is held, taught by Mrs. Geraldine Johnson, giving practical instruction upon the science of the body. At 8 o'clock Bshop Butler teaches a class in Bible study. The public is cordially invited to attend all services and classes, at Zion Temple 1315 E. Vernon avenue.

DOWN IN FRONT

With the Staff

In local metropolitan press circles there must be quite a few sympathizers with the Ladies' Aid Society that makes up the Amateur Athletic Union, A. A. U. to the less literate.

At any rate when Jesse Owens came to town last week-end, the gentlemen of the press, Braven Dyer, Bob Ray, Ken Frogley, Lee Bastajian, and Bill Henry, maintained a silence as frigid as a dowager's.

The Eagle Press Box couldn't help contrasting this to the attitude shown by sportswriters elsewhere in the counry, even in California. From the Atlantic Coast acriss the country to San Francisco, judging by Owens' scrap book and our exchanges, writers were most liberal in lineage on the great Owens.

The best of the interviews that we read was that in the Oakland Tribune of Sunday, January 20. written by Art Conn, sports editor of the sheet, in his column "Cohn-ing Tower."

And because the questions answered are the same we would have answered had we written our interview with Owens, we're going to forego our journalistic urge and re-print Cohn's remarks. Cohn talking from here on in.

"Jesse Owens is positive that he can beat War Admiral, Seabiscuit and Pompoon, so confident that he hereby challenges them to a race, one at a time or in a body.

"I beat a pretty good hoss named Macaw by 15 yards in Havana last year", Owens told me during his Oakland stay yesterday, "so I should be able to take War Admiral, Seabiscuit and Pompoon by at least five yards."

Jesse received $7500 and a 30-yard handicap on Macaw in Havana and is willing to meet any goat in America on the same terms. Owens contends that since a hoss has twice as many legs as a man, he should be able to run twice as fast, but Jesse magnanimously requires the gee-gee to gallop only 130 yards to his 100.

Owens denies that he will be an added starter in the $100.000 Santa Anita Handicap . . . unless the good Dr. Sturb cuts the distance to 100 yards.

The A. A. U. will be interested to learn that Jesse has abandoned all hopes of regaining his shamateur standing and, henceforth, will run for anything except medals and office.

Don't mention politics to Jesse. The greatest mistake he ever made, he is sure, was when he accepted a flattering offer from the Republican party to campaign for Alf Landon in 1936. His only consolation, says Jesse, is that the Republicans paid him "upwards to $50,000" even though his speeches, on his own admission, probably did as much as anything else to re-elect Prseident Roosevelt.

It is noteworthy that Owens did not make any speeches in Maine or Vermont.

Now, why does the greatest sprihter and broad jumper the world has ever known scramble for nickles and dimes by fronting for professional basketball teams in the tank circuit?

Owens, at 24, does not need the money but says that every nickel of profit made from the current tour, as well as from a contemplated coast-to-coast tour of a baseball team this Summer, will be used to establish a Summer camp for the underprivileged Negroes of Cleveland.

JESSE DOUBTS, ANDERSON COMEBACK

I am convinced of Owens' sincerity to found a free Summer camp in Cleveland.

"It's the least I can do," said Jesse, "I have capitalized plenty on my name. Now I want to share some of my luck and good fortune with the 72,000 other Negroes of Cleveland, who were so kind in their support of me during the 8 years that I ran.

"I have mine. I have a wonderful wife and two of the most beautiful girls you ever saw—one 5 years old and the other four months. I own a good business, a cleaning and dyeing plant in which I have invested $10,000 and which is doing exceptionally well. I own several pieces of property in Cleveland and have an income that guarantees security for my family and myself the rest of our lives.

"The only reason why I started this four-months basketball tour and why I will come back with a baseball team in the Summer is because I want to help out these players who deserve a break, in addition to raising a fund to build that camp. I already own five acres of ground near the Lake. I'm going to buy a few more acres before building."

If I were a suspicious soul, which I ain't, I would comment here that this beautiful gesture on Owens' part is not going to do his cleaning and dyeing business in Cleveland any harm.

When he began the basketball tour, Owens' boys were flyng the A. A. U. banner and played several university teams. However, when they kept right on playing after their A. A. U. traveling permit had expired, all of 'em became as professional as Owens, who has renounced his shamateurism for all time.

Among other things, Jesse believes:

That George Anderson, California's 1938 track captain, will not stage a successful comeback because, he says, no human being—not even a courageous fighter like Anderson—can come back after having the cartileges of both knees removed in serious operations.

That no human being will ever run 100 yards in less than 9.3 seconds because that time, one-tenth faster than his own record, demands absolute perfection in every stride from gun to tape.

That if he had been able to give the event a little more time, he could have broad jumped 27 feet.

That he was a far greater sprinter in 1935 when he broke three world records and tied a fourth on a single afternoon than he was in 1936 when he captured three Olympic championships and ran a lap on the winning relay.

That he was an innocent victim of politics in 1936 when he was declared professional, being caught in the middle of a nut-cracker because Larry Snyder, hs coach at Ohio State, was feuding with the A. A. U.

I have no sympathy for Jesse. He got more out of the 1936 Presidential campaign than any other Republican in the country.

JESSE OWENS OPTIMISTIC OVER U. S. CHANCES IN 1940 OLYMPICS

Jesse Owens feels very optimistic toward the United States' chances in the 1940 Olympics, and as the greatest track star the world has ever known, Jesse should know.

In an exclusive interview with an EAGLE reporter on Monday, Jesse outlined the part the States would play in Japan 18 months hence, and opined that the threats the Japanese are making anent sweeping the swimming and track events, are meaningless chatter.

The United States should take the sprints, all of them from the 100 meter to the 880, the jumps and several of the field events, Owens said. The U. S. A.'s sepia representatives should be responsible for a large number of them.

WOULDN'T ENTER

Even though the A. A. U. should reconsider and draw him back into the amateur athletic fold, Jesse says he wouldn't attempt to make the team. Although he feels that the age from 22 to 26 are a man's best track years and he will be twenty-six when the team goes to Tokyo, he feels that he has done his best running. He says he couldn't go any farther, and adds generously there are other lads coming along and doing as well as he did.

He considers Ben Johnson of Columbia University the outstanding sprinter in the country and feels confident that Ben will hold up the colors in Japan. Of Eulace Peacock, he was dubious. He feels that Eulace may never be able to do anything with his legs, and will be left off the boat this time as he was in 1936.

Mack Robinson is the best broadjumper in the country, Owens said, although he cited Johnson and Kermit King, the latter of Kansas State Teachers college, as commendable runners-up.

MEL WALKER TOPS

Of the crop of high jumpers, he thinks Melvin Walker of Ohio State is tops at present, although he doesn't minimize the threats that are Dave Albritton, his team mate and Cornelius Johnson, local boy.

Jesse explained Big John Woodruff's poor showing this season in indoor track. He said Woodruff's legs are too long for the indoor lanes and until he can get outside we won't be hearing much of him. However, he considers Woodruff one of the best middle distance men in the country and prophesizes a great Olympic year for him.

Our own Woodrow Strode came in for laudation. Strode is throwing the discus 158 feet now. Owens feels that Strode with more coaching, practice and competition should approach and equal the world's record of 175 feet. Also in Strode's class he puts the eighteen year old high school lad, Williams, of New Jersey. Williams, in one heave last summer, broke the world's record.

Owens and his team left Los Angeles Monday afternoon for Boise, Idaho and from their to Chicago, where in all probability, their barnstorming basketball tour will end.

With a soft ball team Owens expects to return to the West Coast in June.

H. D. Byrne is Successful at Santa Anita

Howard D. Byrne, nationally known race horse owner, and mystery man of the turf, has been a Santa Anita visitor all winter and is bringing his stay here to a successful and happy close.

Mr. Byrne is credited with making the biggest race horse winnings in years. He is now getting ready for his operations on the Eastern tracks. He has turned out several 2-year-olds in Kentucky and older horses have been in rtaining during the last few weeks.

In track parlance, Byrne says these horses will "really need some betting on" when they are turned loose. The popular sportsman is remembered for the sensation he created at New Orleans recently with St. Alan which opened at 20 to 1 and closed at even money. The last big coup he made was on the maiden race of Michael J. Daily at Latonia, Ky., that won by 10 lengths.

Horses owned by Mr. Byrne are: Drastic, Arrowhead, Deckmate, Clara Francis and P. T. Barnum.

LONG BEACH RELAYS TO BE RUN SATURDAY

The Long Beach Relays will occupy the attention of track athletes this Saturday. The meet will get underway at 2:00 p. m. at the Woodrow Wilson high school in Long Beach.

Mack Robinson at Oregon State

Mack Robinson, Olympic star of 1936, is attending Oregon State college, in Portland, it was learned in Los Angeles this week.

A transfer from Pasadena Jaysee, Mack may be eligible for track this season. In that event, he will compete in the 100 and 220 yards dashes, and the broadjump.

Owens' Cage Stars Down Pro Champs

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

Jesse Owens' Olympians outlasted the New York Shamrocks Sunday night at Pan-Pacific auditorium to win a close basketball tilt, 35-33.

Inclement weather was responsible for a poor turnout as about 300 saw the advertised professional champions go down to defeat.

The Olympians displayed a brand of fast passing and floorwork with Boswell, Williams, Belcher and Cumberland swishing the net most frequently.

George Campbell, Shamrock center, supplied the comedy for the evening. The lanky lad was on the receiving end of a lot of razzing from the stands. The half found the Olympians on the long end of a 19-14 score and the margin remained the same practically throughout the game.

Hard play was responsible for numerous fouls being called on both teams.

OWENS APPEARS

At the half, Owens appeared in track togs and demonstrated his start, stride, and hurdling form much to the satisfaction of the sparse crowd. Because of the shortness of the court, Owens did not attempt to better his own indoor 50-yard record.

Grover Cleveland Alexander, famed baseball great and manager of the touring Shamrocks, was also presented.

Sports celebrities about were Kenny Washington, Don Budge, and Gene Mako.

Jeff's Baseball Open Season

Champions of the Northern and Southern Leagues last year, Jefferson's baseball season opens tomorrow with the 41st street school team meeting Huntington Park on Fulton Field.

Lefty Rodriguez will be on the mound for Jefferson. The roster of the team, in addition to Rodriguez, is as follows:

Jerry Watson, catcher. Earl Thomas, Sargio Hernandez and Ira Hawkins, first, second and third basemen; Edward Tenanini, short stop; Anatolio Gallegos, Max Tofoyo and Heroshi Taniyama, left, center and right fielders.

The schedule for the remainde rof the season follows:

Jefferson at Washington, March 11; Fremont at Jefferson, March 18; Jefferson at Huntington Park, March 25; Washington at Jefferson, April 1; Jefferson at Fremont, April 8.

jump elimination and finals will take place on the opening day, Sunday.

The last day of competition will be devoted to the relays and the finals in the marathon.

Jeff Spikemen Picked to Cop Southern League, City Titles

"As a member of the Jefferson High School track team, I pick Jeff to win both the Southern League and the City titles," young Roland Denton told an Eagle reporter Monday.

Quizzed by a representative of the press on Jefferson's prospects in the coming track season, young Denton, a promising dash man, was highly optimistic of his team's chances, dispite the loss by graduation of three of the outstanding members of the squad, Wince King, high jumper, now attending Los Angeles Junior College, Wilbur Miller, middle distance star, and Bryant Allen, foremost young sprinter in Southern California.

The very obliging young Denton stole a few minutes of his study hour period and jotted down the favorites in each event, their best times, and in some instances the name of the most formidable opposition in any of the other city prep schools.

SKIPS HIS RECORD

Skipping over his own record, one of the best in the city, Denton, named Sam Lankford as the best man in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Lankford a sophomore, should do in the neighborhood of 9.9 in the century and 22.0 in the furlong, with Russell of Los Angeles High, pushing him to the tape.

Edward Manley, a junior, Denton named as a 51 flat man in the 440, Louis Hunt, sophomore, 1:58.5 in the 880 and Earl Floyd, 4:28 threat in the mile.

Jefferson is going to miss the elongated Wince King plenty this season, but in his place they have Bobby Wilson, whose practice high jumps have been promising.

Thomas Palmer is a 20 ft. broadjumper and of course there is no better man than big Tom Direaux in the sixteen pound shot event. Tom consistently puts the iron ball near 58 feet and will doubtless meet his greatest competition in Bleeker of Fremont, Denton opined.

The relay team, usually Jefferson's strongpoint, will meet more competition in Los Angeles High than from any of the other preps. Possible roster of the team is Edward Perdue, Sam and Saul Lankford, Edward Manley, Louis Hunt, Varron Small, Tom Direaux and Denton, himself.

The Southern League schedule for the year follows:

Wilbur Miller Out-sprints Allen to Win College Dash

For three years at Jefferson High School, Wilbur Miller has patiently run second to Bryant Allen in the 100 yard dash. Last Saturday at Ontario in the Southern California college relays, Miller, running for Compton Junior College, sprinted over the tape in front of Allen now of Riverside Jaysee and also in front of Randolph Carter, last season sprint star of Whittier college.

Although the time was two tenths of a second more than Allen usually traverses the distance, it was decisively Miller's victory. Jeffery of Riverside, also a satellite last year, finished second, Allen third and Carter fourth. The time was 9.9.

450 ATHLETES

Some 450 athletes participated in the meet which saw underway the 1938 outdoor track season. The boys missed by nine hours the rain that enveloped the Southland over the week-end.

A larger representation of Negro runners, and winners, was on hand than in any of the preceding meets.

Seven new records were posted and one old mark tied, foremost among them being the demolishment of the four man 880 relay meet mark of 1m, 29.9s by the Riverside Junior college team. Started off by Finn Culpepper and anchored home by Clyde Jeffreys with Hobert Bess and Bryant Allen in the center, the Riverside boys hung up a new mark of 1m, 28.4s. Culpepper, incidentally, won the novice 100 yard dash, time, 10.1s.

A national junior college record was tied when Compton's four man mile team, Reading, Lawson, Littler and Miller, raced across the finish line in 3m., 19.2. Lawson, formerly of Jordan high school, was holder of the Southern California 880 high school championship last year, while Miller for the past two years has held the 440 yard record, nationally, for high schools.

Lowell Stewart of L. A. J. C. jumped second to Prey of Pasadena in the high jump and Jack Robinson, little brother of Mack Robinson, Olympic Games star, took the broadjump in 22ft., 10½ inches.

Featherweight King to Take on 2 Foes; 'Tiger' Jack Nelson on Card

By WARREN VINSTON

Henry Armstrong, the busiest boxer in boxing, returns from a successful mid-western campaign to headline the special benefit boxing and wrestling show at Pasadena Arena tomorrow night.

The feather king stopped Everette Rightmire in the third round at Chicago last Friday night and Monday night put Charles Burns to sleep in the second round at Minneapolis. The fans paid fancy prices to see the featherweight fighter fell his foes in fast fashion.

In his gallant gesture for charity, Armstrong will exhibit his talents in a double-decker to the Pasadena crowd at modest prices for SIX ROUNDS. Boxing two three-rounders, "Hustlin'" Henry will take on Tino de Rama, 1936 Golden Gloves champion, in one bout. Promoter Morrie Cohan has another classy 126-pounder lined up for the other bout.

"TIGER" JACK ON CARD

On the wrestling side of the all-star show is one of the greatest unsung matmen in the groan and grunt game, "Tiger" Jack Nelson. The "Tiger" is recognized as the world's colored heavyweight wrestling champion. If Nelson was given the opportunity he has the stuff to take the racial identity from this title. He has met and defeated some of the ranking exponents of the game. His appearance on the card is a special treat to all who like the rough and tumble mat game.

"Tiger" Nelson takes on Louie Mayo, the lightheavyweight champion of Mexico, in a special bout. The other wrestling matches, are as follows: Tiny Roebuck vs. Nick Lutze, Bill Longsen vs. Leo Popiano, Casey Columbo vs. Jack Roder, and Bobby Coleman vs. Johnny Del Rio.

The proceeds of the show, which is being sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of Pasadena, goes to the Grace Sanitarium and Nursing Home of which Dr. Brandon Bowlin is medical director. By patronizing this show the public will be aiding a worthwhile humanitarian cause.

Japan Gives Time Table

Released this month through the Olympic News service, official publicity organ for the Olympic Games to be held in 1940 in Japan, was the time table for the track and field events of the Games.

The drawing up of the time table has been going on for quite some time in the hands of the Amateur Athletic Federation of Japan.

This tentative program is expected to be officially decided with the approval of the International Olympic Comm. Session to be held in Cairo in March.

Track and field events will start on Sunday, August 25 and continue through the following Sunday, Sept. 1, eight days in all. Events will be held from ten a. m. to six p. m.

Finals of the 100 meter dash will be held on Tuesday with Monday devoted to heats. High

Chatter Styles Home Hints

Chatter and . . . Some News

By HELEN F. CHAPPELL

"When it rains it pours" . . . and from now on, I'm off belittling California storms; that doesn't only fit the weather, but it suits the bill for the absence of social functions . . . if you want to be definite . . . "When it doesn't rain, it doesn't rain." And with Lent upon us, it seems that it's going to be that way for thirty-nine days . . . 'course I guess we can bet on the irreligious (no such thing) to keep something going . . . already, there are teas and more teas; to help you along on your fish and egg diets. The Geo. Carver Fellowship Club's musicale Sunday afternoon promises to be different. Student talent will be presented; among the features will be the dramatization of Vincent Williams' poem, "After a Lynch Tree Harvest". This boy's work is supposed to be "tops" and the George Carver club is anxious that you come and see for yourselves.

FROM WAY DOWN AT WILEY:

Comes the news that among the Greeks being anointed this quarter are Newell Robinson and Leonard McLain, Angel City swains; both fellows are carrying Alpha keys and wore white the first day of their journey "across the desert", brown the second, and on the third, Robinson marched around with a saucepan and alarm clock, and McClain carried a package of twelve bricks.

Here at home . . . fraternally speaking . . . Johnny Brewer is now polemarch of the Kappas of Epsilon chapter. Seems as though Bob Green, who held the post two years, did not "choose to run". Neophytes Reginald Williams and Donald Derrick are vice-polemarch and keeper of the exchequer, respectively. Congrats, fellows, and you'd better live up to it.

Among Angel City visitors are an interesting trio who have spent some time in China . . . Evangelist E. A. Carter with his wife and daughter. They are stopping at 10356 Compton. I'm sure they don't regret being out of China in these bombing times.

CRAMMED INTO THREE DAYS:

Chaperoned by Lois Evans' "moment", W. W. Strode, Sunday found ye scribe barging into the Dunbar to keep an appointment with the idol of the track world, Jesse Owens. An interview that turned out to be a recounting of the doings of old "Buckeye" state friends and schoolmates . . . and remembering the days before Jesse crossed the pond to turn Hitler green-eyed about the prowess of our boys, the days when he was toting messages in the Ohio legislature and greeting timid students in a friendly, shy manner, to have him and Strode and Robert Malcolm, Clevelander, "roast" me about the 'Force team which isn't so hot now . . . and to Monday . . .

Lunching at the Golden Rod with Jesse, Chester Parks — the rising local boxer — who never shaves before a fight — Samsonish, don't you think? — and Perry Parks, frat brother and friend of our host.

And to Tuesday and an audition at KGFJ . . . coming out in a young sweat hearing John Kinloch warn me to say R-o-o-sevelt instead of "R-u-s-e-velt. Back Tuesday evening to take my place before the mike and to know the first agony of wondering what you think of my debut, but enjoying it because I realize it's all a part of a big institution's program—The CALIFORNIA EAGLE.

APOLOGIZING TO YOU:

For waxing egotistic and running off about my doings, I go, to . . . Mrs. Claudebelle Parker, who was hostess to a smart bridge luncheon Wednesday for thirty-two. Prizes were won by Mmes. Louise Kenner, Emily Brown-Portwig, Helen Watkins and Virginia Cameron . . . And Friday evening, the popular A. J. Bookers (medic) entertained friends with dinner and bridge. Mmes. Byron Kenner and Ellridge Lee walked off with choice prizes . . . Mrs. H. Claude Hudson and children spent Saturday in Palm Springs . . . where there is still some sun I hear . . . George Forrester Givens Estes and M. L. Milligan motored from Fresno to L. A. last week . . . Mr. Milligan was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gordon.

Orchids to Floyd Covington on the Urban league banquet and the fine showing made in reports of '36 and '37 work . . . and to Gilbert Allen, who presented the entertainment; to Rev. Baxter C. Duke on his first anniversary at Avalon; to Juanita Terry on her gracious manner in accepting flowers and plaudits of her co-workers; to Eddievies Flennoury on her songwriting ability and her smartness in dress.

Wishing you strength to be good . . . or careful through the quiet season, I'll be seeing you. Here's hoping, friends that you survive the young flood . . . California, "land of perpetual sunshine," . . . Oh, yeah!

JESSE OWENS A HOME LOVER AND BELIEVES IN 'ED' SPECIALIZATION

Boasts of Two Daughters, But Ambition is a Son

By Helen F. Chappell

Jesse Owens, renowned king of the cinderpath and holder of three hundred medals, for three years the toast of the sports world, the hero of American youth and international wonder, who has sat at the sumptuous boards of rulers and received all the material compensation an athlete hopes for, is head of a happy home and still ambitious.

JESSE OWENS

At 24, he looks ahead to a new record hopefully with a catch in his voice when he dares mention it, for with all his laurels, he will not be satisfied until he realizes that supreme desire of the male of the species . . . Jesse wants a son! He disclosed all this in an interview at the Dunbar Hotel Sunday afternoon before taking his Olympiads to the Pan-Pacific for their game with the New York Shamrocks.

LOVES WIFE AND DAUGHTERS

"I'm very proud of and very much in love with my wife and I think my daughters are the most beautiful I've ever seen, one is five years old, the other five months . . . but, gee, I do want a son . . . in fact, that's the height of my ambition," he said shyly with a glint of pride in his eyes that travelled quickly from Woodrow Strode to me, as if to see how we took such an ambition. Evidently, he was encouraged, for he began to talk easily of his home,--lingering on the nursery and play room and his wife's ability to cook--telling us of the days spent planning and remodeling the house in which he has spent only ten nights; and confessing how homesick he gets on long tours.

DUBIOUS ABOUT CAREER WOMEN

From his home, Jesse launched into a discussion of types of women: dwelling on the things that make them so necessary to a man's happiness--mainly, those who know the proverbial way to his heart, and who dress themselves with taste and love, homemaking, those who know how to comfort a man after a wearisome journey or when things aren't just right. Apparently, he possesses the exaggerated masculine doubt of the ability of career women to make a man happy. When I asked him how he felt about it, he looked at me apologetically, but said definitely, "They forget to retain their femine flairs . . . love for fringe and lace and go in too much for collars and ties", he shrugged, "I don't know", and added quickly, "But you seem to have kept yours". And I didn't know whether to gloat in the smug satis faction that men are often wrong or not . . . anyway, I came to the defense of my sisters only to have Jesse and Strode laugh it off, saying that he was especially doubtful of newspaper women.

WILL RETURN TO STATE IN FALL

Turning the conversation to the educational field, Jesse said he planned to return to Ohio State University in September to complete the final year's work for his bachelor's degree with a major in industrial arts and minor in physical education. He has chosen the industrial arts field because he explained, "There is a need for Negro physical-ed teachers, but a greater need for industrial arts and specialization--being able to do the thing you want to do a little better than the other fellow and better today than the day before--means the assurance of a good job and god pay." The track star disclosed his belief that people are looking for big names in the educational field, but if you aren't educated for the thing you want to do, you're sunk. You're just another athlete with medals and sometimes memorials that you can't eat," he said emphatically and added, "I realized that during the time I've been on the road meeting people and being honored and learning how little I really knew." Here he lauded the advice of Dr. Smith and Dr. Wagner, Ohio State professors, who advised him to remember that athletics should be kept secondary to academic training.

LIKES SOCIAL LIFE

Despite the crowds that have swamped him and the gruelling tests he has had to meet, Jesse loves meeting people and seldom forgets anyone he talks with; his old friends are still his best friends and he has lost none of his love for cards and dancing nor for other things that make a well-balanced individual such as appreciation for institutions that are the backbone of progress.

Experiences since leaving the track world have rendered him wiser in dealing with individuals and in finding what kind of groups he s best suited to. He declared that he certainly never wants another orchestra, but is very fond of the fellows in his basketball team who are regular and loyal as anyone could wish.

HAS PROFITABLE BUSINESS

At present, Owens owns a cleaning and dyeing establishment in Cleveland which is doing a profitable business. In fact, its progress has convinced him that inside of the next three months, it will bring a net profit of from $800 to $1,000 weekly. He has invested in no real estate except his $17,000 home on which he has spent $4,000 for remodeling and intends to maintain his cleaning business even after entering the teaching field.

Throughout the interview, Jesse mentioned none of his track records and avoided reference to accounts of his prowess, explaining that he never reads any of them and that his wife and mother keep all the scrapbooks.

In parting, he said, "In all my career, this is the first time I've ever been interviewed by a woman, and I wish you luck . . . lots of it." And I tripped out with Strode who was in on the pleasant session, feeling very proud that I could rate a "first" in something . . . even though the famous gentleman (and that he is) doesn't believe in newspaper women.

'Tween Troy and Westwood

By EDYTHE MEAUX

"Hail, hail, the gang's all here" we hummed as we ambled into the Riverside Breakfast club where the Ma-Po-Fi's were holding forth with a most merry crowd from the Los Angeles area, last week.

Super-snooper that we tried to be as we peered around to see who came with whom we finally had to give up in utter despair for the crowd was just a bit too numerous. However, among the merrymakers we spied Bob Green, Eleanor Coleman . . . . . Constance Boring, Billy Turner . . . Jimmie O'Neil, Myrtle Picou . . . Florence Gagnet and Gwen McDaniels.

Wandering around to look over the club we bumped into Manila Smith who with Johnny McQueen had the same idea in mind . . . Ed Boyd and Mildred Hughes were also doing a bit of sightseeing . . . while Jimmie Robinson, Alberta Dawson, and Bernce Eblon were carrying on an animated conversation on the edge of the dance floor . . . and Hortense and Billy Graham chatted with Ursula and Aljack Adams over some weighty problems judging by the serious expressions on their faces.

Danetta Smitn squired by Roland Bell was comparing sisterly note with Mildred (Smith) Suggs and hubby Clarence Suggs . . . Georgia Williams and Nolan Payton, we caught a glimpse of as they made for the Hawaiian room with the Gerald Browns (Bernice Barnum) . . . Jake Addison with Coral Tucker was headed in the same direction as were Tycine Randolph and Tillmar Thomas, Ethel Carter and Gordon Dixon and Willa Gene and Emmett Ashford.

With the George Garners' party we spied Mrs. Coleman as they stopped to exchange greetings with Dr. Mitchell, Dr. Gordon, Dr. Alice Garrett, and Adelaide Gladden who was with Merriman Maxwell for the evening . . . Near the fireplace at the end of the dance floor we caught sight of Mary and Archie Woodyard and Simietta and Frank LaVigne . . . the George Prices . . . the Robert Browns . . . and the Willie Cornells.

P. S. If I've missed anyone they were there too.

The Trojan club meeting turned out to be an old-fashioned bull session the other night over at T. J. Jackson's abode as old students gathered to greet the newcomers on campus and also renew acquaintances with each other since we go for weeks without seeing one another.

Comparing notes on last semester's grades were Thebaud Jeffers and Charles Ray as they gave Miss Oden, a recent arrival from Texas, some information on subjects not to take--while Inez Hamilton and Julia Taylor were discussing this Spanish major of theirs which keeps both girls mighty busy these days.

Over in the corner taking care of the musical portion of this bull session were Carol Ivey, Chris Wright, Cato Robinson, and Lavalia Colter who were gathered around the piano indulging in some of the good old alma mater songs.

JOHN BREWER HEADS EPSILON CHAPTER OF KAPPA ALPHA PSI

In local fraternal circles, eyes are turned on Johnny Brewer, U. C. L. A. graduate student, who was elected polemarch of Epsilon Chapter of the Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity Sunday afternoon. Mr. Brewer replaces Robert Green who held the office for two years.

Other officers elected for the year of 1938 are Reginald Williams, vice-polemarch; Tillman Thomas, keeper of the records and Donald Derrick, keeper of the exchequer. The ex-polemarch was elected to the office of strategus (dean of pledges).

Study Club Council Honors Three Great Americans

'Americanism of the Past' might well have been the theme of the February meeting of the Council of the Women's Political Study Club. Quotations from Washington, Lincoln, and Douglass were given at the request of the Executive Secretary, Mrs. Betty Hill. Mrs. Helen Riddle read an extract from the will of George Washington in which he gave his slaves their freedom.

Cases of discrimination in the Athletic Association of Manual Arts Hgh School were brought to the attention of the body. Mrs. Mason read a letter published in "The Bruin"; the sheet published by the University of Californa relatve to Inter-racial Week as observed on the campus.

Evidence that Negro History Week had been observed in the units was given by a report of Mrs. Wickliffe that her committee had cooperated with Professor Easter in his work along those lines; and the report of a joint meeting held by the Oscar Depriest Unit of Santa Monica and the Nannie Burroughs Unit of Venice. Santa Ana held its program in the local YWCA and donated twelve tickets that children of that community might attend the Marian Anderson concert.

The Roland Hayes Unit of Long Beach reported a very successful public meeting at which Mrs. Edith Vandewater, National Committtee-woman was the principal speaker.

Events for March will include a birthday dinner by the Hallie Q. Brown Unit, March 10, a birthday dinner by the Ida B. Wells Unit at Trinity Baptist Church March 25th; a St. Patricks Tea by the Santa Barbara Unit; and a dinner to be held at the home of Mrs. Lyons, president of the Harriett Tubman Unit, 249 N. Bonnie Brae, on March 17th.

Mrs. Betty Hill announced the opening date of the annual membership drive as March 1st.

Guests were Miss Myrtle Taylor and Mrs. Streets of Riverside, Mrs. Tuck of Chicago, and Dr. Sarah Brown of Washington. D. C.

MRS. LILLIAN SPECTOR ATTENDS MEET OF WOMEN'S COUNCIL

The Women's Council of the California Cooperative Improvement Association was honored with the presence of Mrs. Lillian Spector, president of the Federated Housewives League, on February 21 at the home of Mrs. Mary Mitchell, 1144 East 47th Place. Mrs. Hicks, president, presided at the meeting.

Mrs. Spector brought a very interesting and timely message building her talk around organization. She stressed, "All groups should be organized to put any program over successfully." An open discussion followed with Mrs. Matilda Caldwell and R. R. Reese responding to the challenge. Mr. Mercer of the C. C. I. A. brought information of the adult classes which will open at the Temple Health Center soon. A committee of three was appointed to meet with the Federation of Housewives at its next meeting.

P. O. Clerk Claims Mistaken Identity in Case

Held to answer on a charge of robbery, Joseph M. Martin, of 932 East 53rd street, will claim mistaken identity when his case comes up for trial early this month, according to defense attorney, W. O. Tyler.

On testimony of Roger Enright, street car conductor, Martin was arrested as the man who assertedly robbed the carman of $20 in cash and $7 worth of car tokens at the car barn on Feb. 11.

Several days after the robbery, Enright saw Martin riding on his car and pointed him out as the one who held him up. Two white special agents of the street car company, A. E. Brewster and M. L. Goddard, made the arrest, turned the case over to Newton street police division.

Martin was riding home from work at the time of his arrest.

He is an old resident of Los Angeles, is married and has been in the employ of the Post Office over 10 years, it was learned.

A gun, with no permit to carry it, was found in Martin's possession at the time of his arrest, officers stated.

Call Urban League Banquet Season's Beautiful Affair

By far the most beautiful and inspiring affair of its knd of the winter season was the annual banquet of the National Urban League held Tuesday evening in the gymnasium of the 28th St. Branch YMCA from 6:30 to 10 p. m. The gymnasium was literally transformed into a spring garden by leaf bedecked arches at the entrances and an arbor of lemon leaf and huckleberry branches arranged on a lattice frame above the tables in "U" formation. Subdued lighting from the ceiling and the melolw glow from green candles lining the tables enhanced the setting, and sprigs of ivy tracing the middle of the tables gave the last deft spring touch.

ALLEN SCORES

Mrs. George Herbert Clark, former member of the Board of Education and club woman, acted as mistress of ceremonies and presented Gilbert Allen and his choir of thirty-two voices which brought the roof down in round after round of resounding applause and, at times brought verbal declarations from the audience. Two numbers that were especially outstanding were "Listen To The Lambs" by Dett with Etta Warren as soloist and Mr. Allen's original lvric spiritual, "Lord, I Want To Talk With You," with Randolph Morgan as soloist. So enraptured was the guests over this number they were permitted to join in the chorus which was repeated at their request.

The second part of the program presented by Mr. Allen featured his original works with poems being interpreted by Ea T. Smith of the Federal Radio Unit and the composer at the piano in three original compositions, most outstanding among them was his rhapsody "On The Avenue".

REPORT IN NOVEL SETTING

Following the summary of the work of the national group by the president, Dr. Albert Baumann, the report of the local report for 1936 and '37 was presented as a radio feature with the speaker, Floyd Covington, executive secretary speaking from an improvised ante-room and the place where he would have been sitting designated by a soft light. Musical interludes were rendered bzy Misses Victor Rice, violinist and Helen Dundee, pianist. The report was given under the title "Spirit of the League" and held the quiet attention of the audience throughout. Perhaps the most inttresting progress story related was that of the rise of Leon Thompson in six years from the position of clerk to the head of an independent market. Also of interest was the success in getting two Negroes int othe Goodyear plant during last year. A detailed report wil lbe released for publication later.

JENEICE WONG, San Francisco beauty and reputedly a cousin of Anna Mae Wong, movie actress, was married seven weeks ago in Atlanta, Ga., to the Rev. W. Anthony George, nationally known spirtualist and psychologist of Philadelphia. They are sojourning in Texas.

STYLE NOTES

Spring is just around the corner, but spring styles are here . . . favorite colors are navy, burma brown . . . bright and cool looking; thrush brown . . . soft and warm looking; passionate purple . . . that is truly romantic. For prints, gray-greens combined with dark red and black, or gray-blues with white; pale pink, aqua and lemon yellow on a black background. New bags are news! First, the new ginger color . . . a bright light brown . . . that goes with every basic color; and running a close second the coppery leather that sets off any outfit. As for shapes . . . take your choice.

Since nothing brings out your complexion faults like a new hat the smart woman will get busy with her skin. If you can't afford recommended creams and lotions . . . you'll find home beauty aids such as lemon and buttermilk just as effective. Remember in choosing your spring hat, that extreme styles were not created for all women . . . Dress yourself to suit your personality . . . By all means strive for femininity and you have the proper keynote for 1938 spring smartness.

BRIDGE POINTS

By M. L. MILLIGAN

Contract Bridge is the greatest and most fascinating indoor game of the twentieth century; it garners its enthusiastic followers from all stations of life; however, to derive the best possible enjoyment from the game you must first be a good sport and condone the inconsistency of the average partner and the spirit of cards. Remember, you can't win all the time regardless of your ability.

When cards are running against you, just play them as they should be and don't be a bad loser. Luck plays such a meagre part in the game, so don't look for it. Take this hand for instance:

A good player in north and south position could make a little slam against any defense but the declarer in this case went down one book losing 1,430 points. South dealer.

LEIBOWITZ TO DEFEND RELIEF HEAD SLAYER

HOBOKEN, N. J., Mar. 3. (By ANP)—Attorney Samuel S. Leibowitz, who became nationally prominent by reason of his brilliant defense of the nine youths in the famous Scottsboro case, appeared here last Saturday as counsel at the arraignment of Joseph Scutellaro, a relief client, accused of having fatally stabbed Harry L. Barck, Overseer for the Poor for 42 years. Police say Scutellaro stabbed Barck through the heart with a desk spindle during an argument about the relief allotment made to Scutellaro.

THE SNOOPER

By LUCILLE MARIAN DYE

Well, here I am back on the job again, I must say that everybody had a swell tiime at the Palomar last Friday afternoon from 3:30 to 5:30. Kenny Baker really laid his jive with his orchestra. It was exclusively for the LAJC students but it seems as though everyone from other schools were there to pose with them.

The L.A. Hi-Y is to be March the 4th, and it seems as though all the girls are buying or making new dresses, and the boys are getting new suits or cleaning their old ones to be at this affair, it will be a killer if it rains. But let's hope for the best.

It won't be long till Arthur McNealy will be my brother-in-law and devoted (I hope soon) to my sister Celia Dye. The betrothal is to be sometime in May (I think.)

I wonder if George Lee and Dorothy Arnaud are on the out and out. They weren't seen at the last affair together, George was with another "Chick" and "Dot" with another "reab" at the Elk's Cocktail lounge.

THINGS I NOTICED AT THE DANCE

Charles Burris looking "sharp" in his tails and white gloves.

Child Bride looking good but that smirk had to go, if you know what I mean.

Kenny Washington and June Bradly in sport, I thought the invitations read FORMAL, but maybe we can't read.

Margurite Webb looking very attractive in her white net, and escorted by James "Mouse" Collins.

Mary Jane "Bunnie" Morris blossoming out in yellow chiffon.

Sam Beadle certainly believes in keeping his ex-girl friends around doesn't he?

Hugh Macbeth was seen to bring Nancy Harris to the Kappa's but he danced nearly every dance with Cofy Jean Johnson.

ON THE SIDE OF NEWS

Seen at the Delux theatre not so long ago were the charming married couple known better as Evelyn Young and Steve Lockett.

The Great Lover (so he thinks) Almo Phelps is seen now captivating the heart of Elizabeth Mills Who next Almo?

The ones that put out June Morris and Richard Fields were married have another thought coming, they haven't come to that point yet.

Pat Tyus, charming deb, was seen having a nice time at the Syndicators. My, My and did she look good.

It is said that Melvin Webb is going to be a minister. Melvin, I wish you all the luck in the world, and I am sure that others do too.

It seems as though a lot of us are seen at such places at Santa Anita and Palm Springs.

Hartnett - Stewart Troth Told

Formal announcement was made of the betrothal of Miss Claracy Hartnett, daughter of Mrs. A. J. Hartnett and John D. Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Stewart of Santa Barbara, at a luncheon given at the home of the bride-elect's mother on Sunday, February 6, at 3:30 in the afternoon.

In the receiving line were The Rev. H. J. Hartnett, Mmes A. J. Hartnett, and J. D. Stewart. Asisting the bride-elect, who wore a formal gown print, were Miss Velma Stewart, Mmes. L. Twyne, A. D. Hartnett, and J. E. Krooms.

day, the beginning of Lent. Many of us will give up many pleasures, and live a much quieter life.

It is very hard for some to prepare meals, which will give us the necessary proteins our bodies need, because our diets must not contain any kind of meat. So, in order to consume daily enough body building food, we must use substitute foods, rich in proteins, which are milk, cheese, peanuts, dried beans and eggs.

For those who are interested in cafeteria training, classes are held each Tuesday and Thursday mornings from 9 to 2 p. m. On these two days luncheon is served to the general public, giving the students practical experience in merchandising, nutrition, meal planning, quantity cookery, table-service and waitress training.

Salmon-in-Boats

2 cups hot milk
4 tbsps. butter
4 tbsps. flour
¾ tsp. salt
Dash pepper
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
2 tbsps. green pepper strips
2 tbsps. pimento strips
½ cup cooked or canned mushrooms
2 cups (1 lb.) canned salmon

Make white sauce of milk, butter, flour, seasonings; cook over hot water 15 minutes. Pour boiling water over green pepper strips, drain. Add to sauce with pimento, mushrooms, and flaked salmon. Heat thoroughly.

To make Cheese-toasted Boats, cut six 2-inch-thick slices of day-old bread. Cut off crusts, and cut corners so each slice is boat-shaped. With sharp-pointed knife hollow out center of each "boat", leaving sides and bottom ½ inch thick. Brush outside with melted butter. Sprinkle with grated American cheese, and bake in hot oven (550 degrees F.) until lightly brown. Fill with hot salmon mixture, garnish, and serve. Serves 6.

Baked Cauliflower with Cheese

Wash and trim 2 medium-sized heads of cauliflower and cook, either whole or separated into flowers, in boiling salted water until barely tender. (About 15 minutes is usually sufficient.) Drain, arrange in a baking dish, and pour over all 1 cupful of evaporated milk or thin cream. Sprinkle with fine bread crumbs, then with grated or finely-cut cheese, then add another layer of crumbs. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, dot with butter, and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about 20 minutes, or until the crumbs are nicely browned and the cheese melted. Serves 6 to 8. — Mrs. F. W., Bend, Ore.

Spring Salad a la Shrimp

Shred one head of cabbage, 1 green pepper, 1 bunch of celery chopped, and 1 pound of fresh shrimps, cooked and shredded. Add enough mayonnaise to hold. Serve as a whole meal dish.

Chicago Entertains Pan-Hellenic Prexy

Women in Mass Meet to Fight Food Rackets

Embarking upon a crusade to rescue the home, the church and the school from invading racketeers, thousands of Los Angeles women of all races gathered at Shrine Auditorium Monday afternoond in a mass meeting whose purpose was stated to be that of arousng public opinion against alleged extortion and oppression from monopolies in milk, food and other household necessities.

ALL CLASSES

Housewives from far and near — poor ones trudged thru rain drenched streets, rich ones drove up to the Shrine in expensive cars with liveried attendants; tall ones and short ones, white ones and black ones—all amassed with one purpose: saving the home from the onslaught of racketeers and gangster control

ALIENS OPPOSE

In front of the building, a a short picket line paraded. Significantly enough was the apparent alien identity of the opponents to the American women's protest of what seems to be an undoubted effort to exploit present labor conditons, and mobilize workers under false pretenses.

DEFENDS HOME

"Our purpose is to keep Southern California free of this oppression and extortion", Mrs. Edwin Selvin, chairman, said. "We believe this can be done by an informed and aroused public opinion. A voluntary association, no paid officers, entering on a crusade to defend our homes, churches and schools from the criminal element that has bored into legitimate labor unions, can do the job.

"Racketeers are setting up expensive monopolies in milk, food and other household necessities that arbitrarily increase the cost of living beyond the capacity of the poor to pay", she declared.

The milk industry unionization now being demanded by Dave Beck's Teamsters Union was one of the primary subjects brought to the women's attention and plans were laid to make the women's influence felt in the problem which, they feel, vitally concerns them.

SAN DIEGO NEWS

MI. 5430 By E. B. Wesley 1721 Logan Ave.

Messrs. Eugene Coleman and Carl Bigby, two young businessmen of this city, were Sunday visitors in Los Angeles. Mother Hale, district mother of the Church of God in Christ, was the week-end guest of Elder and Mrs. J. A. Jackson, 1703 Logan ave. Mrs. L. H. Owens and daughters, Clarice and Ruth Hubert, Mrs. Ruth McGregor and son, sister and nephew, respectively, of Mrs. Owens were visitors from Imperial Valley over the week-end at Bethel AME parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Harris, who for the past two years have been residents of this city, removed to Pasadena early this week where they plan on locating. Both these young people have been active in Bethel AME church, Mrs. Harris as superintendent of the Sunday school and president of the CEL.

At a recent meeting of the Minister's Alliance and the Ministers' Wives Alliance, held at the Church of God in Christ, Elder E. M. Wilson, assistant overseer and chairman of the Board of Elders of the Church of God in Christ, delivered a most stirring sermon on the subjtct, "The Gospel of Your Salvation". Following the sermon, the following offiers were installed with Rev. J. E. Blackmoore of La Jolla officiating; President, Rev. L. W. McCoy; vice president, Rev. C. Johnson; secy-treas., Rev. J. Harold Brown; cor. sec'y, Rev. T. C. Columbus.

The Ministers' Wives Alliance officers installed were Mrs. M. L. Brown, president; Mrs. A. McPherson, vice president; Mrs. M. Pope, secretary; Mrs. C. Jackson, treasurer. Revs. Brown was master of ceremonies.

A very promising interest was evidenced at the Friday evening Forum which meets at 8:30 each week at Bethel church. Problems vital to young job seekers, and to persons interested in the progress of the race, are being discussed.

Audiences are looking forward with interest to the program announced for this week, "Opportunities in Professions". Dr. A. G. Edwards of La Jolla will speak.

LAST RITES FOR MRS LOUISE ROBINSON

On Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock Calvary Baptist church was filled to capacity with hundreds of sorrowing friends who were there to pay final tribute to Mrs. Louise Robinson, promising young musician and teacher, who died Feb. 15 in Tulsa, Okla.. Rev. C. H. Hampton of Bethel Baptist Church, delivered an impressive sermon. His choir rendered the music. Mrs. Mayola Johnson-Curl sang with much appeal. Resolutions from Calvary Baptist church were read by Miss Cleora Van Lowe. Mrs. L. Kinzie read resolutions from Bethel Baptist Church. The many telegrams were read by Rev. W. R. Carter, general missionary for the Western Baptist association. The pall bearers were Messers. Joseph Nelson, Miller Kemp, James McRae, Joe Liggins, Norman Roberts. Honorary pall bearers were the Misses Olivia Fay Phillips, Olivia Jones, Thelman Gorham, Evada Long, Cleora and Lorraine Van Lowe.

Beautiful flowers of unique design were banked in heaps on and around the magnificent casket. The stricken family of the deceased is composed of the following: Mr. and Mrs. Clay Robinson, parents, Roy and Laurence Robinson, brothers, Mrs. A. A. Brown, an aunt, Mrs. Ruth Walker, cousin and other relatives. The Tate Funeral Home conducted and buriel was in Hope cemetery.

CHURCHES

Owing to the inclemency of the weather the attendance was not up to standard at the Bethel AME church Sunday. Rev. Franklin, guest speaker, spoke very interestingly on the "Beatitudes".

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH

At 11 o'clock Rev. E. G. Gilbert evangelist from Mississippi delivered the sermon, chosing as his topic "Prepare Ye the Way of The Lord". Mr. R. W. Lipscomb, president of the BYPU submitted a new plan for the organization which offers a complete contrast to the former method.

Visitors were Mr. A. F. Roberts of Portland, Oregon, and Mrs. E. J. Gilbert of Natchez, Miss.

The Industrial Group of the Clay Street Y. W. C. A. held its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, at 5 P. M. The president, Mrs. Alvessie Hackshaw, gave a very interesting report of the week-end conference held at the Seventh Street Y. W. C. A. in Los Angeles. Several of the members of the Industrial group were very fortunate in being able to attend this inspiring conference.

Miss Kathleen Picon, one of the charming daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Picon, returned recently from Los Angeles, having spent several days there the guest of Doctor Lois Evans.

The Little Flower Club, a Catholic organization, with Mr. Learle Appling as president and Miss Kathleen Picon as secretary, sponsored a basket ball game between the Bill Robinson "Bojangles" of Los Angeles and the Brown Motors Company "5" of San Diego. Following the game in which the Los Angeles team was victorious, a dance was held in the Floral Building of Balboa Park.

The Little Flower Club is to be complimented for the evening of wonderful entertainment.

THE SICK

The Sunshine Club reports the sick for the week.

At General Hospital: Mr. Samuel Williams. At Vanclain Home: Mrs. Mae Echols. Mrs. Ruth McClellan. Mrs. Sadie Johnson. Mrs. Rosa Mae Armstrong, Miss Georgia Bell, Mr. Dan Gatlin, Mr. Ralph Driver. At home improving: Mrs. Mary White, Mrs. Amelia Ackers, Mr. Wm. Shannon.

During the wek end, Miss Olga Lewis of San Jose, visited with her relatives and friends here. She remarks, "You haven't seen it rain!" Douglass Kinnard of San Jose motored home to visit the folks for a few days.

Stanley Benton will have charge of the scenery setting of the Easter Pageant for the AME Zion Church next month. Mr. Benton has shown great ability in creative art and we know he has original ideas which will be appreciated.

Howard Chapel, A. M. E. Zion church, (known as the country church of Hanford has inaguurated into its program, a "Pleasant Thursday evening", at which time each week a guest speaker from the various churches of the community gives an address or sermon. This type of entertainment has been well received and the Ministerial association of Hanford has given fine cooperation. The Varick Christian Endeavor society, under the able leadership of Miss Helen Thaxton, president, conducted a symposium in reference to Narcotic Education week, brought fine discussions and was well attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kelley and daughter, Sarah Lee, spent the week-end in Sacramento with relatives.

Rev. and Mrs. Richard Taylor have moved to Los Angeles.

Fountain AME Mission

Last Sunday being the occasion of the 2nd quarter of the conference year, great services were held at Fountain Mission. At the 11 o'clock morning worship Presiding Elder H. Francis McClure preached and administered holy communon. At the 3 o'clock vespers, Rev. H. Hayter of El Centro brought the message. Other visiting clergymen were Reverend J. Maples, G. Davis, L. Lyons and T. Hughes of El Centro and Rev. Louis Minor of Imperial, a creditable number of parishoners accompanied these ministers.

At 5:30 p. m. the quarterly conference convened with Rev. McClure presiding and Mrs. Annie McCloud serving as secretary. The following persons submitted creditable departmental reports that indicated some progress in chorch activities. Mr. Cleveland McClood of the District Stewards, Mrs. W. Wright of the Sunday School, Miss Viola Herron of the Missionary Society and Mrs. Anna McClood of the Trnstees and Stewardesses. Presiding Elder McClure expressed himself as being well pleased with developments to date.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Gillum, Mrs. L. E. James and Mr. and Mrs. James Bunch entertained, respectively, Presiding Elder McClure and Pastor Wilson with luncheons and dinners.

The Mission will observe Lent, with a series of special services held every Sunday and Thursday evenings during this solemn season. Among some of the guest participants for the Sunday Vesper will be Mesdames Edward James, N. J. Netterville, Lee Etta Bostic, Legal Mae Hall and R. W. Bostic. Miss Viola Herron will be in charge of the vespers.

For the Thursday evening services, some of the guest participants will be the following pastors and their congregations. Rev. Taylor of El Centro Holiness; Rev. G. W. Davis of El Centro C. M. E.; Rev. I. Robles of Mexican Mehtodist; Rev. I. N. Whitten of El Centro 2nd Baptist; Rev. Zimmerman of First Methodist and Rev. Gromer of First Baptist, all of Calexico. Mr. Cleveland McCloud will direct the Thursday evening services.

Mrs. W. Wrght, superintendent of Fountain Sunday School, is presenting a box of delicious chocalate candy to the class that has the best attendance and largest collection during the month of March. This has aroused enthusiastic and friendly rivalry among the different classes.

WILLIE BELL WATTS

Kenneth Blakeney, who has been taking treatments at the Springville Sanitarium during the past four months, has returned to his home and is welcomed by his many friends.

Edward Calbert, formerly of Hanford, and now residing in Alameda participated in the "Buddha Amateur Hour" program, last Saturday evening over Radio Station KFRC; many of his relatives and friends here enjoyed his interview and rendition of 'Asleep In The Deep.' We are all hoping to see him make a success as a singer.

Lloyd Welcher, Sr., one of the pioneer citizens of Hanford, and successfully engaged in the automobile garage business here, was given a delightful surprise on his birthday at the home of his mother, Mrs. Nancy Welcher.

SAN PEDRO

By EDWARD H. CONEY

In a quiet, but impressive wedding Edward H. Coney and Mrs. Candia Vernice Tower were united in marriage at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Carter by the Rev. Mr. Penatos. The groom and bride are at home to their friends at 790 East First Street.

The Revival meeing at Williams' Chapel AME church was concluded last Sunday night. Our pastor, Rev. Glover, left for Alabama last week where he will attend the quarterly conference of the AME church.

The DuBois Social club met at the home of Mrs. Louis DeVance in San Pedro, Calif. Meeting was called to order by the president, Miss Bernice Warren. Business was transacted in usual manner, afterwhich the club was royally entertained by the hostess who served a delicious repast. Bridge was played, prizes were won by Miss Bernice Warren, first; Mrs. Verna Green, second and Mrs. Irene Atkinson ,third. Mrs. Ida Roberts was guest of the evening.

There was also a very lovely prize given to the guest. A lovely evening was enjoyed by all.

The girls of the DuBois Social club will be looking for you to join them at their annual frolic March 12 at the Elks in Long Beach, Calif. There will be lots of fun, so don't miss your share.

We are truly wishing our loyal member, Mrs. Willa Dee Gatlin a speedy recovery, who is ill in General Hospital, also Mrs. Lillian McBride hoping to see you back with us soon.

Members of the Douglass high school Girl Reserves held a joint meeting with the Central Union High School Girl Reserves last Thursday evening in the Washington School Building.

The meeting was called to order by Alberta Miller, president of the Douglass high girls. Eva Ortez led the devotional period. Members of the two schools discussed frankly the subject "Enriching One's Life with Friendship With Girls of Other Races". The discussion was led by Regenia Payne of Douglass high. Miss Muriel Brown, leader of the Central high group led the girls in a community sing. The evening concluded by playing games directed by Charlesetta Mason of Douglass. Refreshments were served by the hostesses and the meeting adjourned. This is the second of similar meetings, the first being held at Central Union high. Definite efforts are being made to bring about better racial understanding and cooperation. The young people are responding to these efforts and real progress is being made. Mrs. Ruth McGregor and Miss Gladys Gier are the advisors of the Douglass high Girl Reserves.

The funeral services for Mrs. M. E. Robinson who passed away last Sunday morning was conducted from the New Bethel Baptist church, Brawley, last Thursday afternoon with the Rev. I. N. Whitten pastor of the Second Baptist church of this city in charge. The deceased was well known throughout this section. She led a beautiful consistent Christian life and was generally loved by all. Too, her father, the Rev. M. Campbell of Brawley and her brother the Rev. David Campbell of Blythe are held in the highest esteem by the ministry and large delegations from several sections of the state came to pay due respect to the beautiful life lived by the deceased and to show courtesy to fellow ministers. Dr. W. R. Carter was master of ceremonies. Rev. Whitten preached the funeral sermon and Rev. C. B. Hodge a former pastor of the church had charge of the cemetery services.

The several ministers present paid high honor to the exemplary life led by Mrs. Robinson. She was known as one who could be counted upon to render community service. With Mrs. Margaret P. Owens as organist a quartette led in the singing of favorite hymns of the deceased. As a testimonial over to assist and comfort him and his wife. The bereaved husband, parents, brothers and relatives have the sincere sympathy of friends and acquaintances in all sections of the state.

Last Thursday evening the Women's Civic and Improvement Club presented Mrs. Artie Mason Carter of Hollywood in an address and piano numbers. Mrs. Carter one of the founders of the Hollywood Bowl is spending the winter in Calexico a guest at the De Anza hotel. Her recital of the founding of the Bowl and kindred matters was indeed interesting. The audience also enjoyed the piano numbers played by her. Other numbers on the program were: selections by the Douglass high male quartette; vocal numbers by Mrs. Frances M. Burleigh; and a presentation of a beautiful U. S. flag to the club women. The securing of the flag was made possible thru the influence of Mrs. Hugh T. Osborne, wife of County Supervisor Hugh T. Osborne. Principal A. E. Prince made the presentation and Mrs. W. A. Jackson received the flag on behalf of the Women's Civic and Improvement club.

Hon. J. Allen and Mrs. Reese will be the guests of Pride of Imperial Valley Lodge Knights of Pythias March 4-6. The lodge is celebrating its Tenth Anniversary and Grand Chancellor Reese will have the principal address at the anniversary dinner which will be given in Calexico at No. 8 Second Street. The aniversary dinner is held there as the lodge began there ten years ago with Sir Oliver Picou as Chancellor Commander. Sir Knights from various sections of the state and also from Arizona will be in attendance.

Mr. S. J. Hopkins, Grand Lecturer of the Masonic Order and a party of members from Riverside, will visit El Centro Saturday, March 5 guests of Eureka Lodge No. 23 F. and A. M. Besides the address to the craft by Mr. Hopkins, the party will assist the local lodge in ritualistic work. The exercises of the evening will be preceded by a dinner given the guests in the club rooms of the W. C. and I. C.

Members of the A. K. A. Sorority from San Diego and Los Angeles will be guests of the El Centro members of Beta Chapter of the Sorority, next Saturday. The guests will arrive Saturday afternon and will take part in program and pleasantries planned for them. Sunday morning the members will present a program in the First M. E. Church of this city. Last year Superintendent and Mrs. G. A. Weakley witnessed a Sunday morning program given by the ladies in Johnson's Chapel A. M. E. church. The impression made continued and this effort is made for a large group to witness the talent in the chapter and to be informed as to the progress that is being made by our racial group.

Saturday, March 5, will mark the opening of the great Imperial County Fair. This day has been designated American Legion and Negro Day. Owing to the fact that there will be a large number of representative members of the race present on that day, the local committee readily accepted next Saturday. A program will be rendered during the afternoon. The Fair officials will bring addresses of welcome. Representatives of the several fraternal, civic and religious organization will respond. A program of vocal and instrumental music will be presented. Delegations of the race from throughout the Valley, San Diego, Los Angeles and Riverside Counties; and also from the Arizona border will attend and take part in the ceremonies.

The Junior College students sponsored the weekly assembly holding it on Tuesday rather than on Friday. The president Charles DeMorst presented representatives of the Boyce Aten Post American Legion, M. L. Zavala, Commandant. The Post presented a splendid patriotic program, the address being given by Major Macauly of San Diego. He presented the lives of Washington and Lincoln as ideal American lives and predicted the final culminaton of the lofty ideals for which both stood. Miss Lorraine McGee directed the chorus singing. Thomas Craig rendered very effectively the solo, "Go Down Moses".

Last Friday, Divisions Two and Four of the Homemaking department were guests at luncheon of Divisions One and Three. These luncheons are prepared and served faultlessly by the group. The guests too respond to their teachings in these affairs and ideal decorum is taught throughout.

Salton Sea Lodge of Elks No. 627 met in regular session last Thursday evening. In addition to the regular fraternal matters, civic projects were discussed and plans made to enlarge the lodge's sphere of usefulness. A free employment service is being installed. No fee will be charged either employer or employee. The Exalted Ruler was selected as the official representative at the County Fair on Negro Day. The Social Session Committee served refreshments to members at the conclusion of the business session.

The population of the Imperial Valley continues to grow. Housing needs are acute. A group of business men will find here an opportunity to enter into a worth while investment. All sections of the Imperial Valley.

Mrs. A. W. Dixon of Los Angeles is visiting her relatives here this week end.

Mrs. James Stocks and infant son, Stanley Paul are visiting husband and father this week. Coach Stocks is all smiles.

Exalted Ruler and Mrs. Williams of San Diego were visitors here during the visit of the Grand Secretary, Miss Kelley of the Grand Temple. Exalted Ruler Williams brought greetings from the Clementine McDuff Lodge of Elks, San Diego.

Mrs. Ruth K. Sims, Miss Emily Roberson were week end visitors in Los Angeles.

Local members of the Beta Chapter of AKA, Mesdames Ruth McGregor, Lucille Culberson, Elizabeth McGee and Misses Gladys Gier and Lenore Cooper attended an initiatory session of the chapter in San Diego last Saturday. Mrs. Ruth Johnson a pledge of the organization was also in attendance.

Mr. George Venerable visited his family in Los Angeles last week.

This section was visifed by a torrential downpour last Saturday and Sunday. There were no church services held Sunday and the schools throughout the county had a holiday Monday.

Rev. C. H. Hampton, president of the Western Baptist State Convention attended the funeral services of Mrs. M. E. Robinson last Thursday.

Rev. I. N. Whitten was a business visitor in San Diego last week.

Dr. J. L. Caston of Los Angeles was a visitor here during the week and in attendance at the funeral service of Mrs. Robinson.

Miss Octavia J. Payne of San Diego visited parents and relatives last Thursday.

Mrs. Oneida Miles, 1140 California avenue, Apt. 2, club president, was hostess to the T. E. Social and Charity club, Wednesday night, Feb. 23rd, and served a very tasty repast. Guest was Miss Helen Cooper, and bridge prizes were awarded Mrs. Marie Richardson, first; Mrs. Katherine Howard, second; and Mrs. Dorothy Reese, galloping prize.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Smith, newlyweds of a few months ago, are now at home to friends at their own attractive and modernly furnished stucco residence, 1480 California avenue. They recently returned from a motor trip to San Francisco accompanied by Mrs. Carrie Mitchell and Mrs. M. Stevenson.

The Juliette Derricotte Business Girls club socialized at a "Coffee Hour" meeting with Miss Margaret Maus, YWCA B. G. secretary at the YWCA on Thursday, Feb. 24th.

Master Levi Howard, 1028 E 12th street celebrated his 13th birthday with a party, Saturday evening, Feb. 26h. Many party games were enjoyed, and delicious refreshments served by Mrs. Katherine Howard. Friends and schoolmates present were Msses Flora Howard, Erlene McCoy, Barbara Jean Pitts, Juanita Watson, Josephne Davis, Justine Moore, and Masters Clarence Pitts, Elmer Jimerson, Orville Leonard, Jack Moore, Junior McCoy, J. D. Simmons, George Howard, Kenneth Spear, Mathews Austin and George 'Gene' Miles.

The Mason's dinner dance at the Elk's, 520 W. Esther St., L. B. last Friday evening, Feb. 25 was quite a success and proved much enjoyment out of the ordinary to the large crowd that attended.

"Bonnet" straws, toeless-sideless shoes, all-around pleated skirts, bolero jackets, and various shades of blue, beige, rose, gold, violet, copper and more copper all of these are signs of advance spring styles and surely reminded you of the T. E. Social and Charity club's advance spring dance at the Elk's Rest, 520 W. Esther, Saturday night, March 5th Also "tuned up" with the "times" to greet you will be the popular Roy Clark and his orchestra!

Incidentally, when will L. B. have a truly big dance success again?? For example—Lest you forget: The Elk's opening and cabaret dances in 1934; Juliette's Hallowe'en invitational masquerade at the YWCA with Woodman Bros. music in 1934; Novelty Girls' Cabaret Dance at Labor Temple with Edith Turnham and her Dixie Aces and floor show in 1934; Juliette's matinee dansantes at the Elk's with Lorenzo Flennoy's orchestra in summer 1935; The Novelty Girls' Semi-Formal at the Service Men's Club with Roy Clark's music in 1935; the Juliette's Balloon Frolic at the Moose Hall with George Brown's 14-piece orchestra in Summer 1936; Daughter Elks Swing Dance at the Elks' in 1936; the Fidelis club's semi-formal at the Recreation Park clubhouse with George Brown's music in 1936; the DuBois Social club's Barn Dance in 1936, and a few others. Can't such reminiscing stir up some action in local clubs?

As seen in passing—

Miss Luella Mayes, Poly high student in stunning riding habit; Mrs. Dorothy Reese winning 1st prize at the Lucky No. Dance; "Tony" James Anthony leaving for Washington to re-enlist; Mrs. Helen Gwyn-Irving and her sunny smile behind the lunch counter at the Elks; Miss Florita Jimerson with books underarm resuming her studies at Lakewood Junior college; Mrs. Grace Fisher's boyish bob of the last two years growing long; Corrine Brown and John Smith, (convalescent) doing the 'Big Apple' at the Elks; Mr. Norman Washington and "Tuffy" gardening; Mrs. Grace Fields Ealey at the mike at the Elks; and Miss Ella White and Mr. Jesse Wills making last preparations for the "main event" March 3rd.

Notice: Have all column news in not later than Sunday afternoon of each week to 1411 California avenue, Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Clay served as host and hostess to an old time Patrons Social Tea recently. A musical program was enjoyed, with Mrs. Robinson singing "Danny Boy" and the "Holy City", accompanied by Mrs. Carrie Craig. Instrumental solos were by I. Taylor, after which Mrs. Clay presented Mrs. Bertha Robinson, her first junior operator to the public.

The Opportunity Club will hold its Anniversary Tea at the home of Mrs. Mabel Richardson on the coming Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Williams, newlyweds, held a reception in honor of their marriage. Many exquisite gifts were received by the happy couple and nearly one hundred persons bade fond congratulations.

Witnessed a splendid program at Mt. Zion A. M. E. Church honoring the pastor. Two choirs, Gospel and Senior were at their best with Miss Faith Thomas, Mistress of ceremonies. The Rev. E. J. MacGruder pastor for 12 years was pleased with each rendition.

There will, no doubt be other mention, however the Cosmos Social Club held their twentieth Anniversary Program at the Scottish Rite Auditorium Feb. 21st. Mr. Wm. Lashley, president and his fine staff spared no pains in making this a grand affair. Prominent guests of all races were present and a delightful program was presented. Space does not permit honorable mention of guests however, Messrs. Grant Still, J. Rosamond Johnson, John D. Barry and Mrs. Alfred Hertz were among the guests of note. Promenade and dancing to the strains of Ben Watkins' Orchestra was the motif of the evening's entertainment after the program.

San Francisco's most popular young mother, Mrs. F. L. Foster, Jr., boasts of a fine ten pound boy, Allen Julian. Grandmother's (me) a little bit happy too!

The Thursday Afternoon Bridge Club met with Mrs. Arthur Jones in Eddy Street. Guests present were, Mesdames, Isabel Haskell, Willie Lewis, Gussie Lewis, Robert Fisher, Viola DeClaybrooke, Amelia Farmer, Birdye Andrews, Misses Leuthetis Larkin and Mrs. Belle Fleming. Members were Mesdames, Alicia Butler, Zela Hulsey, Adah Manley, Adah Edwards, Edith Nichols, Mayme Hollens, Anna Foster, and Mabel Jones. The ladies enjoyed cocktails, luncheon and vied at bridge. Winners of the afternoon were, Guest, Mrs. Robert Fisher and Club, Mrs. Adah Edwards.

Miss M. G. Roberts Executive Secretary of the Mme C. J. Walker Home was hostess at a delightful breakfast honoring members of the cast of "Porgy and Bess", Tuesday Morning, Feb. 22. Miss Eva Jayess, director of the Choir, Miss Helen Dowdy, Mesdames Hazel Dykes, Annabelle Ross, Lois Hodnett, C. N. Morris, A. C. Mitchell, Misses Floyd Green Sarah Fletcher, and Mr. and Mrs. Orinthal Anderson.

Our domicile was honored with the presence of Mr. J. Rosamond Johnson on Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 22. A few of the guests were disappointed because a previous engagement delayed the composer, however it was my honor and privilege to sing, accompanied by the composer, some of his songs and receive instruction as to the rendition of the same. Am also proud of an autograph of my "Lil' Gal". Organists, executives both civic and social were present. Anna Foster, hostess

San Francisco and the Bay region were hosts to many distinguished visitors among whom were Miss Buena Kelley, National Grand Secretary of the I. B. P. O. E. of the World and Mrs. Lottie Augustus of El Centro, California, president of the Pacific State's Association. Thes ladies were guests of the Guiding Star Temple at the Booker Washington Center and were recipients of many lovely gifts and beautiful corsages. Dtrs. Ethel Fowler, Walter Wright and committee merit commendation for their splendid affair. Dtr. Mabel Dodge motored the guests to places of interest in the city and Mrs. Laura E. Davis was hostess at dinner. Cherry Blossom of Palo Alto, Campanalie of Berkeley and Mizpah Temple of Oakland also honored these distinguished guests.

Miss Eugenia Bond of Oakland is attending our Junior College here. She is the grand-daughter of Mrs. Ella Estopian.

BOTH PARTIES WATCH FOR REACTION TO VOTE ON ANTI-LYNCHING MEASURE

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3. (By NAACP Washington Observer)—The leaders of both parties have their ears to the ground for the reaction of the public to the vote last February 21 which laid aside the federal anti-lynching bill in order to take up the President's $250,000,000 relief program.

The White House is also reported to be deeply interested in how the country is receiving the laying aside of the anti-lynching measure.

It was reported here, upon the highest authority, Monday, following the vote of 58-22 to take up the relief measure, that if the protests and indignation from the people were in sufficient volume, something would have to be done about lynching before the end of the present session.

The Gavagan - Wagner - Van Nuys anti-lynching bill is not off the Senate calendar entirely and can be called up for consideration whenever the opportunity seems favorable. The bill merely has lost its preferred position on the calendar.

The vote on February 21 was preceded by a sharp debate between Senator Barkley, majority leader, and Senator Charles L. McNary, Republican minority leader.

Senator McNary, in defending the votes of the Republicans against cloture, charged that there had been very little enthusiasm for the bill on the part of those Democrats who were supposed to be for it. He said that even if the Republicans had voted for cloture, there would not have been enough votes to carry it.

In reply, Senator Barkley stated that all the speeches that had been delivered for the bill had been delivered by Democrats and that not a single Republican had spoken except Senator Borah and he had spoken against the bill.

WAGNER PERSONALLY ABUSED

Senator Wagner referred to the fact that he had been subjected to great personal abuse because of his sponsorship of this bill, but stated that he would not pay any attention to that since he believed in the measure and thought it was beneficial to humanity. He declared several times in the course of his remarks that the fight for the bill was not being given up, but that its supporters would not stand in the way of relief for thousands of needy Americans, white and black. He said he fully intended to call up the bill at the first opportunity and that he would continue to work for its passage.

Senator Wagner at first attempted to make a motion that the Senate take up the relief bill, but postpone action on the anti-lynching bill only until March 28 when it would be taken up again as the pending business of the Senate. The opponents of the anti-lynching bill, however, thru Senator Connally of Texas, let it be known that they would filibuster against such a motion if it were to be brought up and thus delay consideration of the relief bill.

Just before the vote was taken, Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska stated that he believed that the passage of the anti-lynching bill would reopen old Civil War wounds between the North and the South, and that all people would be worse off than they had been before. He said he thought the South had done very well with the Negro problem and that the government ought not to do anythin except allow the South to solve it.

It was the consensus of opinion among some of the veteran newspaper correspondents here and editors of Washington news information serves that the 47-day filibuster had done more good for the Negro and the cause of civil liberties than would have been done had the bill passed. These observers are of the opinion that the southern filibusterers made such a sorry presentation of their case that the country sees more clearly than ever the plight of the Negro in the South and knows more about lynching now than it ever did before.

However, the NAACP, through Walter White, its secretary, let it be known that while it appreciates the fact that the filibuster put the South on the spot, it believes that as soon as the present excitement dies down, lynchings will proceed and the states, as usual, will do nothing about them. The association declared that it does not intend to give up the fight against lynching or for a federal anti-lynching bill.

Mr. White pointed out that since this bill has been under discussion, a total of 8 lynchings have been reported as being prevented solely on its account.

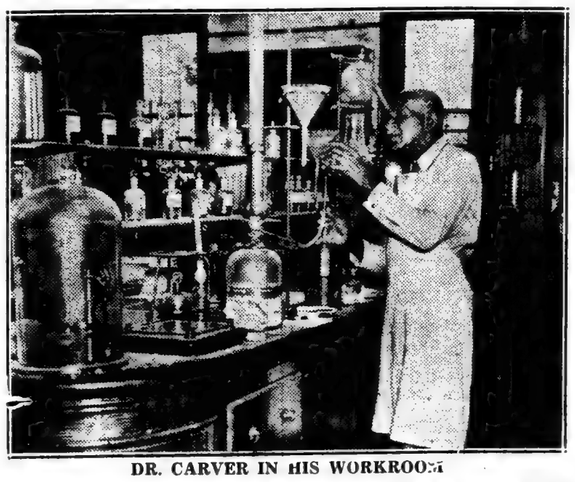
CALIFORNIAN IN RADIO ADDRESS DURING LINCOLN 'U' (MISSOURI) "HISTORY WEEK"

LINCOLN UNIVERSITY, Jefferson City, Mo., Mar. 3.—Among the unpublicized activities surrounding the Negro History Week observances here in Jefferson City a week ago was the last-minue scheduled radio address by Lloyd Hughes, native Californian, a master of arts and Phi Beta Kappa scholar from the University of California, and at present a graduate student in history at the University of Kansas.

Mr. Hughes, who came to Jefferson City for the history week exercises, devoted a 15-minute paper, from the studio of local radio station KWOS to the subject, "The Negro in Mexico".

Mr. Hughes's theme was that Mexico has a Negro as well as a Spanish and Indian heritage. "Negroes have been in Mexico from the earliest times," according to the speaker, "and there are today many Negro towns of ancient origin along the Pacific coast of Mexico. The names of Negroes are found among the early explorers and colonists of the territory to the north of Mexico. Most of the contributions of the Negro were made in the colonial period," continued the speaker.

Negroes have been present in Mexico from the time of the Spanish Conquest. A number of Negroes were with Cortes when he conquered the ancient and wealthy empire of the Aztecs. One of them introduced the cultivation of wheat into Mexico; another introduced smallpox. Some were free citizens, serving in the army, while others were slaves. In succeeding years many Negroes were brought to Mexico to work in the mines or on the plantations of the hot lowland areas of the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.



SLAVE CODE NOT SEVERE

"The slave code was not severe, and Negroes could easily obtain their freedom. Many of them did, so that at the end of the Colonial period there were only a few thousand slaves in Mexico. The laws required slaves to be housed, fed, and clothed just as well as free laborers. Moreover, they were to be instructed in religion, and cared for when aged or sick. Tasks could not be imposed on those under 17 or over 70 years of age. Slaves who escaped from English or Dutch colonies were granted freedom; provided that they accepted the Catholic faith.

"However, slavery was never profitable in Mexico, for there were millions of Indians who were willing to work for very low wages. Slavery soon dies out when it proves unprofitable, and this is exactly what happened in Mexico. By 1793 there were only 10,000 slaves left in Mexico. Most of these were freed during the war of Independence. All slaves who served in the Army of Independence were granted immediate freedom. The remainder was freed by a proclamation of President Guerrero in 1829.

The Scientist Who Asks God

And Gets the Answers

By Berwin Kaiser

(Reprinted from the Los Angeles Times)

George Washington Carver of Tuskegee, Alabama, does not know his exact age, does not know his family name. But Dr. George W. Carver, great — perhaps greatest — scientist of the Negro race, agricultural chemist, poet, mystic, philosopher, painter, cook, needlework artist and pianist, knows one thing for sure: asked how he arrived at his countless scientific discoveries, he said, "I never grope for methods. The method is revealed at the moment I am inspired to create something new."

Among his revealed inspirations he can count 145 products of the peanut, 107 products of the sweet potato, no end of dyes from the clays and soils of the South, as well as paint, wood stains and insulating board from the root of the palmetto plant.

It must have been sometime around the close of the Civil War that a Negro baby—not yet named Carver—was abducted from a one-room shanty on a Missouri plantation. The earliest thing he remembers is that his captors sold his family down the river in Arkansas. But a German farmer, Moses Carver, liked the boy and traded a $300 race horse for him. He named his "George Washington" because he was honest and industrious. Somebody else gave him a book—"Webster's Elementary Spelling Book." At ten he started walking eight miles to and from school. And the rest of his learning he got from the fields and the woods.

"I lived in the woods. I wanted to know everything, every strange stone, flower, insect, bird or beast." Now nearing 80, he still goes into the woods 365 days a year, at four o'clock in the morning, and still gets his learning there. "I gather specimens and listen to what God has to say to me. After I've had my morning talk with God, I go to my laboratory and begin to carry out His wishes for the day."

The Carver method may not make scientific sense—but the Carver results do. The South has a $60,000,000 peanut industry largely because of him. It sees tests of "cotton" roads being made in several states, based on a Carver idea of using cotton to reinforce asphalt. It has a sweet potato starch plant in operation in Laurel, Mississippi, thanks to him.

His assistants at Tuskegee are proud, and sometimes bitter, that whenever he discovers something he imediately gives the idea away. "Mankind", he comments, "is being benefited, and that is the purpose for which my work is intended."

His interest in peanuts goes back to the closing years of the last century, when Booker T. Washington, who had heard of the well-trained and able agricultural chemist teaching at Iowa State University, asked him to come to Tuskegee. (Carver had put himself through Simpson College, at Indianola, Iowa, by opening a laundry.) At Tuskegee they give him the problem of the destitute Southern farmers.

Carver taught them crop rotation to combat the boll weevil. He told them to plant peanuts because he knew that peanuts put vital stuff back into the soil.

One grower who followed his advice soon found himself with thousands of acres of peanuts. What on earth could you do with peanuts but roast them and eat them or feed them to the hogs? So he asked Carver what he was supposed to do next. "I went back to my laboratory," the Doctor recalls, "took the great Creator in with me and set to work to find out what to do with his peanuts after they were grown." Eventually he found scores of uses.

Like scientist Einstein, scientist Carver is two kinds of man. Einsten has his violin; Carver likes to play the piano and once, in his young days, toured as a concert pianist. He likes to paint—on paper he has made from his peanuts, in frames he has fashioned from material derived from corn husks. He cooks, too, and has a book of some 100 of his own recipes. He has taken prizes with his needlework.

Once a fellow scientist named Thomas A. Edison wanted Carver to join with him at Menlo Park. Carver's reply was brief, courteous, positive: "... work among my own people, God said." But Dr. Carver treasured Edison's letter—and quietly went on working.

Such is Dr. George Washington Carver, once sold down the river into Arkansas, now member of the Royal Society of Arts in London, director of the Agricultural Research and Experiment Station at Tuskegee—the man who once asked: "God, what is a peanut?" and then became the means of expanding the peanut business into a $60,000,000 industry.

CALIFORNIA THE GOLDEN

This land of sunshine I call mine,
California, the golden state,
Where fruit and nuts grow big and fine
And make my state so rich and great.

No matter where I chance to roam,
Throughout this great wide world,
Your golden sunshine will call me home,
To the land by the Western Sea.

Hello, Everybody! Been doing some research work this week. And I b'lieve I've solved the mystery that's been puzzling historians for the last two thousand years; namely, the where-abouts of the lost tribes of Israel. You know according to the Bible there were twelve tribes, but some of 'em got lost in the shuffle. Well, I've run 'em down to earth, and where do you think I found are exhibiting precisely the Eastside in the person of us colored landlords.

I know you're curious to find out how I spotted them so I'll tell you. I done it by what educated folks call "Logical Deduction". It is a well-known fact that one of the outstanding qualities of modern Israelites is the speed with which they can shift their point of view. When one of them is trying to bargain for something, the thing they're dickering for is absolutely worthless--from his view-point as a buyer. But the minute the deal's closed, presto, the thing acquired jumps in value by leaps and bounds. Well a lot of our Colored landlords who have recently bought property are exhibiting the precisely same tendencies.

EVERY HOUSE A SHACK

Before they got to be land lords, every house they looked at for rent was a shack, the rent was way too high, the landlord was a highway-man, etc. But the minute they got a toe-hold on a piece of property of their own, if it had formerly been renting for twenty dollars, they'd step it up to, thirty, without batting an eye. We sing the blues constantly about landlords of the "Other Expression" holding us up, but the minute we get a chance, we join hands with them in shaking down our

Picturesque and Revered Knows What He Wants Right to This One

On his sick bed for the past two weeks, but reported taking a turn for the better is Major J. B. Loving, grand old man of California, who is possibly one of the most liked and most picturesque figures in the state.

Put him in a uniform and up on a horse and you have something. The old-timers know. But he has other traits which have served to tab him as one of the most revered men in cahoots with John Law.

Not so long ago, "Major" was retired from the sheriff's office where he had worked for a long period in charge of prisoners in the county jail. His office was a museum of fine paintings, drawings, etc., which were done by inmates of the bastile.

His personality not only instilled confidence in the men but made them see things in a different light, they changed their ways of living, and in most instances sought to traverse the "straight and narrow" highway to the goal of respectability and happiness in the game of life.

An instance of the effect the Major" had had on the life of one of his former charges came to our attention recently. It seems that "Major" was returning from San Diego one day along with two or three other men. The big car rolled into a service station for some gasoline. One of the attendants came out to the car and said:

"Well! Hello, 'Major'!"

In his straight, to-the-point fashion, the Major said, "Who are you?"

"I used to be one of your charges at the jail in Los Angeles," replied the attendant, who was happy now that he was out and had a job and a chance to make good.

No, they never forget the Major — the man who rekindled the flame of hope in the breasts of many a man.

All of this hubbub and backlapping surrounding Jesse Owens hasn't phased the likable fellow one whit.

We got the impression from a talk with him this week that his concern right now is to do something to benefit the other fellow.

Regarding his much publicized tussle with the AAU, he says if the ass'n reinstates him as an amateur, it's all right and if they don't, it's all right. In his sense of the word, he says he is going to remain an "amateur".

Back to Ohio State in September to complete work on his A. B., to be followed by a year of study for M. A., is the current Owens' intention.

His long suit, as he terms it, is his desire to coach at the conclusion of his studies.

Of the Olympic Games in Japan in 1940, he says he may go as spectator if his wife would like the trip. When we remarked as to how fit he looked he replied, "Yes, I don't mess' around."

Yes, Jesse knows what it's all about and he knows what he wants from this old world—a chance to do good for somebody else. And he's well prepared to do it!

Henry Armstrong, who is also known as a world's champion fighter, is another one who knows what he wants and, needless to say, is going about getting it.

Having had a taste of privation and want, he proceeds to feather his own nest and at the same time feathers the nest for others.

Here Friday night, he will do his bit for charity, and later in the month, newspapers state he is scheduled to do the same in New York. Without hesitation, he has helped worthy causes all over the country through the medium best known to him — his fists.

No wonder he is tops in his profession and tops with those who pay to see him fight!

People We Know: Ernest Hendy, known in fistiana a few years ago as "Dynamite" Jackson is about and looking as fit as the proverbial fiddle . . . John Gray, he of the Gray Conservatory of Music, continues to go about his work as a developer of talent in music, content to bask in the reflected glory of his numerous finds . . . Norris Stokes, the affable baritone, making steady strides to a place in the sun . . . Dick Hudson, here with the Owens' coupe, large and with the same kind of heart . . . Jay Moss with him and showing him the L. A. ropes . . . Aside to Morrie Cohan: A magnanimous gesture on your part is the placing of "Tiger" Jack Nelson on the Pasadena Arena benefit boxing and wrestling show tomorrow night . . .

demand is made for 'race' backing of motion picture

Upon the altar of my heart
Hushed, where none can see
A tall white candle stands apart
It will burn eternally.
Its shining flame I did not light
But, oh my, how I doubt
If I should try with all my might
I could ever blow it out.

WHILE filmactors are crying "wolf" because of a dearth of employment in major studios since early December, RADIO takes the fore with scores of Negro artists featured locally and on trans- continental programs.

CLYDE BARRIE, promising young baritone, was heard on a Sunday afternoon broadcast from coast-to-coast in several classics that were especially well suited to the beautiful quality of his voice. Introduced without reference to "race", Barrie nevertheless displayed those peculiar nuances only found in Negro voices.

On a six-thirty NBC broadcast the same day, THE BROWN SISTERS brought a clever arrangement of descriptive tunes built around Harlem life. It is interesting to note that Thelma wrote the entire continuity as well as having made the arrangements of the numbers. Studio support for the trio was all that any artists could desire. The announcer provided just the right punch and a note of sincerity that placed the program on a high standard. Radio fans welcome the return of the Brownies on the air, for they were long top favorites here and in San Francisco.

Unaccustomed as we are to rising early, Monday morning found the whole family hugging the dial for ETTA MOTEN'S voice in the Quaker Oats presentation of "Cabin at the Crossroads".

Scarcely could we listen in for the telephone ringing: "Etta's on the air" . . . "Are you tuned in to Etta" . . . and similar enthusiastic statements indicating the tremendous popularity here of Miss Moten on the air.

We wonder, then, why radio and stage and screen have producers to WAIT until there is a slump in other box office attractions before they sign Negro artists whose popularity—at least with the great mass of Negro patrons — is undoubted . . . and 20 million people are TWENTY MILLION and if, for instance, they don't buy any more than a quarter's worth of buckwheat flower a year, that's five million DOLLARS worth of sales and five million ought to do any man's business a lot of good.

THE WORKER PAYS

Complaints are coming in on the employment methods of Million Dollar Production Company. It is reported that light colored extras holding guild cards were passed up for light colored extras without guild cards so that the guild wage scale could be ignored and the fee of $5.50 paid instead, thereby saving the company several hundred dollars on production costs.

Excuse allegedly given out by Mr. RALPH COOPER was that no light colored extras with guild cards could be found.

Reports such as this one always have two sides. Neither of which is possible to choose until the matter has been brought before the SCREEN ACTORS GUILD in which the complaining witnesses hold membership. It does not do a bit of good to stand on Central Avenue street corners and "beef" about being gyped out of a job, or being hired for $5 when one should be paid $16. Take the matter up with the organization YOU ARE PAYING to protect your rights.

IN THIS same vein, a young man entertainer came to our office this week crying for assistance from this department in obtaining work. Among his credentials were FIVE CONTRACTS he had signed with various agents granting them fees ranging from 10 percent to 25 percent. One was recently signed with a local attorney who charged him 10 percent for his services and 10 percent for his office boy — 20 percent "of all sums of money as he shall earn in occupations as actor, performer, singer, player of musical instruments and similar occupations".

Neither the attorney nor the office boy have any known or implied contacts that would enable them to secure work for the performer BUT . . . if, thru any other channel he did obtain work, the lawyer and his boy could, under the law, COLLECT the 20 percent because the entertainer unwittingly granted it to them.

Of course, it isn't nice to take advantage of ignorance and employment needs grown out of long periods of waiting and missing meals but THAT is just what shyters and sharks are waiting for to get their pound of flesh. In the end, if the man ever did get a job, he would realize only about 15 percent of his earnings for himself and his wife and his three kids.

The state allows ten percent agents' fees for artists' representatives.

PAUL WHITE opens a personal appearance engagement at the ORPHEUM March 9, with the picture, "Adventure's End" in which he is cast.

BILL ROBINSON returns to Hollywood before March 15 to supervise the final touches on his new home on West 37th street.

CLINTON ROSEMOND has been offered a feature part in "Froo-Froo", forthcoming M-G-M picture, starring Luise Rainer. CLARENCE MUSE is also being considered.

A revival of the drama, "Porgy" by DuBose Heywood, author, is planned for a southern tour. Heywood wired management of "Porgy and Bess" for GEORGETTE HARVEY whom he wants to play "Maria", the role she created in the Theatre Guild production BUT . . . Miss Harvey is standing by for reports on her test at M-G-M for "Froo-Froo".

In Scandinavia, coffee-colored MARIAN ANDERSON attracts no end of attention because the Scandinavians are curious to see a Negro singer with a Swedish name! One season alone, the contralto was obliged to give ONE HUNDRED AND FORTY-TWO concerts! Incidentally, her favorite vacation spot is the Swedish island of Rodloga. Miss Anderson was called back to San Francisco for a return concert Friday night and the S. F. Opera House was packed.

Setting something of a high in these days of "recession", when most of the studios are curbing production schedules, Million Dollar Productions that have just finished "The Duke is Tops", will begin a new flikker within SIXTY days.

All cultural arts, including the NEGRO UNIT of Federal Theatres will be moved to a new home before the end of the week, on the grounds of the old Harvard Military Training School at Venice and Western.

todd duncan injured in stage fall

Gillespie Plays "Porgy"

Todd Duncan received painful injuries in a fall resulting in a fractured ankle during a performance of "Porgy and Bess" at the Curran theatre, San Francisco, Wednesday night.

Duncan, who plays the male lead in the Gershwin folk opera, forced himself to go through with the evening's performance, even though he was in great pain.

Next night, his understudy, William Gillespie, a Los Angeles actor, carried on for Duncan and critics declared that he gave a highly commendable performance of the difficult role.

With his leg in a plaster cast, Duncan resumed work Monday.

THEATRE of the A-I-R

The amazing "Jemima Wilkinson," known as a great religious leader to colonial America is the subject for "Turning Points In Famous Lives", presented by Federal Theatre of the Air via KRKD from 6:30 to 6:45 p. m., Friday.

Except for a very few people, the name Jemima Wilkinson means nothing today, but just after the Revolutionary War she was known to every man, woman and child as the Public Universal Friend, leader of a religious sect. Jemima founded a settlement in Western New York State which prospered so richly that the colonists lost their faith and abandoned their religion.

Dramatization of "Daniel - Prince of Judah" will be presented on the "Living Portraits From The Bible" series this afternon over KFAC at 2.

Daniel, Israelite prince, and his two cousins were exiles in Babylon. Because of their keen minds they were trained for service to the King. Daniel had but one purpose in life - that of returning the jews to the promised land and rebuilding the Temple at Jerusalem. Despite great trials and trbiulations, he never lost hope. In a vision, the Angel Gabriel verified Daniel's faith. Patrick McGeehan, Kent Wallace and Carlyle Steves are supported by a large cast of favorites in this broadcast.

feet preferred to profiles by javanese fans

Strangest fan letter of the week was read by Gary Cooper to Claudette Colbert on the set of "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife".

Cooper received this letter from a fan in Batavia, Java:

"Please will you be so kind as to send me for cash on delivery all of the photographs you have handy of yourself in bare feet."

In Java, it seems, good-looking feet are more important than a profile.

maceo sheffield declares that 'fronting' for producers is taboo

CITES WESTERN PROFITS

"Every Negro connected with the production of so-called all-Negro motion picture companies is no more than a stooge fronting for whites to whom the bulk of the profit goes," is the emphatic statement made this week by Maceo Sheffield, "supervisor" in the Jed Buell film company that produced the all-Negro western, "Harlem on the Prairie".

MADE PRETTY PROMISES

"That places me in the pot with Ralph Cooper and his organization, Clarence Brooks and others holding similar positions with the companies", Sheffield said.

"I, for one, was inveigled into one of these companies with pretty promises and a glowing future. I find, now, that it was all poppy-cock and simply a bait to use in the exploitation of our artists and the goodwill of the Negro public at large".

LEAVES PARTNERS

With such an amazing confession coming from Sheffield, it was evident that all is not exactly a bed of roses between him and his former employers or "co-producers".

Clarifying the situation, he explained it thusly:

"There are 890 Negro play dates, or houses open for Negro films and vaudeville acts. There are numbers of Negroes in the south and other sections who would own and operate theatres if they were assured of pictures and acts sufficient to keep them running.

"The money that we have made for other folk could just as well be made for ourselves. For instance, the actual production costs of "Harlem On The Prarie" was $5600. The producers were offered TEN THOUSAND in advance royalties for the foreign release alone!

At this point Mr. Sheffield was asked whose fault it was that "others" are able to make profits off Negro ideas and Negro talent while their own people fail.

It was pointed out that "Harlem On the Prarie" created something of a box-office stir because of its uniqueness and originality. The producers had something to SELL to the public and the public BOUGHT it.

HIS IDEA

Sheffield admitted that the idea was conceived by him, that he sought white capital to finance it and no appeal to Negro business was made from the offset to finance the project. Consequently, "the race" is not to be indicted for neglecting a profitable venture.

Having suffered the well-known "run-around from executives who have assertedly stole the thunder, Sheffield and a group of other filmites are now ready to do business with Negroes and seek funds from them to produce pictures under all-race supervision, it was stated this week.

tivoli theatre runs first fight films of louis bout

Offering a scoop of the fight pictures of Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis and Nathan Mann in Madison Square Gardens last Wednesday night, management of the Tivoli Theatre announced this outstanding feature to run through Sunday on its bill of screen fare.

Every detail of the swift defense of his title is shown by the newsreel of Louis' masterful fight technique over the New Haven boxer.

Plenty of action is furnished by the reeler.

Before the knockout, Mann visited the canvas nearly a half-dozen times as the champion opened up in the second and third rounds. Mann absorbed plenty of Joe's steaming rights and lefts before he finally stayed down.

The fight was a sell-out long before Louis arrived for the weighing-in. Close to 20,000 spectators saw it and recorded a total of $130.000 in the till.

"The Champ"

It was the first heavyweight fight for the championship staged indoors in 18 years, and despite the fact that it was intended only as a tune-up for Joe's match with Max Schmeling in June, it seemed to have captivated the boxing world.

medicine show is theme of new popkin pic; stars lena horn, ralph cooper

Final fadeouts have been filmed and "The Duke Steps Out", Harry Popkin's latest production for the Million Dollar Film company, is ready for the cutting room.

Starring Ralph Cooper, as the "Duke", and a new leading lady imported from the east, beauteous Lena Horn, the musical features a medicine show theme with Lawrence Criner doing the honors as the fakir.

Million Dollar productions still hover between the melodramatic and crudest burlesque but it is expected that an impressive line of supporting actors as there are in this flikker will aid greatly in lifting the standard.

In the cast are Edward Thompson, Monte Hawley, Vernon McCalla, Johnny Taylor, Charles Hawkins. A sixteen girl chorus is under direction of Lew Crawford. The "Four Cats and Fiddles" and the "Basin Street Boys" furnish incidental musical numbers.

Ben Ellison and Harvey Brooks wrote the music for this film. Wm. Nolte directed and wrote the scenario.

Dorothy Lamour, who willingly takes chances from which most actresses recoil, today was riding a giant white crocodile in "Her Jungle Love".

"No wonder I have nightmares!"

voice is seat of sex appeal states pundit

If you think the "thrill appeal" of your favorite movie star results from the divine curve of her legs, the sheen of her hair, or the luster of her eyes, you are wrong.

What excites you is the resonant quality of the voice, those soft notes that plunge into the depths of your consciousness, and come to grips with the basic urges of your emotional life.

Such was the confidential advice today of Dr. Funston Neibuhr, Honolulu psychologist, visiting in Hollywood, en route to an eastern university to study with Dr. Knight Dunlap, a colleague.

Dr. Neibuhr was a guest at Paramount studio, where Gladys Swarthout was recording her last song with John Boles for "Romance in the Dark."

SUBTLE APPEAL

The psychologist's observations on the voice were occasioned by the fact that Miss Swarthout was recently designated in a poll of 10 leading male stars as having more "thrill appeal" than any voice on the screen.

"Voices as a factor in stimulating the responses that account for the vast popularity of the movie people are generally overloked", Dr. Neibuhr said. "I believe that Havelock Eills has covered that ground pretty thoroughly.

HAIR NEXT

"The voice makes the most subtle of all appeals to the senses. It can't be analyzed, measured, and reduced to a geometric theorem like the curve of the leg or the lines of the profile, for example. But by the same token, it strikes much more deeply into the subconsciousness and the maze of emotions lodged there.

"After the voice as an excitement factor, I would place the hair. Next to the voice, it is the most feminine thing about a woman."

special show of porgy-bess set for mar. 10

Feeling that every Negro in Los Angeles should have the opportunity to witness this magnificent musical spectacle of the race a group of leading business men sometime ago began negotiations to bring "Porgy and Bess" to the Eastside at popular prices.

Because of the full schedule before leaving the Coast, it was with difficulty that the famous production was secured for this one special performance at the Lincoln theatre.

By special arrangement with Merle Armitage and the New York theatre guild, the widely acclaimed folk opera of Negro life, "Porgy and Bess", from the versatile pen of the late George Gershwin, will have its final Pacific coast performance at the Lincoln theatre in a gala midnight showing, Thursday evening, March 10.

Advance reservations indicate that a capacity audience will enjoy this rare musical spectacle with its splendid cast headed by Todd Duncan and Annie Wiggins Brown.

Those who are fortunate enough to secure a seat to witness this greatest of Negro operas will see the full cast which scored such a magnificent triumph at the Philharmonic last month, and repeated its successes in San Francisco.

dixie theatre sets precedent with race acts

NEW ORLEANS—Setting a precedent in Dixie amusement initiative on a big scale, the Palace theatre here is playing a kind of "Major Bowes" for Negro amateur talent.

Once a week an all-Sepia would-be actors' vaudeville is featured on the stage on this half million dollar play house.

High Type Entertainment

J. H. Moser, manager of the Palace said "Within the colored population of every community there is a proportionate amount of theatrical talent undiscovered. Our firm has realized that ambitions in theatrics can best be cultivated and inspired by community play houses. And we have been convinced that community talent is more favorably appreciated by our sustaining patrons, regardless of race.

It is in this spirit that we have attempted to give to New Orleans and other place the highest type of theatrical entertainment for its colored citizens."

orchestras and musicians

By Freddy Doyle

Flash

The results of the orchestra contest, sponsored yearly by the Down Beat Magazine which is published monthly in their selection of the best swing bands, and sweet bands, according to number of votes sent in by persons who are interested in such a matter for the past year of 1937, is as following. For the best No. 1 swing band, Bennie Goodman, second Tommy Dorsey, third Bob Dorsey and last but not least our own of color, the one and only Duke Ellington, who to my idea is the greatest organization in the world as far as swing music is concern. The most popular so called sweet bands selected were: Hal Kemp, No. 1, and the Casa Loma band, No. 2. Well my dear readers you can see for yourself that the Down Beat magazine is "all wet" as far as their selection goes. In other words the editor of this magazine selected these so called best bands or most popular bands of 1937 according to the number of votes sent into their office, but don't forget that the Down Beat magazine is published monthly and read most exclusively by the musicians, and therefore most of the votes sent in were by musicians but not the public that spends their money in order that the musicians will survive. Then again these bands selected have plenty of money backing them and therefore can easily buy their way into these so called contest, because of the publicity received from such which will put many dollars in heir various managers, pockets.

Now just for the fun of it how in the world can a band of Bennie Goodman's type be selected without first having to compete in a public contest between various top swing bands of the country, such as Chick Webb, who a few months ago at the Savoy ballroom in New York City in a swing contest between his band and Bennie Goodman's gave Bennie's band what Joe (world's heavyweight champion fighter) Louis recently gave Nathan Mann in the fight ring last week. In other words Chick Webb and his band "swung" this so called top rating band of 1937 out of the Savoy with their "solid jive" which is a "killer".

Not only using Chick Webb's band for an example, but take such other outstanding bands as Jimmie Lunceford, Count Basie, Louis Armstrong, Cab Calloway, Fletcher Henderson, Erskine Hawkins, Willie Bryant, and flocks of other smaller bands.

Now to you Down Beat Magazine, what are you going to say about these few bands that I have mentioned, or how would you rate them, or in other words isn't your magazine some what mistaken? Or can it be that you are a little color blind? Now when it comes to selecting a sweet band of color for one of the top spots in the contest, I have no 'squawks' to make, although we do have a few who are in a class of their own, for an example Noble Sissie, and some others which I haven't got enough space to mention. But I will compliment the Down Beat Magazine on their many articles in the past written about the top "cats" of color, and I hope that such articles will be continued.

Roy (big boy) Clark and his band was highly praised by the patrons and members of the Ma-Po-Fi club for their fine music rendered at the club's annual formal dance held this past Tuesday night at the Breakfast Club out on Riverside Drive.

Dootsie (trumpet) Williams and his band is one reason for the success of the recent basketball games held for the past number of Sundays at the Elks Hall and will be continued for many Sundays in the future. Dootsie has a very fine swing group, which is a "solid sender".

Gerald (piano) Spicer is "flowing the chocolate over the ivories" in a solid groove with your's truly at the Hollywood Cafe in Hollywood, where for the past year he has been pleasing the many patrons who frequent this night spot. Spicer is a native son of Los Angeles, who should feel proud of such a fine musician.

Joe becomes infatuated with Flora (Mae Turner), a night club entertainer, and she with him The club is run by Duke (Jules Smith), who has made fabulous sums of money betting on Joe. But the odds have been shortened with each succeeding kayo so that finally one must put up a great amount of money to win a very small sum. One of the Duke's henchmen suggests that if Joe were to lose they could really cash in. Flora and Duke decide to go to work on Joe by keeping him out late and wearing him down physically.

spring brings work increase to hollywood

Heralding approach of Hollywood's busy spring production season, Paramount put two new pictures before the cameras this week. One was the epic "The Texans", which will bring a post Civil War period of Texas history to the screen under the guidance of Director James Hogan. This production officially starts next month, but Hogan is in Texas with a company of 75 people to launch his picture.

Director Louis King commenced "Crime Gives Orders", featuring Lloyd Nolan, Mary Carlisle, J. Carrol Naish, Roscoe Karns and Lynne Overman.

Also shooting at Paramount are "You and Me" co-starring George Raft and Sylvia Sidney; "Professor, Beware!" the Harold Lloyd comic caper; "Tropic Holiday," lush musical of Mexican background with Bob Burns, Martha Raye, Dorothy Lamour and Ray Miland, and "Cocoanut Grove", musical treatment of Los Angeles' own famous rendezvous; with Fred MacMurray and Harriet Hilliard.

FLORA WASHINGTON HOSTESS

Old Grandpa Stork is hovering around the chimney of Mae (Johnson) and Johnny Thompson's home. Mrs. Thompson is a former member of the Cotton Club show, Culver City.

Last Sunday afternoon, between the hours of 3 and 7, a beautiful shower was given in honor of Mrs. Thompson at the beautiful home of Miss Flora Washington, celebrated cabaret star, on East Eighteenth street.

Huge bouquets of cut spring flowers were profusely placed about the reception and drawing rooms of the Washington home and novel Chapman ices in the form of babies and storks carried out the infant motif in refreshments.

Among the invited guests who showered the honoree with beautiful and useful gifts were: Mesdames Ernestine Temple, Edna Robinson, Alice Cotton, Maggie Johnson, Lula Spinner, Julia Scates, Maggie Flemings, M. B. Miller, B. Burdette, Miss June DeCuir and mother, Bernice Pilot, Nellie Williams, Demulda Dorothy Mims, Mr. and Mrs. John Perry and Tommy Glase.

Chinese Quintet Holds M. D. Five to Close Score

A determined group of extra-height Chinese boys held the Million Dollar Productions Five to a 24-21 score last Sunday night in the regular basketball game at the Elks' Hall.

Averaging five feet, ten inches tall, the Chinese boys were better players than any that have met the Million Dollar team this season.

As fast and as accurate in shooting, the Lowa team fell short in equalling the passing offense and defense of Ralph Cooper's quintet.

Cooper, playing for the first time in two weeks, bucketed three shots in spectacular style in the first half before replacement by Bert King.

EAGLETS LOSE

In the preliminary the California Eaglets were trampled by the Sunfreze Ice Cream company team. Handicapped by height, the Eaglets averaged 5 feet 4, and the Sunfreze girls averaged five feet eight, the Eaglets failed ti get in a showing against the white girls. Score was 66 to 14.

Next Sunday night a picked squad of Los Angeles Musicians will take on a team of dancers in the preliminary. Cooper's boys will play . . . .

Broadcast of The Eagle is Well Liked

Sponsors of the California Eagle News Broadcast, the S. A. Scherer Loan company, expressed approval this week of the public's reception of the Broadcast, started last Monday.

Feeling that the latest feature of the Greater California Eagle is of genuine service to the community, the sponsors announced that the Broadcast will be continued for thirteen weeks, every night except Saturday over Station KGFJ from 8:15 to 8:30.

Announcer is John Kinloch, nephew of the editor of the California Eagle, Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass. Monday night's broadcast featured theatrical news reported by Miss Fay Jackson, globe-trotting newspaperwoman. Miss Helen Chappell, society editor, was heard in a review of news of the social sphere Tuesday night and Kinloch brought national, international and local news flashes Wednesday night.

J. Cullen Fentress, city editor of the California Eagle, will be heard in a resume of the sepia sport world tomorrow night. Broadcasts of equal interest are promised for tomorrow and Sunday evenings.

louise beavers pleases hard harlem crowd

"You may be hot on Broadway but Harlem has its own way of boiling you down to a low gravy" is what they say of entertainers whose hat-bands need too many changes.

Nevertheless, latest reports from Manhattan, declare that Louise Beavers has proved a great favorite at the Apollo theatre in the heart of the black ghetto.

Earl Hines' band, Ada Brown, Alfred Latell, Frances Brock, Sonny and Sonny and a big revue were headed by the First Lady of Filmland. Her appearance in Brooklyn was heralded by theatres, cafes and other business places as has been done in no other city.

Sunshine Room to Benefit Kiddies at Wadsworth

Miss Grace Tingley, principal at Wadsworth School, 41st and Wadsworth Avenue annnounced this week the additions of a sunshine room for the benefit of children who need special rest periods during the school day. There are one hundred thirty children registered for health correction care in the sunshine room at Wadsworth. The complete relaxation which is enjoyed by the children while in the sunshine room gives them added zest and ambition for their studies during the working hours, she said.

Mrs. Sarah De Vine, nurse in charge of the sunshine room, stated that she is deeply appreciative of the blankets and pillow cases which were given by mothers of the neighborhood.

NYU Star Beats 600 Meter Run

NEW YORK, March 3—Jimmy Herbert, New York University, foot racer, contributed to the outbreak of record-smashing in the 600 meter run last Saturday night at Madison Square Gardens with a time of 1m, 20.3s, bettering by seven tenths of a second the old mark held by Eddie O'Brien of Syracuse.

Ben Johnson of Columbia equaled the world mark in the 60 meter dash of 6.6s, held jointly by him and Jesse Owens.

jo baker 'temperament' blamed for new queen in parisian gay spots

By Fay M. Jackson

Quite a year ago the prediction was made by clients of smart continental nite spots that Josephine Baker, long reigning queen of the Folies Bergere and a cabaret bearing her name, would be replaced in French favor by a new sepia idol.

Threatening the Baker throne was Bricktop, a sepia blonde who ruled the night club circle in Paris from a small but extremely smart Parisian club known only as "Bricktop" (and about the only place in Paris to which a taxi driver would take a customer direct without first making a tour of the city. Royalty, millionaires and notables from diplomatic circles all drank their champaigne from Bricktop's tables along with stage, screen and sports celebrities. It is said that more renowned figures parked their expensive cars in front of "Bricktop's" than any other one place in Paris. Bricktop made over a million dollars but she lost a great deal of it in the stock crash of 1929 and the rest went to helping stranded fellow-American entertainers.

COMEBACK

Bricktop made a brilliant spurt at regaining her lost prestige when friends came to her aid last year to finance a come-back but while she retains a certain popularity she has not yet matched her former place in the nite club business of Paris.

Adelaide Hall, another American, equally as delightful a hostess as Bricktop, vieing with the famed Baker for good looks--or one should say, personal charm, and certainly no piker in point of entertainment qualities is presently "locking the door" long before 12 of her "Big Apple" cafe.

There is something of the "Lion and the Mouse" story in Josephine Baker and Adelaide Hall.

UNKINDEST CUT

Both of the girls had been friends back in less palmy days of third-rate shows for colored patronage. When Adelaide appeared in Paris not so long ago, Jo was gracious enough as they chatted in friendly fashion in the latter's luxurious apartment, but at the premiere of Adelaide's appearance at the Moulin Rouge she is reported to have resented Adelaide's request for a bow "from an old friend". Out of the club flew the temperamental Miss Baker, leaving a pile of broken champagne glasses in her wake. Burying her face in a great ostrich fan, Adelaide Hall wept.

French patrons never quite understood nor fully forgave Jo Baker this snub.

So today we are not surprised that Adelaide Hall is being swept into riches and fame by an adoring French public.

English money, however, supplied by Miss Hetty Flacks, a Jewess from Manchester, is backing the "Big Apple".

AFRICAN APPLE

On the bill are: Sammy Van and Arthur Gaines, two natives of Cameroon--Bungo and Bingo, give a performance of African songs and dances in native costumes, with accompaniment on tom-toms and guitar. Miss Hall features the theme song, "Big Apple" specially written by Macio Jefferson and, a repertory of current hit numbers, while the African natives do their version of the dance in jungle motif that evolves into its present American version while Miss Hall and the entire cast peel it off in thrilling fashon.

A radio broadcast of the show is given every Saturday night for continental reception.

Other stars that shine across the pond are Alberta Hunter, celebrated blues warbler currently featured at the Tabaris club in Holland.

Eddie South and his boys with the British comedienne, Mabel Mercer, opened a month's engagement at an exclusive nitery in Amsterdam and are creating something of a swing sensation there.

BY ROYAL COMMAND

Willie Lewis and his band were commanded to play for Egypt's King Farouk at the Royal Ball following his wedding. Dignitaries from cities throughout Southern Europe, Africa and Asia attended. Members of the orchestra received expensive favors from the youthful king after swinging "The Saint Louis Blues".

COALS TO NEWCASTLE

STRANGE SUPERSTITION

Strangest Hollywood superstition is that of Mrs. Jacqueline Gentry, owner of Jiggs, the screen chimpanzee. She won't let the big ape appear in any picture where he simulates death and forced rewriting of the script of "Her Jungle Love" to eliminate death of the simian star.

Editorial Comment

THE LOS ANGELES TIMES REJOICES WITH DIXIE MOBOCRATS!

The Los Angeles Times, after long silence, has removed all doubt as to its stand on the Federal measure to curb mob murder. Coming out in the open Mr. Chandler's powerful weapon of defense of the rich and powerful to crush those who toil, now takes up the cudgel in a battle to justify the putting to death of human beings without trial by judge or jury from the editorial leader in The Tmes of February 23, under the caption "Shelving Foolishness", we quote a few of the highlights as follows:

"After having blocked really important business before the Senate for a month and a half, the so-called anti-lynching bill has been shelved without action.

"The breast-beating, hair-tearing performance put on over this measure has been ridiculous from the start. In the wig and false whiskers of an act supposed, incorrectly, to make lynching a Federal offense, the bill has never been anything but a political cat's-paw. It is not and never was a bill to prevent lynching."

Continuing its celebration of victory in the fight to glorify and maintain the right of mobs to murder citizens, The Times goes on in its argument to justify lynching by declaring:

"There is no need for such a law. The sum total of lynchings in this country last year was eight. We had nearly ten times as many murders in Los Angeles county alone in the same period, but neither Senator Wagner nor anybody else has suggested that the United States government step in . . .

"The outcome ought to suit nearly everybody, at least temporarily. The administration has made the necessary gesture to please the Negro voters and has escaped an open breach with southern Democracy. The latter's durable filibusters have prevented the bill's passage.

"The only losers are the taxpayers and others whose interests have suffered through the legislative log-jam. And they don't count."

The editorial spasm of The Times comes not as a surprise to colored citizens and other groups who stand for law, order and fair play.

When Los Angeles was a mere village and California's poet laureate, John Steven McGroarty was a "leg man" on the sheet, The Times often referred to colored women as wenches, until a Negro who was conducting a paper at that time bitterly arraigned Gen. Otis for the insult to a struggling, law-abiding group, before the practice was discontinued.

Prof. T. C. Green, now a prosperous insurance executive, is the editor in question, and this same McGroarty acted as peacemaker between the two journalists.

After all, politics, creed, color or religion cuts no ice if not backed up with human heart.

Here is another view of the anti-mob murder bill as seen thru the glasses of a Communist editor, in which the paper is strongly endorsed in this part of its program by peoples of all races and creeds. We call attention to the editorial leader in The People's Daily World of San Francisco, under date of February 26, which says:

"THE LYNCHERS STILL HAVE THE PEOPLE TO FACE

"The sacred right to torture and mangle Negroes to death by lynch mobs has been upheld by the respectable gentry of the Senate whose filibuster succeeded yesterday in shelving the measure.

"The crooked political intrigue which marked the shameless fight against the Wagner Anti-Lynch Bill should not be forgotten by the people of America.

"This vital bill was sidetracked by the Southern supporters of lynching only because they had the devout cooperation of the reactionary wing of the Republican Party, the Tories of the Northern financial intreests.

"The brazen hypocrisy of Senator McNary, Republican floor leader, is an example of this treachery to everything for which the Republican Party once stood in the days of 1860-4. McNary fought with the Southern Senators to kill the cloture motion which alone could have stopped the filibuster. He pleaded 'free speech'. But he forgot to add that he has voted for cloture on nine other occasions when 'more important' measures than merely punishing the murderers of Negroes was at stake.

"The progressives of the North did not fully grasp the meaning of the anti-lynch struggle. They saw in it only a sectional matter. They did not see that the destruction of the unrestrained privilege of Negro murder is a struggle of the whole American people against those reactionary, brutal forces which operate not only in the South but against the people throughout the nation."

EVICTIONS AND RELIEF DISTRIBUTIONS DRIVING MEN CRAZY

It's no uncommon occurrence to read in the headlines where some unfortunate man, crazed from denial of relief or eviction from home is driven to commit murder.

If those in charge of such matters would deal more humanely and fairly with unfortunates, such things, no doubt, could be avoided and all concerned made happy.

When the handling of such matters falls into the hands of get-rich-quick, heartless high-binders who can see naught but self, only the worst can be expected.

For example, an unfortunate family of half a dozen is given $35 per month, out of which must come rent, fuel, sugar, coffee, insurance and other necessities, which the relief set-up augments with a few carrots, stale cabbage and a small hunk of sow-belly once each week.

What is to hinder a man from losing his reason? Glancing at newspapers, these people, driven to poverty because of no fault of their own, see where men are paid $10,000 a year or more to tell them they can or cannot receive aid, and dish out figures telling how many are receiving relief and just how long the cash will last before it reaches his princely salary.

Some of these ten-thousand-dollar birds should be made to live (exist) six months on the amount given these human beings and we daresay the story would be different.

In our own community a few days ago, a man was driven to insanity because the home he slaved and paid for was to be taken from hmi for a $36.00 debt. Two men were left dead in the street, while the maniac's body was puctured wth slugs from police guns. A little humane action would have averted all this.

OUT OF LINE

Mr. Leon Washington, publisher, stepped out of line with the wishes of some of the people of this community last Tuesday when he appeared before the Planning Commission in a passionate plea for the establishment of a brass foundry on Vernon Ave., near McKinley.

It looks like another effort to dump what is not wanted somewhere else into the heart of the Eastside residential section.

Property owners of this section should flood all departments of the city government with protests. Not only will the establishment of such a factory smoke up, litter, and disturb the peace of the neighborhood, but will cheapen property in this section.

It looks like the fellow who has been hollering wolf has been caught and the people will say, "Let the wolves get him".

IT'S JUST AROUND THE CORNER

We don't want to be labeled a pessimist, but each setting sun brings us closer to war.

German spies have been captured by G-men and officers within our own military ranks are charged with being in league with the plotters of Uncle Sam's downfall. America, with her teeming millions of aliens, is liable to find harder sledding within her own ranks than the foes without.

Denied chances to serve the nation in aviation, marine and naval forces, to save himself from himself, Uncle Sam, before it's over, will have to harness up the only true, loyal supporter, one who has never turned traitor, the American Negro.

EASTSIDE DOLLAR DAY FINE SUCCESS

The Annual Dollar Day sale, organized among Eastside merchants a year ago by The California Eagle, proved a howling success last week-end and a healthy boon to trade throughout the district.

BOATS IN A TEA CUP

"What I can't see," said Alice at the Wonderland tea party, "is why they have to build all those battleships. Each nation builds bigger and bigger ships, and then they're right back where they started."

The Red Knight nearly choked on his tea: "Humph! To a military man like myself, it's all very simple. Japan builds bigger boats, England builds bigger boats, someone else builds bigger boats. One must keep up you know, one must keep up with the Jones family, as they say.

"Bosh, just bosh!" The Mad Hatter dipped his fingers in the tea cup to make sure it was still hot. "Why don't thy build row-boats, then they could have an internatonal race and work off a lot of steam?"

"And let the Admirals row," put in the March Hare as he reached for the coky jar at the other end of the table.

"Or why don't they build fishing boats and have a fish-catchng contest?" said Alce. "Then we could have flounder for lunch every day."

"Don't like flounder," cut in the March Hare. "Why don't they make it a gardening race and see who can grow the biggest carrots?"

The Red Knight smiled a very superior smile. "It's very simple," he said. "Nations have to have big navies to protect themselves from other nation that have bg navies."

The Mad Hatter took a swallow f tea: "If on nation has to have a big nave t protect itself from other big navies, then if no nation had a big navy, the others wouldn't need big navies to protect themselves."

"Bravo! Bravo! Have a crumpet," said Alice, and passed the plate.

"He's mad," muttered the Red Knight, "as a military man I can see he's quite mad, quite mad".

SERVANT PROBLEM

"No entangling alliances!" has long been America's rallyng cry. Since the Japanese jugge'rnaut began sweeping across China in its newest drve for supremacy in the Orient, that cry has become more vehement. In answer to that demand, and to remove endangering sources of fricton, the Fifteenth American Infantry is now being called home from China to take up its duties on Amercan soil at Ft. Lews, Wash. But hearts in the ranks of the Fifteenth Infantry are sad today, however relieved many Amercans will be. Life for the doughboy n Tientsin has been a comparatively pleasant bed of roses. Most enlisted men had servant, for two or three dollars a month, to shine shoes, boots, buttons, clean rifles, and run errands. Ft. Lews may be a nice place, and all that, but there the doughboys will call in vain, "Hey, boy, shine these boots and make it snappy!"

WHEN A MAN WORRIES

When a man worries, he worries wth every cell and organ in hs body. Those pounding emotons of fear lash the heart, brain, thyroid, and nervous system into a fury of activitiy.

When a man worries, he pays natures penalty for the benefits of civilization. Worry is a modern dsease, a problem that didn't bother primtive man. Our ancestors argued like brutes, fought and killed like brutes, and died like brutes.

When a man worries, he plants the seeds of disease in his body. Modern medicine has learned to conquer the plagues that harassed primitive man, but in their places have sprung up the diseases of civilization—heart trouble, peltic ulcers, glandular disturbances, nervous and mental disorders. And the greatest single cause of these modern plagues, says Dr. George Crile of the American College of Surgeons, is —WORRY!

One Flag and One Nation

If Mexico grants a port on its west coast to the Japanese, as reported, the United States is not going to be pleased. From the earliest days the nation has consistently opposed colonization by Europeans on the western continents. It does not want Asiatics here either, especially now when Japan unofficially declares its purpose to drive all whites out of Asia, and officially is fighting to control China's 400,000,000.

Even if Japan is intent only upon colonization, its presence in Mexico will be intercepted in this country as a threat. Wth India restless, and Germany about to stir up trouble in Africa, the war of races so long predicted, is foreshadowed to the extent that the United States should consider what it expects of Negroes who consitute one-tenth of its population.

The facts are plain. The citizens of color are one of America's oldest elements. Practically none of them have been anywhere else. Loyalty to the flag is both their training and their record. They are white Americans in all but appearance.

It is our considered judgement that the progress of the two races in this country toward concord and cooperation has been fast; that the final satisfactory outcome is sure; that there is nothing to despair of. But if this long predicted war of races is nearer, which it is if Japan enters Mexico, there is still too much misunderstanding in this country between the white and blacks for the country's good.

The Eagle's Feathers

KICK-BACK ON T. B. STATEMENT

Dear Editor

I am a domestic employee and have been with the family I am working for at present five years. I am strong and healthy, and during that time I have been sick only once.

The other day my boss came into the kitchen early in the morning and showed me a clipping from one of the white papers concerning the high tuberculosis rates among Negroes. The clipping pointed out that it was important that Negroes be examined because so many of them were domestic employees. She asked me if I had ever had such an examination and if tuberculosis were in my family.

I can understand that with small children in the house she must be careful, but I felt that was just startng something to publish such a statement in the papers. After all so many of us are dependent on domestic service for our living, and so many people are so narrow as regards diseases. They seem to think that the whole race has what one suffers from.

Very sincerely yours,
(Mrs.) PHEBE FLETCHER

FAN AND PAN LETTER

Dear Editor:

One of my favorite colums in the California Eagle is that titled "The Eagle's Feathers". I feel that a letter-to-the editor-column is a very necessary part of a paper, giving a voice to the silent thousands of readers.

However, one thing I noticed. You seldom print any pan letters on your paper, although you frequently print fan letters. Howcome? Is there a faint chance that in a race that is known for its destructive tendencies, you don't get any, or is it because you can't stand the gaff?

Ignorant as to the reason, I am going to take my pen in hand and write one of both, pan and fan.

There are several things I don't like about the Eagle, following are some of them:

Foolish mistakes such as the two in the last issue, the un-understandable printing under the picture of the George Garners and Marian Anderson, and the date that was left out in the story of the police murder.

The black spots some of your pictures show up.

Your habit of leaving out club news when the spirit moves you. Mispelled words such as Czechoslovakia, (last issue). The new way of printing the church news so that you have to read through all the churches to find your own.

But here are the things I do like and they overshadow those I don't like:

Your editorials with their salty tang, especially the one written about the George Farley murder, (only since when wasn't a tragedy "sad"),

Your theatrical section, best in the country,

Your social and church pages,

On the Sidewalk and the Laundryman, the latter sometimes,

Miriam Matthews' Booknotes,

Sweepings from the news of the world (I missed it last week),

The sport page and Railroad Clatter.

On the whole, the likes vanquish the dislikes so I guess I'll inclose $2.00 renewing my subscription for the year.

Respectfully yours,
HAVEN JOHNSON

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Dear Editor:

In keeping with your current exhortations that Negroes should interest themselves in "big business" and quit "singing the blues" — or words to that effect — it is hereby requested that you lend space to the following letter addressed To Whom It May Concern:

"Dear People:

It has been my pleasure to observe the tremendous amount of genuine satisfaction you garnered from the picture 'Harlem on the Prairie' — the first all-colored western production — now showing in this city.

This letter to you is not intended to advertise the picture or any person connected with the production of same. Its purpose is to pass on to you several bits of information that should be of value to your progressive efforts. I shall not attempt to delineate the several phases of the motion picture industry, nor shall I toss bouquets of non-sensical verbiage into any particular individual's lap. Recent articles in this publication, by the editor and others, have contained an abundance of food for thought. But, what you should know is as follows:

The production, "Harlem on the Prairie" cost less than seventy-five hundred dollars ($7,500). In two short months, or less, it has cleaned up more than sixty-five thousand dollars ($65,000) in legal tender of the United States. The picture was made OF Negroes, WITH Negroes, and (primarily) FOR Negroes, but with WHITE MONEY. You gave generous applause to the actors and technicians; you paid generously to see the picture, and received your money's worth in entertainment — together with the satisfaction of seeing your people in something different in pictures. The actors and technicians welcomed your applause with gusto and thanked you for your loyalty; but the WHITE MONEY got, and will get, the GRAVY — the sixty-five thousand dollars and what is yet to come.

Nevertheless, as one of the actors, I will attempt to speak for the entire cast and many of the technicians. We thank you, gratefully; but we can't eat applause — it doesn't taste good — not even with salt. So, why the heck don't some of you get together some BLACK MONEY and vie for a bit of "gravy" by supporting those among us who know the business. I am not asking to be considered as one of the "usses" — I'll get my share.

I thank you,
SPENCER WILLIAMS JR.

Mr. E. V. Latham,
Campaign Director,
Los Angeles, California,
Dear Mr. Latham:

I am in receipt of your favor of the 16th inst. relative to the re-election of Governor Frank F. Merriam, and as a member of the Republican County Central Committee of the Sixty-second District, I desire to state my personal views relative to the candidacy of the said Governer.

Four years ago when Governor Merriam was a candidate for election, he then and there PROMISE a square deal to all the CITIZENS of this our State; how well he has kept that promise, I desire to point out to you in this my humble way.

If Governor Marriam can conceive of the IDEA that he can ignore fifty-two thousand voters and Ninety-six thousand citizens of one group for four long years, and then expect of them to support his candidacy for re-election, I must say to you that I DISAGREE with IDEAS and conclusions.

Governor Merriam DOING his term of office for these last four years has made 3715 appointments, and not once has he DEEMED it his duty to appoint a single member of my group to any office whatever. Not the slightest consideration, or recognition has the Governor given to the Negro citizenry of this State.

It can't be that the good Governor feels that out of nearly One hundred thousand Negroes in California, he could not find one that was capable, honest, worthy and with ability to fill some of the appointments which he has made; and this includes his life long friend, ex-Assemblyman, Fred M. Roberts. I have known Fred Roberts for a long time, I was his campaign m ager for fourteen years, and e time he was elected to the sembly from this District. he prove his abality, his hone and his loyalty to the pa cause. No, not any one has e accused him of such. Yet the g Governor has refused and fa to appoint this is loyal and fa ful friend to any appointm worth a "tinkers-damn". I am good a Republican as any man this State, have voted and wo ed for the cause for forty ye have never voted any other ket in al my life; has always cepted of the parties ticket wi out a complaint; all ways cause the good promises fr time to time, would be m that the Negroes would be tal dare of and given a square d after elections those promises soon forgotten, and as soon the time arrives for another el tion, they commence thinking his Black Brother, and ask his vote again.

Thank God, time has chang no more Party or Men who and refuse to live upto t promises of a "Square Deal All Men". You might say: w we have Fred Roberts, he is s with the Governor, will be w him in this election will vote him, and work for him. But me inform you in advance, F Roberts nor no other Negro, group of Negroes can stim tide of public sentiment that against the Governor for his titude towards the Negroes this state.

It was my pleasure seve months ago to write the Gove or these facts as well as chairman of the County Cent Committee, Mr. Leo Anders and it is a double pleasure t I now write yo uas his campai manager, and director of th district.

Negroes are tired of bei made the foot stool, and mat the unjust office seekers, w empty promises. I canvased three counties for Governor M riam at the last election, and y look on your Finance Comm tee's Books and see just h much compensation they ev paid me for my labor and s vice, not one penny. I did charge them anything, did expect anything, and did not ceive anything; lok that up.

And your committee will f ther tell you that I spoke eve night with a few exceptions three weeks, drove my own c bought my own gas, paid own expense, expecting the Go ernor if elected to do as he pro ised treat all citizens ali Thank be to almighty God, told his friends that I prayed the day to come that they wo need the black man again in other election, and the time here now. And the Negroes California will know and sh know the situation as it is.

Very respectfully,
CHAS. H. ALSTON,

SUPERVISORS, AND SEWING

I see where the Assembl Interim Committee on Soci Welfare is threatening to i vestigate the failure of the R. A. and the County Super visors to get together on spon soring the Sewing Project. Th next step will probably be request for fifty thousand do lars to pay for the investiga tion. The cost to the State an the County under the preser set-up amounts to $7.50 pe month for each woman, (th Government furnishing th rest of the funds). So it look like to me that it would b cheaper, and more practical t pay out money to Relieve Pov erty, than to pay out a sum to investigate it. I'm ginning to think that what th world lacks most, is a sense o humor. So long.

(Due to the many requests for copies of the radio address I delivered over the EAGLE news program Sunday (KGFJ, 8:15 p. m.), I am publishing it this week in the form of the "Sidewalk". — C.A.B.)

FOR THE past week, over this station and at this time, you have been listening to a broadcast of Negro news and events, brought to you through the combined efforts of the S. A. Scherer Loan company, and The California Eagle.

This broadcast has marked two mile-stones in our progress as a minority group. First, a milestone in Negro journalism, and second, in busness' awareness of the Negro market.

Great credit is due S. A. Scherer for farsightedness in realizing that a personal appeal must be made to the Negro market in order to get response. I feel sure that S. A Scherer company will be amply repaid by increased business volume.

It has taken a long time for business to realize that the rich Negro market must be wooed to be won. This, despite the fact that a short time ago, the W. B. Ziff company, national advertising agency, published a survey showing that the metropolitan press and the radio, although he read the first and listened to the second, exerted no due influence on the Negro.

This is but normal. Metropolitan papers publish only the sensational aspects of Negro life — crime and vice largely. Radio makes of him a buffoon. So to the Negro press he has turned and to radio programs such as these he will turn in the future — to hear the laudable things about himself as well as the uncommendable; to be guided into paths that make for his particular good; and, eventually, we hope, to be presented to the world at large as the serious and conscientious citizen that he is.

Thus the Negro press is becoming more and more the leader of its people. It is common knowledge that through the dark days of slavery and the Reconstruction, even until the World War, the Church was the Negro's fount of expression. But as his needs increased, the Church necessarily assumed its rightful place as the temple of the Spirit; and the Negro cast about for another medium of group expression.

Following the World War, having fought for democracy and having been inspired by the preachment of enlisters, he turned quite logically, to politics; but there the promises of democracy were found to be empty.

Today, then, it is dawning upon him that in the printed word there lies a voice for the whole 14,000,000; that in the printed word, set up and published by his kind, there is a mighty weapon of defense.

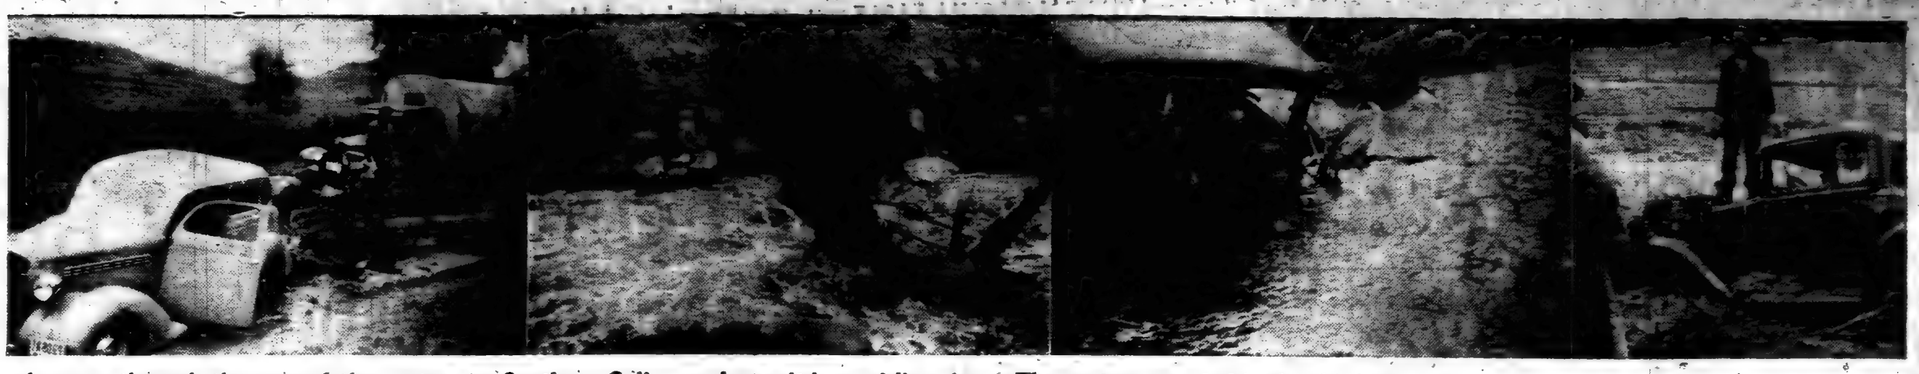
AT THE end of the chapter. "Need for Economic Planning" in his book, "Looking Forward", copyrighted in 1933, President Roosevelt said, quote: "It is common sense to take a method and try it; if it fails . . . try another. But above all, try something". End quotes.

The failure of this theory of government is clear in our national condition today. Our unemployment figures, after the recent census, remain at ten million; more than one-third of our railroads are bankrupt; our mechant-marine, beset by labor and operating problems, is outstripped by every other major commercial nation; prices are high; and wages are low. However, the real proof of the wrongness of the Roosevelt "try anything" policy, is the business recession, which came about when the national government discontinued its stupendous outflow of funds.

So we are faced with these facts — the Federal government is in debt to the tune of 36 billions or more. The minute, however, it stops spending the country slides back into depression; while, if it continues, we are faced with national bankruptcy.



Yet Mr. Roosevelt in his article, "Preface to State Papers", appearing in this week's issue of a national magazine, stated that the country should be lenient with the short-comings of his administration because he is thinking ahead. Here, then, is a man who acknowledges at the beginning of his regime that immediate action for immediate problems is his aim, and, later, excuses the failure of these "immediate actions" because he claims he was planning for the future.

Then there is the Roosevelt policy in connection with the Negro. It is the opinion of most observers that his silence on the anti-lynching bill did more than anything else to defeat it, while segregation has never before reached the state of widespread practice that it has today. From the black cabinet in Washington to the idea of discriminatory CCC camps, racial differentiation has been a vital part of Mr. Roosevelt's numerous alpha-betical brain-children.

By the clever ruse of placing a few Negroes, amid great fanfare, at the head of separate, segregated agencies, the President has duped the great mass of Negro citizens out of their constitutional right to participate in every phase of government and not in only one sphere of the state exclusively maintained for them.

Again, through straight-forward pauperizing, instead of a fair and equal distribution of

Major J. B. Loving in Critical Condition at Gen'l Hospital

Condition of Major J. B. Loving, confined to the General hospital with a heart ailment, remained the same at the last report late yesterday from hospital authorities.

Major Loving, for thirty-five years, a deputy sheriff in Los Angeles County, is a high official in local fraternal circles.

The veteran California civic and social figure was put under an oxygen tent Tuesday evening. Attending physicians expressed little hope for his recovery at that time. Yesterday his condition was pronounced as the same, except that although he is not in a state of coma, at times he is not able to recognize objects that are in line of vision.

A colorful character, among other organizations, he holds the office of treasurer of the local Elks lodge.

Edgar Johnson Elected To Golden State Board Of Directors

ENVIABLE RECORD SHOWN IN RISE FROM AGENCY TO BOARD

E. J. JOHNSON

Another "first" was recorded in the annals of progress of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company this week with the announcement of the election of Edgar J. Johnson, Assistant Secretary, to the Board of Directors. Mr. Johnson fills the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. James A. Evans last year, and his election to the Board marks the first time since the organization of the Company that an employee has risen from the rank of agent to director. According to George A. Beavers, Jr., Vice President and Director of Agencies, the new director is the youngest member of the board and it is believed that his elevation will serve as an inspiration to those who are already on their way to successful careers in the Life Insurance business.

Mr. Johnson began his work with the organization in its in-

Urge Citizens to Register and VOTE!

Ask Communities to Be On Alert for Lynchings That Are Not Published

NEW YORK, Mar. 10. —Without disclosing any immediate plans of action, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People today issued a statement urging all citizens who are qualified to vote to register and be ready for the coming elections.

"We have important tasks ahead of us", the statement said, "in the 1938 and later elections and we cannot perform those tasks unless Negroes are qualified to vote."

The association emphasized that it is not interested in what political parties Negro citizens join, but in their registration so that they can vote when the time comes.

In reply to a question as to whether or not the NAACP will direct any political action as an aftermath of the anti-lynching bill failure, association executives avoided giving any comment. It was learned from other quarters however, that the NAACP is by no means taking the anti-lynching defeat lying down. It has merely retired to perfect a strategy which is certain to be announced and followed up in the spring and fall.

Some hint of the attitude of the association may be secured from the comment of Walter Winchell, widely syndicated Columnist, who declared in his column of February 28: "The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is taking the defeat of the anti-lynching bill grimly, but patiently. The abrogation of the two-thirds rule (for nomination in the Democratic National Convention) breaks the hold of the Solid South. The Negro vote, they believe, controls the destiny of 17 states."

Local NAACP Branch to Hold Regular Meet Sunday at Hamilton M.E.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will hold its regular meeting Sunday, March 13, at the Hamilton M. E. church, E. 18th and Naomi streets. The meeting is at 3:30.

Because of the recent decision of the executive board to reconsider the residential restriction case decided against Mrs. Hattie Burns, and her husband, John Burns, the afternoon meeting will be devoted to the reconsideration of the matter.

Among other highlights of the program will be presentation of awards to persons doing outstanding service in the organization's membership campaign.

Other interesting features will be on the program. The public is invited to take part in the meeting.

Stuart Chase to Speak at Philharmonic

Stuart Chase, author, and one of America's most brilliant economists, will speak in Los Angeles at Philharmonic auditorium, Monday evening, March 14, under the auspices of the Modern Forum.

Chase, who will speak on the subject "Where Do We Go From Here?" is one of the heads of the Labor Bureau, Inc., and was a co-founder of that interesting organization for public protection known as Consumers' Research, Inc.

Chase's most recent book is "Rich Land, Poor Land". It has been widely read and is a study of contrasts, a dissertation of things important yesterday, today and tomorrow. It shows America in the days of the red man; a great continent rich in animal life, abounding in forests, loaded with mineral wealth. It shows the United States in 1936, laid in waste, erosion, water pollution, calamitous floods, mineral and power exploitation, the denuding of gigantic forest areas.

Floods, Rains in Little or No Effect on Race

West Riverside Hardest Hit as Only One Negro Family Forced to Move

Some of the luck of the Irish has been transferred to the Negro, sustaining him through floods and other forms of pestilence that visit the land periodically. From the flood that devastated Southern California for four days last week, Negroes emerged with the lowest percentage of loss of any racial group.

With the exception of one fatality, which has not been verified, minor injuries and property damage in several of the small towns, loss was at a minimum.

The possible fatality was Finlay Love, WPA worker in the San Antonio Canyon. Flood waters swept away WPA constructions in that territory and several persons have not been heard of since the overflow. Love was among them.

Property damage was the heaviest in Victorville, ranch town in the heart of the Mojave desert. The usually calm and peaceful Mojave River that winds through the town, swollen by mountain streams, overflowed Wednesday and carried all in its path to destruction.

MEXICAN QUARTERS HARD HIT

The Mexican quarters were hardest hit, but the Negro settlement sustained considerable damage.

A stucco house, owned by a Mrs. Anderson of Pasadena, property owned by Johnnie Hall of Victorville, two houses owned by Mrs. Easters also of Victorville, and others unnamed in the report, sent exclusively to the California Eagle by Mrs. Lela O. Murray, ranch owner in that vicinity, were completely swept away.

A house, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Evans was raised from its foundation and turned completely around.

Mrs. Clarence Blythe, Victorville resident, almost drowned, trying to escape from her house which filled with water.

One family, Douglas by name, lost all their stock when house and ranch flooded.

Planning Commission in Brass Foundry Site Refusal

Refusal Tuesday of the City Planning Commission to grant variance of zoning that would have permitted establishment of a brass foundry in the residential 900 Vernon block, spelled success for Dr. W. E. Bailey who led a group of protesting citizens, and defeat for publisher Leon Washington who appeared before the Commission last week in support of the foundry construction.

In the citizens' protest of last week, supported by the EAGLE, it was pointed out that the property valuation of the section would be depreciated by the existence of the foundry because of accompanying noise, smoke, and congested traffic.

Reason for support of erection by publisher Washington, who recently moved his offices from 941 East Vernon to another street, were unknown.

At present, the plant, the Rogers Brass Foundry, is located at 30th and Main. Dr. Bailey told an EAGLE reporter that residents in that section attested to the noise and smoke caused by its maintenance and labeled it a nuisance.

James Anderson of 116 East 30th street and Mrs. Wood of 116 East 30th street, Dr. Bailey said, told him that the blast furnace roared and caused din and confusion in the neighborhood.

Names contained on the protest petition follow:

W. J. Benton Lauds Eagle

EAGLE ads get results! And more so when they advertise a product whose worth is guaranteed as are products marketed by the Benton Drug company.

In an unsolicited testimonial this week, Dr. W. J. Benton, head of Benton's Drug Co. and Laboratories, commended The California Eagle as an advertising medium.

Illustrating, Dr. Benton said that three weeks ago he released a story to the EAGLE on the feminine hygiene product of the Benton Laboratories — "Beneseptol". From the story, he stated he has been getting state-wide results, namely, inquiries and increased sales.

And a word from the EAGLE about "Beneseptol" and other Benton products. If it is made by Benton, it is guaranteed! Buyers from Benton's Drug store, located at 48th and Central avenue, are insured value and their money's worth. For particulars on Benton products offered this week, consult the advertisements on page 2 of this section.

Eagle Nightly Newscasts Growing in Popular Favor

In the week and a half since its initiation, The California Eagle news broadcast, heard nightly over KGFJ, the 24-hour station, at 8:15, has gained startling popularity with both whites and Negroes.

Letters, telegrams and enthusiastic phone calls addressed to the EAGLE, the sponsoring S. A. Scherer Loan company, and station KGFJ, support the belief that the news broadcast is, in popularity, the fastest growing local radio program!

In a surprise broadcast Sunday evening, Mrs. C. A. Bass, editor-publisher of the EAGLE, gave the editorial comment of the "Negro Newspaper of the Air". So widespread was the response to her presentation, that Mrs. Bass will return, a weekly feature, every Sunday evening.

Other smashes scored by members of the staff, last week, were the theatrical news flashes by Miss Fay M. Jackson, screen editor; women's affairs by Helen F. Chappell, women's ed; and sports flashes by city editor J. Cullen Fentress. The three will also remain as weekly features: Miss Jackson, Monday; Miss Chappell, Tuesday; and Mr. Fentress, on Fridays.

Cab Driver Held in Death

A coroner's jury last Monday morning held to answer Roy McCormick, 24-year-old taxi-cab driver, in the death of Amby Culp, killed Wednesday night of last week when McCormick's cab hit him at the intersection of 29th and Griffith avenue.

Culp was half way across the intersection when McCormick's cab skidded across and struck him. Death was almost instantaneous, being due to a basal skull fracture and other injuries.

McCormick was driving north on Griffith when the accident occurred. It was at about 8 p. m. and rain was falling. According to police, he stopped to render first aid, then turned in the alarm.

'THE GRAND-DADDY'

WILLIAM WELLS, our Treasury Department Messenger, celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday on March 4, receiving scores of greeting cards and a handsome birthday cake bearing a candle for each year of his life.

Mr. Wells celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday recently and was feted by every department of the Los Angeles Railway with gifts and greeting cards from each one of its employes For he is the "grand-daddy of them all," according to his own estimation.

Born a slave, Mr. Wells was sent from Missouri into Texas, with his parents, for safety. His grandfather, a militant preacher, kept moving his family until they passed the slave line into freedom.

William hitchhiked to Los Angeles in an ox cart back in 1887, landing near the Santa Fe depot with $1.50 in his pockets.

"I had a cot to sleep on for a dollar a week, a job in a restaurant for a dollar a day and I felt nearly rich", he said.

"One day I secured a job bucking lumber for $3.50 and that started me off in the building business. I helped build the court House, the Wilcox Building and the old Bryson Block.

"In those days you could have bought lots on Seventh street where the Athletic club is now located for $300. Hollywood land could be obtained simply by asking for it.

"Central avenue was one of the few long streets open, as were 16th and Washington blvd. The rest of the Eastside section were Chinese gardens and peach orchards," the pioneer declared.

Starting in with the Los Angeles Railway Company, Mr. Wells was selected to throw out the first shovel of dirt that began the construction of the plant at 6th and Central avenue.

Relating how he happened to be "promoted" from janitor to the treasury department, Wells said that one day while he was working in the engine room, General Sherman, first president, paid a visit.

"Not knowing who he was, I asked him out, since we didn't allow visitors. He gave me a big laugh and a couple of dollars for trying to maintain discipline. Then he called me up to the office. I were up covered with cold sweat, thinking I was to be fired, but General Sherman just laughed and said that I was to be in charge of transporting the company's money. In those days there wasn't a whole lot of money to transport, but what little there was needed plenty of protection because the West was still wild and stealing was plentiful.

"For years I was the only guard on the pay car when we used to pay in cash, but you couldn't give it to me now!" the old man chuckled.

He has also served as assistant to the paymaster and that is where he acquired so many friends among the workers. Not a very difficult matter, since most of them wanted to be in the good graces of the man who handed out the paychecks.

Although for years Wells was the only Negro employed by the Los Angeles Railway, he was joined by Sam Cohen and Scott Jones, shop men. In 1918, he was commissioned to secure a group of colored men to help in the construction of the Pacific Electric station. So commendable was their workmanship that scores more were hired for the shops, yard and truck departments.

As Negroes entered the employment lists of LARY, Wells became something of an unofficial personnel director for the group.

In an interview with him this week, we learned that there are approximately 150 workers whose payroll amounts to about $150,000 a year. They are to be found in the shops, mechanical, buildings, yard, business transportation, treasury, purchasing and engineering departments.

Keeper of the salvage store is J. A. Brown who has been employed since 1922. William Ellis was retired on pension for service since 1907.

Thirty-four women, four forewomen, work as car cleaners. On February 16, twenty new men were called to fill jobs as cleaners formerly held by white men in the 54th and Arlington barn.

In July, Miss Opal Barber was appointed matron in charge of the women's lunchrom and rest quarters, another key position for acquiring friends among the workers as she presides over the beautifully decorated library and lounge rooms where the women come for tea and a rest at lunch hour. She is the only colored woman in the office building at 11th and Broadway and her services have received the commendation from officials as well as women in the various clerical departments of the Los Angeles Railway.

As they figured among the first group of pioneers who settled the West, Negroes have likewise held their place in the various private and municipally owned public utilities and the most notable of these is the Los Angeles Railway Company.

ROMANCE IN RAILWAYS is the provocative title soon to be placed over a history of the building and development of the Los Angeles Railway Company now being prepared by E. L. Lewis, a veteran in the service who began work with the firm as its first line general manager and is now ready for retirement as the manager of the buildings.

From the earliest period of Los Angeles' transportation system Negro workers have been identified with this railway company. To obtain a first hand account of its growth and development one has but to listen to the thrilling tale of the mule car days to the streamlined cars that are said to be the finest in the country.

"The first street railway car to run in Los Angeles", Mr. Lewis began, "was started on the morning of July 1, 1874.

"The rolling stock was ONE car pulled by ONE horse that started from Temple and Spring streets, ran on Spring to First; on First to Broadway; on Broadway to Fourth; on Fourth to Hill. From this juncture it rambled along Hill to Sixth street and terminated at Sixth and Figueroa. Exactly one mile and thirty-three hundredths of a mile in total length! It was scarcely worth a ride, or would seem to be in these days of paved sidewalks and streets. But in 1874, getting about in the Pueblo was not such an easy matter and the mule-1car, as it was called, although drawn by a horse, was the busiest means of transportation.

"The growth of the Los Angeles Railway system parallels the growth of the city", Mr. Lewis continued.

"Today, from the one car, one horse era, we have grown to a point where we are now operating practically 400 miles of track. instead of horse cars, we have the finest type of electrical cars ever operated. The daily cars in operation are approximately 800' From a small crew of less than a dozen men, today, over 4000 are on the permanent employment list."

Much of the colorful history of the company is recalled by William Wells, an eastside resident, of 1126 East Washington boulevard, the first janitor, who came West as a prospecting young blade from Missouri and finally worked his way to the position of Treasury Department Messenger where he has handled over a million dollars in cash and bonds in one day.

DISGUSTED AT WORLD--

Jumps in Mississippi River

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 10. (ANP)—An attempt to leave this "ole cruel world" was frustrated by a wide bottom cotton dress, as Mrs. Elizabeth Wickham, 38, jumped into the Mississippi river yesterday from the New Orleans-Algiers ferry.

Catching air in a parachute fashion, the dress worn by the would-be-suicider, buoyed her up, enabling her to catch a floating log in mid stream. He struggles evidenced that between the point from which she jumped and the waters surface her desire to take her own life faded and she resolved that strangling to death in a cold river is a bit worse than living meagerly in a warm world.

A boat from the ferry rescued her from the floating log several hundred yards down stream. She was taken to Charity hospital.

"You will read more in my trunk I guess a change will do me good cowards don't kill themstlves only brave people the white men show have made the world hard to make a living the Indians lived better they were carefree Eliza Wickham a many shall follow me this way."

jobs, he has reshackled the Negro to an economic inferiority complex.

Therefore, with the nation and the Negro in their present dangerous economic and political condition, it is plain that the Republican party has the greatest opportunity in its long history to become the salvation of both. This can be done only through a frank admittance of the huge defects in our economic set-up, and a well-thought-out, sane program of permanent betterment. That the Republicans do this is vital not only to their political future but to the welfare of the country, since it is clear that the Democratic hit-and-miss policy has so entangled that party with opportunists, swindlers, and "boondogglers" that the possibility of their doing anything constructive, now, is practically non-existent.

WHEN THE California state legislature opens tomorrow, Monday morning, since Governor Merriam declares it will, perhaps the first order of business will be a plan to bring relief to persons in the flood-stricken area. This is all very well, but the people who vote the lawmakers into office and pay taxes for their upkeep hope for something more than this and a political football game between factions.

We have the same possibilities for production in this glorious state now that we had before depression, and yet we have many people unemployed.

To the legislature we suggest a small-farm plan — five and 10-acre farms equipped with modern farm machinery for chicken, rabbit, turkey and hog raising — others for lettuce, celery, beets, turnips, or some other products for home consumption.

Let newcomers register when they come into the state showing what sort of employment or business they were engaged in in other states or counties — and, in this way, offer a man or a family an opportunity to earn a living under favorable circumstances with the understanding that each year the state will be paid back on its investment through a small-term tax. This plan would rid such cities as Los Angeles of its loafing element and, incidentally, its vice-problem. It has been truly said that an empty head and an idle hand go to make up the devil's workshop.

To vote fifty or more thousand dollars to investigate vice and corruption in the State of California is a ridiculous waste of the people's money, unless some such plan for the employment of these idle people who yearly float into Los Angeles, and other California towns and cities, is adopted.

PRAISE SPONSOR

S. A. Scherer Loan company, sponsor of the program, was given high praise by civic and political leaders for its courage and vision in backing the Negro presentation. The broadcasts are historic, in that they mark the first non-musical Negro program sponsored by a large white business. The outcome of the venture, from a commercial standpoint, will be watched closely and will serve, one way or the other, as a precedent. Negroes are urged to respond.

Serviced by the EAGLE, two national press organizations, and receiving releases from all important Negro institutions, the newscasts have been highly complimented on selection and presentation of material. Dispatches are received from Europe, Asia, and Africa.

Nightly newscaster is John Kinloch, nephew of Mrs. Bass.

Henry On Benefit Card

In a gallant gesture for charity, Henry Armstrong will demonstrate his fistic prowess tomorrow night at Pasadena Arena as he heads Matchmaker Morrie Cohan's big benefit boxing and wrestling show for the Grace Sanitarium and Nursing Home.

Henry will fight two three-round bouts. Tiger Jack Nelson, colored wrestler will face Louie Mayo in the mat feature. A number of other matches are also on the card which is sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of Pasadena.

FDR'S COMMITTEE ON EDUCATION CALLS FOR EQUAL DISTRIBUTION

Report Has to Do With U. S. Grants Between White, Negro Schools

WASHINGTON, March 10. (ANP) — In all states maintaining separate schools for Negroes, federal grants should be conditioned on an equitable distribution of the funds between white and colored schools, without reducing tht proportion of state and local funds spent on Negro schools, the President's Advisory Committee on Education recommends in its report which has just been sent by Roosevelt to congress.

Leading white and colored educators took part in a year's survey of the national school system which resulted in this and other recommendations, particularly for the South where a just distribution of funds between the races has long been a sore spot. Congress is expected to take definite action on the report, which has just been released to the press.

Many of these suggestions incorporated in the committee's report were the result of suggestions by Negro leaders who led the fight for amendments to the Harrison-Fletcher bills last spring. Definite statutory guarantees for a fair distribution of funds are asked, with provisions for withholding money from states that do not meet the provisions.

Federal grants of $70,000,000 for 1939-40, to be increased to $199,000,000 for 1944-45, are asked. In addition to vocational grants, which should be expanded for added types of vocational work, the committee recommends new aid for public elementary and secondary schools, a fund for preparation of teachers and other tducational personnel, construction of school buildings, improved administration of state departments of education, adult education and rural library service. It was also suggested that congress provide a special fund for educational research, planning and demonstrations. After six years, the program might be revised.

Discussing how the money should be divided within each state, the report says it "is of the opinion that the distribution of the federal aid funds within a state is not a matter that should be left exclusively to state officials." Sate and federal officials should be required to make the allottments to local districts on an objective basis, in the manner that will "most effectively lessen inequalities of opportunity" for schooling.

Pickens Spends Night in White Town

NAPERVILLE, Ill., March 10. (ANP)—Although Negroes are not only barred from living here but are traditionally not allowed to stay overnight, William Pickens, NAACP official, broke the barriers last week when, as a guest of Illinois Central college, he remained overnight with the family of the city's leading minister, Dr. Eder.

Pickens spoke three times at the college while here, and created such a good impression that students later asked, "Wouldn't it be a good thing if we could have some Negro students here?"

W. E. Trautman to Teach at 'Y'

W. E. Trautman will instruct a class in Cooperative Rehabilitation and Social Engineering, each Tuesday evening 7:30 to 9:30 p. m., in room C of the 28th St. Branch YMCA.

Trautman was appointed president of the national labor board, during the World War, was a member of the speakers bureau of Columbia University, organized, the National Industrial Reconstruction Alliance and is president of that group.

225,000 NEGRO WORKERS ON WPA PROJECTS, REPORT STATES; IS 15.2 PER CENT OF EMPLOYES

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 10.—A total of 225,080 colored workers were employed by the Works Progress Administration during the last quarter of 1937, according to a report prepared for WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins by Alfred Edgar Smith, Administrative Assistant.

These workers constituted approximately 15.2 ptr cent of all persons employed by the WPA at this time, Mr. Smith's report states. Thus one in every six W. P. A. workers was a Negro. Approximately 152,000 of the colored workers were men and 73,080 were women.

The report commends the wide employment of Negro white-collar workers and supervisory personnel by the WPA, the decrease of juvenile delinquency as a result of the WPA recreational program, and the general furtherance of improved race relations in the administration of the work-relief program.

Still Hard to Place

On the other hand, it points out that Negro workers are still the hardest to place in private industry, that mechanization of agriculture is adding to the complexity of the rural Negro's seasonal employment problems, that private industry is still foisting its "unemployable" Negro workers on the WPA, and that an increasingly large number of colored workers now have no other recourse than to unemployment relief.

Work-relief practice, it prophesies, is due for a further shift from the emergency-conceived program of "gearing jobs to workers" to the proven if more conservative training program of "gearing workers to jobs".

Economically, it concludes, Negro workers probably will continue for a number of years in their current role as a labor reservoir. Well educated white-collar workers may be forced to work-relief in even greater numbers than in the past, and 1938 June graduates will be added to the over-supply of youths with no real work-experience in private industry. Sociologically, more families will be separated as male heads scatter to look for work, and the already disproportionately large number of Negro women heads of families will increase.

Ask Senate to Include Negro in TVA Probe

NEW YORK, March 10—A request that if a comprehensive investigation of the Tennessee Valley Authority is made, it include discrimination against Negro citizens, was sent today to Senator H. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Senator Bridges has announced that he will ask for a fund of $50,000 for a probe on "all phases" of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

The NAACP has wired Senator Bridges that discrimination against Negroes is a policy of the TVA, especially with respect to employment, housing, and recreaton. Word has been sent also to Rep. Maury Maverick of Texas and Rep. Bertrand H. Snell of New York, who are backing the investigation.

It is a well known fact that no Negroes are permitted to reside in the government town erected at Norris Dam. It is also well known that, throughout the TVA construction period, Negro workers were denied skilled laborer's work, white collor jobs, and promotions.

Nation Not Disheartened Over Anti-Lynching Bill

NEW YORK, March 10—Scores of letters to the NAACP here from all sections of the country indicate that the people are not disheartened over the filibuster against the anti-lynching bill, but are more determined than ever to secure their rights, especially the right to vote in sections where the race is now denied the franchise.

"Of course you must realize how highly we appreciate your splendid fight for the anti-lynching bill", writes Samuel T. Kelly of Akron, Ohio. "Regardless as to the outcome, it has shown the possibilities of united effort on the part of colored people . . . I believe our basic handicap is disfranchisement in the South . . . and what I want to support is a drive to give the Negro the ballot in the South."

"Please don't be discouraged over the outcome of the anti-lynching bill because despite the temporary setback, I feel safe in asserting that our cause has been almost immeasurably advanced," writes Dr. E. W. Taggert of Birmingham, Ala.

"I should like to add my words of commendation . . . for the noble and courageous fight which you so ably lead for the anti-lynching bill. The good results are already far-reaching; the fight was not in vain; we are more than ever determined"--Barbee William, Durham, Columbus, Ohio.

Police Seek Mail Robber Suspect

Newton street police are looking for an unidentified man, who, when caught, will face Federal prosecution for robbing the mails. The man was reported to detectives last Thursday by Bert Warren, 4217 Ascot Avenue, after Warren had surprised him robbing the mail box at that address of a Social Security check, which the postman had just left.

The suspect, believed to be the perpetrator of similar crimes, thefts of WPA checks and money orders, broke away from Warren's grasp. However police have a good description of him and anticipate an early arrest.

OBITUARY

(Mr. Samuel W. Phillips)

Samuel Wendell Phillips was born November 30, 1861 at Bardstown, Nelson County, Kentucky and departed this life on Tuesday, March 1, 1938 at 2:35 p. m.

Mr. Phillips was the fourth child of John Hunter Phillips and Lousa Churchill Phillips. He is the last of a family of twelve children.

At the age of 17 years he left Kentucky as valet to Senator Murray of Kentucky, who later became Governor of the State of Utah, remaining in that employment until 1881. When Governor Murray returned to Kentucky, Mr. Phillips went to Alaska. After spending three years in Alaska he came to California in 1883, settling in San Francisco. Later in the year 1885 he moved to Los Angeles, and has since remained a resident of this city. A period of over 50 years. Mr. Phillips is one of Los Angeles oldest pioneers.

He was reared a Catholic from childhod remaining true to that faith until he married Mrs. Ora Arrant October 20, 1932. It was through his wife, life that he saw the light of true Christianity and accepted the faith of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, becoming a member of the Church of God in Christ, at 33rd and Compton avenue. He loved Elder S. M. Crouch and it was Mr. Phillips' delight to aid the church financially and accompany his wife to church and listen to the gospel messages from Elder Crouch. Mr. Phillips was a loving father to his children and a devoted husband. He possessed a wonderful personality and all who came in direct contact with him loved him for his fine qualities. He was a member of Los Angeles Lodge No. 2639 Grand United Order of Odd Fellows and Pioneer Club No. 1.

He leaves to mourn his loss, a devoted wife, Mrs. Ora Arrant Phillips, a daughter, Mrs. Victoria Phillips Lewis, 3 grand children, Mrs. June Wilhite, Mrs. Orleta Jackson and Mr. Wilbur S. Valley, 5 great-grand-children, other relatives and a host of friends.

"IN MY FATHER'S HOUSE"

(Memorial to Reverend P. E. Robinson)

No, not cold beneath the grasses,
Not close-walled within the tomb;
Rather, in our Father's mansion,
Living in another room.

That is how I think of my beloved, departed husband who entered his Heavenly home March 11, 1937. A brief year has passed, and now to my mind comes a rush of happy memories of the days we labored together. It was ours for more than fifty years to dedicate our lives and consecrate our services to our Master's will. God blessed my helpmate, Reverend Peter Robinson, as a man, a devoted husband, and a worker in his cause. He faithfully served as pastor's helper in Second Baptist Church, Los Angeles; pastor, Friendship Baptist Church, Pasadena; founder and pastor, Second Baptist Church, Long Beach; pastor, Calvary Baptist Church, San Diego; Pleasant View, East San Diego; Mount Zion, San Diego; Bethel, San Diego; and several mission points in Southern California. God honored his services in every field. He was beloved by young and old everywhere. Now he is in his Father's House waiting for me and all those he loved and served.

You are not dead--Life has but set you free!
Your years of life were like a lovely song,
The last sweet notes of which, held long,
Passed into silence while we listened, we
Who loved you, listened still expectantly!
And we about you whom you moved among
Would feel that grief for you were surely wrong--
You have but passed beyond where we can see.
To you, Death came, no conqueror, in the end--
You merely smiled to greet another friend!

His loving wife,
BETTIE ROBINSON

Boy Scout News

By LOVELLE ESTELLE

On February 20, Troop 180, escorted by Scoutmaster Thomas Nelson, went to Big Pines. There were about eight cars in all and the scouts spent a great day in the snow. Mrs. Louise Taylor brought her girl scouts, which number around 25 now, and that was just ducky for the boys. The hot chili, cocoa, sandwiches and cake made it a perfect day.

Last Friday, March 4, our troop walked away with honors at the Court of Honor. Many proud parents were out. We are sorry Mr. Nelson could not be there because of an accident in his family, but "Our Bud" took care of things O. K. Three of our boys were made Eagles, John Lamar Hill, William Taylor, and William Hill.

The highest rank received for the evening came to Bud Peterson, a silver palm, for fifteen units of service after becoming an Eagle. Congratulations, Bud.

The troops attendance was close to 100 per cent and our cheer leader, Bill Johnson, puts the yells over like a college boy.

Frances Robinson played the bugle at the opening of the program and at the close of the beautiful Eagle ceremony.

Hundreds Mourn Death of Margaret Lee Robinson

Hundreds of friends, admirers and co-workers filled the church chapel of the Angelus Funeral Home last Monday afternoon to pay their last respects to Mrs. Margaret Lee Robinson, prominent religious and social welfare worker, who died at the California Lutheran hospital Wednesday morning, March 2.

Conducting the service were Rev. Clayton D. Russell, pastor of People's Independent Church of Christ, of which the deceased was one of the most active members; and Rev. S. M. Beane, pastor of Hamilton M. E. church. Music was furnished by the Independent choir under the direction of Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew.

Born in New Orleans, La., Mrs. Robinson had resided here for the past 15 years. Her husband, James Robinson, and a number of children survive. Interment was in Evergreen cemetery.

Dwellings of Negroes in Chicago Unfit

CHICAGO, March 10. (ANP) —Members of the City Council Committee on Housing Monday, received information pointing to the "desperate need" for relieving the housing situation of Negroes here and showing that two thirds of the dwellings studied are without proper facilities.

The report, consisting of 64 pages, was drawn to survey the scene for the proposed South Park Garden homes as a preliminary step toward qualification for a $10,000,000 loan.

Sampling of habitations was made in the area bounded by 31st street on the North and 51st street on the South, La Salle street on the West, and Cottage Grove avenue on the East. The site of the proposed housing project to be erected by the CHA is in the very heart of this section of the city.

Among the highlights on the report were:

1. Out of the total of 854 dwelling units sampled. 576 (67.4 per cent) were found to be without complete standard facilities: central heating, gas, electricity, unshared kitchen, and or a private bath. This 67.4 per cent is definitely substandard, it was stated. Approximately one-half of the remaining 278 apartments were found to be dark, filthy, badly planned, infested with vermin and rodents, or in need of repairs.

2. The estimated number of sub-standard dwellings does not give an accurate picture of the number of families living in substandard housing, because of the exceedingly large amount of doubling-up. Using census data for 1934, it was found that the total of doubled-up families was 21,899. Of this number, 2,125 households contained three or more families.

3. The need for small apartments to destroy the notorious housing evils created by the kitchenette. Discovering a marked increase in the number of sex delinquency cases among girls, the canvassing of 100 cases disclosed that in seventy-two instances the delinquent act occurred in a kitchenette apartment. The average age for this group of girls was fourteen years and six months.

4. Chicago's Negro population has increased at a much faster rate than the white population. In 1900 there was a total population of 1,689,575. Of this number 30,150 were Negroes. In 1934 the total population was 3,258,528 of which 236,305 were Negroes. The Bureau of Labor Statistics predicts that the influx of Negroes will continue.

5. The median rental for the units sampled was $20.79.

Pageant of Progress

Increased unemployment with its subsequent lessening of economic opportunity, social and political liberty. In spite of the efforts of our all too many clubs and organizations, designed to combat it, still remains the paramount problem of all thinking Americans, of all races, colors or creeds. Has given birth to a new organization called the United Negroes of America, whose chief objective is to make jobs and opportunity for us and our posterity, through our own patronage of Negro professional and business institutions, and the natural expansion therefrom. This new organization hopes to act as the eyes, ears and voice of all things Negroid in general, and as the official organ and voice of Negro business and professions in particular, who are sponsoring this unique program, and the series that follow, to be given each Thursday from 7 to 10 p. m. at Jefferson high school auditorium starting March 17, 1938. Featuring outstanding artists, orchestras, singers, dances and revues, such as the Famous Covan Kiddies. Piano solos, community singing, lectures and debates by prominent speakers, introductions of Negro notables. Honoring a certain state each program.

Everybody is welcome; bring your song book; your family and friends, and be prepared to spend a pleasant evening with the U. N. O. A. Free.

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala. March 10—More than 350 Macon County farmers assembled in Tuskegee last week for the Farmers' Conference and Meat Show. A concise review of the ensuing year, its mistakes and triumphs, was presented with the hope of general farm betterment in the future.

Dr. F. D. Patterson, president of Tuskegee welcomed the group to Tuskegee with pertinent remarks on flood conservation.

He said:

"It seems we have not only been neglectful of the farmer, but also of what he had to work with—the soil. It is said that the Mississippi River is carrying away each year, enough plant food to provide for every tree and plant in the country. Part of this great waste is from the farms of Alabama. Unless we adopt better agricultural practices we will find it increasingly difficult to make a living on the farm."

Say Hanged Man Innocent of Charge

Civil Liberties Union Issues "Frame-Up of John Montjoy" Statement

That a 23-year-old Negro hanged last December at Covington, Ky., just across the river from Cincinnati, was innocent of the charge of rape against him, was asserted by the American Civil Liberties Union in a statement on "The Frame-Up of John Montjoy", issued from New York headquarters today.

Montjoy's execution was four times postponed through court proceedings and apoeals for executive clemency. Governor Albert B. Chandler of Kentucky, who has consistently refused to issue a single pardon, declined to act in his case, despite the recommendation of the Attorney General and the Lieutenant Governor. One unsuccessful attempt was made to get the United States Supreme Court to review the conviction, which rested upon the word of a white woman and the repudiated confession of a companion of Montjoy. At the original trial Montjoy was represented by counsel who failed to make a record on which an appeal could be fairly based.

The story in essence, according to the Union, involves the "assumption, common in the South, that any white woman's word is to be taken against a Negro's. The white woman who alleged she was raped by a Negro whom she had never seen and whom she identified from pictures in the possession of the police, was later shown to have been on friendly, if not intimate terms with Montjoy for three years."

STORY REVIEWED

The story, as it came out at the original trial, was that on the night of March 22, 1935, Mrs. Irene Cummings, wife of a postal clerk, rushed into a cafe on the most populous street of Covington in an hysterical state and screamed that she had been attacked and robbed. Her clothing was not disordered and her appearance gave no signs of struggle. Two Negroes, she said, had accosted her but one had fled prior to the crime. Later in the evening she was able to identify the assailant from a rogues gallery of several thousand Negro faces.

When John Montjoy was arrested, he denied the attack but after several days of grilling, police reported that Montjoy confessed. He was indicted on charges of rape and armed robbery, both capital offenses in Kentucky. At the trial, Montjoy declared that he was returning after an evening in Cincinnati with his companion, Willie Black, when police arrested him. Charges of robbery and rape against Black were withdrawn after he testified against Montjoy for the prosecution.

In the nine days between Montjoy's arrest and indictment, his first attorney, Bert King, failed to conduct a genuine investigation of the charges. King, who openly declared he did not believe the Negro's story, did not permit Montjoy to take the stand at the original trial; only the prosecution had witnesses. No Negroes were on the jury; in fact there never have been any in Kenton County trials. The prosecuting attorney was allowed to use language designed to arouse race prejudice, calling Montjoy a "black slimy ape."

Montjoy's "confession", submitted by the prosecution, was couched in legal language, and a typewritten form of which the original was never produced by the police. Details of the confession did not coincide with the story told by the woman.

The judge warned members of the jury, which had taken some time in deliberation, that if they did not reach a verdict within 15 minutes they would be locked up for the night! Montjoy was promptly found guilty.

Bilbo Fears Negro Will Vote in Miss., Control the South

JACKSON, Miss., March 10. (ANP)—Sen. Theodore Bilbo, described by many whites as "the meanest man in Mississippi," is pursued by the fear that Negroes will eventually vote in his state and control the South, he told a joint session of the legislature Monday.

That is why, he said, he will offer an amendment to the $250,000,000 federal relief appropriation to provide an "adequate sum" for transporting members of the colored race to Liberia for colonization and thus minimize that danger. He said 2,000,000 are ready to migrate to the African republic and believes several million more would do likewise.

Saying he foresaw "racial suicide, even in the South, if the Negro and white man continued to live side by side," he warned:

"The time will come, possibly not in your life or mine, when the Negro will be in control, even in the South, if we do not take drastic steps to prevent intermingling of the races.

"The history of Egypt proves there can be no continued intermingling of the races or we may expect a race of mongrels, another brown race. Already there are 19 states that permit intermarriage of Negroes and whites and there are thousands of mulattos who move from their native status and live as whites.

ILLEGITIMACY

"But our chief problem is not alone with race adulteration in the states that permit legitimate propagation by intermarriage. The most horrifying menace is illegitimate crosisng of white and Negro blood.

"Mississippi is the only state with more Negroes than whites. They may tell you we can't get along without the Negro here—that he is indispensible to our economic welfare. That isn't true. It is because of the cheap Negro labor that our white men must work for such low wages. It was for this very reason that I supported the wages and hour bill in congress.

"We think we are in control of the race problem in the South, but in a majority of the Southern states the Negro is already voting—and the time will come when he will vote in Mississippi. Once he does, the white race is doomed and you will have a Negro in the United States senate and in the governor's chair."

'Tween Troy and Westwood

By EDYTHE MEAUX

It was the youngster's night to howl but a few of we older folk managed to slip in the Elks the other night and join in the bit of fancy footing in which the L. A. Hi-Y was indulging.

From the vantage point of the balcony we discovered Carey Jenkins with Chapman's Helen Mills . . . . likewise we picked out in the crowd from the Chapman campus "Skippy" Mills with Elmo Phelps . . . and Cleo Kinsey with George Young.

While from the Westwood way we spied Jimmie Robinson being attentive to June Baker, UCLA's Emily Mason smiling over Otis Bowdoin's shoulder as they whirled by. . . Otis Davenport and Jo Blodgett. . .Florence Gagnet with Eugene Johnson as a partner . . Alan Robinson demonstrating a new step to Willie B. Welch. . . new Kappa Polemarch, Johnny Brewer with Betty Bratton . . . Nancy Harris letting Harold Garibaldi persuade her to dance with him. . . and former Uclan Clarence Smith squiring Eloise Coleman.

Troy's pride and joy Chris Wright nodded as he strolled by with Sara Thompson on his arm . . . coming in with Fred Robinson and Cato Robinson sporting Jean Wright, home from Redlands for the weekend, . . .the Georgia Williams-Nolan Payton combine U. S. C.'s own Steve Roland escorted Lillian Singleton for the evening.

We tried our best to keep out of the way of the participants of the "large fruit" demonstration but two bruised shins proved that we weren't swift enough for Willie Long and his partner . . . Likewise among the younger set we bumped into Ballinger Kemp with Bootsie Collins in tow.

Relaxing a bit before doing some football scrimmaging in the cloak line were Melvin Nickerson waiting with Frances Carroll. . . Dorothy Arnaud and George Lee. . .and Thelma Scott with Victor Bostic

We would like to have slept most late Sunday morning but a breakfast engagement . . . for which we were most pleased. . . put an end to that desire of ours. Hurrying over to the abode of Charlie Mae Mitchell who invited 20 Trojans to breakfast with her we ran into Earlene Chase . . Georgia Williams. . .T. J. Jackson . . . and Dillard Brown who were as late as we were.

Manila Smith. . .the only Westwoodian midst Troy's crowd was beginning a dissertation on the merits of the two rival universities . . . while Adelaide Gladden and Inez Hamilton sat belligerently by ready to defend Troy.

A little shocked over what she thought she heard in the game of "Gossip" as it circulated around the tables during breakfast Sarah Collins almost choked on a roll as she blushingly repeated it to Albert James . . . while Cato and Helen Owens got their heads together on some new gossip . . .and Nolan Tayton originated some of those tongue twisters which Joe Bronson couldn't understand at all.

Food, Feed Campaign is Planned

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 3. (Special to ANP)—An intensive campaign to have more food and feed planted by Southern farmers in 1938 is planned by I. W. Duggan, new director of AAA's Southern Division.

The price of cotton is low because we had a huge cotton crop in 1937 and will have a big carryover this year," Mr. Duggan said. "Using the crop control provisions of the new Farm Act, we hope to reduce that carryover to normal proportions. But such is the supply of cotton, that it will take more than one year to accomplish this objective. No matter what we do in 1938, we are likely to have an unsatisfactory price for cotton this fall."

"What can Southern farmers do? They will divert a good many acres out of cotton this year. They can use those acres to grow and can vegetables. They should raise their own meat. They should have pasture for a cow and should have milk and butter for themselves and their children. In other words they should greatly intesify the Live-at-Home Program of the Extension Service.

Parks, Dreher Battle to Fast Draw

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

Chester Parks and Eddie Dreher, lightheavyweights, staged a smashing, rip-snorting brawl at the Olympic Tuesday night which Referee Frank Holborrow and two newspapermen judges decided was a draw.

Parks seemed to have an edge in this rematch of their thrilling effort of a week ago which he won. For ten rounds both boys poured it on with Chester again landing the cleaner and most effective blows.

SLAUGHTERED

They brought "Red" Fields from the slaughter houses of Chicago to be slaughtered in Los Angeles. The red-haired heavyweight was knocked out by Chuck Crowell in the first round in the main event. Fields hit the floor after the first few seconds of fighting claiming foul. He was given a rest and when the milling was resumed he again hit the canvas as Chuck rammed a hard right to the Chicagoan's head. He was up, but out on his feet when Referee Benny Whitman halted the lop-sided go.

PRELIMS

Tino de Rama, 1936 Golden Gloves featherweight champion, outpointed the veteran Gene Espinosa in four. Frankie Lujan's strength and harder punches earned him the verdict over Zeke Castro. Dominick Pascali was no match for Benny Goldberg and was t.k.o.'ed in two. Andy Vasquez won the slam-bang opener from Louie Robles.

WINS DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST THEATRE

Joe Randall, Negro of Olympia, Wash., won a $300 damage suit in the Washington Supreme court yesterday, according to Associated Press reports, against a Washington amusement company, for eviction from a theatre. Randall said he was sold a ticket, allowed a seat on the lower floor, then evicted because of his color.

1-Man Civil Service Head is Opposed

NEW YORK, March 10—A telegram protesting the proposal contained in the government reorganization bill that the federal civil service commission be reduced to a one-man director, was sent today to President Roosevelt by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The telegram, signed by Walter White, secretary, asserted, that there has been gross discrimination against Negroes in the civil service, and cited the abuse of the rule which permits appointing officers to select from among the first three eligibles.

The NAACP files contain records of many cases in which Negro eligibles have occupied the top position on the list, but have been passed over repeatedly by the appointing officers who have selected the second or third eligible.

The telegram stated:

"Again we respectfully urge issuance by you of executive order abolishing present policy giving appointing officer power to select one of three persons heading list. When American citizen has achieved in a competitive test first rank, he should be given appointment instead of permitting appointing officer to pass over him and pick second or third person on list. We also respectfully urge appointment of qualified Negro to next vacancy on civil service commission."

Flood, Rain Made 'Bad' Men Good

If the flood and devastating rainfall that besieged Los Angeles last week had no other good point, it had one in restraining the actions of those of criminal or mischievious intent.

According to police records at the Newton street station, persons living within its jurisdiction were as good as gold during the frightful downpour and a check of police blotters throughout the city brought a like report.

From Monday through Thursday there was only one arrest report on the Newton station blotter, that a minor cutting scrape in an alleyway on lower Central avenue.

Hitler Demands Colonies; Backs Rape of Ethiopia

BERLIN, March 10. (CNA)—In the sabre-rattling speech of last week befort his regimented Reichstag, Adolf Hitler, Nazi dictator of Germany, demanded that the people of the former German African colonies be handed over, willy-nilly, to the rule of the Nazi regime. The Nazi fuehrer at the same time endorsed the rape of Ethiopia and Japan's invasion of China. He warned the British that a defeat for his Japanese allies by the Chinese people would disastrously affect imperialist domination over the peoples of Africa and Asia.

Blandly ignoring the historic fact that pre-war Germany, like the other imperialist powers, had come by its colonies through fraud and violence against weaker peoples, Hitler referred to the former German colonies as "these possessions which Germany did not take from other countries and which today are practically of no value to these powers." He declared that the claim for "German colonial possessions" would be "voiced from year to year with increasing vigor.

The known opposition of the peoples of the former German colonies to Nazi rule and their desire for national freedom were brushed aside by the Nazi dictator with the sarcastic statement:

"I notice very often that English politicians would be glad to give back to us our colonies if they were not so disturbed by the thought of the wrong and violence which would be done to the native inhabitants."

Back Tokyo Invasion

He invited Britain, France and other imperialist powers to join the fascist bloc of Germany, Italy and Japan "in fighting" against Bolshevism which he intimated was a threat to their right to exploit the colonial and subject peoples. He warned that a victory for the Chinese people against the Japanese invaders of their country would upset the applecart.

"I cannot agree with those politicians who believe they are rendering the European world a service by harming Japan", he said. "I believe a Japanese defeat in the Far East would never be any good to Europe or America, but would exclusively benefit Bolshevist Soviet Russia. I believe even the greatest victory for Japan would be less dangerous to the culture and general peace of the world than a Bolshevist (Chinese) victory would be. Germany has a treaty with Japan to combat Comintern aspirations.

"Supporting Mussolini's demand for recognition of his "Ethopian empire" Hitler assailed the League of Nations for applying sanction against Italy following Mussolini's attack on the East African country. It would have been better, he said, for the League "to have shown more understanding for vital Italian needs."

"The condition in which Italy finds herself is somewhat similar to that of Germany. It was, therefore, only natural that we who suffer from the same overpopulation showed understanding for the actions of a man and a regime not willing to let a nation perish to please the fantastic ideals of the League of Nations but were determined to save it. Also in the Spanish conflict Germany and Italy have adopted the same views and, therefore, the same attitude."

L. M. Blodgett to Address 2 Churches

Desirous of obtaining additional information concerning the insurance of all individual accounts up to $5,000 recently secured by the Liberty Building Loan association from the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance corporation, two organizations of leading churches invited L. M. Blodgett, president of the association, to address them this week on the subject.

Last Monday night, Mr. Blodgett discussed the advantages of the Liberty with the Mutual Aid society of the First AME church, Eighth and Towne; and on Tuesday night spoke before the Good Samaritan Benevolent Society of Second Baptist.

At both meetings, old acquaintances were renewed and the safety of money invested in the association was thoroughly explained by the institution's head. General satisfaction and admiration was expressed for the excellent condition of the Liberty, especially when it was pointed out to the two groups that new accounts were steadily pouring in.

Cool Your Home With Springleaf Green Shades

It's a grand, brand new color in cloth shades that brings the whole green countryside indoors. We've just seen this new color and like it.

For one thing the green is soft enough in tone to diffuse the glare of sunlight and keep the rooms of your home cool and livable even on sizzling hot days. Then too, green is one of the most restful colors on the eyes and the nerves. If you have it in the kitchen you'll find that room a cooler, more pleasant place to work in. In the bedrooms it protects your eyes from the glare of early morning sun — and eye specialists tell us that sun should never beat down on the eyelids of a sleeping youngster or even a grown-up.

Springleaf green, we learn from the interior decorators, is the color this year in cretonnes, chintzes, draperies, wallpaper, and pottery. And the best part of these new shades is that they are made of cloth—woven on a loom and then "processed" for long life. They're color fast — weather resistant, that is, they won't, so they tell us, crumple up from rainstorms or steam from the kitchen or bathroom. All in all, these new summer window shades sound pretty attractive to us. We think you'll approve of them, too!

ception in 1925 and distinguished himself in the charter membership drive; in that year, his ability and courage was tested when an emergency arose in the Northern California district and he was assigned to the superintendency of the staff there. So commendable was his record that, in 1927, the young man was assigned to the Pasadena District as superintendent and one year later brought to the Home Office District. Nineteen Thirty found him District Superintendent of Home Office Division Two, and 1931 General Superintendent of the entire district. In 1934, Mr. Johnson became the first junior officer of the Company with his promotion to Assistant Director of Agencies, which position he efficiently filled until the beginning of the current year when he was assigned to the Assistant Secretaryship.

Educated in the public schools and University of California at Los Angeles where he majored in Business Administration, Mr. Johnson has constantly applied himself to church and fraternal life. He is a former trustee of the People's Independent Church of Christ and is Polemarch of the Western Province of the Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity where he won laurels as a charter member of the local Alumni Chapter.

In commenting on the new honor accorded Mr. Johnson, Mr. Beavers said, "I cannot say too much for his ability and character. He is certainly deserving and I hope others will be encouraged by his enviable record." It is believed that the perpetuation of the deals for which the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company stands is assured as long as recognition is given to men like Edgar Johnson. Other officers and directors include: Wm. Nickerson, Jr., Geo. A. Beavers, Jr., Norman O. Houston, S. P. Johnson, H. H. Towles and L. M. Hudson.

Chatter Styles Home Hints

Chatter and . . . Some News

By HELEN F. CHAPPELL

In the spring the world's fancy turns breathlessly with eyes eager to the new . . . . or to the old complemented by a new touch . . . . old garments revived with frills; old sores forgotten . . . . old friends take on new meanings; above the patter of rain and the whistle of contrary winds . . . . above the deeper tones of labour and now and then despair, one tunes the ear to answer the call of earth's music . . . . to hear above the deep and muffled songs the blithe notes of a world a-thrill with laughter . . . . that dares and does. With the first days of spring will become the welding of the romance of Lawrence Gill, formerly of Kansas, now very much so an Angeleno, to Vivian Leith, vivacious and jolly girl who is eager to start looking for that house soon . . . . Lawrence is buying furniture . . . . I hear. Here's wishing them just years and years of happiness . . . . straight from the heart.

AFTER THE WINTER:

It's mighty hard to keep secrets that in the telllng can brng only bliss . . . . unbridled happiness . . . . John Atkins talked it over with Allitta Hamilton and they decided to let everybody know that his attentions weren't just a "crush" . . . . Ain't a man got a right to be devoted unstintingly to his wife? . . . . Sure. Last Saturday evening they "told it" to friends at a joint jolly gathering of the Social Few and La Jovial Girl's Club. They've been one since September 16, of last year. We all wish them happy sailing and a long one way voyage . . . More surprises come with birthdays than any other time and they're long remembered. William Brown of Villa St., Pasadena, surprised his adorable wife, Lillian, with a party Sunday in their home. John Ruffin helped "swing it" with Herby and Helen Alberga, Al and Geneva White, Henry and Dolly White; Joe L., Myrtle Cunningham; Percy, Winifred Williams; Mary Hughes, J. E. McGinnis, Elsie Ellis, LeRoy Jackson, Moody Dandridge, Helen White, Adolph Griffin, Marge Smith, Claude and Lorena Mims, Lucille Smith . . . and others. Many happy returns, fair lady!

And friend "hubby" gets his share of surprises . . . . Mrs. Mary Anna Pollock surprised her other half, Thomas J., Sunday evening, too, in their love nest. Joining in the "happy birthday" harmonizing were Don and Viola Pollock, 'the Leon Edwards, the Walter Marshalls, Mrs. Madge Andrews and Leslie Brown. After the games, came the cake, baked by Mrs. Pollock . . . for the grateful celebrant . . . came more good wishes . . . came almost the dawn . . . and good night to a lovely evening — and morning? . . . Best wishes Mr. Pollock . . . birthdays are reason enough for celebrating.

Happy celebrations must have them, too . . . Sunday night, near the close of a happy day, participating in the homecoming festivities at Independent church . . . petite Gwendolyn Valentine, known for her capability and affability as well . . . was stricken with appendicitis and rushed to the General hospital where she underwent an operation Monday morning . . . we're happy to know she's taking it in her magnificent stride . . . and Mrs. Valentine says she'll be seeing visitors around Friday . . . drop her a line, will you? Julianne Robinson, vice-prexy of the Les Bonbonieres (I never could spell that club) is out again after being ill several weeks . . . Mr. S. B. Ray, realty broker, 2302 Griffith, who has been suffering with pneumonia, is back in his office and ready to greet his friends and clients as cheerfully as ever.

Home again . . . in the Crown City is Charles Jones from a trip to points East (mid-west for the exacting) Cleveland, Sandusky and Toledo in Ohio; Detroit, Michigan. He was hosted by parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Jones and friends . . . Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Foley of San Antonio, are visiting the Angel City as guests of Captain and Mrs. Alonzo Heard, 463 East 48th street . . . you're welcome to a long stay . . . and I'm sure you've learned why this is termed the Angel City.

And very rapidly, too, is Edgar J. Johnson of the Golden State Mutual . . . announcement was made this week of his election to that institution's board of directors . . . a whole bouquet of orchids to you, Mr. Johnson . . . and may your youth bring new zest to the already progressive board . . . Another example of the good of coming up the hard way and not a streak of luck is your fortune.

The world of beauty and those served by the profession note with pride the modernity of Emile's Beauty Salon, 1059 E. Vernon. Among the lovely ladies in the new shop are Mrs. Ethel Jones, and Miss Marie Jackson, who moved from the Jones Beauty Shop on Central . . . they're eagerly awaiting their many patrons . . . and to serve new ones, too.

And if there isn't brotherly love among fraternities . . . pray, what shall we do? . . . the Kappas and Alphas are saying there is . . . see the inter-fraternal basketball setto Sunday night . . . March 19 . . . at the Pan-Pacific. Bye, bye.

"YOU ARE INVITED" — And who wouldn't go where these striking personality ladies are doing the social honors! This quartette of loveliness will greet you Sunday afternoon as hostesses for the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance company at the reception celebrating the opening of the new office for the L. A. disrict of the company on Sunday afternoon, March 13, from three to seven o'clock. Sitting, left to right, are Miss Theodosia Hampton and Mrs. Virgil Johnson-Brown; standing, Miss Jessie Mae Nickerson and Miss Roberta Brown. The ladies will don afternoon attire. Miss Hampton has selected a black and white satin print; Mrs. Brown, black with chartreuse green top, and Miss Nickerson black.

Leonard Stovall Addresses Pasadena Fellowship Body

By STANFORD WILLIAMSON

Pasadena's Fellowship league, unit of the Pasadena Community Sing association, held Sunday morning last, in the assembly hall of the George Garner Music Foundation, its most impressive and attended breakfast meet to date. Approximately one hundred persons gathered for the affair, given the initial Sunday morning of each month, and to hear the prominent guest speaker, Dr. Leonard Stovall of Los Angeles.

The March breakfast meet honored Southern California visitors, Frank Edwards, one of Chicago's foremost morticians; Mrs. Robert Harper, Chicago; and Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Maupins of Chicago and Beverly Hills, Calif.

George Garner, who with his wife, Netta Paullyn Garner, occupies an unquestioned position as Pasadena first citizens, introduced the Southland socialites and civic figures who were present, among them, Attorney and Mrs. Bert McDonald, Mrs. Horace P. Clarke, co-owner of the fashionable Clarke hotel; Mrs. Theresa Felton, hostess to Frank Edwards during his California stay; Mr. and Mrs. James Nelson, owners of the famous Dunbar hostelry; Mrs. Eugene Davidson, Mrs. Hazel A. Burch and her son; Mr. and Mrs. James Woods, Pasadena; Dr. and Mrs. Howard Allen, Mrs. Allen sr., and Miss Hortense Allen, Mrs. Phil Jones, Mrs. Lois Simmons Jackson and her husband; Mrs. Leonard Stovall, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Muse, J. W. Bryant, Anderson Taylor, and the many members present, including:

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert T. Mills, Dr. J. H. McRiley, Mrs. Galena Mackey and her husband; William Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Mosely Gilchrist, Mmes. Pearl Fairfax, Belle Doston, Drucilla Bryant, Isabel Simpson, Bert Brooks, Muse, Nana Fuller, Geneva Trimble, the Misses Linda Miller, Valerie and Mary Moses, Hortense Ellis, Juanita Billups, Messrs. Thomas and Ford, Pasadena business men; William Sunday, Elijah Hodges, Herman Yarborough and Warner Starks.

MUSE MASTER OF CEREMONIES

Clarence Muse, outstanding screen and radio celebrity, exerted his engaging personality as master of ceremonies; and Dr. Edna Griffin, Pasadena's prominent surgical authority, gave a brief discourse prior to her presentation of Dr. Stovall.

It is unnecessary to say that Dr. Stovall's address commanded the attention of the entire assembly; for he dealt with statistical facts concerning the needlessly great mortality rate caused by tuberculosis.

"Our sublime ignorance concerning this dread germ," quoted Dr. Stovall, "is the great evil that our united forces must first combat — and win against. My greatest pleasure in recent years has been your avowed interest and determination, as Negro leaders, to join in the fight."

Mrs. Elbert W. Moore, wife of the league's chaplain and counsellor, the Rev. Elbert W. Moore, absentee, responded to Dr. Stovall's brilliant address.

Of great interest is the fact that Dr. Stovall, member of the medical staff, General hospital, began a health center five years ago in Los Angeles. Since that time his idea to promote health education among the members of our race, has progressed splendidly. More recently Dr. Stovall organized the Outdoor Life and Health association, membership well over five hundred, as a voluntary group to promote health education and to facilitate the early diagnosis of tuberculosis. A part of the organization's program is the establishment of rest homes, the teaching of mental hygiene. A demonstration rest home, designed by eminent architect, Paul R. Williams, is in the process of construction at Duarte. A membership campaign is now in progress.

Leading white citizens of Pasadena have repeatedly acclaimed the Pasadena Fellowship League for its definite promotion of culture and civic interest among Southland's citizenry. It was this idea that prompted its organization as a part of the community-conscious Pasadena Community Sing Association, heretofore best known for the splendid work of its choral unit, The Garner Negro Chorus.

Bea DeVaughn Back in L. A. After Six Months Tour

Miss Bea DeVaughn, well-known modiste, returned to Los Angeles Sunday morning after a six months tour of the fashion centers of the nation. During her stay, Miss DeVaughn enrolled at the exclusive Taphagen School of Fashion as an advanced student. Her course included costume designing, sketching, styling, and fashion advising.

Among the cities visited for style observation were Chicago, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh; on the return trip Washington, Atlanta and New Orleans; in the Creole City, she attended the Masdi Gas.

In New York, Miss DeVaughn was largely feted by the Los Angeles colony; among them, the James Rodney Smith's (Gladys Owens); the Lionel Hamptons (Gladys Neale); Mmes. Jean Diego, Iris Hall Ray, Hazel Curry Lewis; Joe Reese, Willis Dhdley, and Tom McNeil were co-hosts at a farewell party. She was also entertained by Mrs. Lillian Hunter, (assistant manager of the New York Amsterdam News, at a dancing party in the Bronze studio.

PICO HEIGHTS STUDY CLUB HOLDS PARTY AT JOHNSON HOME

The Pico Heights Woman's Study Club celebrated their accomplishments with a party recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, 3122 West Eleventh Street. The elaborate program planned by Mrs. N. Blodgett, president, featured D. Tyler in his original poems and an original skit "Scandalizing Her Name". A seven pound fruit cake was made by Mrs. Pearl and Maud Johnson and won by Mrs. Blanche Vincent.

Mrs. Charles Kennedy, newly elected president was introduced by Mrs. Blodgett and received warmly by the organization.

Mrs. Betty Hill, executive secretary of the W. P. S. C., was the Pico Heights guest at the installation of officers service in the home of Mrs. B. H. Rogers.

Mrs. Moore is Bridge-Luncheon Hostess

Mrs. Willa Mae Moore was a lovely hostess to a bridge luncheon Sunday afternoon, March 6, at her home, 639 East 53rd St.

Among the guests were the Misses Catherine Higgins, Thelma Hamlett, and Mmes. Thelma Stewart, Lauretta Shivers, Mabel Lorenz, Katie Fair, Josephine Craddock and Leona Cark.

A luncheon was served and the rest of the evening was spent playing bridge. Prizes were won by Mrs. Craddock, first, and second by Miss Higgins.

MRS. MILTON DEAN SPONSORS BENEFIT BRIDGE

Mrs. Milton Dean, 2097 West 29th street, hosted seventy guests in a benefit bridge Saturday evening for the Outdoor Life and Health association.

Colorful bridge sets and artistic decorations marked the elite gathering. Prizes were won by Mrs. Pearl Roberts, Jennie Worsham, and Helen Watkins; gentlemen winning awards were T. A. Green, Messrs. Brasley and Price.

The lovely gifts were donated by Eastern Outfitting company, Dr. Elzora Gibson, Mmes. Ethel Thomas, Betty Dean Brasley, Callie B. Snowden, Mayme Waugh, Edna Macbeth, Margaret Moore. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Rosemond Brown, Fort Riley, USA; and Mrs. Clara Boyd, New York City.

CALIFORNIA F. C. W. OBSERVES NAT'L FORESTRY WEEK IN L. A.

National Forestry and Conservation Week, which began Monday, is being observed by the California Federation of Colored Women's clubs with lectures and study of plant life and care as well as the planting of rose gardens in appreciation of the work of respective club presidents. Announcement of the federation's observation of the period was made by Mrs. Mabel Gray, president.

Billie McFarland, superintendent of Forestry and Conservation, will be presented in Santa Monica this week-end by the clubs there. Trees to be given special study this week include the Torrey pine, palm and Jos. hua. Tree planting ceremonies will be held at one of the institution centers.

Club Institute Cited

The Club Institute, a federation innovation, will be held by the department of education under the supervision of Esther T. Greenly on March 17 at the 12th Street Branch YWCA at 10 a. m. Speakers will discuss various phases of the "Art of Better Living".

Mrs. Ardelia Anglin, head of the art department, reported a growing interest in the art exchange and will present a worthwhile showing soon; Mrs. Ida Ramsey, superintendent of business is engaged in plans for visits to business plants operated by Negroes. The institute is being held to clarify needs and relationships among member clubs.

Riverside Orchid Girls Have 500 Guests at Annual Ball

The Orchid Girls of Riverside were hosts to more than five hundred guests on Saturday, February 19, at their second annual ball held in the American Legion Club House on Fairmount Lake.

The hall was beautifully decorated with balloons, palms and flowers. Abert Gordon was master of ceremonies and the grand march was lead by Stanley Beverly and Mrs. John Gordon following the introduction of members. After the dance, Mr. and Mrs. Danny Culpepper honored the club girls and their escorts with a cocktail party.

Members include Mrs. Violet Waters, president; Miss Vera Wiley, secretary; Mrs. Elizabeth Henderson, vice-president and secretary; Miss Elvira F. Jackson, reporter; other members include Mmes. Peggy Stokes, Eddie Dakins Crossely, Betty MacDaniels; Misses Elese Johnson and Madeline Jordan of Santa Monica.

WOMEN'S BREAKFAST CLUB SUNDAY

The Women's Breakfast club will convene in its regular monthly meeting Sunday morning at 8:30 o'clock in the 28th street branch YMCA. The program will consist of an open forum on timely and significant social and political questions.

Relentless and of a malevolent benevolence . . . all at the same time . . . this is the phrase for the rains that come to our Southern California . . . Malevolent its downwash from the hills that surround this Pasadena . . . and the rush of mud-clouded waters that swept into rear doors and windows, paused long enough to gather together rugs and priceless furnishings and then poured forth from the front . . .

Devil Gate Dam nearby residents fled before what they imagined was certain doom . . . all hysteria brought on by the wild ravings of radio announcers . . . yet: though yellowish, lapping waters covered much-trammeled highways and the passage of an automobile was not unlike that of an outboard cutter racing at full speed . . . we of this town that nestles bowl-like within the protection . . . or danger . . . of the surrounding Sierra Nevadas, have indeed fared less worse than many other Southland community . . . Benevolent its cool rush of waters down into the dry, dusty soil . . . for wells and verdure and mile after mile of scented orange groves . . . . for the ranch-dotted scene of Southern California . . and though, truthfully, most of these have gone with the flood . . . are there not rich deposits of silt to overlay them . . . and sped on rehabilitation? . . . Luckily now, for those less fortunate the whole becomes rapidly but the holdover of a maddening dream . . . and I, on Wednesday morning, rushing to pick up a last minute Westside bit for your enjoyment . . . . . perchance . . found Figueroa St. to resemble the Zuider Zee . . . motor cars, helplessly stalled . . and as hopelessly abandoned . . . so that I boarded again my yet trusty Dodge steed . . . EAGLE column in hand . . . and backward to Pasadena . . . trusting that for my failure you will forgive me for: NOW . . . the rains of winter's-end long spent . . . . pleasurably we turn our thoughts to the set-in of spring . . . Lent, with its accompanying lull in so far as things social are concerned, is upon us . . . . but afterward: there is preparation for the glorious Eastertide . . . and a determination to rival the blossom bursts in our sartorial display . . . soon we will sing the lovely Easter carols once again . . . Shrove Tuesday, Ash Wednesday, Holy Thursday . . . Good Friday . . . and voices will lift and blend in the glorious musical story that is DuBois' "Seven Last Words of Christ" . . and there will be Palm Sunday . . . and the traditional waving fronds of palm . . . . blessed and hallowed . . . and then Easter . . . and joy eternal for the live, warm days of near-at-hand summer . . . but now I walk along . . . and the wet turf is spongy-soft beneath my feet . . . along the less travelled ways of the countryside there are the lush grasses that lie matted with dampness . . a tiny gopher appears furtively . . . then disappears again within its hole with the nervous speed so characteristic of these tiny creatures . . . a startled bird, roused by an unexpected deluge that falls from the weighted leaves overhead, spreads aloft and out of sight . . . to school children, lunchboxes and books in hand, seek out the deepest pools, and shouting, splash through them toward home--and an upbraiding . . . small green shoots of new plants tell me that spring has come.

By M. L. MILLIGAN

There has never been nor ever could be any real comparison between the two, for one depends on chance while the other plugs along slowly with its system, but surely to its utmost goal—success.

In gazing down the avenues of life one often sees the above vividly portrayed in sick bodies and poverty stricken lives, all because they have failed to adhere to the methodical principles that govern life, health, and success. In other words, they drifted with the tide and placed their fate in that elusive lady—Luck. This ends in failure more often than not.

There must be a system and where there is one, there is always a method by whch you can master said system. The above is beautifully illustrated in contract bridge, when you find two players who know how to play scientifically their bids and plays click like clock work. I can't understand why so many players vary from a proven rule when they know the percentage of success is so low. Bridgers, quit kidding yourself and adhere to the principle of the proven method. I spent a lovely weekend in your city and had the honor of playing with such good players as Mr. Provost, King Thompson, Welcome Watson, Mrs. Henry Gordon, Watson Provost, Miss Myrtle Wilson, Miss Susie Hall and others.

MEALS THAT SCORE

By Esther Brown

American Beauty Rose

Wash and scoop the centers from small tomatoes, divide one package of Philadelphia Cream Chese in half; color one half light pink; divide the other half in half, color one green and the other a darker pink. Mix these in cups. Stick a fork in the bottom of the tomato while applying the different colors of cheese. Take a spoonful of cheese in a teaspoon and pull spoon over the top of the cup to make it even starting with dark pink. Hold the spoon to the top of the tomato, pressing and pull down, this will leave a petal-like form on the tomato. Make two rows of the dark, two of light, and one of the green. Set aside in refrigerator to set. Fill centers with any desired filling, sprinkle egg yolk in the center.

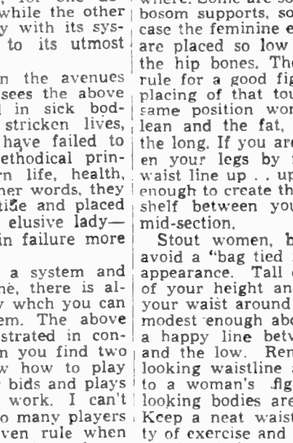
Poinsettia Salad

Wash tomatoes. With the point of a knife starting at the bud end cut in half, then divide entire tomato in lights. Peel down to about ½ inch of stem end. Pull petals down, cover center with mayonnaise, chopped pickles, and sieved eff yolk.

Oriental Salad

Pare pears and marinate in lemon juice. Cut in fourths and core. Lay on a bed of shredded lettuce the four slices of pears with the stem ends making four points. Put a pile of cottage cheese in the center and on top of cheese add a dressing made of cream cheese and mayonnaise. On top of dressing add chopped preserves or glaced ginger, on top of this pour French dressing, and sprinkle with chopped salted almonds.

STYLE NOTES



The style accent this week is on waistlines . . . high, low and medium. Fashion designers are in somewhat of a dither about belts which are sliding around everywhere. Some are so high, they are bosom supports, some neatly encase the feminine equator. Others are placed so low they hang on the hip bones. The fundamental rule for a good figure is careful placing of that touchy line. The same position won't do for the lean and the fat, the short and the long. If you are short lengthen your legs by moving your waist line up . . up, but not high enough to create that unbecoming shelf between your bosom and mid-section.

Stout women, be careful and avoid a "bag tied in the middle" appearance. Tall ones, be proud of your height and do not drop your waist around your hips, but modest enough about it to strike a happy line between the high and the low. Remember an old looking waistline adds ten years to a woman's figure, and old looking bodies are never pretty. Keep a neat waist-line by plenty of exercise and the use of proper foundation garments, and the rest of your svelte anatomy will take care of itself.

ELEVATION 7,329 FEET

High among the lofty peaks of the Sierra Nevada Mountains lies Florence Lake, one of three principal storage reservoirs of the Edison Big Creek-San Joaquin River hydro-electric system.

Its winter storm-born waters are used to generate electricity in a series of Edison power houses and, this useful task done, to irrigate farm lands of the San Joaquin Valley.

HISTORY AND ROMANCE OF CIVILIZATION'S PROGRESS

Preservation and Storing of Food
Chapter 7

Our forefathers in the United States, aside from knowing that low temperature prevented food from spoiling, noted that the low temperature likewise made food more palatable. This, they knew was particularly true in the case of butter, cold meats, etc., which were kept not only sweeter but much firmer in the cold temperature.

A short period after we won our independence, they began harvesting ice from lakes, streams and ponds in the winter time and stored for use in warmer seasons. At the dawn of the Nineteenth century, ice was offered for sale to the homes during the summer months which was harvested and stored during the winter. This soon became a thriving business, because of its popularity with housewiyes but it was doomed to be short-lived.

After educating the housewife to this new service and upon erecting insulated places to store the natural ice, mother nature played a prank upon the energetic vendors. For a number of consecutive years the winters were mild and bodies of water did not freeze to a sufficient thickness to make possible the harvesting of ice for home consumption.

Thus, did the refrigeration pioneers in this country come to the realization they must find a refrigeration system independent of nature.

MAYBE THEIR LOVE FOR "HOSSES"—Has a lot to do with their romance! Anyway, Mr. and Mrs. Nolie Murray, owners of the popular Murray's Dude Ranch in Victorville, are announcing the celebration of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary on March 19. The above picture was taken in the young days of the Murray partnership and who knows what dreams they had that day? Mr. and Mrs. Murray are among the pioneers of California and have proved their worth both in civic interests and fraternal affiliations, aside from their prosperous desert oasis. Murray's Dude Ranch, the mecca of all celebrities who come to the coast and the talk of Southern California, is the only one of its kind in the country operated by and for Negroes. The prominence of the ranch in social life was recently exhibited in a two-page spread in the weekly picture magazine, "Life".

FLOOD COMMENTARY AS PROBABLY TOLD BY EASTERN SCRIBES

CALIFORNIANS EXPERIENCED about the lowest fog in history last (wet) Wednesday. Phil Baker announced over the radio that it was SO damp even the footprints in front of the Chinese theatre were wearing goulashes.

Looking out the window that morning, I thought it was the stuff I'd eaten the night before that made West 36th street appear to be a roaring sea. Having crossed the Atlantic without an urp, weathered a storm in the Irish Sea and bobbed around a bit in the English channel, fancy my chagrin when I got that old feelin' right in my own backyard.

Going out for junior's milk, I found a whole moo cow that had been washed in from San Fernando valley . . . scraped the seaweed from her bosom, proceeded to milk bossby and . . . a batch of fresh trout came trillying out . . . SO . . . we served bloaters for breakfast.

Last year's bathing suit and this year's waistline battled for supremacy as the boys past forty and the gels with middle age spread made brave attempts to swim to work only to find the boss' shack turned suddenly into a river boat with the cat and the pantry its only living occupants.

And . . . nobody can say that Central avenue wasn't cleaned up. To finish the scrubbing 11 inches of fog gave to it, the fire companies brought out their equipment and blew all the debris collected there right on off our county line.

Just in case this happens again, visitors are warned not to leave their life betts at home. When things happen in California they happen in a BIG way. They decided to put on an extra special stupendous fog and some unschooled press reporter mistook it for a flood. Whatever damage that might have been done will probably be financed as a goodwill gesture by the next Elks convention or national conclave of the American Legion. At least, the Governor seems to think so.

Wasn't it a relief to have the radios silenced for a few days? Or was it? New fans might have experienced a bit of disillusionment about the accuracy of press reports as the biggest syndicates related eye-witness accounts of devastation and death from the deluge while the sheriff's department, broadcasting from the Tower of Babel declared that ALL was WELL. Perhaps it WAS, but not on wet Wednesday.

SPEAKING OF inaccuracies, here is a bit from the department of information, New York City's WPA Theatre Project quoting Rex (Clifford) Ingram on his scholastic achievements: "Mr. Ingram, who holds a DOCTOR'S DEGREE and a PHI BETA KAPPA KEY from NORTHWESTERN, was doing research with his brother-in-law, Dr. Orville L. Ballard, house physician at the Waverly Hills Tubercular Sanitarium in Louisville, Kentucky.

The Phi Beta Kappa Doctor SPEAKS:

"You know," he said, "it looks LIKE I was really cut out to be an actor and not a doctor. Everytime I make up my mind to go back to medicine the theatre comes up and I just can't resist the call. After finishing school I went to California, where there are some of the best tubercular institutions in America, hoping to become a tuberculosis specialist. I ended up in pictures.

"One day while standing on a corner in Los Angeles, a man walked up to me and wanted to know if I would like to make $10 a day.

"Sure I'd like to."

And so on the yarn goes.

REX INGRAM evidently figures if he must tell one he'd better tell a BIG one, and we doff our hat to the most collossal fairy tale we've heard yet.

He holds a Phi Beta key that he FOUND. I have NOT seen his name in anybody's physicians' list and research in medicine comes AFTER graduation, not before. Ingram worked as a chauffeur here and that's a much nicer job than the story he has made up out of whole cloth. For what reason. Is THAT what it takes to get a WPA job nowadays?

HELENE LEBERTHON is to make her screen debut in "Religious Racketeer", which will be producted by Fanchon Royer, with Mrs. Harry Houdini. The pretty young player is the daughter of Newsman Ted LeBerthon, who has accumulated no end of readers on this side of town for his splendid "Night Court" reporting. I have known Helene since she was quite a gangling youngster in pigtails, now grown to attractive young womanhood. Her mother, Mrs. Frances LeBerthon, was a social service worker in the Vernon district, and helped to steer Helene on what promises to be a real screen career. Our best is with you, Helene!

FLASH

Unconfirmed reports from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios award the role of "Pix" in the forthcoming Luise Rainer vehicle, "Froo-Froo" to BILLIE YARBORO.

CLEO DESMOND will probably be selected for the part of "Eve"; CLARENCE MUSE for "Brutus" and CLINTON ROSEMOND for "Pompey". Ben Carter, who is doing most of the casting in this picture, said that over 150 interviews had been held in his office this week for bit and feature players.

MILLER and MANTAN are requested to call my office at once. A national radio program awaits them.

TODD DUNCAN arrived in Washington today, will sail for LONDON March 23, to begin rehearsal for the Drury Lane production FIRST announced by this writer.

Rest of "Porgy and Bess" cast arrived in Los Angeles Tuesday from San Francisco. All Southern California presentations of the play were canceled because of flood conditions. THE Lincoln theatre version was NOT to have been a full performance anyway, but a concert version with music ONLY, no scenery, no action. And that CLEARS a lot of queries and reports to the contrary.

AFTER Madam Charlotta A. Bass laid the Chief Executive (FDR) out in lavender and old lace on the Sunday night EAGLE broadcast (station KGFJ) it is rumored that a number of recently registered Democrats CHANGED back to Republicans. Proving . . . the VOICE is sometimes mightier than the sword or pen . . . provided it speaks a TRUE thought, FORCEFULLY.

That is all.

Except that I would appreciate your reactions to the Stage and Screen radio news over the same station MONDAY nights, at 9:15.

NEGRO MEMBERS PLAY INTO HANDS OF POLITICIANS SEEKING VOTES BY SPLITTING RACE FACTIONS, IS CLAIM

TACTICS DEPLORED BY MONTGOMERY

By FAY M. JACKSON

Hollywood's Screen Actors Guild, to all purposes and intent, was organized to benefit all players in motion pictures holding membership cards in either the senior or junior guilds.

Prior to its organizaton and preceding it, little knots of selfish individuals, white and black, have made furtive efforts to divide the interests of the players, reverse the organizational program agreed upon by thousands of members, and, generally have they been a source of annoyance to the guild by their attempts to disrupt a smooth and harmonious function of guild interests.

Negroes, themselves, having been admitted upon a basis of absolute equality, with the sole requirement being that they pay their membership dues and abide by the regulations of the guild, are reported to have been distracted by plans and programs of other bodies and individuals attempting to organize them into separate units. In other words, after the screen actors guild was organized, Negro men, seeking personal advantage without regard for the benefits to be derived by the masses as a whole, have approached colored members with plans for separate organization.

No program for collective bargaining with studios, no possible sense for setting up jim-crow guilds was advanced, except the old saw that "we ought to run our own guild". And, everybody knows that the "running" of such a guild would serve only one purpose that of the self-appointed leader.

On last Tuesday evening at the YMCA, an "unofficial" meeting was called by Lt. William Powell, an aviation teacher by profession, with Nathan Curry and Charles Butler, associated with a casting agency, demanding all members to show paid up guild cards before entering the meeting.

Inquiries were made of Clarence Muse, a senior member and long associated with the proper conduct of guild affairs.

Muse said that he called the Guild office about the meeting and that nothing was known of its origin or purpose.

"Then I was advised to investigate", Muse declared.

"On the night of the meeting I learned that four white men, led by a man named Bickwell, were canvassing with all racial groups and dress players to violate one of the most important constitutional laws of the guild--that is to campaign by unofficial meetings for an election on April 10.

"These men seem to have worked out a political scheme of changing completely the entire board with the exception of Bickwell and two others working with him so as to make some very left wing changes in the entire set up in the guild which to date has been highly successful in its work to date", Muse continued.

"The idea is for the guild members to waiver the rule which is that any 25 paid up members can endorse a nominee and may have as many nominees as they wish. The political stroke which these fellows are trying to work is to have each one of the racial groups to nominate by private votes in unofficial meetings one man for the board Then these four gentlemen will take each of the racial nominees, plus themselves and make out a complete ticket with the guarantee that each one of the groups will vote for the ticket".

The matter was discussed in a conference with Robert Montgomery, president of the Guild, Kenneth Thompson and Muse on Thursday.

Montgomery found it amusing that Lt. Powell ordered Muse out of the meeting when he found he was a senior member. Montgomery said in an unofficial meeting of this sort Muse was probably the only one who had a right there and should have ordered the entire meeting dismissed, thereby upholding the constitution of the guild.

The board took under advisement at its meeting Monday what steps to take in stopping persons like Lt. Powell and Jesse Graves from using the membership of the guild for personal or political reasons.

The guild is entirely in accord with having a representative Negro of intelligence and ability as a member of the board. But it can not understand how 75 members out of a total of 300 colored members paid up can claim to represent the entire racial group.

Mr. Montgomery said with great emphasis that the guild is not a racial organization and is not to be divided into racial items.

The only queston of racial grouping is in the matter of casting, he declared emphatically.

Robert Edwards in Sunday Recital at Gray Musart

Robert V. Edwards

Miss Robert V. Edwards, pianist, will be heard in recital, Sunday, March 13th at the Gray Musart, 4068 Central Ave. at 5 p. m. promptly.

She will be assisted by Norris Stokes, Jr., baritone and Thomas W. Rakestraw, poet, who will read some of his poems.

This event will be the last of the series presented this winter by the Gray Conservatory of Music. Admission is 35 cents.

actor falls for amorous edna in tight squeeze

Edna Hall, 360-pound former professional woman wrestler and boxer, is now employed in Paramount's "Stolen Heaven" the Olympe Bradna—Gene Raymond music drama.

Director Andrew Stone today instructed her to take George Gamble into her Amazonic arms and squeeze him like an affectionate wife.

The cameras turned. Miss Hall squeezed Gamble. Director Stone called "cut." She loosened her arms. Gamble slumped to the floor like an empty sack. When he revived Gamble muttered;

"That's no lady that's a boa constrictor."

anna may wong's nails get guards

Anna May Wong's "Chinese" fingernails have regained their former length and today she donned gold guards to protect them from breaking.

The Chinese star was compelled to cut off her treasured nails when she appeared in "Daughter of Shanghai" on account of the rough role she enacted.

Since then the famous nails have grown until they are full two inches long again. She has cultivated this traditional charm for 13 years and her nails contribute much to her exotic personality in "Dangerous To Know" her most recent Paramount picture, in which she is featured with Akim Tamiroff and Gail Patrick.

bob burns draws to a single queen

Latest Hollywood authority on feminine pulchritude is that sage of the Ozarks, Bob Burns.

At least, the natives of Arkansas think Burns is an expert on beauty for he has been selected to choose a queen and four maids from a collection of photographs for Arkansas State Agricultural College.

Burns judging the beauties between scenes of "Tropic Holiday" at Paramount admitted today he is somewhat at a loss on account of when he was a boy in Van Buren the best girl was the one who could throw a skillet the farthest!

edna heard scores hit with music

Edna Rosalyne Heard, talented Negro composer, scores a tremendous hit with her original score in "Aladdin", gala Oriental extravaganza, slated to open at the Federal Theater's Mayan show-house Friday night, March 11.

Miss Heard is reputed to be one of the only two women composers of her race on the West coast. Her musical career started at an early age. When she was nine her first musical score had been done; at 14 a gold medal was awarded to her by the Krigwa Art Guild of New York for a piano recital.

During the time that Miss Heard has been affiliated with the Federal Theaters, she has worked on many of their musical scores.

PRAISED

Words of commendation for the Federal Theaters and the work they are doing among the artists of all races, were voiced by Miss Heard as she urged attendance at Federal Theater productions.

"Were it not for this project many thousands of capable people would be unemployed. Among this number, there are many who are of my race," the composer stated.

Theater houses long dark and silent have echoed with the gaiety of comedy, and the tragedies of drama, since Federal Theaters began production several years ago, according to Miss Heard.

"Counselor at Law", poignant drama of a Jew who pulled himself from the depths of poverty to the heights of success, is the current attraction at the Mason Opera House. "Accent on Youth", a clever comedy, is slated to open there next Tuesday night.

LET'S 'LAFF'

Rastus, I understand that you have become the father of twins?

"Yassuh, Ah done called the fust one Allegro and Ah'm goin' to call the second one Encore.

"Musical names, all right but why do you want to call the second one Encore?"

"Well suh, you can see, he wasn't on the program at all."

Burglar: "Let's figure up and see how much we made on this haul."

His Pal: Shuck s, I'm tired. Let's wait and lokk in the morning papers."

Teacher: "Who was the world's smartest man?"

Pupil: "Thomas Edison, he invented the phonograph and rain so that people would stay up all night and use his electric light bulbs."

The Englishman over the long distance phone was having difficulty in making the operator understand that the name of the exchange was "Ealing."

"E—for 'erbert, A—wot 'orses eat, L—where yer goes when yer dies, I—for ingine, them things in front of traine, N—what lays eggs, G—for gar-boline. Now 'ave yer got it?"

claudette colbert rescued by police

Unintentional rough handling of a too-eager crowd of fans resulted in several hard bumps and bruises for Claudettt Colbert when she disembarked at Geona, Italy, according to word received today by friends of the star in Hollywood.

Miss Colbert, who left for Europe after completing "Bluebeard's Eighth Wift" opposite Gary Cooper at Paramount, was greeted by more than 300 wildly-cheering people when she reached Genoa aboard the Conte de Savoia.

By JOHN KINLOCH

1. "Big Broadcast of 1938".
2. "Every Day's a Holiday".
3. "Bad Man of Brimstone".

"Big Broadcast of 1938" brings back to the screen W. C. Fields, which would have been fine if it hadn't also returned some twenty or more others, each and every one of whom had to occupy the screen for the duration of five to ten minutes.

The picture begins hopefully with two big trans-Atlantic steamers about to start a trans-Atlantic race. One is owned by W. C. Fields, whose brother, W. C. Fields, has been in "every major catastrophe since the sinking of the Merrimac". The plot of course is to get brother Fields aboard the rival boat. However, W. C. mistakes and boards the family entrant--which he proceeds to wreck.

These scenes are sprightly, almost hilarious, but soon get double-crossed by as boring a set of specialties as we've ever witnessed. The entire central portion of the "Big Broadcast" is one vaudeville act after another. The bit by Mme. Kirsten Flagstadt, of the Metropolitan Opera Company, was too short and badly produced to mean very much.

Toward the end, however, the film somewhat recovers--with W. C. steering the huge liner through a checkerboard arrangement of ice-bergs.

OKAY, MAE!

For the past two or three pictures, Mae West fans have had to fight losing battles in her defense. But now that's all over, for "Every Day's a Holiday" is one of the funniest pictures of the year.

Functioning once more in that period which she is successful at satirizing--the Gay Nineties---, Miss West has surrounded herself with one of the best casts ever assembled for a one star film.

Possibly the success of "Holiday" is due to the fact that Miss West has allowed so many beside herself to display their histrionic talents. Time was when milady West ne're ceased to be attention-center throughout a whole script. Charles Butterworth and Winninger, Edmund Lowe, Herman Bing, Walter Catlett and Lloyd Nolan are all allowed their opportunities for scene-stealing, however, in this latest effort.

The story, what there is of it, concerns itself with getting Edmund Lowe elevated or degraded (chose your own verb) to the position of Mayor of New York City. Mae is campaign manager--or did you guess?

PERSONAL TOUCH

"The Bad Man of Brimstone" is Wallace Beery as you like him. A two-gun man sentimentalist who discovers his son to be the uprighteous young federal Marshall set on bringing law and order to Pine Hollow, Beery's difficulties in keeping the young man from being murdered and resisting the impulse of committing the homicide personally supply the sometimes amusing, sometimes dramatic foundation of the plot.

Conspicuous among the supporting cast is Bruce Cabot, who used to be the Clark Gable type (turtle-neck sweaters and all), but now is one of the screen's most competent villains. Virginia Bruce is wasted on the conventional heroine, and Lewis Stone is allowed to accomplish some pretty nifty histrionic nip-ups.

The "Bad Man" is really a big dose of hokum: but, then, who said we don't like hokum?

swing, song and sock featured in joe louis film at lincoln sunday

"Spirit of Youth", the Globe production starring Joe Louis which begins an engagement at the Lincoln theatre Sunday, is an unusual and interesting film based on the champion's own life story and with plenty of swing, song and sock to make it engrossing entertainment for everyone.

Diverging from the familiar pattern of touching only upon the championship phases of a fighter's life, "Spirit of Youth" begins from the leather-pusher's own boyhod, brought early to a close because of an untimely and serious accident to his father which cripples him for life. The boy, devoted to his mother and realizing the responsibilities of his dependent parents and young sister, leaves school for work. As a young man he leaves home and his schooldays sweetheart, Mary Bowdin, for points north. Working at a restaurant, with a trucking concern and sundry other jobs he takes up with one "Cricky" and, in defending him, knocks out a bully with one lethal blow. Cricky is sold on his pal's fistic ability.

From then on his career turns pugilistic. Through the help and instruction of one Frankie Walburn he wins the Golden Gloves and then goes in for professional work. There are complications in the form of Flora, a nightclub entertainer—who almost costs him his future. However, through her ultimate help and the love of his lifetime sweetheart, Mary, he comes through to win the championship and the girl of his heart.

elephant didn't forget lesson tho keeper did

Read this and weep— and blame it on RobertCummings.

The Paramount actor, currently in the Sylvia Sidney—George Raft picture "You and Me," claims that the other day the elephant performing with BingCrosby in "Doctor Rhythm" fumbled a dance step.

He was given a crack across the toes and sent back to the barns. Whereupon the keeper forgot the incident. But the elephant didn't.

That night the keeper looked out and saw the giant pachyderm skipping and swaying in the moonlight. He was practicing that dance step!

star reveals leg secret of screen girls

Hollywood girls have the prettiest legs on any women in the world because they wear flat heels a good part of the time.

This, at least, is the interesting theory advanced today by Franciska Gaal, who has had an opportunity to observe the ladies in most European capitals and hands the palm to Hollywood lassies.

"I first noticed the shapely limbs of the extra girls doing a pirate sword dance while I was working in "The Buccaneer," says the petite Hungarian. "They were not regular chorus girls, noted for their pretty legs, but girls chosen at random from the rank and file of extras because they represented an assortment of nationalities. Later I talked to extra girls in 'Romance in the Dark' and almost without exception they told me that they wear flat heels for tennis, walking and just for relaxation.

"The fashionable women of Europe wear high heels almost constantly, which I believe accounts for the fact that a great many of them have unattractive legs afttr 35. High heels slim the ankles but bunch the muscles in the calf of the leg, which results in knotty and unsighty calves, a muscle-bound effect, in time. Hollywood girls avoid that by relaxing the leg muscles in flat rumor rift in jo baker's 3rd marriage

NEW YORK CITY, (ANP)—Rumors persisted this week in theatrical circles that Josephine Baker, the "darling of Paris" and longtime star of the Follies Bergere, and her recently acquired third husband, Jean Lyons, wealthy importer, had about reached a parting of the ways.

Miss Baker's previous husbands: Billy Baker, Chicago waiter and an Italian count, the latter divorced in 1935.

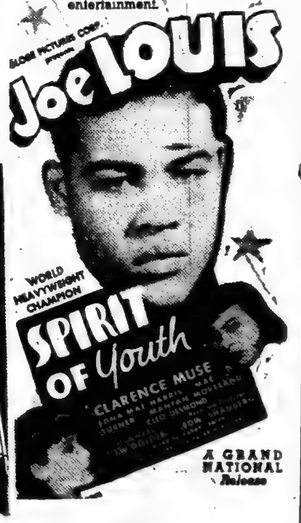
HOUSTON ZETAS CELEBRATE

HOUSTON, Tex., Mar. 10.—The Lambda Zeta Phi Beta began the week of Finer Womanhood with a program at the Houston College for Negroes last Tuesday.



After greetings to the Greeks by Soror Hazel Lewis, singing of the Negro national anthem by the audience and devotion by Soror Mabel Ewell, Soror Eula Mae Cotton gave the occasion. A piano solo by Soror Geraldine Evans was followed by the introduction of the speaker, Soror Minnie Sasser, by Soror Lullolin Harrison. Soror Claudie Hunter sang a solo. The program ended with the Sorority song.

should negro film heads be branded as "stooges" of white capitalists?

By Harry Levette for ANP

HOLLYWOOD. — History is made rapidly, and time, modern time, gallops instead of "marches" on. Thus with all-colored cast pictures. Five short months ago there had been no modern up-to-date all-colored cast pictures made by a company with sound backing and a permanent program of continual production laid out. But now not only have such organizations become an accepted fact but are undergoing the fate of all pioneering ventures, the attacks of adverse criticism.

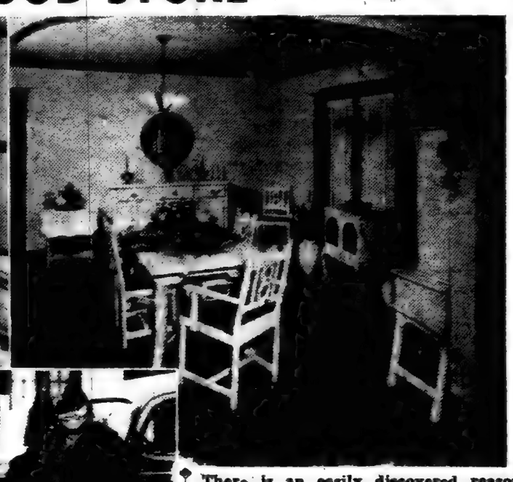
The first of these flights of barbs came from the Negro heads of an interracial company which had released its first picture with great success, but they now turned against the white backers with whom they gladly joined hands at the start and have released articles condemning such set-ups.

The picture in question was "Harlem on the Prairie", supervised by Maceo Sheffield, former Lieutenant of Detectives, will experienced in theatrical and other promotons and rated as one of Los Angeles' most astute business men. Says Sheffield in a local publication last week: "Every Negro connected with the production of socalled all-Negro motion picture companies is no more than a stooge fronting for whites for whom the bulk of the profit goes."

But due to the fact that the complainant admits that he originated the idea and then sought the white capital instead of offering the proposition to Negroes as he suggests now, it seems that he has merely become disillusioned as to the actual financial returns he would personally receve. This must be due to his failure to draw up the kind of contract that would have fared better for him. Hence "white capital", as he calls it, cannot be held to blame since it allowed itself to be enlisted purely from the natural business standpoints under which it was used to working.

CAN'T STAND ALONE

Every Negro, well informed on Negro business affairs, knows and will admit that a large percentage of Negro firms throughout the country ether started by securing the use of white capital or by enlisting the silent or active partnership of white capitalists, however, large or small. They must also admit, and many know from actual experence, that it is a very hard matter to interest Negroes of even large means in investments which do not on the surface hold out the tempting aspect of quick returns. That is why it is much easier to secure the use or investment in a night club or cocktail lounge, than in a department store like the Jones Bros., in Chicago, the Golden State Insurance Co., Driver Bros. Cleaning plant, or the Liberty Loan Company here.



FAILED

Negroes had the same opportunity to pioneer in the motion picture business as the Jews did whose busines foresight and marshalling of the powers of capital have given them a controlling interest in the motion picture industry. Oscar Micheaux has been filming silen tpictures for years but it is doubtful if during all that time he has been able to commandeur enough purely Negro capital to finance even one. Bill Foster, who is said to have started the first picture company in Chicago years ago ever to feature all-colored casts for Negro life stories, came here in 1929 and attempted to sell stock enough to open up an incorporated company for film production. Needless to say, he was not able to do so, yet hundreds of gullible colored motion picture extras who could ill afford it paid several thousand dollars in at $10 per share to a couple of white grafters who sold them the idea of a cooperative company. Of course they are still waiting for the "shoestring magnates" to return from Washington with the corporation papers.

The sum-up of the matter is that Negro promoters in the movie or any other business should continue to welcome the vitalizing fluid of white capital, as otherwise benefits accruing from these ventures might never be attained by the group at large. Nor should they hold the same backers to blame if they do not protect their own ideas and the results of their work on the proposition.

HOME OF FAMOUS MOVIE STAR FURNISHED BY POPULAR NEIGHBORHOOD STORE

One of the most beautiful homes recently furnished by the GOLD FURNITURE COMPANY is the luxurious abode of the popular movie star, HATTIE McDANIELS, scenes of which are shown in the illustration above, along with this great movie favorite. Miss McDaniels rates number one box office and has been prominently mentioned for the role of "Mammy" in the coming production, "Gone With the Wind". Local theatre managers report that Hattie McDaniels' presence in a picture is a guarantee of full houses and enthusiastic audiences. A visit to the Gold Furniture Company's beautiful store in our community at Washington boulevard and Central avenue, can be favorably compared to a visit through the Furniture Mart during Market Week, according to several prominent local residents who have recently modernized and refurnished their homes at this popular store. There is one noticeable difference, however, that is pointed out by every one of these people, and that is the friendly atmosphere and sincere desire to cooperate shown at all times by the competent salespeople and management of the Gold Furniture Company.

There is an easily discovered reason for this pleasant condition, because it is a natural one, well known to all local patrons of Gold's. For twenty years the Gold Furniture company has devoted its entire efforts to serving the people of this community with the newest designs and styles in well-built furniture bought in quantities that save money and these savings are always passed on to the purchaser. Right now the handsome display rooms of the Gold Furniture company are filled with lovely new selections for the 1938 season. Unusual advantageous purchases of refrigerators, ranges and washing machines at substantial reductions for cash are also arousing great interest among local residents, as these savings are also being given to the buyers with the additional advantages of regular term payments.

Jazzbo Williams and George Cooper, newly arrived from New York for a film engagement, will top the classy vaudeville bill at the Tivoli theatre tonight postponed from last Thursday on account of disruption of the city lighting system by the flood.

Neva Peoples, who plays the excellent role of "Ella" in the recently finished Million Dollar studio musical, "The Duke is Tops", has also been secured for a feast of song and dance such as she can really serve. Marie Dickerson, widely known entertainer, recently of the Cotton Club, will render latest hits; while Jewell Nelson, Mamie Smith's blue note successor; Sam Montgomery, crack dancer; and Lew Crawford, well known dance director, as guest master of certmonies, complete the bill.

Among the notable guest artists will be Libby Taylor, who was sent for by the celebrated Mae West to rejoin her here, both as a companion and to play featured parts in her glamorous plays. Libby's first picture wth Miss West was "I'm No Angel". Following an introducton tonight she will give an impersonation of Mae next week. Nellie Lutcher, will act as accompanist as well as singing in her stirring manner.

A splendid new bill of features, comedies, news-reels and cartoons, as usual, will be on the fare.

girl soprano praised at loop recital

CHICAGO. (ANP)—Cathrine Van Buren, young lyric soprano, won the praise of critics last Sunday at her first downtown recital, presented at the Woman's Club Theatre, sponsored by Celia Parker Woolley committee on race relations.

Of her singing ability, Music Critic Cecil Smith of the Chicago Trbune commented, "Miss Van Buren is relatively new to the concert stage, for she was quite recently graduated from Oberlin College, where she received her musical and vocal training . . . Her light voice is unusually pure and clear and combines sweetness of timbre with an agreeable suggestion of tang and bite. . . Her tone is almost always a delight to hear."

Love". It's hibernating season for the alligators, which go to sleep in October and snooze uninterruptedly through March, so the trainers' problem is to keep them awake.

Live steam is piped into the pools from the studio boiler room. As soon as the water temperature is raised, the cold-blooded 'gators awaken, deluded by the surrounding warmth into the belief that spring has come. A battery of huge sun arcs also is being trained on the pools at intervals to heighten the illusion by supplying a blazing sun.

mardi gras grips new orleans

NEW ORLEANS. (By Leon Lewis for ANP) — King Zulu arrived again as thousands flocked to New Orleans for the Mardi Gras celebration, climaxing the most colorful Mardi Gras that New Orleans has seen. Thousands and thousands of persons old and young, stood on paper littered streets to watch King Zulu, his attendants, and aids parade in African attire.

Leopold Le Blanc, resembling one of the tribal chieftans of the Dark Continent was applauded generously as he and his train of followers paraded through the varous sections of town stopping off at taverns, cafes, and other places where Negroes and whites were gathered to celebrate the arrival of King Zulu.

Music, laughter, dancing and everything that is colorful and gay, kept New Orleans gripped in the spirit of fun throughout the day.

Every conceivable place was crowded to capacity. Welcome was the pass-word for entrance into all places of business and pleasure. Throughout the night, until the wee hours of the morning, night spots were going in full blast.

TRAFFIC STOPS

The Mardi Gras and its participants held the reins of the city for more than seventy-two hours. Urban transportation was rerouted. Traffic gave away to parades and spectators were clad in costumes ranging from those of hobos to crown prince. All types of sounds from all kinds of horns and noise makers could be heard throughout the city. The very atmosphere made you feel that you were in the midst of an international carnival in which every nation, tribe, sect and class of individual on the face of the globe was taking part.

Cafes and refreshment places were allowed to extend their services to the edge of the curb so that passers-by might get cool drinks or a hamburger.

The Mardi Gras is always a thrilling spectacle in which every grown up and child takes an active part, and it is a part of New Orleans—an annual feature to which hundreds of people from other states look forward to coming each year.

college choir succeeds

GREENSBORO, N. C. (ANP) —At the invitation of Mr. Geo. M. Thompson, director of music at the Women's College of the University of North Carolina, the Bennett College choir under the baton of Dr. R. Nathanel Dett, sang at the chapel exercises before an audience of 2,000 students.

The Bennett Choir is making itself felt in the musical life of Greensboro and has been invited to inaugurate a series of musicals for the Greensboro Art Center.

foto devoted 14 pages to negro photos

NEW YORK. (ANP) — The greatest number of pages that any general magazine has ever devoted to Negro personalities in the United States appears in the April isue of FOTO, national picture monthly, on newsstands throughout the country on March 10. Fourteen pages numbering over 50 pictures cover such varied topics as a rent party in Harlem, the career of Father Divine, the Big Apple, a baptism down south, the most famous shoeshine boy in the U. S. and the congregation of Negro Jews in New York City.

display artists' work at university of chicago

CHICAGO. (ANP)—Attracting considerable attention in local art circles, several paintings of Negro artists last week were put on exhibtion in the Ida Noyes Hall, University of Chicago campus, the exhibit being sponsored by the Committee Against Negro Discrimination of the University, a Chapter of the American Student Union.

Termed "The Negro in American Culture", the presentation includes canvasses by Margaret Taylor, Charles White, Eliger Cortor, Bernard Goss, Yessain, Charles Davis, George Neal and Joseph Kersey.

ON THE AIR

By Sallye Bell

If you heard "Interesting Neighbors" last Sunday, you know now that a real Creole is not a "person of color" as has been generally assumed. The program was broadcast last Sunday from New Orleans, where the Mardi Gras was beginning, and a real Creole who lived in one of the most historic houses was interviewed; he took the occasion to enlighten the nation as to the real origin of a Creole. He defined Creoles as those who came from the European continent and settled in New Orleans before Spain ceded the Louisiana territory to France. Creoles, then, are a combination of "American" Europeans and French. It was explained, further that the Creoles had a habit of referring to their possessions as "Creole" viz., their "mammys" were called "Creole Mammys" and the language they spoke was called "Creole dialect". And that my friends, is how people came to think Creoles were colored people.

I hope you have been busy with your fan mail campaign for Etta Moten, new star of "Cabin at the Crossroads." You will be interested to know too that the Sammy Williams and his Rhythm Rascals you hear on the same program is the same lad who once played the organ at the Regal theatre on Chicago' South Parkway, so you might mention him in your letter of appreciation to the National Broadcasting Co., Chicago, while you're praising Miss Moten's work.

The "Moon Glow Girls" a trio of LeMoyne graduates and students—Misses Annie Westbrooks, Martha Horne, and Eloise Doggett—have been on the air over one of the "Bluff City's" leading broadcasting statons for the past several months, and are enthusiastically praised by white and colored alike. (Here's an opportunity for you "Bluff City" fans to get in some "extra curricula" fan mail.)

From Augusta we learn that the Saturday services of the daily religinus program broadcast through the local station are conducted by Negro ministers and their choirs.

Here 'n' There . . . Noble Sissle has concocted a "musical cavalvade" named "The Chillun of Old Black Joe," which is supposed to be his first writing for the stage since he and Lew Payton turned out the "The Chocolate Dandies in 1924" . . Hailing from New York we hear loud applause for the Oleanders, well known radio and stage quartett of two tenors and two bass . . . Lincoln U. History Week inspired Mr. Lloyd Hughes of California to make a radio address from Jefferson City on "The Negro in Mexico" . . . WGN will make an exclusive broadcast of the blow-by-blow description of all the final Chicago Tribune Golden Glove boxing tournament bouts . . . The signing off of the Tuskegee Institute Choir certainly will leave a gap in our Sundays: here's hoping they don't take too long returning . . . This is the end of the line, folks, until next week. So, goodbye, please!

outdoor films gain favor of movie makers

Hollywood he-men are coming into their own this spring as the kaleidoscopic motion picture cycle swings around to outdoor entertainment.

With the return of good weather, every major studio is assembling its brawniest actors for the greatest array of outdoor epics in a decade.

The success of such virile dramas as Paramount's "Wells Fargo" and "The Buccaneer", and Metro's "Bad Man of Brimstone" undoubtedly is giving impetus to the program, but looming large in the new plans is Hollywood's realization that America likes its Grand Open Spaces.

Paramount has "The Texans" in preliminary work on location in Texas at the huge LaMota cattle ranch, 100 miles from San Antonio. The cast includes Randolph Scott, Joan Bennett, May Robson, Robert Cummings, Raymond Hatton, Robert Barrat, a host of expert riders—and 2000 head of cattle! James Hogan is directing.

Another he-man epic will be "Spawn of the North", a story based on the salmon fishing industry, that Paramount will place in producton during the early part of March. The cast will be headed by George Raft, Georges Rigaud, Akim Tamiroff and John Barrymore.

Fifteen reels of the Alaskan salmon run already have been filmed in Ketchikan archipelago for the picture. Director Henry Hathaway expects to resume work as son as Raft finishes his role in "You and Me", with Sylvia Sidney.

"Men With Wings". Paramount's epic air picture, has not gone into actual production, but preliminary shots are being made daily at local airports with a score of veteran pilots, most of them for cloud effects.

TRINITY LAUNCHES 'BETTER BAPTIST CHURCHES' PROGRAM

25 Elective Officials Organize Promotion Committee

Twenty-five elective officials of the Trinity Baptist church, West 36th and Normandie streets, met Monday night with Dr. J. L. Caston, pastor of the church to begin what is known as a "Better Baptist Churches Advance Program" by organizing themselves into a promotion committee under the name of "Trinity's Advance Committee."

The program which is of seven weeks duration will begin Sunday, March 20, with "Better Church School Sunday. Others will follow in tht order named: Better Members Sunday, Better Homes Sunday, Better Church Sunday, Better Giving Sunday, Witnessing Sunday, Declaration Sunday, and Victory Sunday.

DAILY FEATURES

During the seven weeks' drive, special week-day features will be: Fireside prayer meetings initiated by the young people with fireside prayer service at the church on Monday evening, March 21. During the rest of the week, fifty homes of the church will hold nightly fireside prayer and the respective homes will be open throughout the day with a prayer altar for the passer-by. A two weeks study course on "Better Baptist Churches" will follow with the pastor as instructor; the fourth week Holy Week services will be held. The drive will also include visitation enlistment to underwrite the church's annual budgets for current expense and missions. The program will be concluded by a preaching mission—"the old time protracted meeting" by one of America's greatest preachers whose name will be announced later. During the period, a beautiful worship service will be presented for Easter augmented by a cantata by the choir.

COMMITTEE HEADS NAMED

Sub-committees were appointed and approved to carry out the work as follows: Christian Education, Rev. Maynard Turner; Every Member Canvass, Amos Hoard; and Evangelistic, Rev. S. H. Jennings. The young people under Rev. Sylvester Kelly are responsible for "Better Members Sunday"; the women headed by Mrs. Florence Tucker for "Better Homes Sunday"; and the men "Better Church Sunday." All persons of every denomination are invited and urged to participate in every meeting.

Rev. E. W. Rakestraw will preach from the subject, "A Peculiar People" Sunday morning at the Wesley M. E. Church, 8th and San Julian Streets. At three in the afternoon, Hamilton and Wesley churches will present the Samuel Houston College Singers of Austin, Texas who are known throughout the Southwest for their splendid renditions. There will be no admission charge. In the evening, Rev. Rakestraw will speak on "The Power and Form of Godliness".

Rev. J. A. H. Eldridge, pastor of McCoy Memorial Baptist church, spoke to his congregation Sunday on "The Attitude of the Church towards the Lost" Rev. Eldridge is conducting a Wednesday night Bib' training school at eight o'clock and welcomes all church folk. On Monday night, March 14, the Silver Bells Quartet will be presented in a recital in the church auditorium. A silver offering will be asked.

Ward Chapel AME church, 1250 East 25th street, will hold Quarterly meeting services Sunday with the presiding elder, Rev. A. C. Harris preaching the quarterly sermon. The Silver Tone uartet will sing at Ward Chapel Tuesday evening, March 15, at eight o'clock.

The Seventh Day Adventist Church at 40th Place and Wadsworth Ave., invites all to hear Pastor Rodgers Sunday night at 8 p. m., when he speaks on the subject: "A world dictator to lead twenty million men in battle". Not a pleasant picture but it's the truest picture ever presented and will be illustrated by the use of screen views seldom shown anywhere. Sabbath (Saturday) Sabbath school at 9:30 a. m., and at 11 a. m., a special young people's service in which "The Challenge of Modern Youth" will be considered. The Adventist church grows every week, and with its vast army of young men and young women is faced with a great challenge from its young people.

The pastor, Rev. S. M. Beane, Hamilton M. E. Church, East 18th St. and Naomi Ave., will deliver a sermon at the 11 A. M. hour from the subject "The Sense of the Vital".

At the 7:30 hour the Maids and Matron's Guild will have a unique program. Anniversary week begins on Sunday March 20th, and will conclude on March 27th with the Anniversary sermon by Bshop W. C. Brown. Services will be held each night during the week, with different pastors speaking and their choirs singing.

The annual Homecoming Day at the People's Independent Church of Christ, 18th and Paloma Streets which waspostponed last Sunday because of the uncertainty of the pastor's, Rev. Clayton D. Russell, return, will be celebrated Sunday, March 13.

Despite flood conditions, Rev. Russell arrived in time to fill his pulpit last Sunday and was welcomed by a capacity congregation. He announced this week that all members and former members of the church are expected to be present next Sunday for the elaborate festivities throughout the day. The young prelate will continue his last Sunday's subject, "The Kingdom of God on Earth."

The Vesper Octette and Treble Choir of fifty voices will be presented in concert entitled "The Awakening of Spring" at the Second Baptist Church on Tuesday evening, March 22 at 8:15 under the direction of Mrs. Anna Griffith Morrow.

The Missionary Society of the First AME church, Pasadena, gavt a colonial tea at the home of Mrs. W. H. Randolph, 353 N. Vernon avenue. Quaint gowns were worn by the members with the president, Mrs. W. Kinchlow representing Martha Washington.

FRATERNAL COUNCIL OF CHURCHES MEETS

WASHINGTON, D. C. Mar. 10 (ANP)—The Program Committee of the Fraternal Council of Negro Churches met Monday at the Vermont Avenue Baptist Church and outlined an excellent program for the annual session to be held in this city May 11 to 13th.

According to Dr. W. H. Jernagin, president, the general theme of the coming session will be "The World Conditions, a challange to interdenominational co operation." He said the churchmen and professional men and women plan to discuss every phase of Negro national and church life in both this and other countries, including civic, political, social, business and religious problems.

'Substance' to Be Christian Science Subject Sunday

"My God shall supply all your needs according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus." These words of Paul to the Phillippians are the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "Substance" on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

A Scriptural citation presents these verses about Jesus from Luke: "And he said unto his disciples, Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat; neither for the body, what ye shall put on . . . Consider the lilies how they grow: they toil not, they spin not; and yet I say unto you, that Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these. If then God so clothe the grass, which is today in the field, and tomorrow is cast into the oven; how much more will he clothe you, O ye of little faith? . . . . Fear not, litle flock; for it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom."

One of the passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, states: "In the scientific relation of God to man, we find that whatever blesses one blesses all, as Jesus showed with the loaves and the fishes,—Spirit, not matter, being the source of supply."

ZION TEMPLE NEWS

In spite of rainy weather, the choir under the direction of Mr. Gilbert Allen, talented director, is making marked improvement. He is still open for auditions to augment the organization.

Bshop Sara L. Butler, pastor preached a wonderful sermon on "LIGHT" last Sunday night, a sermon which will be long remembered by all who heard it. The program for next Sunday will be as follows:

Sunday School at 9:45; special classes for adults. Bring or send your children. Morning church service begins promptly at 11 o'clock Topic for lecture by pastor, "Be Not Afraid".

Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5:30 p. m., reception for Paul Quinn, Soul Stirrers, Silvertone and Mayfield quartettes. At 7 p. m., open forum; topic for discussion, "The Creative Powers of the Mind". Night services begin at 8 p. m. Topic for lecture by pastor, "The Uplifting Power of Truth". Meditation thought for the week, "He giveth power to the faint, and to them who have no might, He giveth strength; wait upon the Lord". Special healing and prosperity service at close of lecture. The public is cordially invited to attend these services at the Temple, 1315 East Vernon avneue.

Quartettes In "Jubilee" At Zion Temple

The MAYFIELD QUARTETTE, youthful proteges of Mr. Floyd Covington, will hold a reception for the Paul Quinn, Soul Stirrers, and Silvertone quartettes at Zion Temple, 1315 E. Vernon Avenue, this coming Sunday afternoon, from 3 to 5:30. Each of these well-known organizations has promised to render one or two favorite selections during this programme. All music lovers are urged to attend and show their appreciation for the warbling genius of these outstanding young men. Silver offering expected. This reception is being sponsored by the Junor Sick Committee of Zion Temple, Eddie Grace Fisher, chairman, Misses Daisy Williams, and Ruth Jones, advisers.

Morning View Charity

The MORNING VIEW CHARITY Club held its first meeting of the month at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Williams, 1021 E. 49th Street on March 3. Following the business session, Rev. B.J. Franklin taught an inspiring lesson on "Love" from 1 Cor. 13.

Taking advantage of the colorful date, St. Patrick's day, the club will present the Five Soul Stirrers and Paul uinn Quartet in a musical festival Thursday evening, March 17, at the Armenian church, 28th and Paloma.

The next meeting of the club will be held March 15 at the home of Mrs. Treadwell, 845 East 28th street. U. S. Booker is president.

YOUNG PEOPLE TO PRESENT DR. MAYBERY FRIDAY

The young people of the Los Angeles District Association meeting at the St. Paul Baptist Church, 23rd and Naomi Streets, will present as their principal speaker, Friday evening, Dr. Ralph Mayberry, newly-appointed secretary to the Baptist City Mission Society. Dr. Mayberry is widely-known in church circles both by young and old.

The committee in charge of the program is headed by Miss Elizabeth Hampton and Rev. Thurston Lomax. An added attraction will be the rendition of two selections by the young people's choir of Trinity, St. Paul, Mt. ion and Zion Hill Baptist Churches.

St. Paul Baptist Church 21st and Naomi S. A. Williams, Pastor

Sunday, at the eleven o'clock hour, Pastor S. A. Williams in his own inimitable manner brought a soul stirring message to a capacity audience from the subject "Shine Out Your Light". The message was intensely interesting, spiritually charged and far reaching in its effect, being demonstratively delivered. There were six accessions at the close of the service.

At 8 p. m. a song festival led by Mrs. Hutchins, nationally known gospel singer, was held. Everyone enjoyed the beautiful songs of praise that were sung. Everyone is invited to attend the Bible Study Movement each Wednesday evening at 8 p. m. If you are interested in increasing your knowledge of the sacred scripture we are certain that you will enjoy these great lessons that are being taught by Pastor Williams. Attend the Missionary movement each Thursday afternoon at 2 p. m.

ARTIST'S GIFT TO SANTA BARBARA CHURCH—The above painting is the work of Mrs. Lila Tuckerman, which was presented to the St. Paul African Methodist Episcopal church of Santa Barbara, in impressive unveiling ceremonies attended by leading churchmen of Southern California. Mrs. Tuckerman created the work in memory of her childhood nurse and the nurse of her own children, Mary Jane Robinson. Mrs. Ralph King, wife of the pastor, and other members of the St. Paul congregation, posed for the painting. — Picture, courtesy, The Santa Barbara News-Press, thru The Western Recorder.

CME Bishops', Connectional Councils Draw Many Leaders

JACKSON, Ten., March 10. (By C. E. Chapman for ANP)—This city, birthplace of colored methodism 68 years ago and long its mecca, was the center of attraction for two days, Wednesday and Thursday, when all of the eight active bishops of the Colored Methodist Episcopal church, all the 10 general officers except one, and many outstanding clergymen and laymen of the 41 annual conferences, gathered for the final session of the Bishops' council prior to the quadrennial session of the General Conference, and the Ministers and Laymen's General Connectional Council of the denomination.

An attraction was the ascendancy to the seniority of the Bench of Bishops by Bishop Charles H. Phillips, resident bishop of Cleveland, and head of the First Episcopal district, embracing Ohio, California, Kentucky and Indiana. He came to the seniority after the recent death of Bishop Elias Cottrell.

The opening sermon was delivered by Bishop Henry P. Porter of the Seventh district in huge auditorium of the CME publishing house where the sessions were held. He declared, "The world has heard much of our 'love' from the pulpit, on the pew in the church on Sundays, but the world rather is most interested in seeing our sermons other days as we walk the streets and have contact without fellowmen in daily life." The address to the church from the College of Bishops at the council was prepared and delivered by Bishop Phillips.

Texas Prelate Ends Sojourn in Pasadena Next Sunday

The Revs. Mr. Timothy M. Chambers, pastor of the famous institutionalized Good Street Baptist Church, Dallas, Texas, will close his sojourn in Pasadena Sunday evening where he has been conducting a two-week revival at the Metropolitan Baptist church where Aev. P. Cornelius is pastor.

The Rev. Chambers came to the Southland to visit his older sister, Mrs. Espran Martin, who has been ill for some time. His engagement by the Metropolitan pastor was incidental, but so successful that he was persuaded to continue. During his stay, he visited in Los Angeles and was entertained at a luncheon Friday together with the Rev. Mr. T. L. Griffith, pastor of Second Baptist church, by his niece, Mrs. Odessa Harris-Floyd in East 55th street.

Keep Limit On AME Delegates

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Mar 10 (ANP)—The Bishops Council voted unanimously at its meeting here last week to retain the limit imposed upon delegates to the general conference. This was one of the most vigorously contested actions of the council. Conferences such as New York, Baltimore and Chicago and Philadelphia, which in the past have had from 12 to 16 delegates will now have but 6. The result is certain to be great competition within the conferences for places as delegates.

The bishops are said to feel that this restrictive move on delegates will make for a better conference, first by decreasing its size and makng it less unwieldly; and second by improving the calibre and quality o delegates.

The council decided to take the lead in the matter of merging the various Methodist branches. Invitations to discuss the merger of the various colored Methodist bodies are to be extended to the C. M. E., the A. M. E. Zion and the colored branch of the Methodist Episcopal Church. These various groups are to be asked to meet with the next Bishop's Council at Kittrel College, Kittrel, N. C.

FLOOD STORY—

prietors, located ten miles outside of Victorville, was not damaged. The most elaborate resort owned by Negroes in Southern California, the Murray Ranch, and other unmolested places were opened to rescue workers of the Red Cross and the Salvation Army.

In Riverside, where the storm hit hardest, only one Negro family, the Borders of West Riverside, suffered real effects. They were driven from their home because of rising waters.

O. L. Harris of that city reported the lost of ten small pigs.

General discomfort was suffered in San Bernardino, located between mountain ranges that increased the downpour on the town.

Three families, the Howes, Evans and Humphreys, living outside the section most thickly occupied by Negroes, fled their homes during the rise of the water.

LOS ANGELES FARES WELL

In Los Angeles, the Eastside housing the major portion of Southern California's Negro population, went undamaged. With the exception of gutters at Vernon and Slauson avenues, which filled-up to the hub caps of automobiles, the drainage system carried the eddying water off as it poured down. Taxicabs did a record business to street car lines and there was a run on the merchants' stocks of candles as lights were intermittently shut off.

In Watts, where a notoriously bad drainage system, turns the town into a miniature Venice whenever it rains, discomfort from leaky roofs and isolation because of flooded streets, was reported. No family was known to have evicted premises because of flooding.

Thanks to a highly efficient, newly installed drainage system, Central Avenue Gardens, a tract just north of Watts, reported little discomfort.

The Temple street district, West Jefferson and Boyle Heights housing the remainder of Los Angeles' Negro colony, fared equally as well.

MUSE TURNS ENGINEER

Clarence Muse, movie actor, turned engineer during the downpour. As his house is situated on a hill, leaving it high and as dry as could be expected, the Muse family suffered no ill effects; however, not so the folks next door, the pioneer Robinson family.

Situated below the Muse home on the lower side of the hill, the Robinson home was threatened with complete inundation by the pelting waters. Muse and his valet, Gus Roberts, called by Mrs. Robinson, whose aged mother was in the house, cut a tunnel under the cement walk that acted as a drain and saved the family from eviction.

Muse, himself, told reporters that he drove eighty miles on Friday to Palm Springs where he maintains a ranch home, to ascertain the safety of his caretaker.

On arriving, despite considerable danger caused by washed out roads, Muse was confronted by a caretaker who was complacent as to his own safety but anxious for the folks in Los Angeles.

Palm Springs, excepting that it was marooned because of broken telephone and telegraph wires and unpassable roads, was one of the safest places during the floods.

The fate of Negroes in this disaster is compared to similar occasions in which seldom was loss of life recorded and property damage above the minimum.

WRITER OBSERVES SCRAMBLE AMONG CURRENT MAGAZINES TO CORNER NEGRO CIRCULATION

Look, Life and Foto Lead Race for Negro Readers, Writer Reveals

By Almena Davis

The White Press has discovered that the Negro is literate.

And having discovered that we can read and possibly cipher a bit, there's no telling the lengths the Great Majority of this old United States is going in finding out things about us.

We're in a situation to have a lot of fun; that is if we have a sense of humor, are sufficiently cynical and don't become too grateful for this final awakening to our existence.

Now having discovered that we can read, it is suprising how integrated into the world about us we are likely to become. . .a part of the Great American Public that reads and listens to the radio and looks at the movies and buys. That is it, of course. The dollars that we spend are behind this discovery of our surprising virtues. It is only puzzling as to why, with all his Business Acumen and stuff, Brother White was so slow in this realization.

It is doubtful to which particular member of the White Press to give credit for the discovery of us and our astounding accomplishments. Possibly Time magazine, that caustically idealistic annotator of modern times, is most responsible. At least it was Time that first began to see the news value of the Negro doings, from which angle, oddity, humor or current events, I don't know. know.

At any rate it is interesting to watch the scramble now going on among the magazines for the choice kernel that is the Negro circulation. The most hectic battle is that being fought by "Life," Look," and "Foto", the picture magazines.

It was "Look" that started the ball rolling among these three, with a gruesome picture "spread" of the Duck Hill lynching. "Look" sold out that week in all Negro communities and since then, having followed this up with similar bait, has been a solid sender. "Life" then joined the race and has gone "Look" much better, with reams of smooth white paper devoted to dark doings in Harlem and like ghettos. They've photoed the nimble cavorting of the Lindy Hoppers at Harlem's Savoy Ballroom, and gone the other extreme in dark dissipation with shots of dicty Negroes at a social function down in Dallas, Texas.

Now comes "Foto" with the greatest number of pages any general magazine has yet devoted to Negro personalities, fourteen pages, ample and illustrative bait, in the April issue of the magazine,, on the newstands today, (March 10th). The fourteen pages include over fifty pictures of such varied topics as a Harlem House Rent party, the career of Father Divine, the Big Apple, a baptism down South, and the congregation of Black Jews in New York.

All of this, you can see, is pretty significant of the fact that advertisers are clamoring for the Negro trade and astute as the editors of the magazines mentioned are, thye know the only way to get it, is to present something of personal interest to the prospective customer.

As to how well this little intrigue is working, you have only to accept the partial survey made of the newstands on the Eastside as a fairly accurate indicator.

"Look" according to everyone of the newstand proprietors interviewed, is the best seller of all magazines, "True Story", western and movie magazines included. This is quite an indictment of the literary taste of whites on similar scales, who prefer "True Story" first, the two-gun western thriller next, movie magazines, third and "Look" and its like afterwards.

"Life", said the same proprietors, would outsell "Look" which averages 150 to a stand, were it not that each stand is allowed only a certain amount. At newstands all but five or ten are reserved by steady customers before the order arrives and by Friday night, publication day, there isn't one to be found.

This unique reservation of copies brings us to another observation, that possibly the reason the white editor failed to perceive the volume of Negro circulation sooner is because Negroes aren't subscribers. We are, without a doubt, a group of buyers on the installment plan, and the flat output of two dollars or five for fifty-two or twelve copies of a magazine all in the future, goes against the grain. Despite the savings of a percentage in paying in advance, we prefer tto spend the nickles each week, or the dime, or the twenty five cents a month. Editors of Negro newspapers, with advance subscription rates can attest to the truth of this statement.

acing Impressions Negro "Western" n Jesse Owens

Out at Santa Anita Saturday or the world's richest horse ace. Here is a racing plant hat is without doubt, perfecion in well ordered discipline, fficiency and location.

We had occasion to note particularly the way a great crowd f 65,000 souls was handled, he systematic way in which 0,000 automobiles were parkd — all without the confusion ustomarily attendant to such throng and large number of ars.

Located in as picturesque a etting that can be imagined anta Anita, besides offering he richest horse races, offers he scenery in just as rich a anner.

Those in the driver's seat are oing a good job, and no doubt, ill continue to draw to the readia plant the most highly rized thoroughbreds in the and.

viewed what is called first Negro "Western" film ecently at one of the avenue heatres. And by and large, he film had something and we lt that we were peeking thru keyhole at a wealth of enterainment possibilities in the aking. The truth of the matter is, we enjoyed more than me of the other so-called good" pictures we've seen.

Voices, like those of Herbert effries and the Four Tones nd Four Blackbirds, the vilainy of Maceo Sheffield, the omedy of Mantan and Moreand, all combined to make an nusual and very entertaining lm.

Jeffries' voice is being likened to that of Bing Crosby. It oes seem to have the same uality and is just as pleasing. heffield, an ex-copper seems o be a natural villain, handng a gun in the accepted way. Every Tub", as he used to be alled is very convincing. Manan and Moreland will probably be heard from many times ore.

One of the songs in the pic, Romance in the Rain", is rapidly being elevated to the lane of a hit.

Quote: "Jesse Owens' basketall crew drew a $75 gate here st week . . . and the auditom rental alone was $100.

Owens is making a bad under in taking his troupe ywhere except on the tank rcuit. Small-town yokels ill go for the act. Any city er $100,000 will ignore it.

"Even the San Francisco obs only went for $110 orth.

Unquote. Which reminds us the appearance of Joe Louis d his barn-storming Brown mbers softball team, here st summer. Wrigley Field asn't full by a long shot that ght, which seems to lend me truth to the statement at "any city over 100,000 will nore it.

Maybe Jesse will re-consider d change his published plans return in the summer with a ftball team. We understand ough that this is not likely.

About People We Know: One the better Sunday 15-minute oadcast programs is that of e Brown sisters. Their efforts ve a "finished" impression ... A pre-vue of the Joe Louis c, "Spirit of Youth", getting laugh from a theatre audice as the champion says a w lines. Which made us nk that this same audience y change its tune when it es the film in full. We hear s better than similar efforts . Something we would like see: A real find coming out the much-abused Negro our weekly airing . . .

Hello, Folks! I think I promised to give you-all a story this week, so here it is, entitled:

"Big Business On A Shoe-String".

It's long about the 24th day of March, 1939, and all the Colored business places on the Avenue is bustling around mightily, trying to get ready for the celebration of the first "Negro Dollar Day" ever held in America. Every colored person in Los Angeles is s'posed to spend One Dollar with some colored business man on the 26th, and all the shop-owners is hanging up flags, washing show-case windows, and cleaning up in general.

I'm easing around quietly, taking everything in, but saying nothing. You see I've done figured out a way to Get Well myself on the big sale day, but I'm working kinder under cover till I can get my plans all set. Of course I ain't got no shop or nothing to decorate, but I figure that I can polish up my old 1925 Dodge speed-wagon; and by doing some high-pressure advertising collect enough dirty clothes to keep me busy for several weeks. But my main hold-back, is trying to get hold of some feller to work with me, who ain't clever enough to steal my ideas and pull out and go for himself.

Well, as I strolled on down Central avenue I seen a broad-shouldered, husky looking, real black fellow step out of the Elk's bar and come towards me. He had on a wrinkled, checker-board sport-coat, baggy, dark trousers, number 12 shoes, and he walked para-toed. There was something about him that looked awful familiar to me, and when he got closer I recognized him.

"Well I be doggone! If it ain't old 'Dark Secret' I'll eat my hat", I hollers, slapping him on his big shoulders.

He stopped, looked at me real hard for a second, and his eyebrows started to moving up and down. I knowed for sure it was old "Secret" then, because his eye-brows always did start jumping whenever he was getting mad.

"Where'd you find out about my nickname: I don't know you, Joker", he growled.

Well I like to bust open trying to keep from laughing, but I knowed I better straighten him out right quick, cause he always did love to fight.

"Secret," I says to him: "You're just as dumb as you was twenty-five years ago, when me and you was trying to muscle through prep school at Howard University with One Book--a botany--between the two of us. This is the old Laundryman talking. You remember me now, don't you?"

Well, sir, Dark Secret like to shook my arm off after he woke up to who I was, You see me and him had hustled meals together, had flunked in the same classes, and had worked on the same steamboat out of New York the summer when he give himself the nickname of "Dark Secret" to stop the crew from calling him Snowball. His real name was Bud McAffe, but ever so often one of the fellows would call him Snowball, and then Secret would mop up the deck with him. But there was about one hundred and fifty of us in the crew, so Secret finally got tired of fighting six or seven times a day, on account of it interfering with his other work. So one evening he called all of us together and said:

These young people came out with signal honors in a national test, winning scholarships to a three-month course given by the International Workers Order to train leaders for the society. Front row: Mrs. Beatrice Logan, Pittsburgh, and McKelvin Senhouse, New York City. Back row, starting left: John Harmon, Houston, Texas, Peter Chaunt, director of the I. W. O. school, Allen Law, New York, and Kent Jackson, Philadelphia. (C. N. A. Photo)

Prominent Iowa Women Insulted in Dept. Store

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., March 10. (ANP)—A wave of resentment last week crystallized into a determined boycott by Negroes of the Killian Department store, following the action of store officials in discriminating against two women, Mrs. Rosa Johnson and Mrs. Julius Carlton, who went there to make some purchases.

Killan's is one of Cedar Rapids leading stores, enjoys a large Negro patronage, many having open accounts there, but employs no colored workers.

Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Carlton said that prior to making some purchases, they had told the salesgirl they desired to have a fitting, but were informed by her "We don't fit you people. If you know your size, you can make a purchase." Surprised, the women sought the floor manager, received the same information, than went to the credit manager who confirmed the statements of the other two employes.

Subsequenly the women directed a letter of protest to the store manager, but so far have received no reply in explanation of the discriminatory act. Meanwhile the boycott is being broadened, and there is a wholesale withdrawal of Negro patronage.

111 U. S. WAR VETERANS SUCCUMB EACH DAY

WASHINGTON, D. C.—One hundred and eleven survivors of the nation's wars who are living today will be dead tomorrow, according to estimates of the veterans' administration bureau.

Death is removing every day, an average of ninety veterans of the World War, fifteen of the Spanish-American War, five of the Civil War and one of the Indian Wars.

"Listen here, fellers, from now on all of you can call me the 'Dark Secret, Talk of the Ages'. But the next so and so that calls me anything else, I'm going to

LIBRARY BOOK NOTES

By MIRIAM MATTHEWS

A host of notable women from Cleopatra to Gertrude Stein have furnished the material for many recent biographies. Emil Ludwig, renowned biographer, heads the list with his "Cleopatra".

Becoming interested in her story while working on his biography of "The Nile", Mr. Ludwig has chosen to present a new version of Egypt's noted queen in his latest book. He sees her not as the enchantress of the Nile but as one of the most intelligent, powerful and determined characters of the ages. Even in the moment of death, Cleopatra remained undefeated, according to Mr. Ludwig, (and emerges from his skilled pen as the most brilliant and fascinating woman in history.

Honored by kings and queens, scientists and common people, rejecting wealth and trying in vain to turn aside fame, accomplishing scientific miracles and dedicating them to the welfare of humanity, outwitting blindness and more than once seeming to outwit death itself to carry on her work, yet remaining until her last day just as gentle, stubborn, timid and curious about all things as in the days of her obscure beginnigs--this is the picure Eve Curie paints of her famous mother in "Madame Curie", a splendid volume which will be remembered for its human qualities as well as for its illuminating pages on scientific research.

AMELIA EARHART

A self-portrait of a great flyer is contained in the pages of "Last Flight", by Amelia Earhart. In it she sumarizes briefly the most outstanding of her earlier flights as a background for her last flight which ended in disaster. The tone of the book is not heavy nor too sicentific for Miss Earhart shares with the eager reader, laughter, beauty, gay adventure and high courage. She reveals herself most completely in the following message: "Courage is the price that life exacts for granting peace. The soul that knows it not, knows no release from little things. . . "

In writing a personal narrative, "This Is My Story", Eleanor Roosevelt achieves a high degree of objectivity. The two-fold purpose of her autobiography as she states it is: " . . . to give a picture of the world in which I grew up . . . to give as truthful a picture as possible of a human being, showing the play of other personalities upon that person and perhaps of the influence on them of the period in which they lived." Although now First Lady of the Land, Mrs. Roosevelt has not found it necessary to gloss over any of the facts concerning herself or her family which she covers in a detailed fashion from her childhood to the early 1920's. Perhaps the chief charm of her book lies in its unconscious picture of its author's magnanimity, humor and understanding.

"Perhaps the most striking thing about "Everybody's Autobiography" is the fact that it is written by a person who is and admits she is happy," says one reviewer about Gertrude Stein for whom a new life really began after she was forty. In this new book she gives an account of her visit to the United States in 1934 after an absence of some thirty years from her native land with pithy comments on being received as a foreign celebrity. No doubt the account she gives of what happened on the trip is not everybody's account, but it is certainly what she remembers as having happened. Noted for her repetitive, rambling prose with its lack of normal punctuation, as well as for her epigrams, we quote from her newest book: "My writing is as clear as mud, but mud settles."

POLAND WANTS AFRICAN COLONIES

WARSAW, March 10—What's a slice of Africa between friends?

General Stanislas Skwarznski, Polish rightist leader, this week backed up Hitler's demand for the return of "Germany's African colonies" and intimated that Poland would also demand a share of the "white man's burden" in Africa. He advanced the reason of "over population".

PUTS HATIAN SLAIN AT 12,000

NEW YORK, March 10, (CNA) At least 12,000 workers have been killed in the border clashes between Hatians and Domonican troops, John W. Vandercook, author of "Black Majesty", a book on Haiti, declared here this week on returning from a visit to the West Indies.

THIS CHANGING WORLD

CANDIDATE FOR PITY

If figuring out your taxes seems somewhat difficult and troublesome, have a word of pity for the corner grocer or the other businessmen who will have to figure theirs under these provisions in tht new Federal tax bill:

"If the dividend credit is a percentage of the adjusted net income which is more than 55 and less than 71, the tax shall be a percentage of the adjusted net incomt equal to the sum of 9, plus three-eighths of the amount by which 71 exceeds the percentage which the dividend credit is of the adjusted net income.

"If the dividend credit is a percentage of the adjusted net income which is more than 71 and less than 86, the tax shall be a percentage of the adjusted net income equal to the sum of 9, plus one-third of the amount by which 86 exceeds the percentage which the dividend credit is of the adjusted net income."

If such things as the above were not of such a serious nature, it would have to be admitted that the author of these provisions should be entitled to the fur-trimmed bicycle.

WITH THE STAFF

By ROY PARKER
(From The Sunday Worker)

Since the displacement of Jesse Owens from Amatuer ranks the world's fastest human, Columbia University's Ben Johnson, pushed a pile of photographs off his bed, made himself comfortable and declared that "he gets a great kick out of running."

Holder of several world's records, twice unanimously elected captain of the Columbia track team, the short Negro speed demon gives spectators more than a "kick" when he blazes through the short distances.

Ben holds the hundred yard dash record jointly with Jesse Owens and Frank Wycoff. Recently he topped the world's mark for the 60 yard distance with a race of six seconds flat. What's more, he not only established a new record, but tied and broke the old one before doing his fastest time. A few days later he tied the 40 yard dash time of 4.4 seconds, and also lays claim to the 100 meters mark which was taken away from Jesse Owens.

Johnson started running way back when he attend high school in Plymouth, Pennsylvania, and now, in his senior year at Columbia, he doesn't know when he'll stop.

"There's no telling what I'll do when the term is over", he said, gazing fondly around at the various tokens of his years at college which litter up his room in Hartley Hall. Ben plans to go into journalism, preferably advertising, and may take a post-graduate course at the Pulitzer School of Journalism.

No matter what he does, there will be no more running in a Columbia uniform after this year for the lad who appears to spectators as little more than a streak when he goes into action. Three years is all they allow a varsity man. If Johnson continues to run the New York Curb Exchange will be his next almamater.

Life is no bed of roses for athletes, Ben said, glancing ruefully at an open text-book. But being in training helps keep his marks up to the high level at which they've been ever since he started grade school. There's no running around at night so all the studying gets more than done.

"A broad education is helpful to any man, and everyone who gets a chance to go to college, providing he is capable of making the grade, shouldn't give up the chance if he can help it," he declared.

Being on the track team has given me a chance to broaden my education vastly, he declared emphatically. "Last summer we toured Europe and even just getting some of the spirit of competition helps a lot."

He smiled embarrassedly when asked to disclose the way he felt about being known as the "fastest human in the world."

"I don't know—I guess you might say that it's nice to know that you've accomplished something. I guess my mother and friends back in Plymouth are proudest of all. Mother is my most loyal rooter." So are thousands of enthusiastic track fans.

Johnson hasn't had an easy time. His father died when he was young, leaving his mother to take care of Ben. She looked after the small trucking business which his father had carried on in the small Pennsylvania mining town and scraped up enough to send Ben to college.

He can't tell you how he does it if you want to know the secret of that amazing speed.

"I just run", he explained. "I don't think of anything but the business at hand, and try to get up to top speed as fast as possible".

Speed isn't the word for what Johnson gets up to. Ask the stop watches he's bucked. His close friends expect him to hold every record from the 40 yards to the 220 before he leaves Columbia.

In addition to breaking all these records and keeping up in his studdies, Johnson also does his bit towards earning his college education. Waiting on tables at the Faculty Club helps somewhat. Last year Ben had an N. Y. A. job.

He likes running. And he thinks everyone should go out for athletics.

Ben hasn't met up with any discrimination because of his color while at Columbia or in any of the track meets he's been in.

"A man should be judged by his ability, not anything else," he declared quietly.

The same slim youngster who thrilled thousands with his speed at the Millrose Games in Madison Square Garden, in Boston, again in New York and abroad, looked at his watch and then followed the example set by a friend of his in the room . . . dug into his studies.

* * * *

It's a hard thing for the white man, even the so-called liberal, to get away from segregation of things black from things white. In reading the liberal newspapers, the Sunday Worker, in particular, we were struck by the inclusion of news of Negro athletes, the almost pointed inclusion, it seems to me.

However, a second glance shows that there is still the old segregation. News of Negro athletes is written in one column, under a separate head, "With the Negro Athletes".

If you get what we mean, whites don't know how to get away from segregation. Even in their efforts to be equitable, they make such a definite division as to contradict their claims to brotherly love, and no difference.

The following are excerpts from "With the Negro Athletes", writen by one Bill Mills in one of he liberal sheets.

Harry Balogh called Roscoe Toles "the fighter willing to meet any heavyweight in the world," but it will be a hard job finding the heavyweght willing to meet Roscoe . . . Gus Greenlee would rather have his boy, John Henry Lewis, fight Al Gainer than fight "Tiger" Jack Fox.

It is now a safe bet that all Negro National League players will sign up in spite of the salary cuts. But not because they want to.

Black Yankees will play home games at Yankee Stadium this year . . . Negro National League should take a tip from Negro American League and incorporate the league. And elect a president who is not a team owner. And elect a secretary who is not a team manager.

Lloyd Thompson, Xavier high jump star, has a good chance of becoming the first athlete from a Negro college to win a national title. . . . "Big Bill" Watson, of Michigan U. is heaving the shot farther this year than before. Latest effort was 51 feet, 2¾ inches . . . Gil Cruter, Negro high jumper of Colorado U. is Rocky Mountain Conference champion . . . Wisconsin U. has a coming hurdle star in Ed Smith . . . And whatever became of "King Kong" Matthews?

Dempsey Picks Schmeling to Whip Joe in Second Meeting

BOSTON, March 10. (ANP)—If you think Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champ, is a man whose word can be trusted, then Max Schmeling will be the first heavyweight to regain the title. Jack said here Tuesday he believes Max

"I think Schmeling can whip him a gain," said Dempsey. "Of course, Louis looked in better shape against Mann than he did against Farr, but I must add that Mann didn't belong in the same ring with Joe."

The old Manassas Mauler also said today's fighters were pretty punk, with Buddy Baer the best of the lot, and added, "Sometimes I've felt I'd like to cut a few years off my life and be back in there again with the

13 Of 32 Qualifying for Finals in Chicago Tomorrow Are Negroes

By FRANK MARSHALL DAVIS
(For Associated Negro Press)

CHICAGO, Mar. 10.—As they have been doing since all but the opening year, colored fighters continued to dominate entirely out of proportion to our population the 11th annual Chicago Tribune Golden Gloves tournament.

Thirteen of the 32 qualifying for the final night of fighting, to be held this Friday at the Chicago stadium, are Duskymericans.

These survivors battled their way to victory through a starting field of 23,000 amateurs from Ohio to Utah, from Michigan to Texas. They had to fight for a chance to be among the 300 good enough to be sent to Chicago for the Tournament of Champions last Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights at the stadium; in Chicago they had to either beat or knockout these sectional champions for a shot at the titles next Friday.

It wasn't only a question of beating opponents in the ring. Not only had they to whip white fighters in mixed bouts, but they were also forced to fling their fists against the foe of race prejudice. Many of the sepia boys who fell by the wayside could beat one but not the other.

This vaunted spirit of "American sportsmanship and fair play" is still an ideal to be realized. The mass belief in white superiority is so strong it clouds all else. Golden Gloves audiences are definitely partisan; they txpect each white boy to uphold the "superiority" of the Caucasian race. A knockout of a dusky boxer by a paleface leather-pusher causes prolonged cheers; let the races be reversed and there is comparatively little noise. If a colored lad is obviously the better man but does not give his white opponent a sound trouncing, a decision in the former's favor is the signal for booing.

And yet 13 Atramericans survived. Good? They had to be!

Among those who battle Friday for the championship are James Joyce, Gary and Eddie Wright, Detroit, 112 pounds; Clayton Johnson, Sioux City, 118; Jackie Simmons, Kansas City, 136; Eddie Smith, Detroit, 135; Milton Bess, Indianapolis, and William Johnson, Streator, 147; Shelton Bell, Dayton, and George Mitchell, Kokomo, 160; Orlando Trotter, Chicago, and William Muldune, Cleveland, 175; Daniel Merritt, Cleveland, and Emanuel Williams, Gary, heavyweights. Possibly three of these may win titles.

Father Miles, Hank Price and George Easter, scoring trio on the Million Dollar Team.

Million Dollar Cagers and Bojangles Tangle at Elks

Out of an argument comes a fight, so when Million Dollar Productions tie up with Bill Robinson's Bojangles Quintet next Sunday night at Golden West Elks Auditorium it will be the outgrowth of loud boasts on the part of both teams. Each has had a string of wins against the best of other races all season and each bragged about how thoroughly it could trim the other if they were to ever meet. Supporters of the respective teams are equally as rabid, so the court will be tense with excitement.

The line-up of Million Dollar Five is as follows: "Sug" Morrison, G.; "Battling" Bert King, F.; "Father" Mules, G.; "Lanky" Price, G.; "Easy" Easter, F.; "Pigmeat" Cook, C.; "Lightning" Lee Bowman, C. and Ralph Cooper, Captain and Forward.

The Bojangles roster is: "Drippy" Williams, G.; Ashford, F.; Chism, Garland, C.; King, C.; Spot Thornton, G.; Vernon Hardin, G.; Reeves, F.; Courtney, F.; Kilgore, F.; Halley Harding, coach and guard, and Herman Hill, manager.

MILLION DOLLAR BEATS ATENAS; MUSICIANS TRIM DANCERS

With an excited capacity crowd cheering each play to the echo, Million Dolarl Five fought from behind to beat the Atenas, crack Mexican Olympic team last Sunday night. Buck Jones drafted by the musicians played a stellar game and accounted for many of the points. Other players were Martin Gower, Lee Young, Vernon Gower and Oscar Bradley.

Strode Performs in Long Beach Relays; Miller Stars

A very small crowd witnessed the seasonal debut last Saturday at Long Beach of Southern California's potential luminaries in the world of track and field.

Despite the first appearance in track competition in almost two seasons of Woodrow Strode, UCLA decathlon hope, and many yearlings from the U. S. C. range, fans clung to the unflooded portions of Southern California or, the more venturesome, went on a "bust" to Santa Anita and the big handicap.

In the open field shot put Strode placed second to Raitt of Redlands, putting the iron ball 47 feet, 10⅝ in., or approximate 47 feet, 10⅝ in., or approximately one foot less than the winner.

In the discus the big fellow was content with a third place behind Carpenter, unattached, and Davis of Compton Jaysee, at 155ft., 5.5in.

NOT SIGNIFICANT

Dispite the shaded showing of Strode, who was one of the mainstays on the UCLA football team last season, observers predict that he will live up to all the publicity notices, the school press bureau sends out about him periodically.

Showing plenty of power in his heaves, flings and pushes, Strode needs only competition and continued training to put him at the top of the heap. In practice the former Jefferson high school athlete has consistently done 158 feet in his specialty, the discuss, and dispite the sound, there is little difference between that and a heave of 168 feet and from there up to the world mark of 175 feet. Try it some time.

Dimmutive Wilbur Miller is getting to be the No. 1 boy of Compton Jaysee. Running the distance in 9.9, Miller lead the bucks of Riverside, S. C. and Pasadena to the tape to duplicate his victory of last Saturday.

William Lacefield, originally hailing from Jefferson Hi, which is a veritable who's who of track and field, made his first appearance of the season also and caused the broadjump boys who were aces last week to take a back seat. Wearing the colors of UCLA Lacefield jumped 24ft, 2½ in., to outshine Jack Robinson, little brother of the great Mack Robinson, at 23ft., 1in.

Lowell Steward, steady Los Angeles Jaysee athlete, tied for second place with a USC lad in the class B high jump. Steward's mark was 6 feet, 2½ in., two digits under the winner, Wilson

Xavier U. Places 3 On All-Southern Basketball Team

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala., March 10—Immediately after Xavier University won the 1938 Southern Conference basketball championship by defeating Clark University, 38 to 22, the team coaches balloted on the all-star SIAC tournament basketball team for 1938.

A check of the vote session revealed that Xavier and Clark, the two finalists, dominated the selections. Xavier landed three men and Clark two. Here are the selections as tabulated from the ballots:

Cleveland Bray (Xavier) Capt. Forward
Abbey Henderson (Clark) Forward
Tilford Cole (Xavier) Center
Joe Johnson (Clark) Guard
Charles Gant (Xavier) Guard

Bray was selected for the same position by ballot in his freshman year, 1935. He is a senior now. Abbey Henderson, freshman sensation of 1938, became one of the few yearlings to ever rate the team first time out.

Other men awarded honorable mention include: Forwards: John Armstrong, (S. C. State) and Roy Weaver, (Fisk). Centers: Albert Tucker, (Alabama) and Crozin (Xavier). Guards: Marion Curry (Clark), William Pemberton, (Clark), Harrison Watson, (S. C. State), James Johnson, (Alabama) and Fred Fant (Alabama).

FEATHERWEIGHT CHAMP BATTLES MEXICAN IN OLYMPIC TOP SPO

Will Be Fourth Meeting of Great Little Fighters

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

Two great fighters — World's Featherweight Champion Henry Armstro and Baby Arizmendi, of Mexico — will throw leather at each other for fourth time next Tuesday night at the Olympic auditorium. The bout he Matchmaker Joe Waterman's potential whirlwind card.

The featherweight title will not be at stake in the bout which was postponed last week because of a sprained wrist suffered by the champion in his last fight.

Arizmendi holds two decision wins over "Hustlin' Hank", while the latter's duke has been raised once. Both decisions went to the Baby in his own Mexican bull ring. Arizmendi boasts a record which shows he has never bit the resin.

Over against this is the fact that Armstrong is in the midst of a long string of knockouts. When Charles Burns, Hank's last foe, hit the canvas in the second round in Minneapolis, it was the "Chocolate Dropper's" 34th K. O. in his last 35 starts. The question is: Can the champion succeed where he has failed before and put the Baby on the floor, for keeps?

The Olympic will be jammed with persons who want an answer to that question. And jammed it will be as Dr. Harry Martin, of the State Athletic commission, has pronounced Armstrong physically fit and the fight is on.

STYLES SIMILAR

The styles of the two little gladiators are almost identical. They both throw leather for all they are worth. The only difference is that Arizmendi spurts for a minute or less every round during which time he unlooses a torrent of leather. Hank, on the other hand, is throwing punches from gong to gong. It will be a stirring spectacle all right, believe you me!

Waterman promises a stirring preliminary supporting line-up, which may show Jimmy Liddell, stablemate of Armstrong, in one of the four-rounders.

Grid Aces Out for Baseball and Track Teams

Kenny Washington, stellar halfback, was among those missing when Will Spaulding's boys lined up for Spring football practice last Monday out at UCLA. The reason being, Kenny is out for the Westwood baseball team.

Also among those missing was Woodrow Strode, sixty minute end, on the Bruin squad. Strode is a mainstay of the Uclan track squad.

Track practice occupied the attention of two candidates for Loyola's football team also, Geo. Sims, last year's fleet-footed half back, and Al Norman, sophmore, who will have his first season of varsity competition.

Walt McCowan, senior student, however, showed up.

AL BROWN REGAINS I. B. U. BANTAM TITLE

PARIS, March 10. (ANP)—Panama Al Brown regained the International Boxing union's bantamweight title Friday night by outpointing the Spaniard Balthazar Sangchili, in 15 rounds. Brown, 35, lost the title to Sangchili in 1935. The winner weighed 118 and the Spaniard one half pound less.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Sandford were host and hostess to a delightful party honoring the Scout Troop 435 at their home in Baker street. An enjoyable repast was served by Mrs. Sandford assisted by Miss Sybyl Sandford and Walter Jr. Mr. Sandford is assistant Scoutmaster of the Troop.Scouts present were Billie Pierson, Alphonse Lucas, Milton Donato, Arthur Cary, Sammy Peoples, Stanley Jiggetts, Ellsworth Houston, Malcolm Davenport, Jno. Simpson, Stanley Jackson, Jno. Randolph, Melvin Hepburn, Nelson Williams, and Scouters, Vincent Morris and B. A. Pope.

Mrs. Irma Reed and her son and daughter, Donald and Bertha have taken abode in San Mateo and had as afternoon guests Mr. B. A. Pope, Arthur Cary and Malcolm. Donald is Senior leader of Troop 435.

The past Sunday afternoon was famous for Teas and therefore Mrs. Doris Carter and Mr. Roxbur Chambers report a splendid affair under the auspices of the Louisiana club at the Sorosis club rooms in Sutter street. A musical program was presented.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Jeffers were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Phelps Sunday Feb. 27.

The Opportunity Club of Zion AME church served a tea at the home of Mrs. Mabel Ritchardson. The hostess reports a lovely affair indeed and a financial success. Participants of the Christmas Operetta were given a dansant with Mrs. Mabel Ritchardson, director.

Approximately one hundred fifty guests witnessed the eleventh annual banquet of the Booker T. Washington Community Center, on Tuesday evening, February fifteenth. Mr. Chas. Mitchell and his committee worked diligently to make his affair a success. Dr. Ralph Reynolds of staff of the Community Chest was the speaker of the evening. Musical numbers were enjoyed by Mr. Wesley Peoples and his band, members of the Glee Club and a reading by our own dramatist, Miss Sybyl Sandford, "The Creation". Mr. Braan, president of the Board of directors, made a splendid talk on the object and fundamentals of the center, while Mr. Robert Tlippin welcomed guests and told of plans by which he would work as the new executive. Mrs. McCants Stewart, retiring board member was presented with a gift in appreciation of past service as president of the Board while Mr. Chas. Mitchell also received a token for years of past service as chairman of the banquet. Mrs. Augustine Sevelle made the presentations.

Mrs. Mabel Watkins was hostess at Tea Sunday, Feb. 27th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Lewis.

The regular staff dinner meeting of the Booker T. Washington Center was held on the fourth Monday evening with Mr. Robert Tlippin, presiding. After dinner, problems, suggestions for better program was discussed with final word from the executive. Mr. Kline Wilson, membership chairman with Mr. William Brooks, program chairman presented an interesting evening with various games. Each member is urged to attend these meetings on the fourth Monday in each month.

Mrs. Olin Marshall was hostess at tea honoring her visiting niece, Miss Barbara Taylor of Los Angeles. Mrs. Marshall was assisted by Mesdames F. A. Walker, Whitby and Bertha Murks. Miss Taylor is a singer of note and is the cousin of Mrs. Marshall.

Much praise goes to our own youthful Walter Oakes student at Commerce high school for his splendid accomplishment, that of winning the one hundred thirty pound relay race held at the Civic Auditorium, an annual event. He is a sophmore and received a gold medal.

Mr. and Mrs. Giles and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Wright, of Los Angeles also Mrs. Langston Garrott motored to San Jose to visit Mr. Chas. Overton who has been ill and is somewhat improved. Mrs. Wright is former teacher in Kansas City.

A Stork Shower was given by Mrs. Elma Graves on Feb. 20th honornig Mrs. Sidney Fazenda. Pink and white with a touch of blue was the motif of color for the afternoon. Many dainty "little things" were received. Guests present were Misses Lila Whittaker, Ella Payne, Ada Bolver, Mesdames Winson Auther, Samuel Coleman, Leila Williams, James Floyd, Annette Atkinson, Harold Braan, William Hamrick, Emery Haller, Woella Mallant, William Bolliver.

Mrs. William Garrick of 2726 Pine street feted Miss Mary Foy with a miscellaneous shower. Miss Foy will become the bride of Mr. Merill Gadles on March 6th. A lovely buffet supper was served and the group played popular games of cards. The honored guest was recipient of many lively and useful gifts.

Mrs. Gertrude L. Thomas, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harper and granddaughter of the late Henry and Martha Talbert, departed this life February 22nd at the age of sixty. She leaves to mourn her loss, two daughters Maxine Thomas and Alma Jackson, four sons, Daniel Bias, William and Edward. Granddaughter Alliene Thomas, two sisters, Mrs. M. Cheny, Mrs. E. LONG BEACH

In the spacious living room of the Levi Howard residence, 1028 E. 12th street, where many Long Beach couples have wed in the past year, Miss Ella White and Mr. Jesse Wills repeated their marriage vows before Rev. R. C. White, Thursday evening, March 3rd. The bride, very lovely in a long powder blue fitted lace dress, entered on the arm of Mr. Levi Howard. Mrs. Maude Marks matron of honor, wore a floor length flowered chiffon, and Mr. Willie Wills, brother of the groom, assisted as best man. The ceremony was witnessed by many friends and relatives who presented the couple with many nice gifts. The newlyweds were entertained at breakfast Saturday morning, March 5th by Mrs. Maude Marks. 1407 California Avenue.

Miss Pearl Norris, 1140 California, Apa. 2, was hostess to the T. E. Social and Charity Club at the regular weekly meeting Wednesday night, March 2nd. After club business discussions, members and a guest, Mr. George "Chef" Rice, enjoyed playing the popular game "ingo". The club's dance at the Elk's Saturday nite, March 5th was attended by a large crowd.

Many relatives and friends enjoyed the warm hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Smith at their own new home, 1408 California avenue, Sunday evening, March 6th when they gathered in answer to a housewarming invitation. A happy young couple were these two new home owners opening the many beautiful and useful gifts, with "Mr." matching colors with the furniture already in the house, and "Mrs." opening the gifts, while Mr. R. B. White read the verses on the cards. It was all quite amusing. Everyone complimented the two on starting their married life in such a fine manner. Very delicious refreshments were served by the host and hostess.

The Roland Hayes Political Study Club sponsored a Sunday morning breakfast recently in the palatial home of Mr. and Mrs. James Hayes, 1125 Myrtle avenue at which forty-nine persons were served. Every member is urged to prepare a plate and be present at the covered dish luncheon planned for March 15. Mrs. R. B. White, club president, in speaking for the club says, "We trust that the influence of this organization will be felt by every loyal Negro citizen of this community and we urge every Negro eligible to vote, to register and prepare to help us adjust the political condition in our community".

The Negro Forum will meet at the home of Mrs. Helen Coleman, Saturday evening at eight o'clock, 1039 E. 12th. The public is invited.

Mr. Henry Oglesive, brother of Mrs. Susie Walker, 930 New York street, motored from Lincoln, Nebraska for an indefinite visit in Long Beach.

Lucky at the Lucky Number Dance last Sunday nite were Mr. J. G. Gaines who won first prize and Miss Provola Palmer, second prize.

Get prepared for two coming dance treats, namely: the Sailors' Farewell Lucky Number Dance at the Elk's, 520 W. Esther Sunday night, March 13th with Myart's Southern California orchestra playing; and the Saint Patrick Dance, Frolic sponsored by Alton Redd and George Cook to be given Thursday night, March 17th at the Armory Hall, 7th and California avenue, L. B. Emerson Scott and his Wave Cafe Playmates, with Miss Ruth Givens, popular night club singer formerly at the Cotton Club, will entertain.

"What's the Reason?"—Miss Dorothy Elliott, popular waitress leaving for San Diego . . . The popular Juliettes club seem to be lacking in activity and membership of late . . . . Miss Florita Jimerson dropped her school home work long enough to "enjoy" a dance or two with Mr. John Smith at the Lucky No. Dance . . . Mrs. Katherine "Mother" Howard has stopped her restaurant duties for the present, however. Dorothy Cunningham will cook and knows how too.

CALEXICO

Last Sunday morning, Rev. James Lyons, local preacher of Johnson AME church, El Centro, was the guest preacher. He brought a very appropriate message based on a part of the 4th chapter of Exodus. Accompanying Rev. Lyons was Mrs. Lyons and Rev. Haywood (retired) of Calexico Baptist church.

Last Friday week, Fountain Mission was host-caterer to the Imperial Valley Knights of Pythias; the occasion being the 10th anniversary dinner. Among some of the guest participants were Mesdames Irene Prince, Marguerite Hubert Owens, Messrs. W. A. Payne, Arthur Prince, DuBoise McGee and others. Among the committee members who brought the Phythian dinner to Calexico were Mrs. S. B. Gillum, Messrs. R. W. Bostic and Cleveland McCloud. Fountain Mission hopes that this fraternal order, as well as others, will favor Calexico frequently.

Appreciable credit is due to Mesdames Sadie Herron, P. Smith and W. Wright for serving a benefit chicken dinner to the general public the same Friday afternoon before the Pythian dinner.

The Sunday vesper discussion hour has mane a very good beginning under the leadership of Miss Viola Herron, and it is destined to increase in interest as many local outstanding speakers are programmed to appear in a series of vesper discussions.

The Young Men's Breakfast club, under the presidency of Mr. R. W. Bostic, will convene this Sunday morning, March 13, at 8 o'clock. Mr. DuBoise McGee of El Centro, will be the guest speaker.

"The Royal 12 Club" meeting was held at the residence of Mr. LaVert Payne. Old and new business was discussed, which included plans for a stag party in the near future. A word concerning the formal cocktail party (which was omitted by the publishers much to the chagrin of yours truly) staged a few weeks ago at the residence of Mr. Bill Linly of Venice, everyone attending the affair had a grand time including the president, Mr. Fred Parks. You should have seen the members in their fez, they were killer dillers. Elmer Mitchell, reporter.

The Oscar DePriest Study Club held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Anita Milan, 1717 Colorado avenue. An interesting book review was given by Mrs. Etta Moxley. Current topics were also discussed. Miss Elizabeth White, president.

Mrs. Clara Trotter is convalescing very favorably at her home, 1310 18th street. She has the prayers and best wishes of all her friends and acquaintances.

Phillips Chapel CME church is progressing favorably under the pastorate of the Rev. J. W. Bircher. Visitors are always welcome.

The Golden Link Club, a Phillips Chapel Auxiliary held its weekly meeting at the home of Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Bircher with Mrs. Cuvelle Jackson as hostess. A pleasing literary and musical program was presented. Twelve members were presented. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mr. Markham, Sec'y

The Los Angeles Dist. Association of the Western Baptist State Convention of California will convene March 9-10-11 inclusive at St. Paul Baptist church, Los Angeles. Rev. G. Albert Miller, pastor of the First Baptist church of Venice is Moderator and Mr. Arthur L. Reese, vice-president.

The Calvary Baptist Church Usher Board presented an enjoyable program last Monday evening at the home of the advisor, Mrs. Bessie Washington. Mrs. Hazel Tippins arranged the program which included solos, instrumental duets and readings. Willie Tarver, president.

On last Tuesday evening at the residence of Mrs. Arthur L. Reese the past Matrons and Patrons Council held their annual dinner. Everyone present enjoyed an elaborate repast after which there was an exchange of gifts. Mr. Reese was presented with a very useful gift from the Council as an expression of appreciation for past favors. Sister Carrie Dumas presented the gift. At this time Mrs. Arthur Reese announced that on this date occurred their 31st wedding aniversary and presented the very beautiful cake to be cut in celebration of same. The home was artistically decorated for the occasion. Everyone enjoyed a very pleasant evening.

St. Barnabas' Notes

Our Warden and President of Parish Council, Mr. Robert E. Keys successfully engineered the third annual pre-lenten benefit at the civic auditorium and plans are underway for next year's event in the line of this established tradition in Pasadena's community life.

Our lenten schedule of services: Sunday mass at 7:30 and at 11 a. m., choral celebration with sermon; Thursday mass at 6:45 a. m. and vespers at 8 p. m. with special speaker to discuss church missions. Confirmation class meets after the 11 a. m.; mass, each Sunday. The Bishop of Los Angeles will visit the chapel for Holy Confirmation, April 3 at 6 p. m.

The first Sunday lenten vespers were in cooperation with the joint service at All Saints Church. For Sunday, March 13, vespers at the chapel, 1062 N. Fair Oaks Avenue with Dean Lewis of Whittier as speaker. Sunday, March 20, vespers will be held at the Marengo avenue, Y. W. C. A. at 5 p. m. and March 27, at our chapel. Dr Lyons will bring the Boys' Choir of St James' Church, South Pasadena for choral vespers.

Among churchmen welcomed in St. Barnabas congregation, lately, Elijah Hodges, II of St. Mary's church, Philadelphia; Mrs. James Mitchell, Jr., formerly organist of St. Philip's Church, St. Paul, Minn. and Mrs. B. H. Bellin of St. Philip's Church, Grand Rapids, Mich.

The chapel is open for devotions daily during Lent and the community is invited to share with us this season of prayer and meditation on the Christ-Life.

Race Track Gossip

By JAY GOULD

At Santa Anita's big race Saturday with Stagehand first, Seabiscuit second and Pompoon third, the ones that were successful in beating the races were Lee Thompson, J. Brice of Chicago, Lucius Lomax Jr., Mae Moore, Bea Griffith, Clarice Hayden, Sue Hicks, Mildred Russ, Miss Annabell Bledsoe, Officer Stovall and Officer Benny Ayers, Van Kuykendall and brother Jack and Barney Shaw.

The swellest dressed crowd that was ever seen at any gathering was on the lawn to witness the running of the big race, including Antionette Atkinson, Margaret Wilson, Flo Riddle, Mae Turner, Gladys Harding, Edna Harris, Gwendolyn Schaffer, Edward Atkinson, Charles Turner, Andrew Jackson, Marie Smith, Catherine Steele, Louise Franklin Young, Ruth Edmonson, Del Barker, Anita Moore, Luther Thompson, Gussi Jacob, and John A. Burton of San Francisco. Also from Seatle was William Hoff, Jimmy Boyd, Bruce Rolings and Harold Lewis and his wife. Detroit was represented by Miss Oneida Oates, Miss Charlotta Norwood, Leonard Reed and Chick Carrol; from San Diego: Tim Stin, Jimmy Pitts, Sunny Larrie, and Mr. Henderson, Fay Newby, Helen Hamilton, Lagather Lomax and Al Ramsey.

After Stagehand won, Rich Baker, Ollie Lofton, Billie Bee, Black Dot, Mexico, Murrey, Geo. Moore, Posey and Rainey Shaw were overheard to say that Stagehand was the best three-year-old in America and a sure thing to win the Kentucky Derby.

The dance given by Mabel's Salon was quite a success. A number of guests from out of the city were present. From Washington the reporter saw Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Green, Mr. and Mrs. Dee Clark, Harrison Clark, George Sterling and Bennie Sterling. From Los Angeles we saw: James Thomas, Curtis Holms, Milton Lott, George Kemp, Joe Johnson, Frank Adams, Roy Johnson, Alvin Gatlin and the lovely Maxine Stell of Long Beach. Others we saw were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Tave, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Shannon, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Sterling, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Dolar, Mr. and Mrs. John Henry James, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bertrand, Mr. James Lee Henry, and Miss Lelia Jackson, the Misses Bernice Warren, Adonia Roberts, Helen Klein, Jodie Sanders, Burnett Jackson, Vilena Taylor, and Farnie Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. St. Clair, Mr. and Mrs. Jackson.

Music for the occasion was played by Benjamin and his Ebony Orchestra. The music was swell and everyone seemed to have had an enjoyable time. Mr. Lavender Gatlin, a recent graduate of Compton Jaysee and company, came to the dance but left immediately. I wonder why. Was it the navy competition? Don't worry Ol' Boy, the fleet will weigh anchor in a few days.

of USC.

In the open 440 relay, Randy Carter of Riverside and Hal Sinclair of Los Angeles ran the center laps on an unattached team to defeat USC. Lawson, one time 880 champion from Jordan High School, started Compton's team off to a winning mile relay that was anchored home by the redoubtable Miller, and in the 880 relay the combination of Bess, Culpepper, Allen and Jeffery, ran over USC and UCLA to win.

Ben Johnson Sets New 60-Yard Dash Record

NEW YORK, March 10—Ben Johnson, held to his right to wear the purple of King of the indoor sprinters last Saturday night when he set a new record of 6.2 seconds in the 60 yard sprint.

Following that Johnson placed second, behind a team mate, in the broadjump at 23ft. 9¾in.

Surprising was the defeat of indoor champion, Jim Herbert, New York University sepia, in the 600 yard race. Herbert was passed on the final drive by Howard Borck of Manhatan and beaten by ten yards.

Jimmy Smith Cavorts in Illinois Relays

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. March 10—Jimmy Smith, long striding Negro miler, two miler and what have you, at Indiana State, confined his cinder cavorting to the relays last Saturday when the Illinois Relay carnival got underway.

Herbert anchored his team home in the two mile relay and the university medley event, the team breaking both existing records.

Dave Albritton of Ohio State, tied with a Michigan sophomore at 6 feet 5¾ inches in the high jump, with Eddie Burke, of Marquette, teammate of Ralph Metcalfe, finishing third at 6ft., 3in.

Big Bill Watson, Michigan's one man team, won the shot put with a heave of 50 feet, 4⅞ in. and then placed second in the broadjump at 23ft. 7in.

Dr. James Weldon Johnson, Professor of Creative Literature of Fisk University, and Guest-Professor at New York University, will deliver the principal address of the afternoon.

The speaker, an eminent scholar and an author of note, having written to date eleven great works including the "Negro National Anthem" will address the group on the subject, "The Negro: The Test of Democracy in America."

Heavyweight Mat Title Tiff Looms Between Casey, Sepia

BOSTON, Mar. 10. (By Mabel Kountze for ANP)—The first official world's heavyweight wrestling championship featuring a Negro challenger is cooking on the fire right here in Boston amidst the delightful aroma of baked beans and brown bread. Seelie Samara, top notch colored wrestler of Promoter Charlie Gordon, is expected to meet Steve Casey, recognized title holder and the feature performer of Promoter Paul Bowser. The Garden is proposed for the site of battle, and the title will be at stake.

The situation calls for a few words. Promoter Gordon and Promoter Bowser are natural rivals. Bowser is the veteran here, and he is a national figure in the game. He owns the more veteran and all-star wrestling presentations. His champion is Steve "Crusher" Casey, who claims (don't we all?) the world's championship. The Crusher has been of late first bored and finally irked by similar claim emanating from his alleged African beantown rival. And today the city is split up.

Samara Tosses Steinke

Promoter Bowser, operating out of the more aristocratic Boston Garden, has in effect told Promoter Gordon to cease his title claims from the rival sports palace, the Boston Arena. But you know these Gordons; they are just naturally fighters. So Charlie ups and invited Bowser to risk his champ against Samara. Paul, he just naturally looks down over his glasses and scoffs. Let this Samara person, sez he, fight some of his second raters before even thinking of meeting his mat king. So orders Bowser, and so accepts Gordon. Well, Paul, he sends three of his "policemen" over to the Arena to beat up Charlie's pretender to the crown. Seelie, the Hametic strong man, just leers a wicked grin and ties all three Bowser hopefuls in a knot.

Tor Johnson was one of 'em. So Gordon is leading Bowser 3-0 when last week Bowser sent over Hans Steinke, the veteran German Oak. And Samara, he just grins again, amused-like, and tosses the veteran, one of the oldest in the game, with a series of what he calls "flying horses". Hans did so much flying that he wouldn't come out for the second round, and so at this writing the score is 4-0 in favor of Gordon, and the general impression here is that Bowser will send the Crusher against Samara in what may develop into a real grunt and groan classic.

Decide to Bar Boy from Mat at Nebraska

LINCOLN, Mar. 10. (ANP)—John Williams, champion university wrestler who, it was understood, would be the first to crash the color line in Big Six competition, has been barred from competing for Nebraska U., it was announced last week in the Daily Nebraskan, official student publication.

An article announcing this fact under the heading, "Race Prejudice? No, But Negroes Aren't Wanted", appeared in Wednesday's Nebraskan written by John Stuart, white, who said:

"John Williams is lost to the university wrestling team and intercollegiate competition because of his color. Williams, a Negro boy from Omaha, was an all-state wrestling champion in high school and two years ago he was all-university champion in the 145-pound class. Such a man would be very valuable to the Nebraska team and would certainly bolster a lineup which has only been able to win one meet in intercollegiate competition this year."

"WASH" AND THE BRASS FOUNDRY

Discussing the marring of the residential district in the Vernon area by the locating of a noisy, ill-smelling brass foundry in the heart of same, many new and interesting angles are coming to light.

Comes now an unconfirmed report that the location of the foundry at this particular spot was planned a year ago and that Leon Washington, lusty-lunged young publisher of a throw-away advertising sheet, was "in" on the play from which is said his itching palms were scratched.

Washington's Sentinel occupied the property for three or more years. He was irked by a messy institution in rear of the building occupied by the Sentinel and he registered several kicks, to which the landlord paid no heed. It was at this time the brass foundry idea entered his fertile brain and the "idea" was sold for a fancy figure and Washington moved out, rumors stated.

However, the plan was too "hot" to be pushed immediately hence a year was allowed to elapse to keep down suspicion that "Wash" was the man behind the gun. It was a smooth piece of getting away with the ball but "Wash" gummed up the works by rushing in too soon with his ballyhoo in defense of those who would decrease property values and mar the quiet and beauty of comfortable homes.

Had this youngster been listening instead of talking he would have been of far more assistance to the foundry people, but in his zeal, if the rumor is true, he's collected on that which he can't deliver

SQUANDERING TAXPAYERS' DOLLARS

A story is running rife throughout the cty that petitions are soon to make an appearance demanding the recall of Mayor Frank L. Shaw.

Such a move shows not only a lack of wisdom on the part of those pushing the movement but that they don't give a tinker about the debt unloaded upon the shoulders of those who bear the already too heavy burden of taxation. Then, too, in case enough signatures are secured for the recall, it may prove a boomerang as in the case of former Mayor John C. Porter. Mr. Porter was retained in office and the taxpayers paid in dollars for the folly of a group who seek to dictate or hold the reins of government.

So far, nothing has been shown in the official conduct of the Mayor to warrant his being recalled. Mr. Shaw is keeping step with the District Attorney, Sheriff and Chief of Police in the drive to clean house in City and County government, which is all that could be expected of any public official.

To remove the Mayor at this time would not only prove an expensive piece of foolishness but disrupt every department of the city and by the time normal functions of government could be restored, it would be time to hold another election.

Thousands are homeless because of recent devastating floods which will cost something over fifty million dollars to repair the damage to say nothing of the loss of life.

To the winds with the recall! Let's all join hands in the clean-up of vice and use our dollars where they are sorely needed.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS VICTIMS

We often wondered why public-spirited women and civic organizations in Los Angeles don't get together and work out a plan whereby some of the many warm springs in this state could be developed into a place for the treatment of the dreaded infantile paralysis. The waters therefrom contain as much curative powers as Roosevelt's springs in race-hating Georgia, where folks are denied treatment because of color.

Such springs should be developed where all sufferers would be welcomed without cost.

The President's birthday balls are held annually to raise funds for the beautifying and development of these springs at which you must be white and have the cash to pay for treatment.

Start the move, ladies! The California Eagle will give until it hurts to foster such a move. Let the white and black women not only get together but get busy.

PLAYING THE RACES

Last Saturday, 70,000 lusty-lunged humans representing all walks of life — creeds, colors and religions — cheered as the horses galloped under the wire at Santa Anita race course in one of the richest races ever run in America.

Picture stars, professional folk, tradesmen, business and relief clients rubbed shoulders in front of the betting machines and placed therein over a million dollars.

A powerful lot of money was put into action in a land where business is fighting to survive and thousands are on relief rolls and equally as many trodding the streets and highways with empty stomachs.

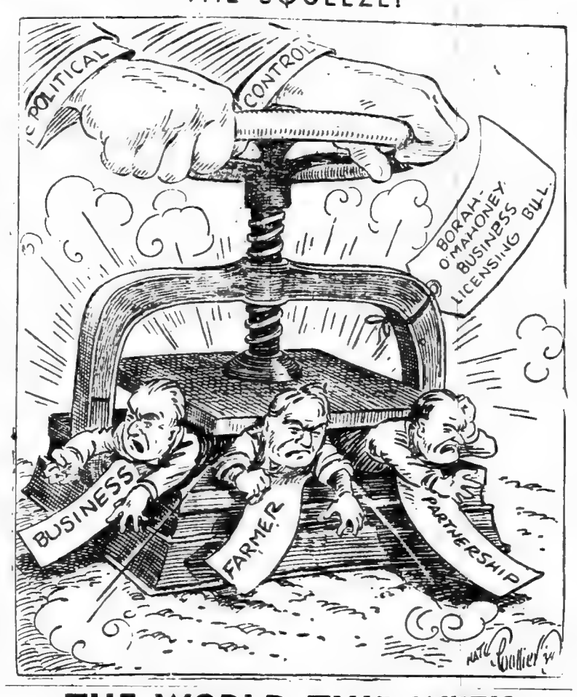
It's a funny world (no, not the world, but the people in it). All seek to gain and will take a whirl in the House of Chance to add to that which they already possess. However, we believe the fellow who shoved a couple of dollars in the "pool box", taking a chance of making $25 or $50 displays more wisdom than he who dumps his life savings into the lap of some oil high-binder or scheming gold mine promoter.

The next big race is the Irish Sweepstakes which is run in England. America will enrich this racehorse lottery to the tune of a million and a half dollars, all of which will remain across the pond except a few thousands to lucky ones.

The more we think of this matter the stronger we are convinced that the government should conduct some form of lottery at least once a month here at home. The returns would yield a profit and at the same time appease the appetite of those who thirst for investment of that character.

Such a bill has been spoken of by representatives in Congress but as yet has failed to reach the floor.

THE TELEPHONE'S BIRTHDAY



"Mr. Watson, come here, I want you!" Encrusted with the crackle of static, that sentence — spoken by Alexander Graham Bell — went over the first telephone wires just 62 years ago last week. That call to Mr. Watson, growing with rabbit-like rapidity, has developed into a family of more than 100 billion "hellos" annually.

In March 1876, Mr. Watson's message traveled little more than twenty feet. Today, whether a Mr. Watson is in Pago Pago or on a ship at sea, he still is within range of the telephone bell's familiar tinkle.

And yet, in one sense, the telephone has failed, for young Bell's dream of a world brought closer together by his contact-making invention is still just a dream.

"Give me Siam!" is a command easily answered by today's telephone. "Give us Peace!" is still waiting on the wire.

THE SQUEEZE!

THE WORLD THIS WEEK

By ROBERT PATTERSON

PLAYING BALL WITH DYNAMITE

For the moment, dynamic dictatorship appears to be riding roughshod over fearful, perplexed democracies of Europe. In democracy's most potent bulwark in Europe, Great Britain, dissension briefly prevailed over the wisest policy with which to pour balm on those aggressive twin trouble-makers, Hitler and Mussolini. The so-called realists, headed by Prime Minister Chamberlain, believe in "playing ball" with Germany and Italy, buying them off with concessions if necessary, granting Hitler his thunderous request for colonies, and administering gentle soothing syrup to the fretful, fractious dictators as a nurse administers sedatives to a fever-stricken baby. But the so-called "idealists", headed by handsome Anthony Eden, set their faces firmly against such tactics. And they have no lack of valid reasons for opposing the nursing technique.

RIDING THE TIGER

He who rides a tiger, it is said, cannot dismount. And similarly, declare the Edenites, those who keep throwing meat to a tiger in the hope that it will keep him from attacking them, dare not stop feeding the tiger. That tiger today takes the form of hungry dictator powers. That England's gravest cabinet crisis since the War should have been precipitated over this issue — to feed the tiger or boot him on the snout — indicates the hot intensity of feeling upon this point. Thus far, Mr. Eden's shapely head has been sacrificed and tossed into the tiger's mouth, to the audible pleasure of Germany and Italy who have been purring happily ever since. But if Europe's democracies are prepared to follow a peace-at-any-price program, they must be prepared to pay dearly. Now that they have begun riding the tiger, when will they dare dismount?

AMERICA LOOKS AT HER TRADE

Continent-spanning in size, sumptuous in the wealth and variety of her resources, America naturally inclines to philosophies of self-sufficiency. But no topic has aroused more intense and thorough-going interest during the last month than the nation's foreign trade. During the past week, several hours of discussion on that topic streamed through the airwaves of the national network systems, and current periodicals are turning vivid and vari-colored floodlights on the subject. Secretary of State Hull stands, of course, as the outstanding proponent of stimulating international good will through reciprocal trade agreements. But by no means does unanimity exist on the value of foreign trade. America's famed historian, Charles A. Beard, leans strongly toward isolationist self-sufficiency, as do many farm leaders. But isolationist or not, America is today acutely foreign-trade conscious and is vigorously proving its values and merits to this nation.

A DOLLAR A WEEK

A $98 thousand a year income, and only a dollar a week for spending money! There you have not only the sad tale of Freddie Bartholomew, Hollywood child actor, but also the reason why Freddie will not have to part with as much as a tuppence or a shilling for the support of his parents and sisters over in London. A Superior Court at Los Angeles has heard the youngster's plea that the high cost of being a movie actor was so astronomical he couldn't possibly pare off 20 per cent of his salary, during 1938 at any rate, for his family in the old country. We very much doubt if Freddie was interested in teaching any of us the moral of all this, but we do gather this one truth from the court proceedings: a $100,000 a year man in Hollywood has scarcely more spending money than a $25 a week man in America's Middletown. Freddie gets the plaudits and sees his name on marquees, but darn it! Bright lights won't buy a flock of ice-cream sodas!

The Case of Jesse Binga

One man—his name was Insull—built an air castle in Chicago. When it collapsed, the government tried to put him in jail. It chased him across the ocean, only to have him acquitted. The court said it is no crime to fail. A factor in the outcome was the contributions Insull made to Chicago. In addition to men of affairs feeling that he must go free or a precedent would be set for making failure criminally culpable, the people as a whole refused to believe a man of bad intent who had devoted so much of what he might have kept all his own, to the public good.

Turn from that picture to a black man who also built his castle of dreams in Chicago. Measured by what he did and was, Jesse Binga, realtor and banker, was as big in his circle as was Insull in his. Binga also tried to build to the skies and failed. But he was sent to prison and kept there. Now he comes forth, a broken old man, reported to be so poor that he is taking a job as janitor a church. Good for Binga! We glory in his spu

Some envious persons may be little enou to say of Jesse Binga that he had delusions grandeur and got what he deserved. The cir in which Insull moved did not say that of h Neither should Negroes fail of sympathy for black man who flew his flag bravely a wh even if he did go down in storm in the end.

When the total of man's accomplishments added up, there will be many a strange ite What could be more fantastic than the old Gre story of Icarus who tried to fly. But his fli took him too near the sun, which melted wax which held his wings together, and he to his death. The birdmen who are the comm place of our present day owe much to that fo ish flyer, just as Negroes owe some of their m substantial advancement to the inspiration rived from dreamers like Binga.

The Eagle's Feathers

And Now We're in the Limelight

Dear Editor:

My congratulations and best wishes on your News broadcast over Station KEHE nightly. I listened in the first night and every night since, except Saturday, when I understand, you were not on, my dial was tuned to that station at 8:15.

As you, (Mrs. Bass), said in your remarks Monday night, this marks a milestone in Negro journalism. I most heartily concur with you in this statement.

I have felt for a long time that the California Eagle, dispite the claims of other papers, was leading the country in a new type of Negro newspaper work and this confirms my feelings.

Your broadcast has become, in this short time, an institution in our family. We listen to it with the same faithfulness as any other broadcast and with more interest. I wish also to congratulate you on the ability of the young people, who are bringing the news to us.

God's blessings on you.
Respectfully your servant,
CHARLES H. LUDD

Dear Editor:

In all the time I have been a subscriber to your great paper, and that is many years, I have never written you a letter of appreciation for the service you are doing the race; nor have I had the opportunity, living outside of Los Angeles, of telling you personally of my high opinion of you and your work.

However, this past week, I heard each night that it came on, the broadcast, sponsored by the S. A. Scherer company. It was only laziness and not disinterest that kept me from writing to you, and now, inspired by the news program, I must offer my best wishes and congratulations.

It was marvelous, and truly a step forward for the whole Race. I hope it will continue to be a part of your work program. I inclose payment for my subscription although it is not due until the first of June.

Yours truly,
(Mrs.) MARIE FORD
Riverside

Dear Editor:

I have never felt so proud of my race than I did the other night when I heard your program of Negro news. Although I take no active part in the civic and community life of the group, my working preventing me, I am a staunch Race woman, and take pride in our achievements.

I listened in the first night in my room, out where I work, but I couldn't contain myself the second night and I asked my employer to listen in. She did and I want to tell you, she was as thrilled and interested as I.

I hope you will continue to give the news over the radio. Even though I buy the paper every week, this is interesting to me. It shows me what to look for and interests me in things I haven't noticed before.

Respectfully yours,
(Mrs.) CORA PHILLIPS
Beverly Hills

Dear Editor:

Knowing that you want letters saying how we like the broadcast because that will help you stay on, I am adding my word to what I know you have already received.

I think it is grand. It is educational and I hope it will continue forever.

Sincerely yours,
FINLEY JEFFERSON

Dear Editor:

I have been meaning to write to you and tell you that I use your newspaper for current events in school. Now since you are on the air I have better current events than before have better current events th before.

You have my best wishes. like to announce for you once you ever have amatuers.

throw him overboard." He looked like he meant it too, so after that everybody called him "Dark Secret."

After he talked a few minutes. Secret said he was thirsty, and we went on in the Elks bar and I bought a couple o rounds. Meanwhile, Secret tells me he's just been here two days, having come over from Phoenix, Ariz., where he lost a good second cook's job on account of whipping the chef for calling him the Ace of Spades. I tells him that I got a money-making propersition coming up shortly, and that I just been looking around for a good partner.

"Don't need to look no further," Secret says; "I'm here, rearing to go."

By this time both our glasses was empty, and although I made out like I was trying to drain mine, Secret didn't make no move about ordering another round. I concluded that he was broke, just like he was the last time I seen him twenty-five years ago, so being kinder short myself, and this big "Dollar Day" deal coming up, I says,

"Come on! We'll beat it on over to my shack now and get something to eat."

Well, we went on over to my three room house, and I cooked us a gang of chitterlings, and some black-eyed peas. Secret ate like a horse, and after he finished says to me dry long so:

"Well, Laundryman, I feel kinder sleepy so I reckon I'll turn in". And he went in the bedroom and went to bed.

I got kinder peeved at first, on account of him not asking my permission, but it come to me that I had done the same thing a couple of times when I was going to prep school and didn't have no room-rent money, so I just dismissed it and went to bed myself.

We both got up early the next morning. And after he had eaten breakfast I asked Secret point-blank did he have any money to invest in the business. "I ain't holding nothing, Laundryman," says Secret. "But you know how we always used to work; you always furnished the money and he plans, and I done the heavy work, and any fighting what was necessary. The same thing goes for this deal."

"Okey," I says; "We got plenty to do today, so let's get going". I backed the old Dodge out of the garage, and we went on down on Hooper Avenue to see a feller named Seeley, who owned a big sound truck. He wanted ten dollars for two days use, but I Jewed him down to eight. Then I tried to get him to take four bucks down, and the balance later on, because I only got twenty-eight dollars to my name, to juggle for this Dollar Day business. But he said "Cash or nothing doing" so I laid it on the line, and had Secret trail me home with it.

We drove up in the alley benind my house and parked both cars, and I started to painting some advertising signs on wrapping paper to paste on the sides. Whilst I'm working, and Secret is looking on, a Mollygloska Brown with lines like a Santa Anita thoro-bred, come tripping down the alley. She had on green pants--I mean the ones like us men wear--and a long yellow coat with a soft hood on it in gypsy colors. Secret seen her before I did.

"Say", he says excitedly: "Is this the queen of Sheba coming here?" I loked up and smoked off the Broad. "Heck, no", I answers. "Her name's Millie. She's been around here for snows and blows. I think she works on the Sewing Project".

By this time she had got up close to us, and I told her "Hello", and asked her if she was on her way to work. She stopped, and said no, that five hundred colored women had got laid off the Project last week. I didn't say nothing back right away, because she had give me an idea. But Secret didn't waste a minute.

"My name's McAffee", he says to her, throwing a scowl at me off-side, to let me know not to spill his nickname to her. She simpered, they shook hands, Secret started in to "make" right off the bat. I cut in.

"Say, Millie," I says: "want to work tomorrow: It's gro Dollar Day, and me and McAfee will need a girl to us tag laundry bundles. I'll you two-fifty for the day's wor She answered that she would glad to get the job, and I her to meet us in front of Elks hall at 7:30 the next mo ing. I knowed Secret wouldn't no help to me just then, as lo as she was hanging around, s give him the wink to walk down the alley with her, wh he did.

I was glad to get rid of for a while because I wanted think. What Millie had about them women being laid had give me the idea that me I could give quite a few of th something to do, provided I able to put my Dollar D cheme, over in a big way. I ured, and figured, and finally to take.

I took two big squares brown wrapping peper and pa ed on them in heavy black ters, the following:

"Help 500 Colored Women L Off The W. P. A., With A Doll Bundle of Laundry, On Ne Dollar Day."

Then, on two other sheets painted:

"Negro Dollar Day Special" shirts, 2 suits BVD's, & 4 Ha kerchiefs, did for One Dol Bring all Bundles to the E Hall, and Get a Drink on Laundryman.

(P. S. No long drawers acce ed.)

I pasted the first two signs the sides of the big sound-tru and the last two on either side my Dodge speed-wagon. By time, Secret had comeback. "H you expect to make anythi buying a drink for everybo Laundryman? We won't have money left for ourselves," says.

"Listen, Son," I answers: "m most responsive chord in t breast of every True American the idea of getting Something Nothing. Strike It, and the follow you till their Dou gives out. P. T. Barnum was first scientist to isolate this ge and it never fails to work.

Read in next week's issue h the Laundryman and "Dark cret" paid 500 colored $5000.00 for one week's and it wasn't by having scrubbing clothes either.

WITH THE German occupa-tion of Austria in direct fiance of British warnings, it gins to appear that the dic-orial countries of the world not regard the peaceful ov-tures of Great Britain favor-y. The recent aggressive s of Hitler add more and re to a fear of war — hence eady we of America are be-subjected to the old cry of ve the World for Democ-y"!

But we must remember that years ago we performed an ntical task. We saved the rld for democracy, but what d did it do? Those nations ich were democratic before war are democratic now — se which were not are abso-monarchies or dictator-ps today. Our million young n died for nothing. They ld just as well have stayed home — the ultimate result, far as democracy in Europe concerned, would have been same.

Their failure in this respect s a great lesson to America that lesson must be remem-ed. The cause of liberty is won on the gory battle-ds of foreign lands, but in hearts and minds of the ple involved. The Germa-which bent to the Kaiser, tes Hitler; the Russia h bowed to the Czar, hails in; the Italy which follow-its monarchy, today obeys ssolini. On the other hand, nce, who dearly bought her rty with three revolutions, nains the world's truest re-blic; England, whose strug-for freedom dates to the gna Charta, is a democracy; l so also Switzerland, Den-rk, Norway, Sweden, and Netherlands — all of whom rchased liberty with the ge-s of their leaders and the od of their ancestors.

So we must understand that next seemingly inevitable ropean war will not be a no-battle of ideals but a sim-clash of the haves and ve-nots. Bankrupt Italy and rmany will fight, not to read the doctrine of intoler-ce, but to gain economic ad-ntage. England and France ll protect African possessions not the glowing convictions democracy. It is plain that such a conflict America has thing to gain and everything lose!

HUNDREDS MOURN MAJ. LOVING

More than a thousand guests thronged the offices of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Sunday afternoon from three to seven when that institution was host at a reception celebrating the opening of new Los Angeles District offices. The camera tells part of the story: left, Mrs. Emma McGruder, one of the many homemakers who took "time out" to congratulate Golden State, registers while (left to right) R. W. Smith, assistant director of agencies, Dee Hodge and W. Alleyne, district superintendents, look on. In the background, Leon Reed, agent, pauses while waiting to finish showing a guest through the establishment. The second scene catches J. Franklin, left, listening to pointers from A. J. Williams, manager of the Los Angeles district. At the right, Miss Sylvia Gillian, Dr. Loyce Evans, and Miss Helen F. Chappell, EAGLE representative, listen to Hodge tell how "it was done".—(More pictures on Page 2.)

BUSINESS, POLITICAL, CIVIC LEADERS PAY TRIBUTE TO 'MAJOR'

Funeral for Prominent Figure Most Elaborate in Eastside's History

City officials and fraternal orders, to both of which he had devoted the greater portion of his life, joined hands Tuesday morning, paying last respects to Major J. B. Loving, who died of a heart ailment, aggravated by extreme age, Saturday morning, at the Los Angeles County General hospital.

Major Loving's life had hung by a thread for weeks prior to his death. He had existed in an oxygen tent at the hospital for several days. On Tuesday of last week he sank into a coma, from which he only intermittently, revived.

One of the most elaborate funerals in the history of the Eastside, presided over by the Golden West lodge of Elks, in which he had held the office of treasurer for 11 years, it was held at the Hamilton M. E. church, East 18th and Naomi. The Rev. S. M. Beane officiated. Loving was a member of no local church

HONORARY TITLE

Given the rank of major as an honorary title by veterans organizations, Loving had been turnkey of the County jail and deputy sheriff for 45 years. He was retired on a pension in 1937 and succeeded by Emmett Holiday.

A charter member of the local lodge of Elks, he had held every position in the lodge in addition to membership in the Masons and Eastern Star.

His brother Elks had charge of the funeral services at the church, to which Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz, under whom he served, and the entire body of deputy sheriffs attended. Masons, attired in full regalia, officiated at the interment. Conner-Johnson Funeral Parlors was in charge.

LUCRETIA ANDREWS RITES TO BE HELD SATURDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Lucretia Andrews will be held at Mt. Zion Baptist church Saturday, March 19, at 2:00 p. m. Rev. Prentice officiating.

Mother was First Negro Girl Born in City; Family Well Known Here

The rapidly thinning group of Los Angeles pioneers, numerous descendants of "first families", three generations of relatives, hundreds of friends and admirers crowded St. Phillips Episcopal church, 28th and Stanford, Wednesday morning, as funeral services were held for Mrs. Josephine Shepard, whose mother was the first colored girl born in the city of Los Angeles. Obsequies were directed by the Angelus Funeral Home. Mrs. Shepard died at her home, 4260 Hooper avenue, Saturday, March 12.

The progenitor of the historic "Smart" family, of which Mrs. Shepard was a member, was Joshua William Smart, her paternal grandfather. In 1849 he came to Los Angeles from Missouri, where he had joined a wagon train bound for the coast. Upon his arrival in the little

Ex-Playground Director Freed on Morals Charges

Charles Early, former playground director at the 22nd Street playground, was acquitted of two counts of rape in Judge Ingall W. Bull's court Tuesday when his case came up for trial.

Ably defended by Attorney C. C. Taylor, Early's defense was based on an alibi that he was not in Los Angeles at the time designated by the plaintff, a 15-year-old-girl.

Relatives of the athlete, brought here from San Francisco to testify at the trial, declared that Farley was in that city on both dates specified in charges of the prosecution.

The girl, whose name is being withheld from publication, was turned over to juvenile authorities at the end of the trial. She is reported to be an expectant mother by physicians attending her.

Declaring that she had been attacked on two different occasions, the girl testified that she had gone to the playground for recreation, struck up a friendship with Early and he took her out for automobile rides to the beach. It was on two of these trips, one in September and one in January, that she claimed to have been raped by the youthful director.

Early is a nephew of former Assemblyman Frederick M. Roberts.

Scores of well-dressed young women attended the trial, which consumed two full court days. Attorney Taylor was able to destroy the prosecution's case by a brilliant cross examination of witnesses.

The prosecutrix became confused as to time and places and events leading up to the supposed action on the part of the defendant. At the terminaion of the cross examination, prosecution's witnesses made it apparent to the court that a verdict of not guilty was evident.

Early's testimony remained unshaken under a barrage of cross questioning by Deputy District Attorney Wilde.

Previous reports of complaints against Early on similar charges failed to be confirmed by witnesses. Mr. Taylor called Playground Director Alevis, from the district center, to the stand. He stated that no oher complaint had ever come o his office regarding Early's conduct with the children at the playground.

Pioneer, 82, Takes Own Life; Leaves Tragic Note

Because natural death, even at 82, was not swift enough for him, Charles I. Lewis, pioneer octogenarian, took his own life last Friday. Radio officers breaking into his home at 1224 West 11th street, Friday afternoon, found his lifeless body, hanging by the neck, with a bullet wound in his head and a revolver lying nearby. A coroner's jury on Monday returned a verdict of suicide.

A hint of the cause of the drastic action was contained in a note which Lewis, a retired county employee, handed to a friend, Dr. A. C. Garrott, well known dentist, on Thursday, March 10.

The note read: "Dr. A. C. Garrot: My dear friend, just a line to thank you for your kindness to me in my distress. Thursday, 10th, 1938."

The dentist further stated to officers that within the past week the man had instructed him how he wished his funeral to be conducted, gave him the key to his safe deposit box at a Central Avenue bank, and was informed by Lewis that he was to be named administrator of his estate.

He also stated that he had

COURTROOM HEAVILY GUARDED AT FARLEY PRELIMINARY HEARING

Throngs Jam Corridors as Hearing Begins; Man to Plead Insanity

With throngs of spectators, white and black, jamming the corridors of the seventh floor of the Hall of Justice and an atmosphere of tense expectancy mingled with grief in the small courtroom of Judge Joseph Chambers, preliminary trial of George Farley, charged with the double murder of Deputy City Marshall Tom Crittenden and Leon W. Roma was held yesterday morning in division 4 of the Municipal Court.

Representing the aged man who assertedly went berserk when an attempt was made to evict him and his family from his home, was Attorney Loren Miller, defending one of the most sensational murder case in the annals of Los Angeles criminal history, without charge for his services.

Anticipating an outburst of feeling between races, guards were stationed around the courtroom and in the corridors. Admission to the trial was strictly confined to witnesses and even press reporters were closely scrutinized for positive identification. There was no evidence of mob violence or antagonism from the colored neighbors of Farley assembled in and around the Hall of Justice, however. Nor was there more than a show of human interest from the small group of whites.

First witnesses called to the stand were the widows of the dead men who identified the victims.

Officer E. C. McGruder, one of the aresting officers, from the Newton street division, testified to finding Farley wounded in his home on the morning of February 17, identified the lethal weapon —an antiquated shotgun and four empty shells which were admitted as evidence to be held for the trial.

A surprise move on the part of Mr. Miller came when he cross examined L. A. Troutman, of 1516 West 58th street, who acquired Farley's property through a street assessment bond sale for delinquent taxes amounting to $29.66.

Miller drew admission from Troutman that he had offered to sell the property back to its original owners for $1100 on the night before two innocent men met their deaths at the hands of man crazed by fear of losing his home through real estate shark methods.

Farley's wife is said to have pleaded with Troutman for a few days time in which to clear the debt but was refused an extension and warned by the landlord that the family would be evicted on the following morning.

Mr. Miller brought out in the testimony through cross examination that Farley had been sick in bed prior to the shooting, was in a low mental state and had written several letters to President Roosevelt seeking aid in forestalling the foreclosure.

"There is no veiling of the fact that our defense will be not guilty by reason of insanity", the young attorney told a group of press reporters in an interview following the trial. "We have all the evidence needed to support this plea and we shall lay it squarely before the court as Farley's defense," he said.

Farley was present at the trial —a pitifully bewildered figure in county jail blue denim, his arm heavily bandaged for the gunshot wounds he received in the fierce gun battle between himself and arresting officers, his body still wracked with pain from the frightful experience on February 17. He is a man aged 54, with a kindly face that betrays none of the violence that shakes a man to cold blooded murder. An old man who must have stinched pennies for many years to acquire a little home for his family, his eyes frequently looked sadly upon the widowed women with an understanding of their grief and a heavy weariness that he had been the cause of it.

George Farley is an old Negro, soft and kindly—the type about which songs are written. A faithful servant type. A home-loving man. A father who, perhaps, did more weeping himself than the errant boy he lead to the woodshed for his "strapping".

Here he comes for, trial. For murder. Two murders.

Two innocent men were killed by him.

The real cause of the trouble is living.

Ironically enough, the trial is set for April First.

Mystery Surrounds Murder of Man, 39; Painter Held

Mystery as to the murderer and the motive shrouds the death of one William Scott, 39, of 1132½ East 22nd street. Scott died at the Georgia Street Receiving Hospital this morning of knife injuries inflcted by an unknown person just before midnight last night.

Taken nto custody as a suspect is Roy McKinney, 36, house painter, who gave his address as 2103 Central avenue. McKinney was assertedly seen by Witness John H. Lewis, running down he alley after the cutting scrape.

Held at a material witness was Ethel Randolph, 44 of the same address. In a drunken condition at the time of the arrest she could give no lucid explanation of what had transpired.

According to officers Goldbery and Smith who answered the call to the East 22nd street address,

Clarence Muse-- A-TALKIN' TO YOU

Just a few days ago the news ran around the world that California was at the mercy of a FLOOD. Great homes and small cabins alike rommed along the rivers to be crushed in a Orange orchard or to be stopped by a MODERN BRIDGE. Every modern convenience was at hand in these stricken areas except water, gas, electricity, telephone, radio and the morning papers. It looked like Sunny California had lost its charm. But the folks who make this country their home, face ail sorts of CONDITIONS with a smile and now after a few days everything is calm—the SUN IS BEAMING DOWN with a GLOWING heat that makes a CALIFORNIAN forget quickly. ROADS are open, trains are running and all YOU CAN HEAR, it was indeed unusual weather. Our folks who were very lucky are still thinking of the terrific after effects of one of those MISSISSIPPI floods. It seems that California can get out of a HOLD quickly and gracefully. Hollywood already is passing wise-cracks of the "Yesterdays' Flood". The result of this philosophy is that the whole world is looking at California with admiration and not pity. All of which has been said to emphasis what should be our ATTITUDE TO THE PRESENT ANTI-LYNCH BILL defeat. Our last fight was as effective as the flood, and our next will be even greater, so in order to catch momentum and more FRIENDS in our corner, take the set-back with chins up and smiles. Smiles that have behind them the thought that the NAACP will never be stopped until there is a federal law AGAINST LYNCHING.

CLARENCE MUSE

If Hitler keeps up his progressive program soon we will find more BROTHERS IN THE SOUTH. Texas will be the leader in giving the BLACK MAN every favor. Soldiers will be needed, soldiers who can be depended upon to fight for the STARS and STRIPES. It takes floods and earthquakes to make us appreciate CALIFORNIA sunshine, it may take another world war TO GET MORONS of the SOUTH out of the notion of LYNCHING. KEEP the spirit WE WILL WIN YET! These informal scenes in the assembly room where "progress cake and punch" were served, catch a few off guard — W. V. King, a guest, looks on during one of those chats between Secretary-Treasurer Norman O. Houston, and President William Nickerson who watches the scene while he listens. In the next corner, the ladies who were hostesses in one of those moments between serving guests — left to right: Misses Roberta Brown, Theodosia Hampton, Mrs. Virgil Johnson-Brown and Miss Jessie Mae Nickerson. Notice the busy little girl at the left, near the punch bowl. Extreme right: A lady served pauses between bites to listen to the quartet which the camera missed. Looking over her right shoulder, Vice President George Beavers enjoys the music, too, and the gent in the foreground is really engrossed. Below — right: Guests turn to greet more guests and to hear commendations and expressions of "Isn't it grand how they've grown" and "I wouldn't miss this". The lady in the light hat is facing Hattie McDaniels, cinema star, who came bringing best wishes and stayed a while to chat with friends.

Excerpts from Nickerson's Address to Policyholders

The close of 1937 marked another milestone in the history of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company. Appearing on the horizon of Negro business life of California came a business venture in July 1925. At first, it was looked upon by many with curiosity. Through hard work and the cooperation of a few determined souls, things began to happen. For three years we worked in rental quarters. Soon we built our own Home Office building. We enlarged our agency staff, opened offices throughout the State, improved our agency organization, and today, the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company has ceased to be an experiment, but has proved a successful business venture and demonstrated beyond contradiction that the Golden State is a shining example of what a people can do in a business way through good management and the cooperation of willing hearts and ready hands such as has been exercised and demonstrated by you.

Now I turn to some of the doings of the Golden State Mutual during the year 1937. Fortune blessed our Company during this period. Our total income was $342,495.19, an increase over the previous year of $48,598.25. Our assets of $229,875.04 represent an increase over the preceeding year of $65,748.57. We increased our investments in bonds, real estate and high grade securities $59,908.12. We paid to policyholders during the year $72,167.13. This increased our total payments to policyholders and beneficiaries during the life of the Company $785,994.28.

These increases have been effected in spite of the economic national handicaps over which we had no control and the Influenza epidemic in the early part of 1937. These evidences of growth by your Company should add to your inspiration and confidence with increased pride. With a sound and improved investment policy of the Board of Directors of your Company every policyholder may be assured of continued growth and financial security of the Company.

For educational purposes and to let all of the people of the state know of the high class of services we render, we celebrated our Twelfth Anniversary by staging a radio broadcast in the month of July. This created quite an interest among people to whom the Golden State message has never been carried, and many people of oher races have signified their appreciation of this program by sending-us letters of felicitation. So you see, the Golden State is making itself felt not only among our own people, but is becoming known among people of all races.

With the cooperation of the old policyholders and the increased interest on the part of the new policyholders, the year 1938 bids to eclipse by far the achievement of any other one year in its history.

Again we thank you for your priceless good will and confidence which we regard as our most sacred duty to maintain.

Eastern to Assist Flood Victims Here

At a meeting of the executive staff of the Eastern at the Ninth and Broadway store last Friday, the subject of assisting, rendering of service and giving information along the line of rehabilitation were discussed. Realizing that a number of the peoples' homes have been partially demolished, as well as their appliances, and knowing those who are to get assistance by loans are somewhat confused as to where to obtain correct information, the Eastern has made an investigation and will furnish advice and assistance at all their stores, it was announced.

NEW FHA PLANS

Under a plan, the government has created an emergency division in Title One of FHA's modernization loan plan known as Disaster or Rehabilitation loans. Persons who can qualify and have sustained damage by the recent flood, either to their home or appliances, may obtain loans to $2,500.00. The interest rate is but 5 per cent and no down payment is required to make destroyed homes livable by this plan.

Mr. Harris, manager of the Eastern at 45th and Central, stated, "It must be remembered, our firm is not making these loans but rendering assistance in obtaining them. It must also be thoroughly understood that our firm has nothing for sale in these transactions--it is merely a service rendered in time of emergency. What assistance we can give is available for those who do and those who do not buy from us, therefore, I urge all those whose homes or appliances have been either totally or partially destroyed by the recent floods to contact our store and we will be extremely happy to be of service in telling the easiest manner in which to obtain a Hehabilitaton or any other F. H. A. loan".

"Jobs" at YCC Tea Sunday Afternoon

The Youth Coordinating Council has selected "Jobs" for its tea discussion Sunday afternoon, March 29, at the home of Miss Juanita Terry, 1152 East Adams Blvd. Points of discussion will include: how to find them (jobs) and where; how to create more of them; how to keep the one you have; and how to find the one you want!

Members of the council will present their ideas and will give guests an opportunity to discuss their own. The affair will begin at three o'clock.

LESTER PRACHETS IN 25TH ANNIVERSARY FETE

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Prachet celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary recently in one of the prettiest ceremonies and settings of the season. A be-ribboned aisle from a gate of interwoven orchid and white stock through the spacious dining room to the mantle banked with chosen blooms and studded silver leaves was flanked on either side by a guard of honor. The Modern Priscilla club made up the guard.

Highway Patrol Chief Asks Autoists to Have Car's Moving Parts Checked

"As a result of recent unprecedented heavy rains, braking systems, as well as moving parts, of most cars will be impaired by silt and excess moisture", it was stated by E. Raymond Cato, Chief of the California Highway Patrol, who issued a plea, last week, for all motorists to have the mechanical condition of their automobiles thoroughly checked as a safety precaution.

Many new car dealers have been advised by factory service department heads just what steps should be taken to place water-soaked or flood ravaged cars in first class condition. It has been further suggested that charges for labor be maintained at a minimum.

Reports show that nearly every car was subject to deep-water conditions, and that consequently brakes, generator, starter, distributor, motor, differential and front wheel bearings should be inspected without delay. Contamination of these units with silt results in corrosion and in order to avoid excessive wear the silt must be immediately removed.

In this connection, Jack Young, service head of the Ford Long Beach branch pointed out that Ford and Lincoln-Zephyr dealers' service facilities in this area are adequately equipped to handle ths type of work efficiently.

Friends Mourn Passing of Well Known Business Man

Held in the highest esteem both as a business man and a public-spirited citizen, the passing of George D. Gray, of 1159½ South Ardmore, at the Good Samaritan hospital last Saturday night was a shock to his wide circle of friends.

Mr. Gray, a native of Chicago, came to Los Angeles from that city nine years ago, and formed a connection with the Walter L. Gordon Realty Company. He had been retired from the probate court of Chicago in 1925, having served as clerk for twenty years. Prior to that he had been an assistant chief clerk in the freight department of the Pennsylvania railroad for fifteen years.

Shortly after coming to this city, Mr. Gray met and married Mrs. Merrea Fortier, who survives him. He also leaves two brothers living in Chicago, Bennett and Edgar Gray, and a host of other relatives.

The last rites were solemnized in the church chapel of the Angelus Funeral Home yesterday afternoon with Rev. S. M. Beane, pasto rof Hamilton M. E. church, presiding.

FOURTH SUNDAY MUSICALE PLANNED

Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew, director, announced this week that the senior choir of People's Independent Church of Christ, 18th and Paloma, will present a musical sponsored by the Women's Breakfast Club on the fourth Sunday in this month.

Special rehearsals are being held and the program is expected to be in keeping with the excellent performances of this popular aggregation which has become a favorite with the general public.

wolf is host to porgy cast at premiere

Jules Wolf, manager of the Lincoln theatre, was host to the entire cast of "Porgy and Bess" last Friday evening when he arranged a theatre party for the actors at the request of the EAGLE theatrical department as a part of their entertainment while in Los Angeles awaiting the outcome of an Equity-Merle Armitage tangle over non-payment of salaries.

Matching the generosity of entertainers who never fail to respond when called upon to serve others, Mr. Wolf quickly consented to do his part in helping to relieve the srtain of wait and worry inflicted upon the company by the unexpected turn of events following the close of their engagement in San Francisco.

"The Lincoln theatre is a part of this community and its people," Wolf told Fay M. Jackson who asked him to participate in the entertainment plan for the performers. "We have been honored by the presence of this great cast of Negro players and it is a pleasure for me to extend the courtesy of our theatre to them."

Twenty-six seats were reserved for the cast and, for the first time in many months, the actors sat on the other side of the footlights. The party saw the premiere of "Spirit of Youth", starring Joe Louis with Clarence Muse, Mae Turner and a stellar cast of Negro film actors.

Wm. Smith Named Head of Mortuary Company

By LAWRENCE F. LaMAR

Youth advanced in stride this week with the announcement by the Smith & Williams Mortuary firm, that William (Bill) Smith, one of the younger members of the firm had been elected to the presidency and general manager, Leon Edwards, another youth, named secretary-treasurer. Action in that direction, followed the recent resignation of Mrs. Carrie Smith as president of the 26-year old etsablishment.

"Bill", as the youth Mr. Smith is popularly known becomes as the result of last week's election, one of the youngest heads of a major business house in the west. He is well grounded in the management of the large establishment, that was founded by an uncle, the late Grant Smith in 1912. The elevation of Smith to the presidency, will permit that young executive an opportunity to put into practice many of his long cherished progressive improvements.

Plans long formulated in the young executives mind, will be put into effect as soon as possible. The late Grant Smith founded the Smith & Williams mortuary with Mr. Frank Williams, with idea in mind, that such an institution n the business of buryng the dead should operate in a quiet and dignified manner as possible. This idea put into force to incites a feeling of sympathetic friendliness between the firm and the public, rather than suggest the methods of a cold business house, have continued down thru successive heads of the firm.

The new head of the firm, told reporters, that he didn't intend to alter the traditional Smith & Williams code of ethical practice. Business will continue to be operated in the familiar dignified manner. He made it clear, however, that there was room for many improvements and these he intended to make, in order to advance the firm to meet all requirements and demands of modern business. Modern funeral parlors, like hospitals, must be prepared to render to a bereaved public, the last word in service, he pointed out.

Improvements at the Smith & Williams establishment, 1311 Central Avenue, will be made in newly equipped rolling stock, including modern hearse, ambulance and public conveyance cars. The entire establishment will undergo a gradual renovation. The chapel and devotional chambers remodeled to meet every kind of religious service. The reposing rooms refurnished with the best plush, and accomodations added to the family mourners quarters, including a nurse when needed.

William Smith, becomes the fourth president of the firm of Smith and Williams, Inc. morticians of note. Following Grant Smith's death in 1924, his partner Frank Williams succeeded him as head of the firm. Williams, remained at the helm of the firm until 1929, when he was succeeded by R. H. Smith, who remained president until his death in 1933. His widow, Mrs. Carrie Smith, was his successor in office, and remained as president and general manager of Smith & Williams until her resignation a short while ago. The newly elected head of the firm has been a member of it for 14 years. He is married and the father of three children. Mr. Leon Edwards, elected secretary-treasurer of the firm, was president and founder of the S. E. L. Casket company of this city, which office he resigned in order to accept office in the mortuary firm. He is popularly known in church, musical and club circles.

pueblo, Joshua found a job as helper to a harness maker at Second and Broadway. Shortly afterwards he met and married Sarah Jane Owens, daughter of Robert (Bob) and Minnie Owens. To this union were born Emaline, William, Clarissa, Eleanor, John and Margaret, all of whom married into the oldest families.

MARRIED

Emaline Smart first married A. Alexander, to which union were born three children. Following his death, in the early eighties she married Jacob Soares, who had come to California from Kingston, Jamaica, B. W. I. They became the parents of four children: Josephine, Morris, Oscar and Ray, Josephine being born at First and Los Angeles streets, one of the valuable holdings of Joshua Smart.

In the early sixties, Smart had made a fortune in real estate. At one time he owned that block on Los Angeles street that runs up to Main, and from First to Second, besides ten acres on Macy street at Alameda.

In 1865 the enterprising pioneer tok up 160 acres of land on Figueroa street at 64th, running back to Main. This land was held by his heirs until 1922, except 25 acres Joshua himself had traded off. Today the former Smart property holdings would be worth millions.

Mrs. Shepard's oldest brother, William (Billy) Smart, was the first colored boy born in Los Angeles, which fact was mentioned in the local dailies when he died here in 1931.

In a recent "50 Years Ago Today" column of the Los Angeles Herald and Express appeared an article recalling that on February 10, 1886, "Colonel Jacob Soares and Major L. T. Jacobs visited new colored arrivals" on the Santa Anita ranch, present race track site.

Mrs. Shepard first married Joseph Johnson. To this union were born two sons, Lloyd and Norman. Later she married Edward Shepard, and they became the parents of one son, La Rue. All three sons survive. In addition; her husband; four brothers, Morris, Oscar, Ray and Charles; one sister, Mrs. Mabel Lofton, and scores of other relatives.

A rosary for the descendant of the famous family was held in the church chapel of the Angelus Funeral Home Tuesday night at 7 o'clock. Father H. Randolph Moore, rector of St. Phillips, of which the deceased was a member, conducted the rites.

McDUFFIE, PRESIDENT'S VALET, GIVEN AWARD BY D. C. NEWSPAPER

First Time Negro Resident Cited for Honors; Boasts Colorful Career

WASHINGTON, Mar. 17. (By E. G. Brown for ANP)—The Washington Herald, for the first time selected a colored resident of Washington to cite for honors, when Monday, March 14, it sent a basket of flowers to Irwin Henry McDuffie, valet to President F. D. Roosevelt.

Many individuals are responsible for making the wheels go around at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, the President's home, but the key cog in the chief executive's daily whirl from 8:30 a. m. until—and the man who sees him to bed and up again the next morning, really the closest man in the world to President Roosevelt, is a colored man, Irwin Henry McDuffie, his valet for the past twelve years.

Irwin Henry McDuffie was born on March 14, 1882, and became 56 years old Monday, the same age as the President. Mr. McDuffie and his wife, who is in the employ of Mrs. Roosevelt, live at the White House. He is a 33rd degree Mason, a regular church member, and active in the counsels of the United Government employes' organization. He is a native of Atlanta, Ga., and first met the President at Warm Springs through a mutual friend, one of America's greatest newspaper publishers and a patron of the Herndon barber shop, known as the finest tonsorial establishment in the South for more than fifty years, of which he was the manager.

"LOOKS LIKE JESUS"

A friend once heard Irwin solemnly declare his personal estimate of the President in these words: "I sometimes look at him (the President) and say to myself 'He looks like Jesus.'" This from one whose duties are of such intimate character speaks volumes for the nation's first citizen as man and chief executive.

Mr. McDuffie has been with the President, both before his election as Governor and President in his travels around the world, Europe, South Africa, Hawaii, etc. He is the only Negro ever to have his membership signed by a President of the United States after initiation into mythical society of Neptune (those initiated at sea on their first trip across the equator).

To the "Chief" in the presence of others, he is "McDuffie" and just "Mac" when they are together, day in and day out. On that occasion when he stood with with Mr. Roosevelt, transfixed, as it were, for two hours at a Paris Art Gallery while the President studied a painting of a great master, neither uttered a word. It was not necessary—these two men were companions in understanding and appreciation.

Mr. McDuffie is a smart dresser himself, and those in a position to know say the President won his title last year at the head of America's best groomed men because of McDuffie's" philosophy "that clothes not only make the man, but the President is not feeling fit unless his attire reflects it."

Senate Considers Budget for Howard, Hospital

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 17 (ANP)—After passage last Wednesday by the House, the Interior Department appropriation bill for 1939, carrying funds for Howard university and Freedman's Hospital was sent to the Senate.

The Bill provides an appropriation of $723,000 for Howard, to be allocated as follows: $540,000 for salaries, an increase of $10,000 and $183,000 for general expenses, an increase of $13,000: the bill also provides $400,000 for salaries, subsistence and other expenses for Freedmen's Hospital which is $70,670 more than the current appropriation. Of the desired increase, $6,720 is wanted for additional personnel, and $63,950 for repairs, equipment and replacements.

ENDORSES 17 CIVIL RIGHTS BILLS

NEW YORK CITY, March 17, (ANP)—Seventeen bills designed to promote freer excercise of civil rights, now before the New York State Legislature, were officially endorsed, and four restrictive were opposed by a Legislative Conference called by the New York Civil Liberties Committee in which twenty-seven liberal organizations, labor unions and political parties participated.

KLUXERS WAR ON N. J. LIBERALS

MONTCLAIR, N. J., March 17, (ANP)—The Cosmopolitan Club of this city, composed of liberal-minded members who often have discussed the Negro problem, ran afoul of the Ku Klux Klan last Friday. Stickers reading KKK's Challenge to Communism were blastered on autos of club members parked before the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Stelhi. Last December a fiery cross was burned by the klan on the lawn of the home of Mrs. Leon H. Fradkin, the club's honorary president.

Ex-Black Legion Head in New Cult

LIMA, O., Mar. 17 (ANP)—Virgil H. Effinger, white, national commander of the infamous Black Legion and former titian of the Ku Klux Klan in Ohio, is now busy organizing a new cult, —the Patriotic Legion of America—with its membership opened to Catholics and Protestants which it seeks to unite against Jews and Negroes, it was revealed Friday.

Effinger is still fighting extradition to Michigan where he is under indictment for teroristic activites in connection with the Black Legion, which was killed by political and public sentiment after members took part in a series of murders.

Suspend 19 Cabs for 30 Days

CHICAGO: March 17. (ANP)—All 19 of the taxis operated by the Party Cab company were ordered off the streets for 30 days last week by the Public Vehicle commission for failing to have proper credentials. Blame for the suspension was immediately taken by Leonard Outlaw, general manager.

By this order, 65 employes were temporarily deprived of jobs. The Bronzeville Chauffeurs. Safety and Social club immediately staged a mass meeting and voted support for the jobless drivers. Employed drivers have agreed to lay off one day a week each and thereby give the jobless chauffeurs a chance to make a living. Negro cabs in Chicago are used mainly for "jitney work" which consists in running up and down boulevards hauling passengers from point to point on the boulevards for 10 cents each as the buses do.

OIL IN, CONVICT ORDERS CHICKENS

Fried chicken is a luxury denied inmates of the state penitentiary. So when oil wells began bringing in returns from his land, a Negro convict, whose name was not revealed, remembered past days when he had a better diet than bread and beans. Sending $75 to a friend, he gave instructions that the money was to be invested in chickens of a specific breed so that he might have good fried chicken in plenty.

CONDENSED SUMMARY FOR BUSY READERS

Attempt to Force Confession Frustrated

CHICAGO—An alleged attempt by police to "third degree" a confession from Mack Hickerson, Negro porter in the reputed rape-slaying of 19-year-old student Nurse Anne Kuchta last August, was frustrated here Wednesday when Hickerson—who at first confessed to almost every sex crime committeed here the past year-repudiated his statement—after its fallacy was questioned by Lt. Otto Erlanson, in charge of the Kuchta case. Left groggy and dazed after third degree questioning, police quoted Hickerson as saying: "Every once in a while I get the urge to rape a white woman." He had been arrested for prowling about the Michael Reese Hospital. His "confession" has been proved false, was prompted solely, it is said, by his determination to avoid further punishment by police.

May Raise Steamer with $300,000 Cargo

ATLANTA, Ga.—As the result of a story told by an aged Apalachicola, Fla., colored man, former dockhand when the steamer Alice was loaded with 1,300 barrels in 1864—Frank P. Blair, Chicago salvage operator, may raise the Alice which struck a snag and sank 73 years ago. The sunken vessel was located 1000 feet from the present river channel, bured in 24 feet of mud, six feet of water. It is thought 300 barrels of the cargo contain whiskey, worth about $300,000 now. Blair plans to dam the shallow stream, pump out the mud covering the vessel, retrieve the cargo of whiskey mellowed "in the wood" for three quarters of a century.

Continue Fight for Better Hospitals

KANO, Nigeria—Officials of this city, located 700 miles north of Lagos and one of the 11 largest towns in Nigeria, are continuing their fight for better hospital facilities in anticipation of the excessive heat of the March-September period. The European Hospital for Africans has been completed and there is an outpatient dispensary at Fegge, used by Africans, Syrians, Arabs and Lebanese. Because of the disease-infested country sections an appeal for more physicians, assistants and nurses has been made to the Director of Medical Services.

Probe Shooting of Negro Track Star at Colorado

BOULDER, Colo.—Local police are investigating the shooting last Tuesday of James H. Jones, 21, colored track star at the University of Colorado, at Chi Psi Fraternity house on the campus. Jones was employed part-time as a waiter by the fraternity, was allegedly shot during a "tubbing party" by L. Jackson Todhunter, son of a prominent Denver family. At Community Hospital, suffering from a bullet wound in the ankle, Jones gave his version of the shooting. Todhunter was released on $500 bond, pending arraignment April 4 on charges of assault with a deadly weapon.

Stream Rises; Becomes Raging Torrent

PHOENIX, Ariz.—Last Friday for the first time in more than 30 years, Salt River, normally a stream only 10-feet wide, emptying into the Colorado River--suddenly began to rise, soon overflowed its banks, became a raging torrent, sweeping through the low-lying south-eastern section of the city and carrying with it the dead bodies of victims, household goods, live stock and other debris of every description. Police had warned residents to flee their homes before midnight, but some had remained until too late. The body of an old man who had lived on a small island in Salt River for 15 years, was found a mile from his homesite. The hut, with him, and been swept away by the raging water.

National Urban League Begins Job Hunt

NEW YORK CITY—The necessity of finding jobs for our youth engages attention of the National Urban League as it plans the sixth vocational opportunity campaign, March 20-27. The campaign's slogan: "Train today for Tomorrow's Job. Learn a Trade and Prepare for Useful Work!"

Letters to Radio Station KGFJ, setting forth your reaction to the broadcast of world-wide news presented by the California Eagle nightly, except Saturday, would be appreciated.

Iowa Club Women to Hostess Confab

DES MOINES, Iowa.—Club women of this city headed by Mrs. S. Joe Brown, will be hostesses to the 1938 biennial session of Central Association of Colored Women, July 24-27. States to be represented at the big meeting: West Virginia, Kentucky, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska.

5,000 Youths in D. C. Pilgrimage

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Sponsored by the American Youth Congress, representing 36 youth and student organizations throughout the country more than 5,000 young people made a pilgrimage here March 10-12, to attend the "Youth Pilgrimage for Peace, Jobs and Education." Negro colleges were organized for the trek by Louis Burnham, Southern Negro Youth Congress.

Tossed Beer Bottle; Gets Year on Chaingang

AUGUSTA, Ga.—Because he did not look where he was throwing and tossed an empty beer bottle from the truck on which he was working into the passing auto of Miss Mildred Cartledge, white school teacher--cutting her about the head--Lawrence Haywood, a beer truck driver's helper, was sentenced to 12 months on the chaingang last Friday in Superior Court.

President Okehs Urban League Campaign

NEW YORK, March 17—In a letter to T. Arnold Hill, Director of the National Urban League's Department of Industrial Relations, President Franklin D. Roosevelt last week gave his unqualified endorsement to the League's sixth Vocational Opportunity Campaign, which will be observed during the week of March 20 to 27.

The campaign, sponsored by the League as a part of its program of making young colored men and women aware of the new job opportunities that are being opened, or that can be opened to them, will be carried on by affiliated branches of the League in 41 centers, and by a number of non-League organizations, including young people's groups, fraternities and sororities, churches, clubs, and forums. More than 100 Negro schools and colleges throughout the country have indicated that they will participate.

Jones Gets Post On Hull House Staff

CHICAGO, March 17. (ANP)—Dewey R. Jones, former assistant in the office of Negro Affairs in the Dept. of Interior at Washington, has resigned to become attached to the staff of Hull House in Chicago. He follows his chief from the department, Dr. Robert C. Weaver having resigned several weeks ago to become adviser to the Housing Authority Administrator.

Hull House, the famous social settlement center on Chicago's near west side has never before had a colored attache. The character of the surrounding population has changed, and there are now many Negroes living in the neighborhood, mixed in with Mexicans, Italians, and Greeks. Mr. Jones' task it is understood will be to work out a program for these low income groups, particularly the Negroes who have not been especially served by Hull House before.

Negro to Profit from Low Cost Clearance Fund

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Hundreds of Negroes, especially in the great metropolitan centers will profit by the Government's low cost slum clearance fund of 500 million dollars, made available last week to Nathan Straus U. S. Housing Administrator. Straus said the huge fund will make possible the completion of many projects throughout the nation. Chicago's South Parkway Gardens, to house about 800 families, is one of the projects to benefit by the allocation.

BOSTONIAN REPORTED CONSIDERED FOR JUDGESHIP

BOSTON, March 17. (ANP)—Atty. T. Irwin Dortch, president of the local branch NAACP, is being seriously considered by Governor Hurley for appointment to a judgeship, 500 members were told last week at their annual convention in Horticultural Hall by the Rev. C. Gordon Brownville, pastor of Tremont Temple.

Negroes Brought Here in 1619 Not Slaves, Claim

RICHMOND, Va., March 17. (ANP)—If the Virginia senate passes its bill for erection of a monument near Jamestown on the site "where the first Negroes were landed in 1619", it should not be reared as being to "the first slaves," the senate learned last week in a message sent them by Matthew Page Andrews of Baltimore, historian.

According to Dr. Andrews, recent investigation have revealed that, contrary to statements in most histories and articles, "these first Negroes were entitled to freedom." He declared records have been found showing "the release of at least some of these Negroes after a term of service" in payment for their transportation to the colony, "similar to that of whie indentures."

Dr. Andrews cited the case of Anthony Johnson, a Negro who was brought here in 1619 or "certainly before 1622." In due course, he was was freed, the historian said, became a landholder, and as such secured the services of a Negro named John Casor, a later arival. Johnson held Casor in service longer than the indenture called for, and "white persons intervened to get Casor's release." Casor was to have been indentured seven or eight years, but was kept "servant for seven years longer than he should or ought," the records show.

Raise Mob Issue in Ark. Execution

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Mar. 17. (ANP) — Contending that Jim C. Caruther, 22, and Bubbles Clayton, 24, should not die for allegedly criminally assaulting a white woman near Osceola Jan. 12, 1935, because there were no Negroes on the jury and the trial was held in the presence of mob threats and inflamed public opinion against the defendants, defense attorneys Wednesday filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus to set aside the penalty.

Judge Thomas C. Trimble, Jr., in United States District Court took the plea under advisement and granted the lawyers five days in which to file briefs.

TRAINLOAD OF RUSSET POTATOES AT BARGAIN PRICES!

HOMEMAKERS' FRESH FOODS MARKET REVIEW

We have just made a huge purchase of number one grade Idaho Russet Potatoes. They come packed in handy 15-lb. mesh bags. All are carefully inspected.

15 pound mesh bag 27c

Sales tax will be added to the retail price on all taxable items.

That housewives may have more complete information about market conditions on fresh fruits, vegetables and other perishable foods, this column has been made a regular feature of Safeway advertising. Use it as an aid to securing variety in menus and for saving money by planned purchases.

NOW IN SEASON AND PLENTIFUL

Bunch Goods—Most varieties of bunch goods are now in heavy production. Radishes are only fair in quality; mustard greens are still quite yellow . . other bunch goods are very nice. Low prices on bunch vegetables make them outstanding values in fresh food.

Cabbage—The market is flooded with cabbage, but the quality is only fair. Heavy rains have made loosely formed heads. Prices are most reasonable.

Celery—Large, clean bunches of Utah type celery are coming up from Chula Vista. Heavy supplies are keeping the prices down.

Lettuce—Good grade lettuce is being shipped in from Yuma, Arizona. Because supplies are limited, prices may rise shortly.

Onions—Brown onions of excellent quality are available at low prices.

Potatoes—Most reasonable prices are quoted this week on U. S. number one Idaho Russet potatoes. Hawaii and Florida continue to send in a few fair quality red potatoes. New British Queen variety potatoes from San Diego County are fancy grade and low priced.

Peas—New crop peas from San Diego County have arrived! They are sweet and tender. Since both peas and new potatoes are low in price, the delicious combination should find its way to many tables this week.

ON THE MARKET BUT HIGH IN PRICE

Asparagus—Rains in the producing area have slowed up the growth of the asparagus crop. Light shipments are being made of fair quality spears, but the retail price remains between 25 and 35 cents per pound. Warmer weather should bring rapid declines in price.

Strawberries—Extensive damage by the rains will cut the first crop of strawberries in about half. High prices are asked for the poor quality berries that are coming in now.

VARYING IN SUPPLY

Summer Squash—There is summer squash coming into the Los Angeles market but the quality is poor. It is small and water-logged. Safeway buyers refuse to purchase it.

FRESH MEATS

Recent bad weather has caused much delay in cattle shipments, resulting in advances in wholesale prices. Beef, pork, lamb and veal wholesale prices have all been affected. Fresh meat prices should readjust themselves as soon as shipping troubles clear up. Prices on smoked meats and poultry remain about the same. Some very choice turkeys are still available on special order at low prices.

By: CHARLES L. UPTON

UPTON SAYS

EVERY PORTER A REPORTER

UPTON SAYS:

Last Sunday night, illness of the past week, afforded me a splendid opportunity to relax and listen in on the EAGLE news flashes which gave me a thrill I shall never be able to explain. If the great John B. Hughes, noted news commentator, had been a woman, I would never have known whether it was he that was giving such a graphic description of the passing of Clarence Darrow or our own Mrs. C. A. Bass. Her review of European affairs will go down in history as one of the most remarkable comments ever spoken by a Negro woman over the air.

Helen Chappell — well, you just have to take your hat off to that little gal. If they had not announced her name, bless me if I wouldn't of went to bed that night thinking I had been listening to Louella Parsons, Hollywood's noted stylist and fashion commentator.

Young John Kinloch — well, boy, if that broadcast was only on a national hook-up so it could reach New York and your home town pals could hear the way you are doing your stuff over the air, they would surely believe in that old true saying of "Go west, young man, go west".

Note to the reading public: I have not received a dime for my opinion on these good people. Their work speaks for itself and they do not need any paid publicity agents. I think they are the tops!

The one thing that means the same thing in every body's language is a smile.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

Many happy returns to the following readers who celebrate their birthdays during the month of March: J. L. Freeman, Robert H. Corley, and J. M. Brice. Congratulations.

RAILROAD CLATTER & U. P. BAKER HEATER MERGE; FRANK SMITH ASS'T ED.

A deal desired by the railroad employees for many months was effected last week, when two of the Pacific Coast's foremost railroad columnists, Frank Smith, Editor of U. P. Baker Heater and Chas. L. Upton, humorist and Railroad Editor of the California Eagle in which the Railroad Clatter has been the official mouthpiece of the knights of the rails for many years was consumated. Mr. Upton has been ill for the past week. Under the care of Dr. Chas. S. Diggs his family physician, he has been confined to his home and is slowly recuperating. When interviewed by a reporter, Mr. Upton stated that the combining of the two branches of railroad employees would tend to bring the two groups closer together, something which has been lacking for a long time. With the exception of a few short articles the entire railroad news this week is the handiwork of Assistant Editor Smith.

COOKS AND WAITERS UNIONS GAIN WAGE INCREASE

After six months of persistant fighting, a mediation agreement was reached between the Western Pacific Railroad Company and the Dining Car Employes Union, increasing wages by $12 per month per man, effective Oct. 1, 1937. This settlement provides more than $85.00 per man in back time payable March 25th. Following this settlement, negotiations started for a similar wage agreement with the Southern Pacific Company. If the organization succeeds in its objective, it will net a gross wage increase of approximately one hundred and sixty thousand dollars annually. Thus materially increasing purchasing power of these workers and benefiting the communities in which they reside. The splendid work accomplished by this organization speaks well for the power and value of unionization of all workers.

MRS. SHEPARD DIES

The beautiful Angelus Funeral Home was the center of sadness which struck the family of Oscar Soares, member of the executive board of the Brotherhood Of Sleeping Car Porters last week with the sudden passing of his sister, Mrs. Josephine Shepard. Funeral was held at the Episcopal Church pastored by Father Moore at 10 a. m. Wednesday.

GROVER AKE PASSES

Death swept the city in railroad circles last week and ended the long illness of Grover Ake, brother-inlaw of H. L. Armstrong, a member of the executive board of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters and candidate for the office of vice-president of that organization. Mr. Ake died at 1 p. m. Monday and up to the time we go to press funeral arrangements were awaiting the arrival of relatives from Texas. Ake will be greatly missed by the countless school children whom he used to escort across the dangerous crossing at Hooper and Washington in his duties as traffic officer. The funeral will be held from Connor-Johnson Undertaking Parlors.

U. P. BAKER HEATER
By Frank Smith
(Assistant Editor)

Mr. Chas. L. Upton on the shelf temporarily, owing to illness, is very gratious in effecting the deal mentioned in the fore part of this column and myself and the Dining Car Employees are grateful for the planned combination of these two great branches of the Railroad Industry. We shall endeavor to give you the latest among the boys who serve the traveling public. Needless to say we start off with wishing Mr. Upton a speedy recovery.

FLOODS CAUSE SUFFERING AMONG RAILROAD WORKERS FAMILIES

Many men and their families are suffering from the aftermath of the recent floods. Three major railroads viz: U. P., Santa Fe and S. P. have suffered a tremendous loss thru this catastrophe. Trains have been tied up for days and with telegraph service out of commission, families of those unfortunates, away from home, were filled with apprehension and anxiety. Speedy repairs to the vast damage done will be welcome music to the railroad boys, who are taking it on the chin with a smile.

GRAND BALL AT THE VOGUE

Honoring Solon C. Bell, National President of the Union Pacific Dining Car Employees, the Grand Ball given last Thursday night at the New Vogue went over with a big bang and the president was very much impressed by the courageous spirit of the men of Local No. 465.

NAT'L PRES. SAYS UNION GOT $48.000 INCREASE IN WAGES FOR MEMBERS

With a nice nest egg of some $48.000 in increased wages over the entire system which is retroactive to Jan. 1st, the national president when interviewed stated that supplemenary rulings, improved working conditions would, in all probability, bring the total increase in wages to a much higher amount. The president said in an interview with Mr. Gentsch, concerning the flood situation that he found "Little Caesar" very fair and cognizant of the agreement for basic pay. Though some talk was made concerning disbanding crews, it is believed that the present agreement between company and organization will be adhered to the letter.

PRES. BELL ENTERTAINED IN PORTLAND

During the visit of the National President, Solon C. Bell in Portland, Oregon which was combined with business and pleasure, he was royally entertained by Mr. and Mrs. John C. Baker. Mr. Baker as district chairman deserves much credit for the splendid series of meetings he arranged, and which kept the president busy for four days.

RAILROAD ELITE ENJOYED NEW VOGUE

Among the fashionable elite of the railroad fraternity who were very much present at the New Vogue were: Mr. and Mrs. Horace Clark, Bro. Pat Williams and wife, Bro. Mack McGarrity, wife and party, Mr. and Mrs. Lacy and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bently and party, Volney Carter and party, Mr. and Mrs. Lovice Howell, Mr. Solon Bell and a host of others which also reminds us that Bros. John E. Hargroves, Lovice Howell, T. D. Pierce, A. J. Smith, Edward Perry, Earl Abbott, Peewee Bentley and others are due much credit for making the affair a huge success.

Santa Anita race track was graced by the presence of U. P. horse players on the final day. Forrest Faver, "Pretty Boy" Smith and Frank Brooks, oh, well, too many to keep up with in the huge throng. Adios.

The California EAGLE reminds you of Negro Health Week, April 3-10.

3 Robbers Raid Grocery of Liquors, at $15

Three robbers must have been going on a party Saturday night. They chose grocer Ruth Goldberg at 4150 S. Central as involuntary provider of their liquid refreshments.

Mrs. Goldberg told police that a man, whom she could identify as he has bought liquor from her previously, entered her store Saturday night and after looking over the assortment of liquors, drew a gun and took about fifteen dollars worth of liquor consisting of quart and pint bottles of whiskey.

Jumping into a car in which two other fellows were waiting, the man drove away.

Man Returned in Car Theft

Brought back to Los Angeles this week to face a charge of stealing a car was Stillwell Block, 29, of 1635 E. 27th street.

Block was arrested last week in San Diego where he had driven in the assertedly pilfered vehicle, an Oakland Sedan, the property of Morris Sleatia of the 27th street address.

IMOGENE C. TAYLOR DIES IN CHICAGO

Word was received in Los Angeles last Friday by Clara B. McLenoir, 1001 E. 41st Place of the death in Chicago of Imogene C. Taylor, daughter of Mrs. B. Ragsdale Wilkerson of Chicago and granddaughter of Mrs. William Ragsdale of Muskogee, Okla. Burial will be in Oklahoma.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY
MARCH 17, 1937

A long, sad year has passed since you, our beloved, left us and went so far away. Those places where you liked to go, those things of beauty, that you most admired have lost their charm, and we who loved you are lonely and sad.

Oh, we have missed your cheerful smile and your constant desire to help and to make others happy, that spirit of service that was a part of you.

We think of you, the choicest flower in our garden as growing over the wall-of-life in God's garden.

Therefore beloved—we remember and "Sometimes you have been given back to us.

Sublime companion of our other day.
Although no more your smiles our eyes can see,
With us who remember still your stay.
The living suffer absence, but you
May walk with us the loneliest path we tread.
By those that loved you most.

Youth, Girl Face Theft Charge

An eighteen year old girl and a twenty-two year old youth were arrested jointly early this week by Newton street police on suspicion of stealing clothes from Clifford Warran, 1434½ E. 46th street.

The girl is Vera Williams of the 46th street address, who gave her occupation as a housewife, and the youth is Nathaniel Fork, 800 E. Vernon.

The pair were arrested at the 46th street address. In Fork's possession were found four pawn tickets, for clothing which he insisted was his own, but which police think might belong to Warran.

Laud Soldiers of Race in Spain's Civil War

WASHINGTON, March 17. (CNA)—From Loyalist Spain, where Negroes from the United States, Africa and the West Indies, are fighting in the Spanish Civil War came this week a tribute to the heroism of the Negro soldiers from one of the most beloved leaders and heroines of the Spanish people, Delores Ibarrui, popularly known as "La Pasionaria."

The letter of the Spanish woma leader, one of the outstanding figures in the Spanish Loyalist Party, was addressed to John P. Davis, national executive secretary of the National Negro Congress, Washington, D. C. for release to the press.

Many American Negroes are in the famous International Brigade, attached mainly to the George Washington and Abraham Lincoln battalions of Americans. Several have died in action, including Milton Herndon, brother of Angelo Herndon, Oliver Law and Alonzo Watson. Several Negroes are also serving with medical units. Dr. Arnold Donawa, Harlem dentist, and Salaria Kee, Harlem Hospital nurse who recently married an Irish volunteer, are serving with the American Medical Corps in Spain. Captain Walter Garland, who recently returned to this country on furlough, was in charge of one of the main Loyalist training bases up to his departure for the United States.

Jeff's Evening Classes Attract Women

On Monday and Wednesday evenings ladies in the district of Jefferson Evening High School have the opportunity to attend a class in games such as table tennis, badminton, and volley ball.

Other centers of enthusiasm at the school are the new Spanish groups under instruction of Mr. Smith and the Commercial groups under Mrs. Ross. On Tuesday and Thursday from seven to nine, Mr. Smith has a large group of beginning students and two smaller groups in advanced work. A similar plan is followed by Mrs. Ross who is working with three different levels in the study of Gregg Shorthand.

The new classes recently announced in Public Speaking under Mr. Whaley are on Tuesday and Thursday from 6:30 to 9:30.

Mr. Long, the evening school counselor will meet applicants each evening from 6:00 to 8:30 p. m. in the school office to assist them in choosing a program.

South Africa to Probe Inter-marriages

CAPE TOWN, So. Africa—The South African Government last week appointed a Commission to investigate reports of increasing frequency of marriages between Natives and Europeans. After the inquiry the Commission will be asked "to recommend whether it is necessary that any further steps should be taken to discourage such marriages."

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

FATHER AND SON BANQUET

The Boy's Work Committee of the 28th Street Branch YMCA has set Thursday, April 7, as the date for the annual Father and Son banquet, which will be held at the YMCA.

Due to limited space, it will be necessary to limit the number of reservations.

A program of interest to all is being planned by the committee in charge. For further information call the YMCA, ADams 7193.

To Probe Segregation at Armstrong-Rightmire Battle in Chicago Recently —An investigation of the Jim-crow seating arrangements at the Armstrong-Rightmire battle here loomed this week following publication of a story in the Mid-west Daily Record of this city revealing that Henry Armstrong featherweight champion, had decided never again to fight in any show promoted by Mique Malloy, white Chicago fight promoter, because of discrimination against Negro fight fans.

Investigation of Malloy's segregation of Negroes at the International Amphitheatre will be demanded at the next meeting of the Illinois Boxing Commission, John W. (Monk) Harris, deputy boxing commissioner, said this week. Commenting on the Record's story, Harris said:

"I'm glad to see a Chicago paper stand up and fight this situation.

"Some of the Negro newspapers have retreated from forcing the issue, because they fear a loss of advertising."

In its story exposing the jim-crow seating arrangements at the bout, the Record said:

"Armstrong didn't take much time to show his ability as king of swat Friday night at the International Amphitheatre when he laid Everett Rightmire among the lilies in the third sesson.

"But Malloy showed hs hand long before the fight started, when he shoved Negro fight fans into a segregated area in the stands."

Lauding Armstrong's decision not to take part in any show promoted by Malloy the Record said:

"Armstrong clearly recognized that the promoters regards him primarily as a shekel-producing machine, and as such treated him with a great deal of respect.

"But when a promoter tried to introduce a Jim-Crow practice in an arena, where thousands of his race came to see him do his stuff, Henry balked.

"It just doesn't go with him!

"And the intention of not fighting wih a Jim Crow promoter should be lauded as a sign of true loyalty and sportsmanship on the part of a real champion."

GRANDDAUGHTER OF BOOKER T. HONORED

NEW YORK CITY, March 17. —Miss Nettie T. Washington, 20, granddaughter of famed educator Booker T. Washington, has been granted a scholarship at New York University. FORMAL RECEPTION SPONSORED BY PARK AVE. CHURCH

The members and friends of the Park Avenue Baptist church adult missionary society were guests of the social committee of the society at a formal reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jackson on corner of 12th and Park avenue, Monday evening, Feb. 28.

The austere black and white of the men's costumes made a perfect foil for the lovely gowns in every shade worn by the ladies.

Members of the Red Circle auxiliary served as waitresses.

A large part of the evening was spent in interesting discussion and games introduced by Mrs. Felix and others.

ATKINS-HAMILTON MARRIAGE TOLD AT BIRTHDAY PARTY

The marriage of Jules Atkins to Allitta Hamilton last September 16 in San Bernardino was revealed Saturday evening at a surprise birthday party for Mrs. Atkins and Mrs. Ann Powell. The party was hosted by Andrew Powell and Mrs. Preston Davis in the Davis home at 1135 East 35th street.

Following the opening of birthday gifts, a scroll was read announcing the marriage. The pair were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Powell. A round of events have been scheduled to fete the couple; the first of which will be held Sunday, March 13, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Reese in East Adams Blvd. to which one hundred friends have been invited. Mr. and Mrs. Atkins are at home at 1135 East 35th street.

The GARDENIA Girls Bridge club held their social meeting with Mrs. Oliver. Guest prizes were awarded Mmes. Jones and Scott; club prizes Mmes. Reed Anderson and Miller.

The TWELVE Socialites club met with Mrs. Marceline Baker, Thursday evening, March 10, at the home of Mrs. Georgette Epperson, 905 E. 52nd St. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Agnes Martin, 1012 East 43nd street.

LIBRARY BOOK NOTES

By Miriam Matthews

The layman who thinks of the library primarily as a place for books does not realize that the most vital and up-to-date department of the modern library is the collection, small in bulk but large in value, which contains clippings, prints, maps and pamphlets, according to Florence A. Henry in the Wilsan Bulletin for Librarians.

"In the epoch-making events of the last ten years, in the chaos resulting from inflation of agriculture and business, in the increase in productivity, in problems of unemployment, in the experiment of prohibition, in labor difficulties, in struggles of political parties, in governmental corruption, in war against crime, in short, all the greatest problems of the period of posterity and depression, the pamphlet has emerged as the mouthpiece of every movement of importance," states another librarian in a recent article in the American Library Association Bulletin.

Among the pamphlets recently received at your branch libraries is 'CLASH IN THE PACIFIC', by T. A. Bisson and Ryllis Alexander Goslin which will aid the reader in the discussion of this important international problem by providing a balanced background to help him make up his own mind.

Recent International Conciliation pamphlets present: "QUESTION ON U. S. POLICY IN THE CHINA CONFLICT"; THE MEDITERRANEAN PROBLEM: INTERESTS AND POLICIES OF ENGLAND AND ITALY"; and "A RUSSIAN VIEW OF THE MOSCOW TRIALS."

Labor problems are covered by new pamphlets on "LABOR AND THE NATION", "LABOR RELATIONS BOARD DECISIONS 1935-1937" and "THE C. I. O.: PROMISE OR MENACE?"

John W. Davis, President of West Virginia State College, surveys the educational field in "PROBLEMS IN THE COLLEGIATE EDUCATION OF NEGROES" which includes teachers and teaching, vocational guidance, placement, finance, research graduate work, standardization and co-ordinated effort.

These are only a few of the interesting subjects to be found in the pamphlet files of the Vernon Branch Library, 4504 South Central Ave., and the Helen Hunt Jackson Branch Library, 2330 Naomi Avenue.

Festival of Allied Arts Holds Scholarship Contest May 8

Talented young artists who wish to pursue their studies are invited to compete in the scholarship contest and exhibition to be held by the art division of the Southern California Festival of the Allied Arts in Los Angeles, May 8-31. Registration blanks and complete information are available at the office of the Women's Community Service Auxiliary of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, 1151 South Broadway, Los Angeles, the organization sponsoring the contest.

The exhibition will be held at the Los Angeles Art Museum, Grace S. Stoermer, president of the group, and Mrs. Oliver C. Bryant, art chairman of the festival, stated yesterday. All entries must be received not later than April 16.

Scholarships offered include one full year each in painting, sculpture and ceramics at the University of Southern California, two summer school scholarships in art for reproduction at Chouinard Art School; private instruction in portrait painting under Keith Martin; and one full year in painting at Scripps College under Mildred Sheets.

PAROLED BANKER BINGA TO DO RELIGIOUS WORK IN HIS RACE

CHICAGO, Mar. 17. (ANP) —Following his release last Friday from Joliet prison where he had served three years of his one-to-ten-year sentence for embezzlement in connection with the defunct Binga State Bank, Jesse Binga said this week that he would devote the remainder of his life to religious work among his people.

Former Banker Binga's spectacular rise as a business man and financier reads like a page from a fiction story. Coming to Chicago during the first World Fair in 1893, with a $10 bill in his pocket, and jobless, he soon got his bearings and in two decades that followed, ran up his "original capital" to a fortune estimated by many at a million dollars.

The former banker has been paroled to the Rev. Joseph F. Eckert, pastor St. Anselm's Roman Catholic Church--to which, some years ago, Binga donated the sum of $1,000 for erection of a new building. Father Eckert asured parole officials that Binga would be paid $15 a week for working at the church. Asked concerning his future plans, Binga replied, "The only thing I have left now is my home. I'll live there alone; my wife died just before I was sent away. I'll manage to pay the taxes as best I can, and meanwhile I'll go among my people and tell them the only right way to live is in the footsteps of God".

Outdoor Life Building Fund Report is Made

In the financial report of the Outdoor Life and Health Association Building Fund for 1937 released this week revealed that the Assistance League, woman's auxiliary, lead in respective treasury reports with a balance of $161.39; the Crusades follow with a balance of $50.55.

The report records $1680.61 as the amount raised for the construction work on the rest home in Duarte and expenditures of $1605.88; leaving a balance of $74.73 increased by auxiliary balances to $380.19. Auxiliaries other than the above-mentioned include Westside, South Los Angeles, West Temple Juniors, South Los Angeles Juniors.

According to J. H. Shackleford, membership campaign chairman, the returns are expected to show effective work in the report Friday evening. Mr. Shackleford also announced that no damage was suffered by the rest home during the recent flood.

Tells of Conditions Facing Africans in Fatherland

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Mar. 17 (ANP)—The Connectional Ministerial and Layworkers Council of the AME church held in connection with the Bishops Council here last week heard an address by Mrs. R. R. Wright last Friday morning when Mrs. L. M. Hughes, Cameron, Tex., president of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Society, presided. Using for her subject "Some of the Great Needs of our Fatherland" Mrs. Wright, who recently returned to America after two years of service in South African Mission fields, told her audience who represented all parts of the United States and several foriegn countries that she traveled with her husband, Bishop R. R. Wright, who is the presiding episcopate of the South African district, over 4,00 miles by automobile and camel, striving to carry the message of hope to the remotest section of the dark continent.

Education for the African people is not fostered by the government, but is almost entirely carried on by the church, Mrs. Wright said. Nearly every school is carried on in church edifices or it is built adjoining a church building. School faciliites are very uncomfortable — unevened dirt floors, backless benches, and paneless windows. The children walk from 7 to 10 miles to and from school, she stated. Social workers and medical science missionary workers, together with modern clinics, are much needed, she added. The high death rate brought to bear because of the lack of medical care is increasingly great. Ordinarily 6 babies out of 10 die before they are one year old, but in the mining sections, 8 babies die before they are one year old. The people are in great need, not only of the gospel of Jesus Christ but they are in need of education and hospitalization. Mrs. Wright said she and her husband hope to carry a clinic back with them when they return.

Better Church School Sun. at Trinity

Sunday will mark the initial observation in the "Better Trinity" program of Trinity Baptist church which will last for eight weeks. "Better Church School Sunday" is the slogan for this week and arrangements are being made to accomodate two hundred purposes in the Sunday School at 9:30. At eleven, the pastor, Dr. J. L. Caston, will preach at the special consecration service for al lchurch school workers. His subject for discussion will be "Doing Lip Service to Christian Education".

Rev. Maynard Turner, general superintendent for the Sunday School and his committee on Christian edueation will have chargé of the day. All members of the church school faculty will sit in a reserved section and parents are urged to be present. In addition to calling attention to the special day the pastor stated, "Every member of Trinity is faced with a great challenge at this ime and all loyal Trinityites are expected to be in their places Sunday."

There was absolutely no reason for indulging in solitude by the fireside last weekend for the calendar was quite heavy. Starting the activities the Trojan club trooped over to Julia Taylor's place Saturday night to do a bit of informal career planning with Floyd Covington.

Around the friendly chat circle, deep in debate were Prexy Chris Wright, pointing out the merits of his chosen field—Helen Owens standing up staunchily for her desire to be a teacher—T. J. Jackson, arguing in behalf of his latest (to this date) chosen career—Inez Hamilton, proving quite ladylike but firmly that they're going to be needing Spanish teachers quite soon around her—Earlene Chase, not quite definitely sure what field she's going out to conquer— and Adelaide Gladden, who has her career ship headed straight for a biological port.

In the living room by the fire, we stumbled over Cato Robinson not discussing any particular profession but deep in some dark intrigue with Nolan Payton, Bill "Windy" Wynn, and Johnny Simmons.

Munching on a potato chip which we had borrowed from Georgia Williams was Charles Ray, trying to handle a debate on one hand with Thaddeus Jeffers and Mr. & Mrs. Richardson as the other participants, while Dillard Brown and Mr. Ingersoll slipped out unobtrusively before they became involved in the sundry heated discussions.

Taking the beaten path back to the east side we barged in on Lillian Singleton's and Frank Tillie's party which was just reaching its peak when we arrived.

Swinging his lady fair—June Baker to "You're a Sweetheart" Alan Robinson was seen cutting some fancy shenanigans while Big Brother Jimmie Robinson took good care of Betty Smith for the evening. Comparing notes on the steps they were going to execute during the next dance were Alberta Dawson and Johnny Randolph—while Oddie Walker and Bernice Eblong wandered off in search of refreshments which Coty Johnson was helping to dispense with the aid of her co-host escort.

Our view obstructed by a sandwich we collided with Florence Gagnet whose escort, Harold Batiste, saved us from making a grand slam on the floor—Chuckling over our predicament was Alpheus Brewer with Ruby Hammond and Vera Henderson with Harold Garibaldi to cater to her whims for the evening.

We trotted up to the Elks, Sunday evening to see Bojangles vs. Million Dollar. Among enthusiastic basketball fans, we picked out the Frank LaVignes, the Eddie Atkinsons, the Hilliard Greens the Curtis Smiths and the T. J. Davis.

In seats right on the field of action were Gwen McDaniels—Flo Riddle and Billy Turner.

When we could see through, over, and under the congratulatory handshakes for Wilbur Ashford, who really played a bang-up game we spied Roger Hogan—Veda Darby—Bob Craddock—Al Adams—George Roland—Bobby Green the Melvin Nickerson-Frances Carroll twosome—and Mrs. "Spot" Thornton, all tired out from being a one man rooting section.

Because the policy game here is in the hands of Negroes and it flourishes with virtually no official molestation, many Southsiders may run afoul of the federal government unless they have dealt squarely with Uncle Sam. Outcome of the probe is being awaited with interest.

The ALTA QUALIDADS met at the new home of Mr. and Mrs. James Slaughter on Ascot Ave., last Tuesday evening in their regular monthly social. Bridge and whist were the main diversions of the occasion. Mr. Hoxie, the club president, won the prize in dominoes and a beautiful wallet.

Oakland Elks, Daughters to Host Pacific States Confab

Athens Lodge, No. 70, of Oakland, and Mizpah Temple, No. 18, will be hostesses this year for the annual convention of the Pacific States Association of the IBPOE of W, the last week in June.

Thomas M. Jackson, chairman; H. L. Clarke, secretary; and Jas. M. Simms, treasurer.

The southern aggregation is preparing to bring up a special train of drum and bugle corps, marching clubs and drill teams. Athens Lodge band, under the leadership of Prof. Keaton, is getting in trim to compete with Golden West lodge band leader.

Since the last session, two new lodges have been set up in California by District Deputy W. R. Wingfield, 20th Century Lodge, No. 988, Fresno, San Joaquin lodge, No. 1016 at Stockton, and the Northwest association consisting of several lodges and temples has also joined the association, bringing the total number of lodges and auxiliaries up to about 54, with a membership of about 5000.

Sheriff Edward Smith, of Athens lodge, of the entertainment committee, supported by vice chairman Daughter Jayne Hudson, has promised a program for all Elks and their friends that will far surpass any session in the history of any state association of the order.

Athens lodge and Mizpah tempie are receiving numercus applications for re-instatements and new affiliations at this time under special dspensations granted by District Deputy W. R. Wingfield of Athens, and District Deputy Victoria G. Francis of Mizpah temple. From all indications the membership of the local lodge and temple will be doubled by the time of the convention.

W. R. Wingfield is chairman of publicity, assisted by vice chairman, Daughter Minnie Tyler.

PRISONER CUTS SELF; THEN GETS REPRIEVE

Monday night as he tossed on his bunk at State prison waiting for the dawn that would start him on the to the electric chair, Gus McKinney, a Memphian, suddenly grasped a piece of in, drew it sharply across his neck in an attempt to severe the jugular vein, then cut a vein in his left arm. Hardly had he completed his self inflicted mutilation when a message arrived, informing Deputy Warden C. C. Woods that McKinney had been granted a 30 day reprieve. Woods said the prisoner would recover.

NEGRO FILES FOR TULSA CITY OFFICE

TULSA, Okla. March 17—Wednesday morning in the midst of the initial rush at the City Auditor's office as city candidates filed for the Spring elections, wild excitement prevailed when it became known that a Negro, Lafayette L. Wilson, a hotel operator, filed on the Democratic ticket for Commissioner of Finance and Revenue. This is the first time a colored candidate has filed for a City office. Wilson's campaign manager, Wilbur Moffitt, president Tulsa Negro Democratic Club, said Wilson will not run under the banner of any faction, will make the race by himself.

BOOSTERS PLAN FETE FOR NOTED EDUCATOR

Sunday, April 10 is the date for the second annual program commemorating the birthday and life of Booker T. Washington by the Booster Club of Second Baptist Church. His service to the race and world at large as an educator and benefactor is of such nature that the Boosters have inaugurated a plan by which they hope to make these programs nation wide. The program will be at 8 o'clock and a prominent citizen of the community will deliver the main address with musical numbers and other features included.

Benton 'Lab' Declared Among Best

The laboratory of Benton's Drug Store, 48th and Central Avenue, headed by Dr. W. J. Benton is one of the finest in the city of Los Angeles on the basis of equipment as well as first class qaulity of products.

Dr. Benton, through untiring efforts and application of sound business principles has built one of the strongest and most widely-known institutions in the state. It is an institution because it has served as an inspiration to youths who earn their livelihood there and to those who profit by its efficient services.

The quality of products is proved by the ever-increasing popularity of and demand for Benton's products. "Call Benton's" has become a household phrase that carries with it the understanding, "Benton's has the best." A prompt delivery service that answers all calls at any time of the day or night is just one of the reasons why the young druggist has succeeded. Faith in his products' possessing what the buyer wants has won and kept many patrons. Most prominent among Benton's products is Beneseptol, sold at all drug stores.

No. Oakland Y Will Participate In Y Celebration

OAKLAND, Mar. 17—The North Oakland Branch YMCA, under the executive secretaryship of R. Thomas Smith, will take a very active part in the Semi-Centennial Celebration of the YMCA. At a recent meeting of the Board of Managers, plans were made for the work to be carried on in the Oakland Association, as a part of the national event. Meeting with the Board at his ime was Baxer S. Scruggs, Los Angeles branch executive secretary, Western Regional Executive for the observance.

MRS. FOSTER RITES TO BE HELD FRIDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Alice M. Foster, mother of Mrs. Alice Cunningham, of 839 East 33rd street, will be held Friday, at 2 P. M. from the chapel of Roberts Mortuary, with Rev. H. M. Collins officiating, assisted by Father Randolph Moore.

Mrs. Foster died at the home of her daughter early Tuesday morning after a prolonged illness.

She came to Los Angeles over 18 years ago from Denver and prior to that time had lived in Ft. Worth, Texas, where she has a host of friends. For six years Mrs. Foster served as matron of the Y. M. C. A., and was recognized as an influential factor in the early development of the East 12th street branch of that organization. Semi-blindness caused her retirement several years ago.

Only surviving relatives of Mrs. Foster are her daughter, Mrs. Cunningham, two foster brothers and a sister: Mrs. Clara Patton, Eugene and Gregory Hobson, of San Francisco and Oakland.

Interment will be in Lincoln Memorial Cemetery. Eastern Star chapter members will be in charge of burial ceremonies.

G. E. Dealer Observes 3rd Anniversary

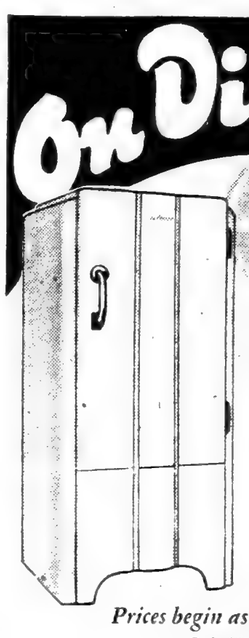
In this issue appears an advertisement of the Bureau of Water and Power and the General Electric store of Zora Williams. Mrs. Williams' store is the oldest G. E. store on Central avenue. It is located in the Elks building, and in contributing to rentals toward the upkeep of this Negro sructure, Mrs. Williams is assisting in spreading the polcy of local editors, "don't spend your money where you can't work".

The patronage of the Negro citizenry has made possible the award of "The Dealer's Cup", a trophy awarded by the distributor for the best job of selling done by the dealers in Los Angeles. This is the first time a Negro has been given this honor, which is concrete evidence of the splendid cooperative efforts of her sales force, most of whom have been with her since the first year of organization.

In launching the spring campaign, the store is marking the third anniversary of successful operation and takes this means to thank the Negro public whose patronage has contributed to this success. Sales Manager Jim Zeigler is beginning this drive with a testimonial dinner to be served in the dining room of Mrs. George Maxie, 986 E. 52nd street.

Ironer specialist, Miss Ellen Pryor, will be on the floor of the Bureau of Power and Light, Vernon district, all this week with demonstrations of the perfect ironing job, and will continue them every Saturday afternoon at the store. Any lady may bring a sprinkled garment and see it ironed, and receive a gift for coming in.

MURRAYS AT HOME TO FRIENDS SUNDAY AT DUDE RANCH



Mr. and Mrs. Nollie B. Murray will be at home to their friends Sunday, March 20, at their Victorville Dude Ranch.

The Murrays are using this method to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary and want their friends to join them.

The Highway 65 leading to the ranch is reported in perfect condition.

The CHAUFFEURETTES, an organization of chauffeur's wives, met at the home of Mrs E. Shelby for diversion on their husband's "night out". Mrs. Henrietta Thompson, an attractive bride of a few months, joined the club.

FLORENCE LAKE RESERVOIR
ELEVATION 7,329 FEET

High among the lofty peaks of the Sierra Nevada Mountains lies Florence Lake, one of three principal storage reservoirs of the Edison Big Creek-San Joaquin River hydro-electric system.

Its winter storm-born waters are used to generate electricity in a series of Edison power houses and, this useful task done, to irrigate farm lands of the San Joaquin Valley.

refreshing relief . . . that good feeling

when you get the benefit of BLACK-DRAUGHT for Constipation

IT is better for you if your body keeps working as nature intended. Food wastes after digestion should be eliminated every day. When you need a laxative, take Black-Draught for prompt, refreshing relief. It is purely vegetable, made from plants widely used and scientifically approved for their good laxative qualities.

Black-Draught is a truly good laxative which benefits the lower part of the digestive system. Many persons have found that in long-standing cases of constipation it was not necessary for them to increase the size or frequency of the dose of Black-Draught in order to secure full evacuation. And many have found that by a slight change in the diet, and an increase in the consumption of liquids, the dose of Black-Draught may be reduced until it is no longer necessary except for temporary upsets. This proves that Black-Draught is not habit-forming.

Be sure you get this purely Vegetable Laxative

Remember that Black-Draught is made to perform the real duties of a laxative. It is made to give you refreshing relief from constipation. It is not only thoroughly effective, but it is economical as well. When you buy Black-Draught, you pay for what you really want—and that is dependable, easy relief from constipation.

Chatter Styles Home Hints

Chatter and . . . Some News

By HELEN F. CHAPPELL

The characteristic lull of the Lenten season is far from dull . . . what with women busy retiring to conference rooms to spring mammoth celebrations and conventions . . . the calendar teems with deep themes that tempts one to wax editorial-ish on the business of living . . . but you can attend the sundry confabs and hear and think for yourselves—huh? Much better than a lowly reporter could or would dare . . . to suggest that you think.

Sunday brought a high wind . . . that did no damage to Sol's brightness. Braved the intermittent showers in the a. m. to Eighth and Towne to join in welcoming Rev. Collins back from the Alabama sojourn . . . that had its bright side despite the reverend brethren "figurin' " on expenses instead of sunshine . . . Met after the services, Mrs. Pearl Carol Owens (hope I spelled the lady's name right) . . . who's visiting in the Angel City until June. Mrs. Owens, night superintendent of the Oklahoma State hospital for ladies, is being hosted by friends at 1540 East 41st street . . . more about her later.

THE WORD IS PROGRESS:

Hundreds of people . . . creening their necks and voicing laudations . . . giving ear to proud hosts and guides, weaving in and out among flowers and peeking into shiny new offices . . . touching a "first" table and feeling a part of the history that spells unbounded heights. Inspired . . . happy to greet friends, but not forgetting that down the corridor past the sturdy offices of worthy officials . . . there is delectable "progress cake" and "progress punch" . . . quoting A. J. Williams, manager of the Los Angeles office, and in charge of Sunday afternoon's reception celebrating the opening of new offices for the L. A. District of Golden State Mutual. Saw there Mrs. Irene Freeman, 'personality lady', in blue . . . and was happy to meet Mrs. William Nickerson in a new pillbox chapeau . . . that added more youth to her already youthful face . . . and to shake hands with Mrs. George Beavers in a navy spring hat . . . spreading inimitable Southern charm . . . and Hattie McDaniels, gracious cinema star.

Time out to attend the last half of Gray's Music Conservatory's concert featuring Robert V. Edwards . . . offspring of Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew who had a right to beam at the appreciation accorded her talented daughter, . . . Robert, shy and unassuming, was prettily attired in an aqua taffeta gown with wine velvet jacket . . . and wine piping the bottom of a full skirt.

MONDAY OFFERINGS:

Two hours in the home of Mrs. Emily Brown Portwig on West Thirty-fifth Street listening to the Girls Reserve wax eloquent . . . and intelligent . . . sometimes facetious . . . on "Kissing and Necking" . . . 'steadies', 'dates', and the like, was worth two weeks of sunshine. Elders who believe the moonlight and roses are "sending youngsters to the dogs", have several more "thinks" coming . . . the sweet things know the ground on which they are treading . . . let the moon go hang. They've got it all figured out and I think I'll be taking lessons ere long. Enjoyed eating spaghetti and chatting with Mrs. Portwig afterwards.

The debs and co-eds who're donning their latest sports outfits for the Kappa Alpha basketball game slated for Saturday night can tuck them away until April 2 . . . the game's postponed for more reasons than one . . . the game being all of them.

Congratulations galore: To Louis Blodgett who celebrated his ? birthday last Thursday . . . to the Phelix Meadows', 112th Street, who marked up twenty-five years of wedded bliss Sunday; to Edgar Hampton who quietly took unto himself for life, Mrs. Ella Traeye on March 4. Rev. N. H. Peoples of Indianapolis welded the pair in the Avalon Christian Church parsonage. Friends are surprised but happy . . . the Hamptons are temporarily at home at 1285 East Santa Barbara. Happy sailing. And good wishes to the Nolie Murrays of Victorville who are "silver-anniversarying" Saturday, March 19. May the next twenty-five years be even happier for you.

Glad to hear that W. H. Wofford, Streamlyner's prexy, is entering the road marked "To Recovery" . . .

Thanks to Mrs. L. M. Borders for the note and kind tip . . . Leonard McClain of whom she is justly proud is more than Alpha man at Wiley College. He's an ace basketeer and valuable to Alma Mater . . . sports brought added pleasure when he journeyed with the Wiley quintet to New Orleans to play Xavier University during the Mardi Gras. . . . See you!

Eastern Visitors Cocktail Honorees

More than seventy-five guests were included on the invitational list when Mrs. Hilda Mars recently entertained to honor Miss Joyce Reese of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Madden of Baltimore, Maryland with a cocktail party in her home on East Twenty-third Street .The hostess was attired in a dark green street dress with a corsage of fresh gardenias. The table was very beautifully arranged and a constant stream of guests called from five to eleven o'clock.

MARIE BRAWLEY IS DELTA HEAD FOR "MAY WEEK"

Nu Sigma Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority will observe its annual "May Week", national education Week of the organization, under the leadership of Soror F. Marie Brawley, it was announced this week following an afternoon meeting, Mar. 12, in the home of Soror Cornelia Bradford, 1728 W. 51st Street with Soror Dorothy Johnson as co- hostess and the president, Honore Moxley Carey in charge.

Among other activities of national interest in which the group will participate include the observance of "Negro Musicians and their Music" under the leadership of Soror Alberta Mayo-James. In the local entertainments are scheduled an affair honoring the Delta Mothers and Sponsors Club and a concert. Sorors V. Brown, W. Sims, and I. Lovelady will represent the organization in the youth survey.

Saturday afternoon's program culminated in the review of Benjamin G. Brawley's latest books, "Negro Heroes and Builders and "The Negro in Literature and Art."

BEAUTIFUL LADY

Three new and beautiful shades of nail polish. And I can bet my bottom dollar that the men folks will like them! Aren't the names intriguing? Wisatia . . . a pinkish mauve that is faintly different. And ever so chic with blues, grays and black. It happens to be my favorite . . . right now. Laurel is a smoky tone with a rose cast. Heather another smoky tone of shell beige. You'll find that all three of these are designed for real charm instead of the "flash" we know so much about.

STYLE CHATS

Mimosa yellow! It is a heavenly new color! It is truly stunning with blue, gray and black. Mimosa, a dainty little velvet flower of springtime, is piled high on a bowl-shape hat crown and isn't this enchanting? . . . tied with a blue veil over the face and hat. "Booters" are decidedly new. They are of mimosa yellow rough straw, made like a man's straw hat and anchored to the chin with huge veils tied in a very quaint manner.

Spring coats, distinctive, yet simple in cut and in dark or neutral shades. Most coats are of the furless type with extremely smooth and trim waistlines and diaphragms. The real news is the neckline. First the heart-shaped cut that comes just below the collarbone. Another has a line that mounts to a high point in back just like some of the new shoes. Gray, black and navy (both pale gray and a darker elephant tone) are the colors stressed. Buttons trim the new coats on the ops of sleeves or right in the middle of a pair of revers. Pockets are among the new changes. They hang in peplum effect at the waistline or are placed on top of the sleeves or the chest of a coat.

Parisian . . . another over night new color. I find it in gabardine, suede or smooth slav shoes in bags and belts, jewelry and boutonnieres. It's a bright rusty tone made especially to contrast with black, navy and gray costumes for spring.

'ART OF BETTER LIVING' IS CLUB INSTITUTE THEME FOR SAT. A. M.

Judge Ben Lindsay, Dr. Maude Wilde Are Speakers

Notable on the club calendar this week is the "Club Institute" to be held Saturday morning, March 19, at 10 o'clock in the 12th street branch YWCA, under the direction of Mrs. Esther T. Greenly, superintendent of education and literature for the California Federation of Colored Women's Clubs. The general theme of the assembly will be the "Art of Better Living". Speakers will include Ben Lindsay of the Juvenile Court and Dr. Maude Wilde, president of the Child Guidance Clinic.

Judge Lindsay has chosen for his subject: "How Club Women Can Best Aid the Local Juvenile Department;" his address is scheduled for 11:40 and will be preceded by Dr. Maude Wilde, president, the Child. guidance Clinic, in a discussion on "Present Day Problems of the Mother--How They are Solved" at 10:30.

Luncheon is scheduled for 12:30 and re-assembly for 1:20 which will open with an address by Mrs. Francis Thompson of the motion picture department of the federation. Other speakers for the afternoon include Frederick Roberts, Miriam Matthews of Vernon Street Library; and Miss Dorothy Guinn, executive secretary of the Twelfth Street Branch YWCA who has chosen to speak from the subject, "Culture As Interpreted by Young America".

Discussnons will be interpersed with solos by Mrs. Jessie Coles Grayson, and Miss Georgene Brown accompanied by Miss Olivia Mae Daniels.

FORESTRY WEEK EVENT HELD IN PHILAMATHEON CLUB

The Philamatheon Club House of Santa Monica, beautifully decorated with Japanese flowering crepe, almond blossoms and calla lillies, was the scene of Wednesday evening's celebration of forestry and conservation week by the department of forestry and conservation of the California F. C. W. C. Mrs. Mable Gray, state president, was presented in an official message to the Philamatheon and Bay Cities Civic and Business Clubs. She recounted the history of the federation's standing briefly and elucidated on activities planned for the current year with special attention to the convention which will be held here in June.

Mrs. Itasica McCall, president of the Bay Cities grou . presided in the absence of Mrs. Anna Coleman, Philamatheon president, who was ill. The state president was presented with a basket of pink roses; the forestry and conservation superintendent, Billie McFarland, with almond sprays.

MEALS THAT SCORE

BUTTERS USED FOR HORS D'OEUVRES:

Anchovy butter—garnish with sliced stuffed olives around edge, strips, of pickles across center.

Lobster butter—garnish with minced pimento around edge, strips of green pepper in design in center.

Sardine butter—garnish with minced egg, white in center, and strips of pimento around edge. Catsup butter—garnish with lattice of anchovy fillets.

Out, out brief candle, life's but a falling shadow,
A poor player that struts and frets his hour upon
The stage . . . and then is heard no more.
It is a tale, told by an idiot, full of sound and fury . . .
Signifying . . . nothing . . . —SHAKESPEARE.

And from the utter resignation of this Shakespearean passage have come the titles for no less than three of the best sellers of several years, ago . . . "Brief Candles" . . . "Falling Shadows" . . . "Told By An Idiot" . . and going further, witness 'Esquire's' "Sound and Fury" column . . . which gives to us an iota of an idea as to just how far we have come along . . . literature-ally speaking . . . with the aid of the beloved Bard of Avon. Southern California's unforgettable moon floods are upon us now . . that light whose silvery paleness gives fey beauty to verdure and wooded places, silently washes down the white houses along the way to an aspect at once ghost-like and beautiful . . . across the cold brilliance a feathered pepper tree looks askance at the bare, shameless limbs of a weathered walnut . . . out Pasadena way most of the (sparse enough) lights go dim very early . . . whenever moonlight seems akin to sunlight in brightness . . . and we . . . leniently, give the City Fathers the benefit of the doubt . . . putting it down as an aesthetic, rather than an economic step forward.

Mr. and Mrs. James Woods of Pasadena's Vernon Avenue . . . their recent intimate luncheon party . . . which included Chicagoans for the most part . . . was given to honor Mrs. Charles Crooks, visiting from Chicago, and wife of a prominent mortician there; and Frank Edwards . . . who is, undoubtedly, foremost in Chicago's business ranks . . . another of those delightful occasions that come, now and then, to break the hum-drum of life's ceaseless activity . . . spent an enjoyableafternoon 'mid reminiscences anent the pulse of Chicago's business and social life . . and the inimtable Woods' hospitality . . . other guests included Mrs. Robert Harper, Chicago; Mrs. Charles Bellinger, San Antonio; Mrs. Irene Wilbert; Chicago; Mrs. James Nelson, former Chicagoan and co-owner (with her well-known husband) of the Dunbar; Mrs. Netta Paullyn Garner, Mrs. Della Gilmore; and Doctors, Edna Griffin, Brandon Bowlin and J. H. McRiley.

The Robert Keyeses, prominent Pasadenans who maintain an hospitable manse in Forest Avenue, entertained last Sunday for their close friends, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Maupins . . . Mr. and Mrs Keyes, known alike for their civic interests, club and social activities, invited in a number of ther frends to honor the Maupnses . . . who are in Beverly Hills while visiting out from Chicago . . . among them: Mrs. Robert Harper, Frank Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. James Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Muse, Mrs. Netta Paullyn Garner, Anderson Taylor.

PASANGELO BRIEFS:

Eminent divine, Dr. W. R. Carter, leader of Southern California's colored Baptists, delivered another of his characteristically stirring sermons last Sunday before the congregation Friendship Baptist Church, Pasadena . . . Mrs. Roy Turner, wife of Pasadena's photographic artist, is convalescing at her Orange Grove Avenue home . . . which IS good news . . . and the regular monthly session of the Chicago Union and Charity Club ! . as always steered by the trustworthy hands of Mrs. Eva C. Burton, energetic president . . . was held in the rooms of the Club's home just this Sunday afternoon past . . . with a creditable representation of former Chicagoans and their friends present . . . and Pasadena Community Sing's charter member, Bernice Burch, soprano songbird, is back with us again . . . looking decidedly well . . despite her recent illness . . AND Angelenos as well as Pasadenans . . . bent on a several days' . . . or months' for that matter . . . rest . . seem to invariably seek out the quietude that is Dr. Brandon A. T. Bowlin's Grace Sanitarium . . . admirably located as it is . . . in a wooded park . . . just off Pasadena's Mountain St. Reservations pour in from Los Angeles . . where enthusiasts, interested in the forthcoming breakfast meet of the Pasadena Fellowship League . . . to be held Sunday morning, April third . . are definitely re-assuring themselves of a seat at the breakfast board . . . in good earshot of the splendid speaker who is to appear this month . . monthly sessions take place in the Garner Foundation hall, 470 Blake St. . . reservations may be secured by phoning TErrace 0735 . . or a card, addressed to the Foundation will assure you your place . . . Pasadena's Garner Chorus activities for the forthcoming spring and summer season are being rapidly formulated . . with twice weekly rehearsals being held . . Monday and Thursday evenings, 7:30, in the auditorium of the North Lincoln and Peoria Avenue elementary school.

And Pasadena's Grace Sanitarium Ladies' Auxiliary set a precedent last Friday . . . for despite the downpour . . . there came an enthusiastic throng to witness the exhibition bout that thme Auxiliary sponsored at the Pasadena Arena . . and featuring, besides five preliminary attractions, a fistic encounter between champion Henry Armstrong and Tno DiRama . . all in all there was an exceptionally fine spirit of cooperation and interest manifest by both racial groups . . . and Ladies of the Auxiliary came away with a sizeable increase in their treasury . . . Mrs. Frances Johnson, recording secretary to the Auxiliary, exerted her influence to procure the services of champion Armstrong . . and she was ably assisted in helping the activity toward success by Mmes. Ada Irby, president; Sharnette Floyd, secretary; and Bessie Railsback, treasurer . . . proceeds from the affair go to help needy folk who are unable to pay for Sanitarium treatment . . . and Palm Sunday will see this identical group of ladies pouring tea . . a Sanitarium annual affair" . . . this year to be held in the Claremont St. residence of Mrs. Clara Brown . . . number 509 . . and all preparation is being made for a record attendance to top even last year's one thousand or more who passed through the cheery doors of Grace Sanitarium for tea and a wafer with the charming ladies of the Auxiliary and to greet its estimable head Dr Brandon A. T. Bowlin . . . so that you have a date for tea, April 10 . . Sunday, from four until seven o'clock.

AAROUND AND ABOUT IN PASADENA

Newest . . . and well forward . . . addition to the ranks of Pasadena's club groups is the recently organized Gay Cavalliers . . . and it numbers James Gooden and Joe Taylor within its enterprising personnel . . . and for the most part, members of the younger crowd in both Pasadena and Los Angeles . . . are in a body awaiting . . anxiously . . to see if their names appear thereon . . I refer to the ultra select invitation list that the boys are compiling . . . . . guess to whom they will play host at a rather distinct Easter Sunday "danse appres midi" . . and for which they have reserved the Garner Foundation hall . . . to all appearances . . . even in its embryo stage . . . this group of squires is about to set precedents . . AND: speaking of new organizations . . I give you Les Ingenues Demoiselles . . as pretty a bevy of youngsters as boasts any county . . . numbered among the members are: Antoinette "Tony" Jones, Bettye Yarborough and Savalleita Duncan . . . and my advice to the prep schoolsters and junior college crowd is to begin NOW to eat lighter lunches, ease up on movies and malts . . . for Les Ingenues Demois elles are to give a subscription dance . . . on April Fool's day . . . which means you're expected to be on hand . . . Friday evening, April first, from eight until twelve . . . to dance . . . in Pasadena's Garner Foundation hall . . . and as a postlude, "Tony" informs me that there'll be a refreshment stand to give you added "c'mon!" . . AND: The Pasadena Rens (Rennaissance Club) played a return engagement to the dancing crowd last Sunday afternoon and evening with their tea dansante . . . held in the Foundation . . with a representative throng of youngsters present for the enjoyment-crowded hours . . . Mrs. Frederich James sponsors the group . . SOON to go steaming away aboard the luxury liner S S. Lurline will be Frank Valley . . . Honolulu will be his destination; and there, amid its angourous clime Pasadenan Valley plans to remain on for nearly a year . . . The Joe Taylors are rejoicing anent the arrival of a new and tiny miss . . . thereby upping their little family by one . . . Mrs. Taylor is the former Eleanor White . . meanwhile brother Roy . . now a strapping young man of two . .

RESTAURATEURS OPEN IN PASADENA

or thereabouts . . is absolutely unaware that cherubic sister will soon be home to bill and coo for her share of attention and effectionate care . . . BY the time you read this Crown City Post's much heralded subscription dinner will have definitely made history . . . "comrades" of the Post aoly assisted by spouse-members of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Post, served close to two hundred persons throughout the day and evening on Thursday . . . using the Foundation hall for the affair . . . which I imagine was a part of their money-raising campaign now in full swing . . . what you will want definitely to know about is the Cabaret Dance that the Legionaires are sponsoring on the twenty-fourth . . . with the Riverside Drive Breakfast Club . . none other . . the very ultra chosen scene . . subscriptions have been more than nominally priced; and may be secured from any members of Crown City Post No 536 . . . Captain James G Hollingsworth and Walter E. Carter are Commander and Adjutant respectively.

The Misses Cleo Grasty and Bernice Howard, visitors to the Southland from Pittsburgh, Pa. . . the personable travellers were recent week-end house guests of the Milton Groomes at their Claremont Street residence . . . Both Miss Grasty and Miss Howard, residing for the present in Los Angeles, will entrain for Pittsburgh toward the middle of April . . . or at least in good time to be at home for the Easter season.

Visiting in Southern California is Chicagoan, Mrs. Charles Crooks, well-known in the business and social circles of that city . . . Mrs. Crooks, wife of a Michigan avenue mortician, is the house guest of Mrs. Marie Abernathy in Los Angeles' East 21st street.

Over at the Emanuel Johnsons in Pasadena's Pepper Street . . . the youngsters turned out in full array for a "chilibeanswing" . . last Saturday evening . . . . with a "big apple" contest et al . . . with Billy Cuoton at the helm of the latter . . . present were duos: Eleanor Peters, Sidney Heard; Louise Smith, James Heard; Elizabeth McCullough, Edward MacNeal; Esther Young, George Thomas; Barbara Reynolds, Ernest Cunningham; Ruth Smith, Walter MacNeal; Luzanne Young, Eugene Taylor; Frankye Arnold, Jeff Fisher; Josie Smith, Billy Cuoton . . . music was furnished by Johnny Ruffin . . . and there you have an evening that was just about tops for entertainment and an all-around good time.

By LUCILLE MARION DYE

WELL FOLKS! HERE I AM back on the job again with the latest jive. Let'er go. It's said that Chuck Burris threw Punch in Barbar Dell's face, for why Chuck? For why? . . . that Mary Jane Morris and Maurice Page will be announcing their engagemen soon. Guess I'll have to step up and be bridesmaic agin . . . Does absence make the heart grow fonder? Ask "Mic" Webb about Fred Harris former man about town, who now resides in Fresno . . . Ione Johnson is going around in a daze or what have we since Santa Anita race track closed. Cheer up Ione, Inglewood will be opened in a little while . . . Why the sudden coolness between Victor Lyons and Earline Bush, was it because of a little incident that happened at the Syndicators? Oh well, we all have our little scraps.

The three on a match for the week is June Baker, Charles Burris, and Ella Mae Graves. It seems as though he has quite a hard time keeping two chicks from meeting each other. May the best one win. . . . I wonder if it's the real thing between Margie Osborne and James "Mouse" Collins . . . Regeece Pierce is seen quite a bit in Pasadena is it for the climate or Dorothy Tabor?

THINGS I ENJOYED LATELY Being a delegate to the Newspaper conference at USC . . . Being a guest of the Evening Herald and having my picture in their paper . . . going out with Steve O'Neil very fine boy . . .so much for that. . . We hope to see Mr. Guy Houston, grandfather of Gertrude Brown well and out of the hospital soon. He has been very ill lately. . . Miles doesn't mean much to Allan "Hicky" Crozier and Thedora Jacobs they continue to be faithful to one another regardless of the fact that she's in Hollywood and he's in Palm Springs (working) . . . Opal Randal and Garlan Fields seems to be doing alright although something tells me Edmund Prescott is playing second fiddle . . . Ursula Crozier continues to be seen with the dashing young Charles Tony. When are Neile Adams and Connie Robinson going to tie the knot. Well, son I can assure you.

Brantly Tate is seen roving about with cute little Margaret "Peggy" Hvson. . . Lillian Singleton Party Saturday night proved very successful with all the cream of society posing there. . . What's this about Melvin Nickerson coming to meet Vera Collins in a Packard at Poly not so long ago, my, my. . . Wonder what Bill Williams is doing these days. . Well folks see ya' next week if they don't lynch me . . By the way Lewis "Billy" Bye (yours truly's Brother) is down here from Palm Springs for a while.

The public is invited to attend the linen shower for the rest home in Duarte, on Sunday afternoon from three to five at the 28th Street Branch YMCA sponsored by the ass iation and its

SORORITY AND FRATERNITY LEADERS MEET AT MARDI GRAS

NEW ORLEANS, March 17. (ANP)—Mardi Gras in New Orleans was the occasion of the unusual coincidence of the national executives of three collegiate Greek letter organizations meeting to discuss problems of interest to each of their organizations. Mrs. Vivian Osborne Marsh of Berkeley, Calif., national president of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, along with Mrs. Margaret Davis Bowen of New Orleans, supreme basileus of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, conferred with Dent of New Orleans, grand basileus of Omega Psi Phi fraternity, at his office at Flint Goodridge hospital of Dillard university.

The principal discussions were with regard to Delta Sigma Theta's activities in connection with the Anti-Lynch Bill and other legislative matters pertaining particularly to our group as carried on recenly by Mrs. Marsh in Washington and the proposed joint health project to be conducted beginning with 1939 by all of the greek letter fraternities and sororities based upon the five years experience of the Alpha Kappa Sorority's health work with rural Negroes in Belivar County, Miss.

The advantages to be gained in having all of the fraternities and sororities meet in the same place at least once in each college generation was proposed by Mr. Dent and favorably endorsed by Mrs. Bowen and Mrs. Marsh, and it was agreed that these three persons would form themselves into a committee to commit each of the collegiate greek letter organizations to meet in New York City during the 1939 by 1939 World's Fair.

Women's Breakfast Club Hears Mayor Frank Shaw

Mayor Frank L. Shaw was the speaker at the monthly meeting of the Women's Breakfast club last Sunday morning at the 28th street branch of the YMCA.

Addressing the group on the perpetuity of organization, the mayor lauded the purposes and efforts of the club for civic betterment of the community and encouraged lasting ideals. The mayor was introduced by Bishop Sara Butler.

Mrs. Faustina Johnson, chairman, presided over the meeting of the club which was organized by Walter Lawson, secretary of the Central Board of Trade.

It was announced that on Sunday, March 27, the club will sponsor a musicale at Independent church which will be under the direction of Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew, prominent chorister. This affair will be followed by another regular meeting of the breakfast club on Easter Sunday.

Miss Carrol Ivey, USC co-ed, is sponsor of the group.

STYLE NOTES

STYLE NEWS THIS week goes aristocrate and asks "What about your background?" . . . and that's not being personal either in the common meaning of the word . . it's just considering frankly what you're up against in this day of rioting colors and saucy hats. If you don't believe it close your eyes and imagine a blue room . . . not too dark . . and yourself as hostess in an emerald green gown. Put on a drab brown suit and get behind a sturdy oak desk in an oak paneled room In one you are liable to contract a severe case of eye strain; in the other you'll probably go to sleep when you enter the door . . . well, my lady, that's exactly the way you impress your guests or your public when you go shopping and forget the places in which you want to look your best. For dull backgrounds start a campaign for bright touches; . . . for garden affairs . . go pastel and flimsy . . for soft lights . . stock your wardrobe with folds and folds of mousseleine de soie and trains . . bright gems in your jewelry box . . . for street and sport . . . don a suit or a more feminine model that doesn't answer the too, too divine description.

Robert Kalloch, style authority at Columbia studios gives us a few pointers this week that are guaranteed "avenue of approach" to the masculine eye and heart:

1. Have at least one picture hat, tied under the chin with a gay bow. The latter adds that appealing "little girl" look.

2. Wear dresses of organdy, souffle, mousseline de soie and chiffon . . . distinctively feminine and fluffy.

3. Keep your street wear streamlined. Forsake frills for straight, simple lines and subdued colors.

4. Men weaken fastest at the sight of pink, so don't forget to don a dress of that color the night you hope to have him pop the momentuous question. . . . Take a man's word for your spring wardrobe, and I think you'll definitely have something there.

REV. H. M. COLLINS BRINGS 'MESSAGE OF THE STORM' AFTER STAY IN EAST

"Out of every storm there comes a blessing, because storms show up weaknesses and destroy flimsy structures," declared Rev. H. Mansfield Collins, Sunday morning in his first sermon following his return from the East where he attended the Bishop's and Connectional Council of the A. M. E. Church which met in Montgomery, Alabama, and visited in Cleveland, Chicago and Kansas City. Rev. Collins selected his subjected from the recent deluge in Southern California.

He pointed out that cities construct stronger fortresses and plan better methods of proteetion after a storm; Los Angeles, he believes, will be a stronger and better city. In applying the storm to individuals, Rev. Collins said, "There is no human soul no matter how good or gracious who can say, 'there is no storm in my life'".

REV. H. MANSFIELD COLLINS, pastor of First A. M. E. church, 8th and Towne, who returned from the Bishop's Council in Montgomery, Alabama last week.

REV. J. C. AUSTIN, esteemed and inimitable pastor of the Pilgrim Baptist church, Chicago, and a friend of Rev. Grant Harris of Zion Hill Baptist church here will begin a series of meetings at the latter church Tuesday evening, March 22.

Rev. Austin is nationally known and famous for his masterful sermons both in content and delivery. He comes to Zion Hill with new information and inspiration and the pastor, Rev. Harris, extends a hearty invitation to hear him to everyone.

He will be guest speaker at People's Independent Church of Christ, 18th and Paloma next Sunday morning. He will deliver both the eleven o'clock and 7:30 message.

A request sermon at the Seventh Day Adventist Church, 40th Place and Wadsworth Ave., will be presented Sunday night at 8 p. m. The pastor will speak on "The Two Witnesses of The Book of Revelation" and this promises to be a highly interesting topic. Sabbath (Saturday) will climax the Young People's spring week of prayer and the Communion service will follow the sermon at 11 a. m. The Sabbath school under the leadership of Dr. A. C. Garrott grows every week and plans are being laid to erect a Sabbath School building new to the church in which the marvelous work of this department can be better carried on.

Rev. E. E. Lightner, pastor of Lincoln Memorial Congregational church, will deliver the third sermon in a Lenten series Sunday: "Following the Trail of Jesus" at eleven o'clock. "At Ease in Zion" is the evening subject. Each Wednesday evening during Lent services will be held. Wednesday, March 23, Dr. E. W. Moore of Pasadena will speak on: "A Religion to Live By".

All parents are urged to send children to Sunday School and BYPU on time as well as to eleven o'clock services. Participants in "The Great Day" are requested to attend rehearsal Wednesday evening. Young ministers desiring to specialize in English may attend Goodwill Bible school each Monday, Tuesday and Friday at five p. m.

Rev. E. W. Rakestraw, minister of Wesley M. E. church, 8th and San Julian, will speak from the subject, "Christ and the Modern Age" in the morning and at the evening hour, "Christians Who Never Grow Up". A record attendance marked last Sunday's services to hear the pastor's discussion of "A Peculiar People".

ST. PAUL BAPTIST CHURCH
21st and Naomi
Rev. S. A. Williams, pastor

Rev. F. L. Taylor spoke at the eleven o'clock services last Sunday from the subject, "Steadfastness of the Church" There were three accessions at the close of the service.

Dr. James M. Riddles was the guest speaker at eight o'clock on "Living, Moving and Having our Being in God." Pastor S. A. Williams will bring a special lesson to the Bible Class Wednesday evening from the topic, "Light, Salt and City!" Everyone is invted to attend this meeting as well as the Missionary Movement each Thursday afternoon at 2:30.

Independent to Honor Pastor

The members of the People's Independent Church of Christ will honor their pastor, the Rev. Mr. Clayton D. Russell with an appreciation banquet on Friday evening, March 18, at eight o'clock in the church annex.

Rev. Russell will give highlights of his recent trip East to further a program of community service and review experiences in the midwest, east and south.

DR. CAPERS IN S. S. LESSON AT UNION

Dr. A. C. Capers reviewed the Sunday school lesson at the regular Baptist Ministers Union meeting Tuesday. Reports were made by the following committees: publicity, ministerial relief, and correspondence.

Discussion was given to the proposed publication of a Baptist paper and plans are now underway for the initial issue. A committee on Noonday services was appointed to serve until Easter.

McCOY CHOIR IN T. A. DORSEY PROGRAM

McCoy Memorial Choir will sponsor a Thomas A. Dorsey program Sunday, March 20, at three o'clock in the afternoon. Rev. J. A. H. Eldridge, pastor, announced that the songfest is dedicated to the composer whose songs are known in the mission fields of China and Africa as well as in the United States.

NOTICE

Mrs. Melba Hannah Thorne, one of the most celebrated musical artists of the city, will present her pupils in a recital Sunday afternoon, March 27, at the Zion Hill Baptist church. Rev. J. C. Austin will speak following the recital. Watch the EAGLE for further announcement.

'Matter' Science Subject Sunday

"Matter" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Christian Science churches, branches of The Mother church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The Golden Text is from the Psalms: "Tremble, thou earth, at the presence of the God of Jacob".

Among the Bible selections in the Lesson-Sermon are these verses from Revelation: "And the angel which I saw stand upon the sea and upon the earth lifted up his hand to heaven, And sware by him that liveth for ever and ever, who created heaven, and the things that therein are, and the earth, and the things that therein are, and the sea, and the things which are therein, that there should be time no longer."

A correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, states: "Breaking away from the mutations of time and sense, you will neither lose the solid objects and ends of life nor your own identity. Fixing your gaze on the realities supernal, you will rise to the spiritual consciousness of being, even as the bird which has burst from the egg and preens its wings for a skyward flight."

Young People's Day at Phillips Temple

Phillips Temple is presenting the young men and women of its membership in an all day service Sunday, March 20, under the direction of C. L. Bruce and Mrs. Bertha Wright.

Rev. Thurston Lomax, assistant pastor of Zion Hill Baptist church, will be the speaker and the young people's chorus of Zion Hill will sing. The worship service will be conducted by Rev. Phillip Moore assisted by Rev. Earl Johnson of the A. M. E. ion Church.

Several groups of young people have been formed to contest in attendance and financial receipts wth an award being offered the winning group. A feature of the evening service will be the debut of the Phillip's Young People's chorus under the direction of the famous Eilbrew Twins, Misses Kitty Jean and Maudie Jeannette.

Rev. Nana Walters left for Buffalo, New York Saturday evening. She has been interracial hostess for the past six years. In Buffalo she will open a healing mission.

Spring Bazaar at Second Baptist Slated

Keep these dates open for the Big Spring Bazaar of the Second Baptist Missionary Circle. Friends, you cannot afford to miss a single night. There will be an interesting musical program each night. Many booths with all kinds of beautiful handmade articles. The dress and apron booth will draw many. The Rummage booth and the Second Hand Booth will have wonderful bargains. This will be a splendid time for the houswives to make their spring purchases. Plenty of sandwiches, candies and all kinds of refreshments for sale each night.

Draw a big circle around Thursday night the 31st, for that is the night of the Hostess Banquet. In an atmosphere of spring with all its flowers and natural beauty, greeted by beautifully dressed ladies, you will be served a lovely turkey dinner with all the trimmings for only 50 cents per plate. The tickets are going fast so make your reservations early thru either of following: Sis. L. M. Erving, Sis. Nora Kendall or Sis. S. A. Reed, President of Mission. No one can afford to miss anyone of the four nights. We are counting on you.

The regular meeting of the Missionary Circle each Thursday afternoon from two to four at the church one well worth your attending. The circle seems to have taken on a new spirit this year, interest is high and the members under the leadership of Sis. S. A. Reed, president have a mind to work. Our attendance is increasing each week. Last Thursday the Circle listened to an interesting travelog of Europe by Sis. Dixon. This was followed by the lesson on. The Tabernacle, by Rev. Griffith, twice a month the pastor has charge of this lesson and twice a month the "New and Old Paths to Fertile Fields", our personal service book is taught by Mrs. N. F. Burton.

Our quartett served very efficiently last month in South Pasadena for the White Baptist Church. (Adv.)

Bethel Musical Tea Success

The Bethel AME Choir sponsored a musical tea at the YMCA on Sunday afternoon, March 6. The program featured Miss Amelia Guv in two solos accompanied by Miss Owens; Miss Lillian Denkins in a vocal selection accompanied by Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew who rendered "The Raven" by Poe.

The Willing Workers Club of Bethel is saving a penny a day during the Lenten season at the suggestion of Mrs. Leona Collier. Mrs. Zeoniba McDonald is president.

Trinity Baptist Church, West 36th and Normandie Streets where a special "Better Church" program begins Sunday. Dr. J. Lyle Caston is pastor.

'Awakening of Spring' Title for Vesper Concert Tuesday

The Vesper Octette and a treble choir of fifty voices will be presented in a spring recital on Tuesday evening, March 22, in the auditorium of the Second Baptist Church. Mrs. Anna Griffith Morrow, director, has announced that the spring motif will be carried out in all settings and that spring songs will fill the reportoire.

This group has been popular in music circles for more than two years having appeared before large audiences of various groups and on radio programs where they received commendable criticisms. Members of the octet include Margrete Pett, Rosie Talbert, Florence Crowley, Katherine Linsey, Esthel Griffith, Consuelo Van Vactor, Margiete Hearon and Sara Johnson.

Miss Dorothea Austin of Chicago will be the spring hostess; Margrete Pett and Julia Moore, sopranos; Willie Mays, contralto; Emma Smock, violinist; Diette Gross, whistler; Geneva Mae Bass, accompanist; and Benzell Graham with her own composition will represent the spirit of spring. A daisy chain processional made up of fifty ladies from other churches will assemble at 8:15 for the treble choir's processional. A garden setting of flowers, shrubbery, grass and trees enhanced by special lighting effect will be the background for the concert.

ZION TEMPLE CHURCH
1315 E. Vernon Avenue

Good attendance marked all services at the Zion Temple church, 1315 E. Vernon Ave., last Sunday, and Bishop Sara Butler expressed sincere thanks to all members and friends for their loyal support.

Sunday morning services will be featured by solos, and anthems by the choir, under the direction of Mr. Gilbert Allen, talented young musical director. The morning message will b delivered by Dr. Clark, with Healing and Prosperity services marking its close. At 7 o'clock, the Young People's Forum assembles to discuss the topic, "What Is Truth?"

Night services begin promptly at 8 o'clock. Bishop Butler will lecture upon the following subject, "Yourself". Everyone is requested to bring a pocket mirror with them. Special music will be furnished by the choir, featuring Madame Laura La Barrett of New York as guest soloist.

Weekly Meditation Thought, "Look up and lift up your heads; your redemption draweth nigh. If you would have perfect sight, you must have clear perception, high vision.

REV. S. M. BEANE TO OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY WEEK AT HAMILTON

Bishops Washington and Brown to Speak During Week

Beginning next Sunday, March 20, the Rev.. S. M. Beane and Hamilton M. E. church, of which he is the pastor, will celebrate the 19th anniversary of Rev. Beane's pastorship and the location of the church on the corner of East 18th street and Naomi avenue, it was announced this week.

The program for the week, which features services every night and which includes sermons by Bishop William A. Washington, and Bishop W. C. Brown, of the AME Zion church, is as follows:

The pastor will ope the week Sunday at 11 a. m., delivering a sermon from the subject, "After 19 Years". The Young Women's club will have charge of the service at the 7:30 hour, presenting Miss Dorothy Guinn, secretary, 12th street branch YWCA, speaker.

Monday night: Rev. R. B. Porter, choir and congregation, Progressive Baptist.

Tuesday night: Rev. E. W. Rakestraw, choir and congregation, Wesley M. E.

Wednesday night: Bishop W. A. Washington, choir and congregation, Bethel Holiness.

Thursday night: Rev. L. C. Cleaves, choir and congregation, Phillips Temple CME.

Friday night: Rev. W. R. Lovell, choir and congregation, First AME Zion.

Sunday, March 27: The anniversary sermon will be preached by Bishop W. C. Brown, of the AME Zion church.

The week will close with a church reception on Monday night, March 28, 8 p. m.

"Sense of the Vital", was Rev. Beane's subject at the morning worship Sunday. He declared that "The business of the church was not to put on a show, but to fathom and make known the vital things of life". These things, he said, "are the spiritual things".

Speaking of the vitalness of the relationship between God and Man, the Hamilton pastor said, "Doing the work of God with our own hands will 'put boots on our religion'".

The Young Women's club presented the church with a bulletin board at the morning service, with Prof. C. L. Eason acknowledging the gift. The Maids and Matrons Guild presented Mrs. Faustina Johnson at the evening service.

DOES THIS CALL FOR HUZZAS

DEAR Friends:

For the past few years, as you know, inter-fraternal athletics have been at a standstill. Realizing this fact, we, the leading fraternities, the Kappa Alpha Psi, and the Alpha Phi Alpha, are endeavoring to revive the old friendly rivalry of the basketball courts.

Beginning Saturday, March 19, we will sponsor a series of basketball games to be played at the Patriotic Hall Auditorium.

It is because of our brotherly feeling toward you that we are making a point of sending you a special invitation to be present at this gala affair "en masse".

Expecting your fullest co-operation, we remain

Sincerely

D. HUNT, Advertising Manager

JOHN BREWER, Polemarch

P. S. There will be a preliminary game, and also a dance on the lower floor immediately following the game. I'll be see'n ya'll.

The above missive was handed ye scribe, while sitting on a shoe shine stand the other day, by D. Hunt, himself, who, under less dignified circumstances goes by the name of Dunbar Hunt, and who, in his extreme youth, was a star of the Los Angeles Junior college track team and from there made assaults on the archives of track fame at Fresno college.

D. Hunt accompanied the profferring of the letter with some remarks anent: "We fellows feel that we shouldn't let those other fellows invade our territory so we're going to revive the old fraternity games . . . you know, like we use to have. Give us a big write-up, will you?".

We suppose after the stupor the local frats have been languishing in for lo these many years, we really ought to greet this announcement with loud huzzas and hurrahs: but there is something about the remarks that accompanied the written announcement, that, on second thought, stinks!

The writer has had objections to the basketball played by the "invading element" over in the Elks' auditorium every Sunday night, objections based on the set-ups the fellows met, which robbed the customers and showed poor sportsmanship; however, at least Ralph Cooper and his "casaba pirates", as the frats will have it, gave us some basketball.

It has been all of four years since the frats bestirred themselves from rug cutting and the accompanying liquid refreshment, to indulge in athletics.

In that interim Los Angeles languished for good clean sport and took up other things . . . like crap shooting and the numbers racket . . . who knows . . .

Bad games, and all, at least you've got to give credit to the Million Dollar team, the Bojangles and the Broadway Clowns for reviving the game on the West Coast, and it ill-befits the Greeks to get all self-righteous and Kiwanian at this late date.

However, enough of the beef, better late than never and all of that stuff—Here are a few constructive criticisms. If the frats expect to make anything out of these little encounters, they'd better dust off their brains.

The attendance at the Bojangles' games over at Patriotic Hall have been mighty poor, and that during the height of the season. (We 'uns don't like to go out of our district.)

We see by the papers that Sunday afternoon basketball games back East are proving mighty popular and here's a thought for the frats. The hours between four and six on Sunday afternoon are dull, and for the fashionable crowd hard to fill in.

Why not stage your fiascos at the Elk's auditorium between early Sunday dinner and the first round of cocktails.

Course, it's only an idea . . . and who are we to give ideas to the intellectual element of Southern California.

MRS. Josephine Brown, Pacific Coast field secretary of the American Tennis Association, was informed recently of her retention to that post by the Board. Mrs. Brown's territory includes Wyoming, Montana, Oregon, Nevada, Idaho and Washington, in addition to California. She, incidentally, once held the women's championship for the Pacific Coast.

Contained in Mrs. Brown's notification was announcement of a barnstorming tour to get underway this week and close April 30th. Players, all men and champions, will appear at various Southern colleges and schools, giving exhibition games, obvious purpose to interest the country in tennis and the American Tennis association and to raise money for the Natonal matches which will be held in July back East.

They won't be coming out here and great is the pity.

The great athletic paradox of Southern California, I mean the sepia element, is that in a climate most suited for athletics all the year round, we produce fewer athletes and fewer great ones, than even the South, where opportunity is limited.

The West Coast should be the center of tennis activity. But with the disinterest that is prevalent here in the sport, it is surprising that we have produced a national doubles champion, James Stocks of El Centro.

Of course, the people who play tennis here are of such sensitive natures that one can't take them to task, but risking it anyway, we venture to say that if the Western Tennis Federation and its auxiliaries, the strong-in-some respects Ross Snyder club and the organizations up North, were what they are cracked up to be, this would be the center of Negro tennis and the exhibitionists that are going South, would be coming here also.

We ran into Al Ouval, one time star guard on the Loyola football team, last Sunday. Al, between work in the movies and law school, is line coach at his alma mater, a job similar to that held by Walt Gordon, attorney of Berkeley, who has been assistant football coach at his alma mammy since graduation almost twenty years ago.

Quizzed about football prospects at the Catholic University, Duval said some rather pertinent things, namely Al Norman won't see much track competition this year because, attending Loyola on a football scholarship, his presence on the field in spring practice is required. Al is developing into a fine halfback; however, is a good deal handicapped by lack of height.

Duvall sees a great year ahead for the gold dust twins of last season, George Sims and Walter McCowan. Sims is being tried at fullback, a position which seems to fit him. Al advanced as one of the reasons why George was benched so frequently last season, his poor showing in the practice field. Don't tell us, Al, that Sims is a grandstand player.

Daily Nebraskan Takes Up Fight for Negroes in Big Six

LINCOLN, Neb., Bar. 17. (By Millard Woods for ANP)—Irked by the unwritten "gentleman's agreement" of the Big Six conference which bars Negroes from participating in athletics and thereby deprived Nebraska U. of the services of John Williams, champion wrestler, the sutdent paper, Daily Nebraskan, has taken up the cudgel in behalf of colored athletes.

Under the heading, "Outstanding Negro Athletes Barred from Husker Sports--Racial Ban Forces Colored Stars to Attend Other Universitites", a white staff wrter, Ellsworth Steele, declared in the March 8 issue:

"Negroes who should bolster up the Husker athletic teams are forced to go to other universities if they wish to compete or to give up attending any university because of the Nebraska policy of excluding Negroes from intercollegiate sports.

"Husker respect for the prejudices of the Southern schools in the Big Six conference, notably Oklahoma and Missouri and at times Kansas, has forced the school practically to exclude Negroes from its athletics, permitting them, however, the doubtful privilege of working out for the exercise. It should be stated that this is not the result of any "anti-Negro" prejudice on the part of the university's coaches or athletic board, but 'only their way of getting along with the other schools.

"Eugene Skinner, Negro lad from Omaha Tech who holds the state high school record for the 440 dash, went to Iowa to compete on their teams because of Nebraska's rule. Otherwise he would have used his talents to aid his home state university. Ace Breakfield and Virgil Williams, who were vital cogs in the state champion basketball team of Omaha South in 1937, could have been used on the Husker basketball team.

"Paul Beck, president of his senior class, captain of Lincoln high school's track squad and halfback on L. H. S.'s undefeated 1936 football team and Ed Hammond, quarterback on that team, would have come to Nebraska and entered athletics, but they could not compete because they are Negroes. They have been unable to attend Iowa and so have given up school work.

LEDRUE TO IOWA

"All state tackle, Martin Thomas from Omaha Central, wishing to participate in football, went to Iowa. There he had two brilliant seasons before he died.

"In school now but unable to have full participation are a number of outstanding Negro athletes. John Williams is all university wrestling champion in the 145 pound class, but because of an "understanding" between the schools of the Big Six conference he cannot wrestle for N. U. Willis Palmer is a promising boxer in the 145 pound division; Hiram Pittman played on Omaha Tech's basketball team and was all city dash champion; Alphonso Davis was on Tech's basketball and track teams, but all of these boys find that as Negroes they have no real opportunity to engage in athletics at the University of Nebraska."

The last Negro athlete to star in the Big Six—composed of Nebraska, Kansas State, Kansas, Iowa State, Missouri and Oklahoma—was named Hollingsworth. He was right tackle at Iowa State on the 1926-27 football teams. Although the racial ban barred him from participating in more than three games his first year, he made the first all-conference eleven then and in 1927 was chosen tackle on the All-Western squad selected for the Chicago Tribune by the late Walter Eckersall. Hollingsworth, who came from Kentucky, was six feet four and weighed 225 pounds.

New Baseball Group Elects Officers

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Mar. 17—Baseball history was made for the second time in Kansas City on March 6th when organization, election of officers of the United States Semi-Pro and Amatuer Baseball Association was completed.

The ceremonies recalled the formation of the Negro National League in this city in 1919 with such baseball greats as Rube Foster, Teeny Blount, Carey B. Lewis, J. L. Wilkinson and Quincy J. Gilmore the principals.

One of those, Gilmore, is the founder of this organization of semi-pro and simon pures. Gilmore's idea is to use the semi-pro and amatuer club as a training ground for aspirants to the National League.

The organization is nation-wide with the country divided into eight zones to facilitate action.

Results of the election placed Gilmore at the head of the club.

Million $ Five Smarts Under Defeat

Movie Five Seeks Revenge Sunday; to Meet Bojangles Again Sun.

Smarting like a bronco that has felt its first bridle, Million Dollar Productions five swears that next Sunday night they will wipe out the 37-35 defeat they suffered at the nands of Bill Robinson's Bojanglts at Elks nall last Sunday night. A three-game series is on for the Central Avenue championship.

Ralph Cooper, captain and forward of Million Dollar's Five will start at the first whistle. His teammates are "Father" Myles, Bert King, Waster, Price, Morrison and Cook.

Led by Herman Hill, manager, the Bojangles will have besides Hally Harding, coach and guard the following crack stars who won their spurs on Nate George's "Y" teams, high school, college and fraternity pointets: Drippy Williams, Kilgore, Garland, Reeves, Ashford, Thornton, Hardin, King and Brewer. Garland from Jeff high, was the only colored cager selected for this year's first string of All-City basketball team.

On the dancer's team playing the preliminary will be Lew Crawford, Sam Montgomery, Jack Williams, Johnny Thomas, "Moss" Harris, Bernard Bradley, and "Baby-face" Roberts. The Mosicians who have no second string are Buck Jones, Lee Young, Oscar Bradley and the Gower brothers.

Capacity Crowd Sees Thrilling Battle

Unprecedented since the start of the avenue games has such an exciting fiasco been seen as that between Million Dollar Productions and the Bojangles. It kept the capacity crowd standing on their seats.

Outstanding plays for Million Dollar were made by Cooper with his long distance shooting, also Easter, and Myles. Of the Bojangles, Spot Thornton, with fast blocking, Halley Harding with tricky passing, and Wilbur-Ashford with speedy dribbling, clever blindfold blocking and shots from all angles were in line for first honors.

SEPIA FANS RAISE CRY OF PUSHING HANK TOO FAST; SCRIBE SAYS 'NO'

Armstrong to Battle Ross and Then 'Ambers for Crowns

By Frank Marshall Davis

CHICAGO, Mar. 17. (ANP)—"Hurricane" Henry Armstrong, world's featherweight champion, will try to lift Barney Ross' welterweight crown in New York on May 26, and 30 days later will climb into the ring hoping to leave with Lightweight King Lou Ambers' title, according to announcements made last week by Promoter Mike Jacobs.

No sooner had the news gone out than our crying racial brothers, who formerly wailed because dusky fighters never got a chance, started moaning that the sensational little clouter was being pushed too fast, Ross was too heavy, and Manager Eddie Meade was trying to work the poor boy to death. With these observations I disagree.

Boxing is a business in which the physical supersedes the mental. Naturally, it has its dangers of injury, but what doesn't? The day laborer, the foundry worker, the truck driver, etc., are constantly exposed to death or disability as annual statistics for industrial accidents readily show. The professional athlete also runs risks--and these risks aren't confined to boxers. But an athlete who trains properly and takes care of himself is less liable to serious injury than the steel mill laborer (who is likely to get silicosis anyway) or an employe in the building trades.

Of course there are punch-drunk old pugs wearing silly grins on battered faces as they stagger the rest of the way through life, but many of them stayed in the ring too long, refused to train properly, or never should have tried professional boxing in the first place. Those who retire with full possession of their faculties are not noticed in the rush to point out the tragic incapacitated. Not nearly so much has been written about the physical fitness today of Jack Johnson or Harry Wills or Jack Blackburn as about the unfortunate blindness of Sam Langford.

Hank DOESN'T Dissipate

Armstrong is a super-warrior. He trains correctly, does not dissipate, and takes care of himself. Professional fighters soon learn how to conserve their energy, and the end of a 10 round bout often finds neither opponent even breathing hard. Henry's fights generally end under six frames with his foe star-gazing, but even with them going the distance there seems no reason why he couldn't engage in at least two a week if he desired. Big league baseball players see action daily, with an occasional double-header thrown in, and run the constant risk of being beaned by a tossed ball or spiked on the baselines; some of the touring basketball teams play four or five games weekly; wrestlers will groan in Chicago Monday night, hop a plane, then grunt in Philadelphia Tuesday night.

Then again, Henry is on top. And the time to get money is when you can write your own check. He won't always be a headliner. Far better that he should make his pile now from the business of boxing when he runs comparatively little physical danger than fight only occasionaly with the natural letdown in income, meanwhile declining inevitably from his peak but forced to continue in the ring for coffee and cakes when his days of greatness are gone. He has earned over $100,000 since the first of 1937. Wisely invested, that alone would permit him to retire anytime he feels himself slipping.

The boys who protest the frequency of Armstrong's matches are the same ones who caused the great Mississippi flood in 1927 with their tears over Harry Wills' inability to get a bout with champion Jack Dempsey and the way other topnotchers shunned him, then later over George Godfrey's similar treatment. Now that they have a boy who won a crown last year, has licked everything thrown his way without playing a single favorite, and has a chance to sport two more diadems before 1938 is half over, they cry he is "overworked!"

On the basis of weights, there is little justification for the yell for Armsrong will be overmatched when he fights Ross. Barney, according to contract terms, must come in at not over 142 pounds Henry will probably weigh around 136 or 137--a difference of only five or six pounds. Ross has more to lose than Armstrong, for the former is still champion while at present the Hurricane is merely hopeful.

If he should lift the welter crown, to the best of my knowledge it will be the first time in ring history that a featherweight champion skipped a class to annex another title. Should he accomplish this great feat and then go on to blast Ambers from the lightweight throne, Henry will hold three diadems.

Race Track Gossip

Bay Meadows steps in as Santa Anita fades out. Bill Kyne, manager of Bay Meadows has raised all purses ladder high which has drawn the best horses from the East, West, North and South.

The Robert "Kid" North Stable has won more races at Santa Anita than lots of the Eastern millionaires.

Jimmy Boyd of Seattle bet three thousand dollars on Stagehand which won the big race and walked away with half of his tickets. The seller had him paged and Jimmy received his tickets and was paid in full.

Walter Green drove a 25 hundred dollar brand new 1938 car off the deor and is now headed in the direction of Bay Meadows.

George Moore, formerly of Portland, Oregon, was mistaken for someone else at Santa Anita by a Pinkerton Man, but was identified by Rich Baker and Murray, as a man who had lost several fortunes on the races and the officer walked off begging his pardon.

Writer of this column is now at Bay Meadows race track, San Francisco and is taking his mail at 1714 Webster street.

Carter Hayes is Foremost Turf Clocker

One of the most colorful characters of the Santa Anita turf was Carter Hayes, called by some the foremost horse clocker in the country.

Hayes has bee nassociated with the Sport of Kings for over 30 years and has run the gauntlet from exercise boy, through jockey, trainer to his present job.

Clocker is the man who sits high above the track in the press box and records the time in which the ponies step about the track.

Studio Quintet in So. Calif. Open Tourney

With their eyes on the championship Ralph Coper's Million Dollar Five will participate in the Southern California basketball tournament which has 132 teams listed. Following their first game last Wednesday which pitted them against Loyola U. on the Loyola high school courts, they will be busy in active competition until the finals which will take place in about two weeks.

Million Dollar has an excellent chance to win the coveted title, which will carry them farther towards the goal they have set as national champions. The speedy tricky outfit has beaten every white team they have played this season.

ARMSTRONG DECISIONS ARIZMENDI IN BRUISING BATTLE AT OLYMPIC

Champion's Knockout String Broken Before Packed House

By J. Cullen Fentress

Henry Armstrong may not have knocked out Baby Arizmendi at the Olympic Tuesday night but the beating the game little Mexican took from the featherweight champion was enough to stow away 10 (one for each round) less sturdy opponents.

The fight was a repetition of other Armstrong-Arizmendi battles. The Baby always seems to possess the knack of weathering Henry's leather cyclone and remain upright. For every six or seven blows Armstrong lands, Arizmendi always has two or three steaming blows to come back with.

PACKED HOUSE

A packed house, with people around the walls like flies, saw (1) "Hustlin' Hank" take every round: (2) booed him for what seemed to be low blows, altho they were unintentional; (3) cheered the underdog, Arizmendi, for such a game stand. All of which brings us around to the following observation:

That latter reaction of the crowd, shows that Armstrong's impressive record, 34 knockouts in his last 36 fights, has built within their minds the feeling that "Hustlin' Hank" is a super-fighter and when he failed to knyo Arizmendi, whose lasting qualities are unquestioned, he won the razzberries, while a badly beaten opponent won the applause.

A lump was raised on the Mexcan's right eye about the size of a hen's egg as Armstrong fed him left jabs, one after another, most of the time without a return. The Mexican used a right uppercut and long rights and lefts to the body effectively. George Blake, refereed.

CARTER IMPRESSES

In the preliminaries, Billy Soose of Pennsylvania, won by a technical knockout in the fourth round over Johnny Dean. Soose was the hit of the preliminaries as he outclassed the tough Marine. Referee Jack Mean stopped it as Dean was taking unnecessary punishment.

Earl Nore opened the card by scoring a third round TKO over Don Wilson. Ernie Carter and Babe Nunez fought a slam-bang four-round draw. Both boys impressed the huge crowd. In the third preliminary, Al Grayson punched out a one-sided victory over the so-called Mad Russian, Manny Mosko. Grayson overtook his fleeing adversary in the last two rounds.

CROUCH AND COATES TOP OLYMPIC BILL

Matchmaker Joe Waterman of the Olympic heads his double wind-up card next Tuesday night with two potent sepia boxers—lightweight Georgie Crouch and lightheavyweight Charley Coates.

Crouch, whose last appearances at the Grand Avenue club have won him a big following, meets Frankie Martin, and Coates, the ex-killer, faces Eddie Dreher.

Tuesday night also inaugurates the new summer admission scale.

SAN DIEGO NEWS

MI. 5430 By E. B. Wesley 1721 Logan Ave.

Rev. and Mrs. H. Franklin Bray, who have been vacationing in San Diego and La Jolla for the past three weeks, left the city Wednesday en route to their home in Idlewild, Mich., where Rev. Bray has been pastor of the Community Tabernacle for the past 15 years. Rev. and Mrs. Bray made many friends while visitors here, who wish them a safe return to their old home and field of labor.

Mrs. Ida M. Smith of Vancouver, B. C., was a recent visitor in this city, the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Mary Burnsy of East San Diego. Mrs. Smith was the recipient of many social honors. Among those honoring her were Mrs. Sarah Kerne, Mrs Mary Jackson, Mrs. Irene Shepherd, each of whom was hostess at a lovely breakfast and Mrs. Mary Glenn entertained ths lady of distinction at a well appointed afternoon tea.

Elder James A. Jackson returned from the valley where he spent the week-end in company with Mrs. Hale, of Los Angeles, State Mother of the Church of God in Christ, on business pertaining to the work of the church.

Mr. W. H. Lewis, the efficient Woodmen clerk, made a week-end visit to Santa Anita last week.

Mrs. L. H. Owens and daughters, Clarice and Ruth, were week-end guests at Bethel AME parsonage which is their San Diego home.

CHURCHES

At Bethel AME church, the Rev. Owens spoke most interestingly at the morning service on "Obedience to the Heavenly Vision". Despite the inclement weather there was a fair congregation to greet Rev. Owens who has just returned from his trip South. Rev. and Mrs. H. Franklin Bray were noted visitors at this service.

SOCIETY

The Mary F. Handy Missionary society of the Bethel church was hostess at a delightful musical tea Sunday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Ida Jackson, 2166 Everett street. The green and white color scheme was beautifully carried. out in the decorations. A fine program consisting of the following numbers was rendered. Reading. Miss Cleora Van Lowe, vocal and instrumental selecetion. Mrs. L. H. Owens, paper on "Negro History"; Mrs. Mamie Lewis, an article from Reader's Digest, Mrs. Ernest Morgan; instrumental solo, Mrs. Campbell; reading, Mrs. E. Kincaid; dialogue, Mmes. A. E. Morgan and Irene Shepherd; piano solo, Bettie Booker, remarks, Rev L. H. Owens. Mrs. Susie Jenkins, president of the organization, is very ambitious for her socety and always keeps matters of interest before it.

At their home, 619 S. 30th St., Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Johnson entertained at an elaborate dinner Friday, March 11, in compliment to Mrs M. Patton, who will leave soon for her home in Chicago, after visiting with Mrs. M. Gordon and other friends for a short while. Other guests, enjoying the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were Mrs. Mary Goodson, Mrs. W. H. Lewis, Mrs. A. McPherson.

Mrs. Eva Smith was hostess to the Wide Awake club at her attractive home on Kearney St., Friday afternoon, March 11.

Mrs. Hester Burke was the gracious hostess at a delightful birthday party Thursday evening at the pretty home of Mr. and Mrs. Casey Jackson, 2126 Everett street. The hostess was becomingly gowned in a rich, navy blue satin, form-fitting model made entrain with puffed sleeves.

The table was beautifully decorated and set up to a queen's taste. Preceding the sumptuous supper cocktails were served. The guest list includec Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Brown sr., Mr. and Mrs. M. Cole, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. John Williams, Mesdames Susie Jenkins, Felicia Jackson, Anna McClure, Marguerite Chance, C. Jackson, Vance Carleton, Geo. Brown jr., Elizabeth Kincaid, Mr. West and Mr. Hatcher.

The Sunshine club reports the sick for the week at the General hospital:

Mrs. Mary Warren, Mrs. Frances Wilson, Mrs. Alma Jackson, Mr. Williams.

At Vauclain Home: Mrs. Mae Echols, Mrs. Ruth McClelland, Mrs. Sadie Johnson, Mrs. Rosa Mae Armstrong, Miss Georgia Bell, Mr. Dan Gatlin, Mrs. Bernice Beasley.

At Home: Mr. William Shannon, Mrs. Amelia Ackers, Mrs. Jewell Williams.

LIEUT. POWELL SPEAKS AT FORUM

On Friday evening, March 11, the Friday Evening Forum enjoyed a talk and motion pictures on oportunities for Negroes in the field of aviation, given by Lieut. William J. Powell. Mr. Powell, with five other members of the Craftsmen of Black Wings motored down from Los Angeles to give the talk. About seventy persons were present. The aviation talk was one in the series of discussions on vocational and occupational opportunities for Negro youth presented by the Friday Evening Forum.

The next talk in this series will be by Dr. Edna T. Hawley on opportunities in the fields of social work on March 18.

The Friday Evening Forum is sponsored by the United States Office of Education and the Adult Education department of the San Diego city schools. The purpose is to discuss topics of vital interest to members of the community. Various speakers are presented to the group and then the meeting is thrown open to discussion from the audience. Lorraine Van Lowe is leader of the Friday Evening Forum which meets each week at Bethel Baptist church.

The Forum advisory committee is comprised of prominent citizens from various groups in order that the general interests of the community can be sounded out and met. The advisory committee includes Mr. D. V. Allen, Mr. E. W. Anderson, Miss Opal Banks, Mrs. J. E. Craft, Mr. Aubrey Hackshaw, Mrs. Charles Hampton, Mrs. Ella Hutson, Dr. J. J. Kimbrough Mr. Wendell Lipscomb, Rev. L. H. Owens and Mr. Raymond Welton.

CHURCHES

Calvary Baptist Church

Morning servic : began at 11 o'clock with the Rev. Richard Neal delivering the message. He gave a beautiful illustration of Moses crossing the Red Sea into the Promised Land. "What Are You Going to Do With Jesus?" was the topic wonderfully discussed by Rev. E. J. Brannon of Chicago, at the evening services. Rev. Brannon, who is the son of the assistant pastor of Rev. L. K. Williams' church in Chicago, is one of the very few young men going into the ministry today. Visitors during the day were: Mrs. L. L. McClelland of Ocean Beach, Mr. Joseph Seals of the city.

Church of God in Christ

A testimonial meeting was substituted for the regular 11 a. m. service. Six p. m., YPWW, Miss Myrtle Pressley, president, in charge. At 7:30 p. m., the Sunshine Band, under the direction of Miss Katra Tucker, rendered a fine program. At the evening services, Elder Eugene Fagan occupied the pulpit and delivered a soul-stirring sermon.

BAKERSFIELD NEWS

The Rev. Mr. H. A. Green and family are now residing in Bakersfield, having accepted a call extended them by Mt. Zion Baptist church. The church has taken on new life and is looking for ward to a great year. Among some of the outstanding plans Rev. Green has initiated are plans to prepare a suitable place for the young people to have a recreation hall and to beautify the church auditorium with a new piano. All the auxiliaries have fallen in line and are working hard on their budget. Sister Green takes an active part in every department of the church. We are truly glad to have these God-sent people in our city.

Sunday, the pastor spoke from Luke on the subject, "I Must See Jesus". As a result of this soul-stirring sermon, seven new members were added to the fold. Among our sick are Brother Pope, Brother Burch and Herman Keyes jr. We hope for them a speedy recovery.

The Modern Mothers' club met at the home of Mrs. G. A. Jackson on Williams St., with Mrs. Sarah Little presiding. The club is busy preparing for their spring bazaar. After a tasty luncheon was served the afternoon was spent in sewing and making future plans. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Ella Austin.

Mrs. G. A. Jackson wishes to thank her many loyal friends who have and are continually sending comforting words for her recent bereavement in the loss of her brother, Mr. James A. Lewis. Mrs. Jackson is very glad to be back home to her many friends after a three months stay in Houston, Texas, where she was at the bedside of her brother.

Sunday services at Cain AME church were indeed inspring and uplifting with Rev. R. E. Hardy officiating. We are glad to welcome Mrs. Emma Handy back home after a six weeks sojourn in northern points of Washington where she visited with her father and children.

Rev. A. L. Powell preached at the afternoon services at Cain Chapel. All who heard Rev. Powell's stirring sermon, "What Think Ye of Christ? Who's Son is He?" said upon returning to their several homes, didn't our hearts burn as we heard his word by the wayside.

The Lend-A-Hand club is to be complimented on the excellent fish dinner they served in the basement of the church on Friday evening.

The Auxilaries of Cain Chapel are presenting Miss Lenora Little and Miss Geneva Bickers in a song and piano recital on April 5th at the church. The two young ladies are working hard to give a beautiful program.

Wilson, editor of the Western Christian Recorder, and clergymen of the Imperial Valley Methodist Ministers' Alliance.

EL CENTRO

By W. A. Payne

This section of the state was spared any serious destruction during the state-wide flood. The continuous rains closed the schools of the county for three days during the week; the damage to crops is small; to date no serious danger threaten from the rise of the Colorado river. Persons living near the river in the vicinity of Andrade have been warned to be alert for another sudden rise. The bulk of the storm seemed to have hit the section north of Indio.

Notwithstanding the inconvenience caused by a week's continual rain, the Imperial County opened on time last Saturday. Exhibits from the north are belated but it is believed everything will be in place by the first of the week. A tour of the fair grounds shows a decided progress. A larger number of firms are showing their wares this year. The agricultural products are the best in years. The exhibits from the schools are outstanding. They show the modern trend in education. The Homemaking department of Douglass high has on exhibition several pastry entries among them are some made from honey. The manual arts department have on exhibitions several pieces of furniture. They are beautiful in design and very well made. Monday was school day and the school took charge of the County's greatest fair.

Saturday the first day of the Fair was American Legion and Negro day. Plans had been made to present on the occasion visitors from the several sections of the state who would bring congratulations. Road conditions prevented their coming but the program was carried out on time and very creditably.

Chairman Charles E. Pitzer introduced the group and bade the members welcome. Mrs. Anna Jackson, president of the Women's Civic and Improvement club brought greetings for the civic organizations; the Rev. I. N. Whitten represented the religious organizations; W. A. Payne responded for the fraternal organizations. Excellent musical numbers were rendered by the Douglass high school male quartette composed of Thomas and Louis Craig, Maurice Wiley, Howard Nutall. George Cleveland the boy violinist played a selection. He was accompanied by his sister, Doris.

Mrs. Ruth P. McGregor sang two numbers. She was accompanied by Mrs. A. E. Prince. Mrs. McGregor was in splendid voice and received a hearty ovation at the conclusion of her renditions. A male quartette from Calipatria has been programmed for the Monday afternoon program.

Pride of Imperial Valley Lodge No. 29 celebrated its Tenth anniversary beginning with a fine lodge meeting Thursday evening; continuing with a banquet in Calexico the city of its birth. Friday evening and concluding with participation in the program of opening Fair day, Saturday. Citizens from all over the valley attended the banquet, the dinner being served by the ladies of Fountain Chapel AME church. At the banquet table presided, Sir A. E. Prince, master of finance. Sir Arthur like the knight of old was in fine humor and kept the festivities moving at a rapid and merry rate. After his welcome to friends he had the following to respond to toasts for their various organizations: The Rev. Howard Wilson for the A. M. E. Church; George Allen for Salton Sea Lodge of Elks; R. J. Burleigh, Worshipful Master of Eureka Lodge of Masons; Mrs. Sarah Maples for the Edward Tidrington Court of Calanthe; Mrs. Elizabeth McGee for the Medina Tent; Sir John Allen for Oasis Temple, D. O. K. O.; Mrs. Pearl McKinney, Daughter Elks; Sir DuBois McGee, D. D. G. C. for the Grand Chancellor. The history of the Lodge was presented by Sir W. A. Payne one of the charter members. One of the guests present was Mrs. Virginia Quilla of Dallas, Texas, a sister of Mrs. McKinney. She is a member of the Court of Calanthe of the Texas Jurisdiction and brought happy greetings from that section. Musical numbers were presented by Mrs. Margaret P. Owens and Mrs. A. E. Prince. The affair was acclaimed one of the best given by the local knights The lodge starts on its next decade encouraged and determined to render more worthwhile service.

Rev. I. N. Whitten was a business visitor in San Diego last week.

The Seniors of Douglass high school sponsored the assembly last Friday and presented several members of the faculty on their program. Principal A. E. Prince of the Washington school delivered a timely address on character building in which he presented to the pupils a real challenge. Mr. J. W. Robinson sang two selections: Sylvia and It's Morning. His accompanist was Miss Leonore Cooper. Mr. James Stocks complimented the work done by the basketball squad and then presented the Blue "D" to John Jingles, Thomas Craig, Payton Cook, Roland Maples, Thomas. Douglass and Maceo Allen. Mrs. McGregor presented the Girls' Glee Club in two numbers. The program closed with chorus singing by the student body.

Douglass high Girl Reserves joined those from the other high schools of the country in the annual spring rally. The meeting was held in Calexico. Dr. F. A. Johnson, pastor of the First Methodist Church of this city delivered the address. The theme of the meeting was Bridge Building.

Reginia Payne led the discussion in one of the groups.

El Centro members of the Beta Chapter, AKA Sorority rendered the following very excellent program at the First M. E. church, last Sunday morning:

Introductory statement: Mrs. Elizabeth McGee; vocal solo, "Stand Still Jordan", Mrs. Ruth McGregor; Address, The Mississippi Health Project, Miss Gladys C. Gier; violin solo. "Walther's Prize Song" from Die Maistersinger, Mrs. Lucille Culberson. The memebrship of the church and also the daily press have commented on the excellence of the program and on the exceptional missionary work our young college women are doing.

The Women's Improvement club held an Egyptian tea at the home of Mrs. Roland J. Burleigh, Holt avenue last Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Robert Havs, wife of the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, was the guest speaker and told of her travels in Egypt. She illustrated her talk with many articles secured while on her tour. Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the address.

WITH THE CHURCHES

After a week's absence because of excessive rain, services were resumed in all the churches last Sunday. Rev. H. Hayter preached morning and evening. Johnson's Chapel A. M. E. Church. His morning subject "Is It Lawful?" The evening text St. John 14:11. The congregation joined in the service of the ministerial alliance at the CME church during the afternoon. Rev. Harold Wilson of Calexico was the speaker. The Sunday School is making remarkable progress under the leadership of Mrs. A. E. Prince.

Rev. I. N Whitten preached an inspiring sermon on Faith Sunday morning There were a number of visitors present. Sunday evening the monthly communion services were held. Large congregations attended both services.

Presiding Elder Smith of the CME church was to have visited the local church Sunday but weather conditions prevented.

Mr. S. J. Hopkins, Grand Lecturer of California, F. and A. M. and a party of Masonic brethren from Riverside and San Diego visited the local lodge here last Saturday evening Eureka Lodge No. 28 reports one of the finest meetings of its career. Grand Lecurer Hopkins delivered one of his timely and inspiring addresses; following this he assisted in the ritualistic initiatory work, two candidates completing their trek. After the business of the Lodge a social good time was had by all present.

MONROVIA

Second Baptist Church
Maple and Shamrock Aves.
Rev. John A. Davis, pastor

Sunday School opened on time, with a very good attendance. The lesson was very enthusiastically taught by the various teachers, and reviewed by the pastor. The attendance at the morning service was very fine. The pastor brought a very inspiring, educational and spiritual message from the subject: "Love Unconquerable". Mrs. Allene Cannon of Los Angeles, who was visiting Mr. and Mrs. Woods was a visitor at this meeting. After the morning service, the pastor and Mrs. Davis were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hall on Canyon Blvd. A very sumptous dinner was served by the hostess, which was enjoyed very much.

At the AME Zion church, Mr. W. Alexander Harris delivered a very fine address at 3 p. m. on the "Cycle of Races, Positive and Negative". It was a great address, and though there were not very many out, yet it was worth our time and effort to have listened to him. In our B. Y. P. U. at 6:30, Rev. B. T. Mayfield called them together, and after a short lesson discussion, the young people discussed the subject Is it a harm to dance? Clara Reed taking the affirmative and Alice Presley the negative. Miss Gipson and Miss Stovall also spoke. 8 p. m. another very inspiring message was brought by the pastor from the subject "Gold vs. Grace.

Mrs. Beard is conducting a revival at the Bethel AME church.

The Usher Board of our church is giving a weiner bake next Friday at the church, Mrs. E. Enge is the leader, and under her leadership, the ushers are making great progress.

The 31st anniversary of the church is now in progress, and will close the fourth Sunday night.

The Monrovia Literary and Art Club, Mrs. O. M. Cobbs, president, gave a dinner Friday in the dining room of the church.

The Violet Hill Whyte CCTU, met at the home of Mrs. O. M. Cobbs, 915 S. Shamrock Ave. Wednesday afternoon.

The church is now celebrating the 31st anniversary of its Incorporation. Each member is asked to make a contribution to the church on this aniversary, 10 cents for every year of the church's existence. The anniversary will close the fourth Sunday night, at which time a complete report will be made as to all monies collected for the anniversary.

The Missionary Society under the leadership of Mrs. M. W. Davis, is making splendid progress. The leader of the Central District, Mrs. Grace Presley, is ever on the alera, for making her District the most outstanding district in the church.

RIVERSIDE

By FRANCES M. WILLIAMS

Second Baptist church, Rev. Wm. Thomas, pastor, will complete installation of officers Tuesday, March 15.

Allen Chapel, AME church, Rev. A. L. Washington, pastor. The Political Study Club sponsored a wonderful program.

Mrs. Alive Lockhart presented Dr. Dent of Los Angeles an interne of the General Hospital, who stated in part that Negro youth was not the same today as yesterday. Years ago segregation was in full bloom in the hospital as far as nurses were concerned, but due to the wonderful work of Mrs. Betty Hill, many doors have been opened to the Race girls and boys.

Dr. Dent appealed sincerely to the youth to be the best in their line, also mentioning the Misses Ablene-Effie Lockhart and their aim. Mrs. E. P. Boyd stressed the necessity of making marks as high as one can. The Political Study Club plans to bring scholarship to Riverside this summer.

Miss Edith Hanson told of her 18 months in Hawaii, of the large gatherings there every six months, a meeting started by the missionaries years ago.

Mrs. Mildred Mott, house guest of Mrs. W. G. Williams, will spend a few days in Los Angeles, visitng friends.

Mrs. Elliot (niece of Mrs. De Beal) of Corona was accidentally shot by her cousin (Harold) while cleaning his shot gun, and teasing her a little not knowing it was loaded. So far she has suffered no ill effects. The shot passing through right arm, above liver, by lungs and lodging in left side.

Hanford

WILLIE BELL WATTS

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Forney of Laton were visitors in Hanford Monday.

Mr. Peter Mitchell, resident of Hanford during the past forty years passed away at a local hospital last Thursday. For fifteen years he was engaged as chef at the county hospital here, having retired from active service about ten years ago due to ill health. He was a member of the GUOOF. To mourn his loss are two daughters, Mrs. Dora Mitchell of Los Angeles; Mrs. Maude Scruggs of Vallejo; several grand-children and a host of friends.

Misses Helen Thaxton, Anita Kinnard and Mrs. Clicord Kinnard visited Mrs. Smith at Malaga, near Fresno, Sunday.

Little Ella Mae Crawford, has returned home from a local hospital and is improving rapidly.

The danger peak of the flood waters of the Kings River in this vicinity is about over with little damage done at this time.

Misses Sarah Lee Kelley and Katherine Todd were visitors in Fresno Sunday.

Mrs. Mattie Myers is spending a few days at a local hospital for treatment.

A view of a portion of the 485 ests, including Trustees, Adinistrative Officers, Faculty mbers, Senior Classes, and ni, being addressed by the norable Harold L. Ickes, Secary of the United States Department of the Interior, Charter Day Dinner, Howard University, March 2, under the joint auspices of the Classes of 1838, 1889, 1908, 1913, 1928, 1938 and the Board of Trustees Howard University.

Secretary Ickes, in his address, historically reviewed the founding of the University, paid tribute to the remarkable progress of the race in educating itself, and urged the assembled group of the colored people of the United States generally, "to use the instrumentalities of our democratic form of government to bring about a sympathetic consideration of what you are reasonably entitled to if you are to make the contribution that you are able to make to the advancement of American civilization."

Closing he said: "My hope that seventy-one years hence, when Howard University will have doubled in age, it will have increased its capacity for service an hundred fold."

SCHUYLER WRITES ON ATTITUDES IN INTER-RACIAL RELATIONSHIPS

Kindred Spirits Seek Friendship, Says Noted Writer

Sitting back in his swivel chair this week and awaiting a shower of dead cats and over-ripe tomatoes is that supreme satirist of the Race, George Schuyler, whose "Views and Reviews" appear in one of the national weeklies.

The reason Mr. Schuyler is so expectant of the dubious honors mentioned above is that in his column of the past week, he wrote at length on the attitude of Negro women toward white females who invade Negro society and gobble up Negro men.

Mr. Schuyler writes from experience, having married a woman, white, intelligent and vegetarian (which combination bespeaks him to be a super-man) and having produced, in conjunction with this feminine phenomena, a youngster who is listed among the thin ranks of the world's child prodigies.

Consequently, as would be expected, Mr. Schuyler takes his dark sisters severely to task for this attitude toward competition in the matrimonial marathon offered by the fairer-skinned fair sex; and because this was a subject heatedly debated in Los Angeles a short while ago, we are re-printing excerpts of Mr. Schuyler's views. Mayhap some of the deceased cats and squashy tomatoes sure to go in Mr. Schuyler's direction will come from sunny California.

Recently several vitriolic letters came to this newspaper from women who were highly incensed because one well known gentleman of color, in particular, was seriously considering legal affiliation with a woman of the other race in whom he had found a similarity of tastes. More recently tongues have waxed eloquent on the obvious preference of a certain athlete for the company of high yallers, one or two drops removed from the more desired racial clasification.

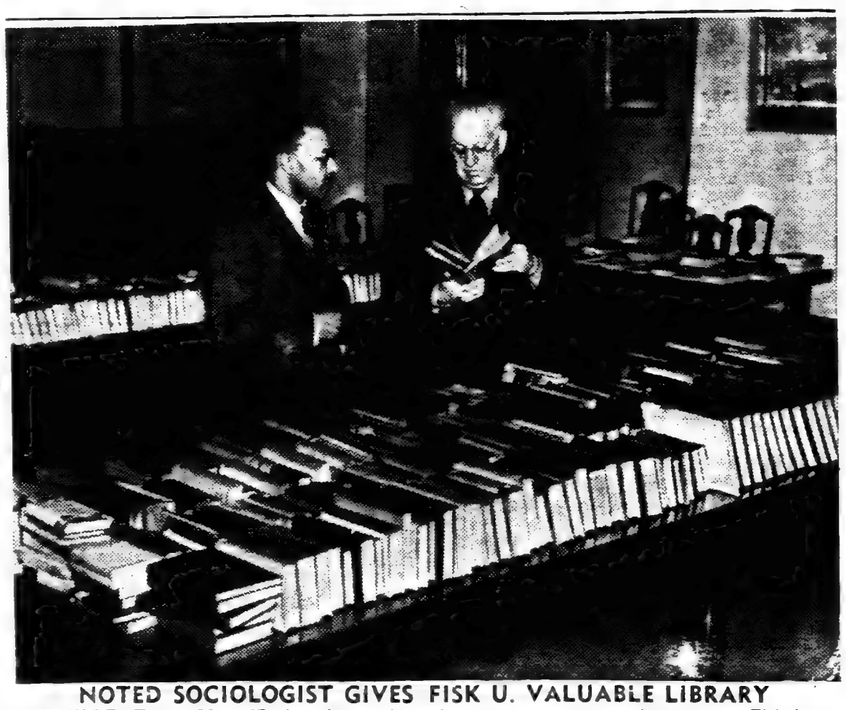
Now having established a kindred background, we'll let Mr. Schuyler speak his piece, abridged of course. Mr. Schuyler is much to long-winded.

"There is an increasing number of white people of both sexes sincerely seeking the friendship of kindred spirits among the so-called Negroes. This is as it should be. If I had my way, every gathering in America would be interracial. In the main, however, these white people are received grudgingly, suspiciously and often discourteously, and sometimes made to feel uncomfortably unwelcome.

"It is too frequently assumed that every white person associating with Negroes has sexual hopes and inclinations. This is only true sometimes, and should not be deemed true at all times. Of course, I should consider this desirable if it WERE true at all times, because it is only natural for opposites to attract. Where dissimilar peoples have come in proximity to each other, there we have had sex attraction and miscegenation. One has only to look at our so-called race for evidence of that. And that millions of so-called whites are tar-brushed, more or less, is clearly apparent to the discerning.

"Many colored men whose business and professional duties and associations have enabled them to make contacts with white people, that have ripened into friendship and social association as equals, have recently complained bitterly to me of the ill-concealed or open objection of colored women to the unpigmented sisters thus introduced into their midst.

"I think the reasons, economic and psychological, are obvious. It is felt that these "intruders" will get some man that a colored woman ough to get, and it is felt that they have an excellent chance of doing so because their desirability is enhanced by virtue of their being what might be called "forbidden fruit". Moreover since the standard of beauty in Aframerica is the same as that in white America, and since the overwhelming majority of people strive to attain that standard (who ever heard of a beauty parlor for making women black and kinky haired?), those closest to it would naturally be in highest demand.



"But now enters my wife, and after hearing my thesis, she opines: "I have lived in colored America more than ten years and I have nothing but appreciation and gratitude for the manner in which I have been received by colored women and men. I have never been insulted, or snubbed or 'cut', and during this time I have met thousands of Negroes socially in my home and in their homes.

"There is a certain type of white woman", she continues, "like a certain type of white man, who comes among Negroes merely out of curiosity or for a physical thrill. They do not mean Negro men any good, and colored women of intelligence are smart enough to spot the type and discourage them with the cold shoulder. Naturally this is sometimes done unjustly to sincere white women who are of a character to be an asset to Aframerica; who intend to be good wives and mothers, and who are attracted to a certain man not because of his color but because of his character." I think she has something there!

"I don't think there ought to be any particular jealousy in any case. After all, put quite bluntly, jealousy is an expression of fear and an admission of inferiority. The woman who knows her business has no cause to be jealous of another woman.

While it is all too true that there is a paucity of what women consider desirable catches,

NOTED SOCIOLOGIST GIVES FISK U. VALUABLE LIBRARY

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Mar. 17.—(ANP)—A library of one thousand volumes which Dr. Robert E. Park has collected, because these special books have been found useful to him and his sociology students at the University of Chicago, has just been given to Dr Charles S. Johnson with the understanding that they be held in trust for the use of the Social Science Institute at Fisk University. Dr. Park hopes that they will form the nucleus of a larger collection available to students interested in the broader studies of race.

When Dr. Johnson decided to give up his work as editor of Opportunity to direct the Department of Social Science at Fisk, he did it with the advice of Dr. Park. Three years ago, Dr. Park joined the Fisk faculty, and together they have set up a Race and Culture Seminar which is attracting widespread notice. Only two other such courses are offered, one at the University of Honolulu where Dr. Park lectured four years ago, and one at the University of Chicago. This year, the group at Fisk has centered its attention on problems of acculturation involving the Negro, Indian, and Latin peoples of Brazil where social, economic, and cultural aspects of racial problems are similar to those in America.

Dr. Park's library is made up of books and magazines containing much source material throwing light on the history of the Jewish people and on racial situations in Hawaii, Japan, China, Africa, South America and the United States.

Deserves Respect
The Big Boy Feared?
People We Know

After seeing the film, "Spirit of Youth", starring Joe Louis, champion of the world's big fellows, the thought struck us that the person who holds Joe's speech up to ridicule is very small indeed.

We had nothing but respect for the youth, who, on the screen, is just like he is off — a quiet, poker-faced man of few words. Yet he has that elusive appeal so necessary for top figures in any game.

Oftimes, as the flicker unfolded, the audience would burst into spontaneous applause as Joe acquitted himself favorably in acting and speaking the part that is so similar to his actual early struggles and later success.

Many times past in the daily press, if Joe is quoted, "Ah" for "I" and "dis, dat, dose and dem" were used. While he may not speak the most perfect English in the world, Louis is far from being as bad a talker as some of the writing gentry would have you believe. He will probably admit that he's not as adept as fighter Henry Armstrong over the mike, but he does the best he can. What more can you ask?

Besides, Joe's business is as a fighter. He lures 'em in with his fists — not with his voice!

People We Know: Gene Sorral, co-manager of "Big Boy" Bray, is telling newsmen that other big boys are afraid to put on the gloves and stand up to his young giant in the squared circle . . . that may be so . . . f'instance, the Olympic would have a sell-out on its hands if Bray was matched with Chuck Crowell, another young giant who seems to be headed places . . .

The greatest Elk of them all died last week . . . Major J. B. Loving, who has been a favorite subject of this pillar many times. He was a man, who as the poet said, "never lost the common touch". The respect in which he was held by comrades is evidenced in the fact that a two-day holiday was declared for most of the offices in the "Bills'" building.

Amos Black, a figure in civic and political circles, is identified with the American Advancement League, an organization of young men, whose purpose is to win jobs for the unemployed and to encourage better and bigger business.

Edgar J. Johnson, a one-time agent for the Golden State Insurance company, has been elected to the board of directors of that organization — the first time in its comparatively short history that an employe has risen to the company's directorate. Which also says something for the willingness of Golden State execs to raise worthy young blood to places of serious responsibility . . .

William Pickens, veteran NAACP official, can always be depended upon to make a monkey out of so-calied Jim Crow. His latest fiasco with the old bugaboo reached the press last week. In an Illinois town which barred persons of color from living or staying overnight, Pickens spoke at the

Where is the Remedy?

Said several doctors in St. Louis' war on veneral desease, "It is senseless to arrest women who practice lewdness and hold them for brief periods as punishment.

"The only sane way to meet the challenge to community health is to take all prostitutes into custody and treat them for their diseases, and have them incarcerated until tests show they are free from syphilis or gunorrhea, or both.

"As soon as they are released they will, of course, return to their calling for that is the way they earn a living; but, if it became the established rule of the hearth and police authorities that prostitutes must undergo continuous medical treatment as soon as they are known to be practicing their profession, the problem of disease incident to their activities would decline and the number of syphilis victims in particular would decrease with consequent benefit to the community."

Well, after getting the adver- ing signs fixed and pasted on cars, I put "Secret" on the und truck, I taken my old dge speed-wagon, and we rted out to advertise for ndry business for "NEGRO OLLAR DAY". Dark Secret naturally full of rhythm, and got a kick out of pushing at sound truck and playing latest variations of our nal anthem—The Blues. We ove all over the Eastside, ake-hipping through the side eets, and big-appling up d down Central avenue d when six o'clock came, we re tired out, and glad to go me, eat some supper and go bed.

turned out early the next ning, had ham and eggs for eakfast, and got ready to it the hall. We started up th trucks, drove 'em on down the Elk's hall on Central e, and parked across the eet from the building. When got out and started across street I noticed a few peostanding in front of the ll with bundles under their ms.

"Laundryman," Secret says itedly, "I believe we got stomers waiting for us alady." It was true, for five ople stepped forward as soun we hit the sidewalk, and d out laundry bundles. I e Secret a pencil and a bun- of tags, and we got busy.

"Say," one rough-looking fel- says to me after I had takhis bundle and give him his "What about that free nk."

Secret stopped dead in his cks and looked at me apprehensively. He had asked me night before, if I had ough money on hand for that rpose, and I had told him ". I looked this rough-look- guy straight in the eye:

"Brother," I says, "I been all r the world, and Texas, too; so far, I ain't never bought ig in a poke. I don't know at's in your bundle. It could paper napkins."

The rest of the folks started laughing, and I followed up advantage instantly.

"I s'pose you're a 'Gov'ment' ployee, ain't you?" I drawl- He said yes he worked for WPA.

"Well, you-all get paid on 10th of next month. Meet here on the 11th with a lar, and you'll get your nk along with your laun- ."

Everybody agreed that my position was fair enough, we give all of them their s and they went away hap-

About this time, Millie showup, with them green pants She told me "Good morn-", but she give Secret one them off-side smiles. It set heart to beating so fast till actually heard it. Right ay, he asked me to let him Millie take the soundck and go off to do some ertising, but I didn't fall his jive. I told him I had nged for my nephew to e the truck around, and e Millie a pencil and some , and explained to her t she was to do — after ch, I give Secret his inctions.

just had got both of 'em ightened out when the peostarted to bombarding us bundles of laundry. They e from every direction, on et-cars, on foot, and in cars. y appeared from everyand nowhere. And they ded us hard till I had to five more women — on lit — to help us out. We started out piling the dles in my laundry truck; but it filled up so quick till I had to rent space in a woodyard next door, and stack the bundles on the ground. Folks kept on congregating in front of the Elks building so fast, till some smart aleck called up the Exalted Ruler, another official what runs the cocktail room upstairs, and the Grand Secretary. They all came rushing down to see what was going on.

I heard somebody tell them that the Laundryman had told them to meet him there, and so when they started pushing through the crowd towards me, I ducked in the Elk's bar and told "Bam", the bartender, to give me a quart bottle of Four Roses, and four glasses right quick. He set the whiskey and the glasses on the counter, and I paid him. The Exalted Ruler and his assistants rushed in and surrounded me.

"Are you the Laundryman?" the Exalted Ruler says to me.

"Yes, Cap'n," I says humbly.

"What in the Hotel you mean by using our sidewalk to transact your business", he hollered. "You get your help together and get away from here right now, or I'll put the Law on you." By this time they was all up real close to me.

"All-right, Colonel," I says; "I'll do it right away. I'm awful sorry to have caused you all this worry. And while I'm outside clearing the sidewalk, you-all have a drink of Four Roses on me." I shoved the bottle over in front of the Exalted Ruler, eased on out, and KEPT ON TAKING IN LAUNDRY.

At six o'clock that evening we had taken in Ten Thousand, one dollar bundles of laundry. Everybody was fagged out. I paid off the women who had tagged the bundles and sent them on home. Millie act like she didn't want to go, but I rushed her on away too, while Secret was away on an errand. When he came back, me and him went in the Elk's bar to get a drink.

While we was drinking, and I'm blowing about what a big business we'd done, I noticed that Secret didn't have much to say, and that he acted like he had something on his mind. Although my money was pretty low now, I figured that if I bought another drink, he might loosen up. He did. While we was sipping on our second round, he says to me:

"Laundryman, didn't you say we had Ten Thousand packages of laundry?"

"Yep, that's the figures. Ten thousand bundles, meaning Ten Thousand Bucks.'

Secret squirmed around on his seat for a minute, then says to me:

"Listen here! Suppose we split 'em up now. You take your half, and me and Millie will take the other half."

I got up out of my seat. "What are you talking about, Secret?", I says. "How did Millie get in on this deal?"

Secret cleared his throat slowly, and says; "Well, I tell you. It's like this. Me and Millie's engaged now, and she said that $5000.00 worth of laundry will keep me and her for the rest of our life. "She's going to wash and iron two bundles every day and I'll deliver 'em."

Candid Camera Shots of Hollywoodland

by: fay m. jackson

HOPING against hope that eventually Hollywood will come of age with regard to Negro ACTORS, we'd have bet all the tea in China last week that an outstanding character actress, of experience, of tested ability, of unquestioned renown . . . would be cast in the part of SUZANNE and PIX in the Merriam C. Cooper's production, "Frou-Frou".

Briefly, we lost the bet and would have lost the tea. But we still have definite notions about current screen methods that seem to be creeping into the casting and filming of Negro players.

Any critical analysis of these methods will reveal the following startling facts: that somehow or other, more than ever, Negro players are being relegated to the category of ATMOSPHERE, along with the furniture and the scenery and the costumes.

No matter that, for years, a definite contribution to box office receipts have been made for motion pictures because of their fine work in otherwise frail productions.

No matter that years and years of successive and progressive film work demonstrates the ability of a player, deserves recognition of his worth by producers and the public's approval of him and demand for him is expressed in every way possible.

When these conditions apply to a white performer, he is elevated but when they apply to a black artist, he is cast aside! What is to be the future of the Negro actor under these conditions? For what shall he aim? Why is he being destroyed?

IN the last five films featuring Negro extras that I have previewed, I have noticed--what is inescapably obvious--the subdued photography when cameras focus on them. But, conversely, their voices are played up, for few know the color of a skin that produces beautiful and pleasing tones. Why are Negroes becoming more and more silhoutted on the screen?

Example: Jezebel.

BEFORE casting for "Frou-Frou", descriptions of the desired casting were given out. For "Pix", the girl was wanted about the age of 17. "Pix" is the third leading character in the story. It requires skill, it requires an actress to fill the bill. Hundreds of applicants narrowed down to one: Theresa Harris. UNQUESTIONABLY Miss Harris was good. (Too good! remarks one of the directors). Too pretty. But Louise Rainer, who won the Academy award for "The Good Earth" for her characterization of an ugly old Chinese woman was not too pretty nor too good . . . because she was an actress and makeup departments exist just for the purpose of achieving reality out of unreality. The degree to which Miss Rainer accomplished this feat is the degree to which she is respected today as Hollywood's number one screen actress.

Final selection of a girl to play the part violated all previous requirements. So it is in the case of "Suzanne".

With no quarrel for the women finally selected, and every good wish for their success, we are wondering where Hollywood is leading in its emphatic snubs of established professional Negro actors.

IS it a matter of money that makes it more expedient to cast a $150-a-week bit player alongside a $1500-a-week star when the bit player is expected to give relatively just as finished a performance as the star. And when it is a matter of money, why does the cut always fall on the Negro player?

NOT all the funny business of Hollywood is racial, however, and we champion the cause first, only because it is closest to us, not because we are disinterested in the reflections cast upon ALL men and women following the acting profession.

What sense, for instance, is there in destroying the artistry of a truly fine artist by subjecting it to mediocre directorship. How would you like to see Garbo in a film directed by an actionman who has no appreciation for the subtleties of her exprtssions and interpretations. I believe that Rainer has as much to offer to the art of motion pictures as Garbo has given to them. I believe that the public should demand that some semblance of that art should be preserved, in spite of Hollywood and its mad grab for money. I wonder what will happen to Rainer under Thorpe's direction?

AS for Negro players, we are hoping that the splendid work of the Screen Actors Guild will extend to some form of distinction in classifying their work.

BROWN SOPHISTICATES OF RHYTHM—The Brown Sisters, shown above are currently termed the smartest radio act by critics from coast to coast as they broadcast a transcontinental program for Columbia Sunday evenings at 6:30. Unique for its high quality of musical selections, the fifteen-minute program is attracting no little notice with a descriptive narration on Negro modes and manners hitherto unequaled for poetic beauty and a colorful presentation of cross-sections of racial melodies. Hugh Brundage, announcer, shares honors with the trio on this program of dignified, entertaining revelries in song.

buck and bubbles head new musical cavalcade

NEW YORK CITY. (ANP)—Buck and Bubbles, famous musical comedy stars of stage and screen, have organized their own orchestra and will have their premiere performance at the Apollo theatre in New York City this coming Friday, March 18th. The performance also marks the introduction to the musical world of a new type of presentation featuring Buck and Bubbles, Emmett Matthews and Alice Harris, delineator of songs, in a huge extravaganza.

Buck and Bubbles, now billed as the "Prime Ministers Of Rhythm," begin an extended tour of deluxe theatres for RKO, which will be followed by a coast-to-coast tour of the principal cities during which the famed funsters will play dance engagements with their new band.

Buck and Bubbles have formed a unique musical ensemble with a fourteen men personnel, which will offer an entirely new slant on modern dance music and stage presentations. The international stars were recently featured in the Rockefeller musical 'Virginia' at the Center theatre. Prior to that they were starred in the London production of "Trans-Atlantic Rhythm", "Porgy and Bess" and "The Ziegfeld Follies." They have played practically every vaudeville house in America during their eighteen years as a comic duo, and all under the management of Nat Nazarro, famous vaudeville star of fifteen years ago.

TO CONTINUE COMEDY

A new comedy team promises to emerge from the barroom scene that John Barrymore and Lynne Overman did together in Paramount's "True Confession". As a result of the hit they made together in the Carole Lombard-Fred MacMurray picture, they will be seen togtehr again in Henry Hathaway's Alaskan saga, "Spawn of the North", at Paramount.

band members escape injury

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Mar. 17—Members of Jimmie Gunn's band narrowly escaped serious injury when the foundation of the North Carolina Communnity House, where they were playing a dance engagement, gave way and dropped more than two feet. The dance floor, containing more than 500 dancers, slid more than three feet clockwise. Many instruments were damaged.

edw. g. robinson looks on his gangster roles as studies in psychology

Acclaimed by the public as the screen's Number One Gangster, Edward G. Robinson has only played six gangster roles in his entire screen career. This paradoxical fact came to light when he played his sixth gangster portraval in "The Last Gangster" which opens at the Tivoli theatre.

His present role is that of a gang overlord who is sent to prison, serves a ten year term and emerges to face a veritable new world. Rose Stradner, famous European dramatic actress, recently brought from Vienna, plays her first picture role opposite him, and James Stewart is cast in the romantic lead.

"Playing a gangster role," said Robinson, "is interesting because it presents a study in psychology. It takes a lot of imagining to get the viewpoint of a vicious criminal. That makes it a rather fascinating game. But I wouldn't care to play it too often. Comedy roles are more pleasant and less wear and tear on the imagination and emotions."

miss robert v. edwards thrills critics

Dessert to especially sumptuous musical fare throughout the winter season was Robert V. Edwards, pianist, who was presented in concert last Sunday afternoon by the Gray Conservatory of Music at the Gray Musart, 4068 So. Central avenue.

The concert closed the conservatory's second Annual Recital Series, one that, according to John Gray, master of the conservatory, has been especially successful.

Miss Edwards was supplemented by Norris J. Stokes, baritone, familiar to Los Angeles audiences; and a newcomer to the art circle, young Thomas Rakestraw, poet-son of the Rev. E. W. Rakestraw, pastor of the Wesley M. E. church.

To say Miss Edwards was warmly or even enthusiastically received by the capacity audience, would put it mildly. In addition to being composed of serious music lovers and critical musicians, the audience was one to which Miss Edwards is a familiar and much-loved figure, many of them having watched her grow up in the shadow of the piano and in the wings of the choir loft and stage. Miss Edwards is the eldest daughter of the redoubtable A. C. Bilbrew, showman par excellence.

Knowing her intimately, I may take the liberty of saying when Miss Edwards takes the trouble to extend herself, she does a thorough job of it.

roland hayes, fisk choir in concert

CHICAGO. (ANP)—In what is expected to be one of the most dramatic musical occasions which Chicago has enjoyed recently, Roland Hayes, the Fisk Jubilee Singers and the entire Fisk University Choir are to appear in a gigantic program to be held at the Auditorium theatre here Sunday afternoon, March 27.

Hayes is a graduate of Fisk university and has received an honorary degree of Doctor of Music from Fisk. The Fisk Jubilee Singers have a background so rich in romance and drama that they are renowned throughout the world. They first appeared before Queen Victoria in London in 1871 and through several generations have become one of the most famous musical choral groups in America.

writers busy as film work is speeded up

Indicating a heavy summer production schedule, Paramount has advanced to the writing stage a score of the plays, novels and original stories recently purchased, it was announced today at the studio.

"Zaza", in which Isa Miranda, outstanding Italian star, will make her screen debut, is being prepared for the screen by Jules Wurtfman. Pierre Berton and Charles Simon wrote the famous play.

"Midnight", an original story by Franz Schulz and Edwin Justus Mayer, purchased for Carole Lombard and Georges Rigaud, is being put in scenario form by Charles Brackett and Billy Wilder.

"If I Were King", in which Ronald Colman will be starred, and which will be produced by Frank Lloyd, has been partly completed by Preston Sturges.

A rough draft of Rudyard Kipling's "The Light That Failed", in which Ray Milland is expected to be starred, has been completed by Robert Carson, and Howard Estabrook is at work on "Ruler of the Seas."

ASSIGNMENTS

Novels, plays and originals that are to be assigned to writers immediately are "The Gracie Allen Murder Case," by S. S. Van Dine; "French Without Tears", the sensational play by Terence Rattigan; "The Captain Needs a Mate", a novel to be published by Eric Hatch, as well as another novel, "Fly by Night", by the same author.

Others are "Soubrette", a play by Jacques Deval; "Two Bad Hats", an original story by Monckton Hoff, and "Paris Honeymoon", an original by Margaret Arran, to co-star Bing Crosby and Franciska Gaal.

ADAPTATIONS

Without reference to the recently purchased properties, Ken Englund and Monte Brice are working on "Things Began To Happen", in which W. C. Fields will be starred; Stuart Anthony and Bob Yost are whipping "Tom Sawyer, Detective" into shape, and Jesse Lasky, Jr., is at work on "Hudson's Bay Company" for Cecil B. De Mille.

film favorites head "wells fargo" cast at the lincoln

One of the most stirring and inspiring stories taken from American history sweeps across the screen of the Lincoln theatre starting Sunday in a majestic cavalcade which ranks easily as one of the screen's major accomplishments.

The story is the dynamic "Wells Fargo", Paramount's tribute to the men who built and maintained America's first life line of empire. It covers broadly the stirring quarter of a century which began with the discovery of gold in California and the end of the War Between the States, the crowded years during which the American nation spread from ocean to ocean and its future greatness was established.

To quote the author of a recent history of the express business, "the story of it has been told and retold, but when will it ever stale?" The manner in which the story is told in film in "Wells Fargo" attests to the epic qualities of the story which, for sheer power, has no equal in film history.

The story begins with the decision of a young New Yorker, played by Joel McCrea, to enter what was then one of the most important as well as dangerous though lucrative businesses in the West — the carrying of mail to the frontier outposts and returning to "civilization" with the gold which was pouring from the mountains in a steady stream.

The tale follows him as he goes from outpost to outpost, establishing routes for pony express riders and later, the stagecoach. It also tells of his beautiful romance with Frances Dee, daughter of a wealthy Southern banker, whom he marries, and the hardships they endure in the crude West. It follows the romance of these two people for twenty-five years and uses their lives as the framework for a story upon which the tale of the West is placed.

The brilliant cast also includes Bob Burns, in a role which is new to him — that of a scout — and which gives the drawling Arkansan a splendid opportunity to prove what a great actor he really is. The same can be said of Lloyd Nolan, Robert Cummings, Porter Hall, Ralph Morgan, John Mack Brown and a long list of others, all of whom have important roles in this story.

"Wells Fargo" is what motion picture people like to call it. If it weren't for the fact the word "epic" has been so much over-used and abused of late this reviewer would be tempted to describe it with just that simple word. It is all of that and more!

dixie theatre may sue stepin fetchit

MEMPHIS. (ANP)—Because Stepin Fetchit, who with Erskine Hawkins were stars of the Harlem Hit Parade revue, failed to fill a return engagement on Feb. 6, 7, and 8 after playing there a week, management of the Orpheum theatre indicated last week they may sue the Consolidate Radio Artists.

Chalmus Cullins, white, of the Orpheum circuit, contacted the lazy comedian in Detroit and is understood to have had Step's promise to return for the appearance. This was after the contract had been signed for the return engagement. He was to return here with Cullins, but while the latter was making several long distance calls and sending telegrams the comedian disappeared, Cullins said.

The Orpheum plans to sue on the ground that CRA agreed to deliver Stepin Fetchit for the second appearance and failed to do so. The agency has offered the services of Step for an appearance on April 9, 10, and 11 but the Orpheum is undecided whether or not to take a gamble again on the comedian.

At the piano in EDDIE MALLORY'S Orchestra(and what a truly fine band it is) . . . sits Ethel's proud brother . . . while directing the band, acting as master of ceremonies, and clowning with fellow bandsmen in a novelty skit decidedly original, is . . . her smiling husband . . . EDDIE MALLORY.

The pathetic side of — Lynching is brought to the mind of a hushed audience when Miss Waters renders in her incomparable fashion—"Supper Time."

One fairly lives the loneliness and sorrow that fills that empty backwoods cabin . . . that never again shall hear the voice or footsteps of . . . the unidentified Negro who has been lynched by the mob. Ethel brings the house down around her ears time after time in her dramatization of the sorrowing wife who attempts to fix the "supper meal" for her hungry kiddies who are not aware their daddy has met with a cruel fate.

"TINY RAY" . . . member of the internationally famous act known as the . . . "Three Eddies," is still in our midst and Harlemites are hoping the act will show here in the States during the next month.

SUNSHINE SAMMY, teamed wth his dynamic partner . . . Sleepy Williams, has just about the swiftest and cleverest act local theatres have seen all season.

MINTA CATO . . . golden throated songstress is mending rapidly and before many more weeks should once again resume rehearsing for special concert work.

BUTTERBEANS & SUSIE . . . an act rounding out more than a quarter-century of footlight appearances . . . is still good for three or four curtain calls at each and every performance.

FLOYD RAY, called by West Coast columnists . . . the "Sepia" Fred Waring, swings into the Schiffman House, during the week of . . . March 25.

SIGNS 17TH RADIO NAME

Fiber McGee and Mollie, "America's First Family" of the Monday evening radios, have been signed by Paramount under a three feature pictures a year. Their first picture is tentatively titled "Summer Boarders".

it is being rather clearly demonstrated, that any day a casting director feels like it, he may reach down into the ranks of extra players and grab a performer for a superior role NOT because he wants to effect a humanitarian act, or to produce a finished performance BUT because he wants to take advantage of wage scale differentials and pay less than he would have to pay if he kept in line with established rules of other industries.

IF a guild is going to exist for the benefit of actors, let it apply the rules rigidly and relentlessly. If workers are to advance to higher positions and pay, let them advance on a record of merit. Otherwise, I see only a clever way to rob Peter and pay Paul cut-rate.

ON THE HUFF

REPLIES to last week's attack on asserted efforts to organize a jim-crow political campaign for Screen Actors Guild election:

JESSE GRAVES: I was nominated. Clarence Muse does not like me. We were not out of order. Why don't you print both sides of the story.

(Ed's note: we are willing but we can't read minds, Jess. Bring in a signed statement and we'll print it).

CHARLES BUTLER: I knew nothing about the meeting. Did not attend. Did not notify anyone to be present.

NATHAN CURRY: I was told to be present by the guild to see what was going on. My interest was not to encourage the program.

By JOHN KINLOCH

"Gold is Where You Find It" has a routine plot, an exceptional background, and is highly entertaining filmfare.

The film concerns itself with the early clash between farmers and miners in the Sacramento valley. At the time, miners were using millions of tons of high-pressured water to rip away mountains in their quest of the gold ore. However, the silt and mud which the water washed into the valleys ruined the crops of the farmers and threatened to destroy their livelihood. George Brent is the young mining engineer from the East and Olivia de Haviland is a farmer's daughter. Of course, this makes things rather complicated, but their romance manages to blossom through it all.

The color photography is excellent, and, for once, it is played down to its rightful position as background. There are two are three astounding shots of Sacramento valley, a delicious glimpse of a San Francisco bar, and the women-Olivia de Haviland and Margaret Lindsay--photographed beautifully in the medium.

The picture is given brisk direction and moves swiftly to its sure-fire climax.

Claude Rains turns in his usual sensitive performance as the farmer-gentleman whose eloquence in a final court scene secures the muchneeded injunction against the miners. Rains again makes it clear that the best screen results are obtained by consistent, intelligent under-acting. Olivia de Haviland is properly ingenuous and incredibly beautiful. George Brent makes his hero human.

However, the most memorably acting of the picture is that of the several gentlemen who portray the rubber-baron capitalists whose lust for gold lead them to corruption and crime. They are done to perfection by Sidney Toler, Henry Kolb, John Litel, and the late Robert Mcwade. The sharpness of their caricatures are superb.

There is one delightful scene at a large ball in the fabulously wealthy home of a San Francisco mining lord. It is an event in welcome of ex-president Ulysses S. Grant, and heralded as they enter are all of the oldest Californian families. Senator George Hearst is announced. He strides up to his host--exchanges pleasantries, says, "You know, I'm worried about that boy of mine--Willy. Wants to go into newspapers; any money in it?" The host shakes his head sadly.

"Gold is Where you Find It" is a welcome variation from the present daffy cycle--another riproaring drama like this will probably kill it.

There is one rather profound lesson producers can learn from the picture's success. That is, given an interesting historical background, even an old plot can pack 'em in the aisles.

MIDGE WILLIAMS—California's gift to styleized swing, former NBC staff artist, joined Louis Armstrong as soloist in a headline all-colored bill at Loew's tate theatre in Times Square, ew York, beginning March 24, was announced this week.

LOUIS ARMSTRONG

Miss Williams replaces Bobby aston as featured artist with the med Armstrong band. She appeared regularly on the Rudy allee hour originating in New ork after leaving the West ast two years ago.

Armstrong's current revue is e first of its kind to hit Broadway for some time, and is rated e highest paid colored aggregation in current theatre fare. alaries for the week are estiated at $6500.

ICODEMUS SIGNED

Armstrong will begin his theatrical tour in Indianapolis next week. For his theatre dates, Joe Glaser his personal manager, has set an entire bill of variety performers, which includes, Nicodemus, another Hollywood performer, who has just completed several radio weeks with Eddie Cantor; Alma Turner, the Two Zephyrs and several others yet to be named.

The present tour of the swinging trumpeter is his first since several successful ventures in Hollywood, which cast him in pictures with Mae West, Bing Crosby, Jack Benny, Martha Raye and many others.

'haiti', william du bois' exciting drama of the black napoleon, earns unanimous praise of critics as greatest triumph

With an attendance of 4,378 for the first five days of its run at the Lafayette Theatre in Harlem, the WPA Federal Theatre Project production of "Haiti" already has passed the record set by "Macbeth", early triumph of the project's Negro theatre.

The Lafayette Theatre is completely sold out for the nights of March 19, April 1 and April 12, the first of a series of 55 sell-outs scheduled for the next two months, with more in the offing.

HAS GALA PREMIERE

The premiere of "Haiti" last week was a brilliant opening for the popular Harlem playhouse.

The most interesting crowd since the days of "Macbeth" assembled at the Lafayette to witness for the first time on the American stage the exciting drama of 500,000 blacks fighting against the imperialistic designs of Napoleon Bonaparte.

Among the outstanding personalities seen during intermissions were Faustin Wirkus, formerly King of La Gonave in Haiti, Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. White, Arthur Schomburg, noted curator, Laura Cadet, representative of the Consul General of Haiti, Dr. Binga Desmond, Rev. Adam Powell, Dr. C. B. Powell and Anne Morgan of the American Women's Association.

Pete Nugent, Bill Walker, the Beach Combess, the Bells, Leroy Williams, Edith King and Cecil Lee make the revue, "Flirtation Fancies", which was ushered in last Friday by Teddy Blackman at Walter Norwood's Club Plantation a delightful and highly entertaining cafe opus in Detroit.

The revue abounds in talent. Pete Nugent, you will remember, formerly of that classy, sophisticated trio of dancers, Pete, Peaches and Duke, won new laurels for himself as a dancer.

Gray Artists in Final Program

The Gray Conservatory of Music is presenting the six artists who were heard on the Second Sunday Series this winter at the Masonic hall, 1050 E. 50th St., on Sunday afternoon, April 3, at 4 o'clock.

This grand finale of the season will include Clarence Hargrave, dramatic reader; Victoria Rice, violinist; Leola Longress, soprano; Diette Gross, artistic whistler; Norris J. Stokes jr., baritone, and Robert V. Edwards, pianist.

Tickets for this occasion are 50 cents. Season subscribers to the winter series will be admitted upon presentation of their regular cards of admission.

'bojangles' goes on the road

NEW YORK CITY—At the close of his engagement at the Cotton Club, Bill Robinson will play theatre dates it was learned. First is a verbal agreement which contracts him for the Keith-Memorial, Boston, which opened on March 17. Other dates will be subject to his recall to the 20th Century Fox lot for a celluloid appearance.

The studio contract which expires in August, calls for three more pictures.

willie bryant tops apollo

ONCE A PEANUT VENDOR—Willie Bryant is currently topping a smart bill of fast moving, classy vaudeville at the Apollo theatre, Harlem. Bryant has been one of the most popular features in eastern revues. Chicago claims him as a find of the Grand theatre when he made his debut from the streets of Bronzeville where he sold peanuts. The young maestro says he learned about swing from goober eaters and got his rhythm from shuffling popcorn over the flame!

orchestras and musicians

Flash

An important and interesting meeting was held Monday at Headquarters of Local 767 of A. F. M. The meeting was opened by president Bailey. Many matters of importance to the welfare of the musicians were discussed, as well as other union problems. The officials of the publication of the Journal which is the official magazine of Local 767, that is published Monthly, have received many compliments from various musicians locals of the country for their work in making this journal a success. At the last meeting this past month the many members present voted in favor of changing the name of this magazine to that of the Harmony Herald.

LEE (drums) YOUNG has been confined to the Methodist hospital for the past week, where he was operated for appendicitis. Latest reports from the hospital say Lee is doing very well and expects to be back in his old "swing" harness in a very short while. This column and all the "Cats" are wishing Lee a very quick recovery.

On the so-called Negro Hour this past Thursday night, I wish to congratulate Miss ELEANOR (sweet-voice) WILLIAMS for the fine singing of that new tune just recently written by that local piano "crusher", ROY (piano) RANDALL, "You Don't Have to Treat Me That Way".

HAPPY (trombone) JOHNSON and his swing band finished their successful engagement at Mosby's Big Apple cafe on the Avenue Sunday night. Happy has been rehearsing a fifteen-piece band with which he will begin his new contract this week at the swanky Vogue Cafe uptown. This column is wishing Happy and all the "Cats" the best of success in his new undertakings.

Line-up of Local 767 team: LEE (drums) YOUNG, VERNON (bass) GOWER, in the forward positions; OSCAR (drums) BRADLY, MARTIN (sax) GOWER in the guard positions, and GEORGE (drums) REED "swung" in the center position. All these young "Cats" are formerly all-stars from various championship high school teams in past years here in Los Angeles. Lee Young was the honorary captain of the 'Cats' team, and they played a bang-up game for their dear old Local 767 of A. F. M.

TEDDY HILL

Teddy Hill and his Savoy orchestra nosed into big time radio Saturday night when they replaced Larry Clinton on the RCA Victor show from 8 to 8:30 p. m. (EST). With Hill handling the baton, the music of his popular Harlem band was ushered to the nation via the National Blue network from coast to coast.

With the ears of the country at his command for the first time in several months, Hill proved his knowledge of the current swing craze and radio broadcasting. His music for the occasion was sweet with fullness and well selected tunes.

TO REPLACE WEBB

Prior to a scheduled run at the Savoy Ballroom, where in the past, he has been a favorite of dance lovers and radio listeners, Hill will take his band to Boston, Friday, to replace Chick Webb who with his band and Ella Fitzgerald have already created a colored sensation there in the Flamingo Room of Levaggi's swank restaurant.

During his stay there, Hill and his band will be aired Saturday night from 6:35 to 7 o'clock over the NBC Blue network.

'blackbirds' lead writes new song

"I've Made Up My Mind" by Babe Wallace, former juvenile lead with Lew Leslie's European version of "Blackbirds", is being hailed as a new hit in eastern markets. The number is recorded by Chick Webb.

Wallace is featured nightly at the Black Cat Club.

fats waller holds his own at philly

Fats Waller, rotund piano swingster, arrived in Philadelphia last week for an extended engagement at the Earl Theatre.

Proving not as popular as Benny Goodman's band, with Lionel Hampton, Teddy Wilson and Gene Krupa, to say nothing of the "old professor" himself, who preceded him by a week, Fats, nevertheltss, bowled 'em over with several new touches to his inimitable swing music.

it's good thing monkeys fled in early sequences

Neighbors of Major Studios, Las Palmas avenue and Santa Monica boulevard, today were thanking their stars that it was only the monkeys that escaped from the "Doctor Rhythm" set recently.

On the zoo set of the Bing Crosby-Beatrice Lillie picture are tigers, lions, leopards, an elephant, three bears, jaguars and a camel—all of which are liberated from their cages for a scene.

The monkeys found a hole in the netting enclosing the huge set and 158 out of 300 escaped to roam Hollywood and its hinterlands.

set builders working on new films

Prosperity in Hollywood is measured by the number of carpenters at work on new sets, and this barometer today revealed a new peak in the world's entertainment capital.

A score of huge sets are now under construction at Paramount studio alone.

A ballroom the size of a half city block, designed for "Cocoanut Grove" designed by Hans nut Grove" by Hans Drier, studio art department head, is replacing a large college auditorium used in "College Swing on Stage 1.

The largest building at Paramount Stage 9 is housing a typical Southern Mexico village for "Tropic Holliday," which features Dorothy Lamour, Ray Milland, Bob Burns and Martha Raye.

This set was started while workmen were tearing down the Riviera penthouse for "Bluebeards Eighth Wife" which stars Gary Cooper and Claudette Colbert.

marie dickerson dances with live snakes at tivoli tonight

bby taylor, rena gonzales, nellie lutcher on program

Weird beating of tom-toms, haunting, sensuous ental music, a shapely dancer with live, writhing rpents encircling their glistening coils about her bronzè form! This is the startling thrilling, highly entertaining act that will top the vaudeville bill at the Tivoli theatre tonight when Marie Dickerson, famous entertainer, presents Cleopatra's dance of the sacred serpent.

Besides this special feature performance, Harry Levette has secured some of the finest artists of the stage to serve a bill of fare unsurpassed in the few downtown vaudeville houses. Among these are Rena Gonzales, who recently returned from a nation wide tour; Sam Montgomery and Bobby Johnson in a dancing team; also Nellie Lutcher, Fats Waller's rival with her torch singing and piano wizardry. Lew Crawford will be on hand with a lot of foolishness, Libby Taylor will do the impersonation of Mae West as promised last week.

Prince Modupe, African interpreter and teacher of the tribal dances beats the tom-toms for Mrs. Dickerson.

Besides the vaudeville, Frank Roos, genial Tivoli manager, has selected an especially fine program of features, comedies, cartoons and newsreels for the biggest show in town at the usual popular prices.

KICKING THE UNDER-DOG

Nations could and should dwell on this dear old earth in perfect peace. But this is only the forlorn hope of a few who yearn for that happy day when loved ones will cease to be sacrificed upon the fields of slaughter in defense of that which they know absolutely nothing and had no part in bringing about — the thirst for wholesale slaughter.

The cause at the bottom of the whole situation is the white man's greed for gold and empire. As long as such blood-thirsty cut-throats as Hitler and Mussolini dictate the course of nations, the under-dog will be the victim of pillage, rape and murder.

Hitler marched into Austria and took full possession and flung a challenge to all Europe, declaring: "No power in the world can drive us out of Austria!"

Mussolini, with death-dealing war machines and poison gas, marched into peaceful, unarmed Ethiopia, slaughtered thousands of men, women and children to partly appease his lust for gold and empire. While the rape and butchery of these defenseless people was in progress, the League of Nations in which England and France hold top hands, held meetings and stalled, thus giving the Italian butcher, a chance to fully realize his ambition.

However, good or evil, will be measured back to the giver and Hitler's triumphant march into Austria looks as though England, France, their allies, will not stall as in the case of poor Ethiopia, but will have to fish or cut bait!

It's written in the Book of Books: "As ye sow, shall ye reap."

STILL BLUNDERING

Every time Governor Merriam sets a trap he catches his own foot. At the special legislative session (which should have been called months ago) the Governor received a good, sound spanking at the hands of that august body.

The judiciary is non-partisan, but all such appointments made by the Governor have been Republicans. He seems to have forgotten that he owes his election to white and colored Democrats augmented by Negro stand-pat Republicans.

Is the Governor against the able lawyers of that party because of political faith and prejudice against Negroes holding office or just too old and dumb to comprehend moves on the political checkerboard? He'd better get wise between now and next August!

TED BILBO

The cheeks of every well-bred Southerner should burn with shame and disgust every time Ted Bilbo, Senator from the benighted State of Mississippi, opens his foul, ill-smelling mouth.

Comes now a proposal of the Mississippian to offer an amendment to an appropriation measure to include sufficient funds to colonize American Negroes in Liberia. His reasons therefor are that white women are so much in love with black men that in a short period a race of mongrels will spring up and the white race will fade from the picture.

Just how this accusation or confession on the part of the pure (?) blooded Caucasian from the Mississippi jungle sets upon the stomach of the proud, aristocratic women of Dixie we are unable to state; as yet we've heard no reaction.

A JOURNALISTIC TRIUMPH

The nightly broadcasts of local and world-wide news concerning our group by The California Eagle marks another forward step in journalism.

The enthusiastic reception given these broadcasts by all races is indeed gratifying and encouraging to our effort to render real service to the uplift and advancement of both city and state.

It's a contribution in which we take great pride and we'll strive to improve it.

The aim of The EAGLE: Always first with the news.

HIS CASE IN HIGHER COURT

Clarence Darrow, famous defender and agnostic, peacefully passed from the walks of man Sunday in his apartment overlooking the campus of Chicago university.

A bitter foe of capital punishment, his life was spent in defense of the accused, and no man whom he defended ever paid the penalty of death for his crime.

Clarence Darrow's life was devoted to defending those whom he conscientiously believed to be persecuted and denied constitutional rights.

A few years before retirement, he went to Detroit where he defended and freed Dr. Sweet, Negro, who was charged with first degree murder when he fired into a white mob bent on taking his life because he had purchased a home in a district said to be restricted against the invasion of Negroes. Darrow volunteered his services to the N. A.A.C.P. and thereafter enrolled as a member of the Association's legal staff.

Long after retirement he entered the Cook County Courthouse, the first time in years. The query, "What brings you here, Clarence?" His reply: "Well, Jesse Binga's secretary is accused with aiding in wrecking Jesse's bank. She's a fine girl and I happened to notice in the paper she had been indicted, so I journeyed down to help her."

And thus it has been all down thru the 81 years of his life — always helping, aiding and assisting the "man farthest down".

They called him an agnostic, but we call him a close believer in and follower of the Sainted Christ, like the lamented Col. Robt. G. Ingersoll defended the encroachment upon the rights and liberties of every human, regardless of race, creed or religion.

Darrow is gone but his fine gentlemanly character and kindly deeds unto mankind will ever endure and last as long as time.

Rest to his soul.

ARM FOR DEFENSE

The armament plan of the United States should receive the fullest support of Congress and all true Americans. The lesson has been forcibly impressed by Hitler's invasion of Austria and Mussolini's slaughter in Ethiopia.

Arm to the teeth, not for war, but to stave off he who tries to invade this country. "Be ye also ready, for ye know not when," etc.

It's true, however, that black Americans are barred because of skin texture from aviation, marine and battleship service, but before it's finally settled they'll not only want Negroes to fly, but guard the President, as was the case during the World War.

CONGRATULATIONS!

One of the fastest growing institutions in the state, the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance company, is being roundly congratulated upon its expansion move last week. The company is now utilizing the lower floor of its building at 4261 Central avenue, as quarters for the Los Angeles District home office.

A gala opening Sunday was attended by Los Angeles' civic, social, and political leaders, who paid their respects to the company on its latest step in keeping in the forefront of the state's insurance institutions.

GOOD BYE, BARREL!

THE WORLD THIS WEEK
By ROBERT PATTERSON

IT MAY HAVE BEEN YOU!

There's good news from the traffic front — lives "saved", instead of lives lost. And one of those saved may have been you!

More than 550 Americans are today eating, working, singing, walking, and living because of a thirty per cent drop in auto fatalities during January. If last December's death rate had continued into this year, those 550 would today be torn and mangled wrecks, their lives ended in the blinding crash of steel. Instead they are alive, living their own little dramas.

During January, 11 states showed auto death decreases of more than 25 per cent, every major city in the nation with one exception had a "life saving" record, and in one city — Los Angeles — the carefulness of drivers "gave life" to 13 persons — all proof that this monster that feeds on twisted bodies can be curbed.

Who are they, the 550 who were saved? No one knows! They may include you or your loved ones — a brother, son, sister, or father. No one will ever know who is alive today because safe, sane, and sober driving has begun to clip the wings of the speeding death that feeds on careless motorists.

One of them may have been you! Safer driving "saved" 550 Americans!

A WIFE-BEATER FLOGGED

The whine of the cat o' nine tails bites through the air! As the strings of leather cut into his skin, the man lashed to the pillar screams in pain! His back a mass of purple welts, the prisoner strains weakly against the bands that bind him to the whipping-post!

Does that sound like the "Bounty" days of Captain Bligh? It isn't! It happened last week, March 1938, and the scene was a Maryland prison!

But there is another picture! It is a young woman, her eyes forced shut by the swollen blackness of her skin, her face sliced with cuts, her jaw bruised with heavy blows. That young wife was beaten by the flogging arms of her husband, the same man who felt the "cat" on his back.

Flogging, as punishment, is out of tune with modern prison methods. And yet, everyone who saw that broken woman must have felt that something more than a quiet stay in prison was indicated for the wife-beater.

The cat o' nine tails is certainly uncivilized, but there is nothing very "civilized" about wife beating. Perhaps two wrongs made a right!

IS DEMOCRACY DOOMED?

In America stand 130 million people, 130 million men, women, and children dedicated to the proposition that a government of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from the earth. A nation, uninterested in alien entanglements, but ready to protect their own democracy from troubles by day or thieves at night.

Is democracy doomed? Not so long as 130 million Americans are ready to lift the shout: "It shall not perish from OUR land!"

it is equally true that a colored woman who is attractive, intelligent, cultured and not overburdened with complexes and inhibitions, is the equal and often the superior of any white rivals.

"Even if some dark lad does have an affair with a white girl, it no more hurts race relations than have the thousands of affairs that have taken place between and not always, as is frequently alleged by compulsion. And if the two marry, the white bride joins the Negro group and another strong (and legal) interracial tie is formed. There are more than 10,000 such marriages in these United States, and so far as I have been able to ascertain, such couples get along just as well stay together just as long and raise as good families as

Effect of Public Indifference

The primary election is a "dud," more and more useless formality continued only because the law requires it. It came into American politics as the way around the boss control. But once again selections are being made on calculations in the hands of master minds. Makers of political destiny once discredited to the point where the primary was brought in "to drive bosses out," now include the administration which is taking a hand in the selection of governors and members of Congress.

To a large extent condemnation of the bosses was a maneuver to bring about change, any change, whereby outsiders could get power themselves. From its very beginning the primary proved costly. Fully as many poor men on personal merit were "put on the slate" under boss rule as won in primaries. There has been no lessening of the power of money in selections. Campaign costs, if anything, are greater under the two election system.

This experience should teach the American people that there is no readymade system for popular government. Their lack of participation in the party primaries made possible the boss-made slate in the old days. When they are equally apathetic and stay away from the primaries, those who do take part are the same people who are active in conventions. The average voters still prefer to take anything they get rather than exert themselves o get what hey want.

Those who hold the anti-democratic view contend that the people need direction and are not competent to govern themselves.

The outcry against the boss should be directed against the pliant public of which the boss is the result, not at the cause. So long as men and women intelligent enough to take part in government prefer to have the politics ready made, the party convention or a few leaders meeting in a smoke filled room after midnight are as good as a primary and a whole lot cheaper. It is no wonder that the old system has returned in fact, though not restored by law.

Dear Editor:

What is the matter with the Santa Monica news. One week it comes out and the next week it doesn't. Please explain the reason.

Your paper should pay more attention to matters of this kind.

Yours truly.

News coming in from towns, such as Santa Monica, must reach us not later than Tuesday noon to insure publication. It must be written in ink, or typewritten, on one side of the paper. In the event it is written, it must be considerably more legible than was Complainer Mitchell's rebuke.

FOR T. B. TESTS

Dear Editor:

In answer to Mrs. Phebe Fletcher's letter (Eagle, March 3), I would like to call attention to the fact that the modern fight against tuberculosis is based on Prevention! The formula is simple. Examine everybody, segregate and treat those affected and tuberculosis no longer will be the No. 1 killer of those between the ages of 15 and 45. But to follow this simple formula means a long struggle against individual and social short-sightedness.

Our group's death rate from tuberculosis is generally from 2 to 3 times that of our white brothers. The death rate among all races is highest in the hard-working, low-income brackets. This suggests one of the causes of our high death rate. There are others, among which I would list the lack of widespread, intelligent attitude toward diseases prevention. These conditions can be changed if we have the will to change them.

I suggest that it would have been much better had the healthful Mrs. Fletcher been able to say proudly to her employer, "Yes' I had an examination to be sure of my health and to protect my friends. Have you had an examination?" The tubercule bacillus has no color prejudice and here was a splendid chance if he had such backward notions as was implied.

This year's anti-tuberculosis campaign slogan is "Tuberculosis Undiscovered Endangers You." It speaks for itself. Our group, being most exposed to danger, must fight most intelligently.

Respectfully yours,
A PATIENT

FROM WALTER WHITE

Dear Editor:

May I be permitted to express unqualified appreciation to you and the editors of the Negro press generally for the editorial support and the news space given to the fight for the Anti-Lynching Bill? To the Negro press more than any other single agency is due credit for the extraordinary pressure on Congress in behalf of the Bill. Whenever any group can tie up completely the United States Senate for as long a period as this Bill has done, we may be sure that that group is coming of age politically and in other ways.

There is one most important lesson which Negro Americans can learn from this fight. It is this: Instead of spending so much time bemoaning our fate, "talking at the big gate" about how hard life is for us colored people, and, in general, assuming a defeatist attitude, we can learn from the latest round of the battle that if we organize intelligently, unselfishly, and effectively, we can go forward. The far flung Negro press can do more than any other agency towards the inculcation of this spirit of hope and determination to replace the timidity and lack of faith which have held us back in the past.

It is true that the Bill has not have moved nearer that goal than ever before. Nothing can stop us if we do not lose heart. Never before has Congress been so conscious of the potential power of the Negro. Not the least tribute to that power has been the denunciation of the Negro by such senators as Bilbo, Ellender, "Cotton Ed" Smith, Connally and Borah.

The politicians of both parties are worried. They are watching to see the reaction to the sidetracking of the Bill. If Negroes and their friends remain quiet, then the politicians are going to be happy because they will believe that they have nothing to worry about.

But if we make ourselves heard in a great wave of indignation against the sidetracking of the Bill, and are insistent enough on action, the politicians in the United States Senate will be afraid to let Congress adjourn without taking some definite action against lynching.

Ever sincerely,
WALTER WHITE

AFFIRMATION OF FAITH

Dear Editor:

At a meeting of the Sallie W. Stewart club, member of the State Federation of Colored Women's clubs, on March 1st, it was unanimously voted that the following letter would be sent to you.

"The Sallie W. Stewart club sends you felicitations and wishes you health and success.

You have lived among us in Los Angeles for many years and you have with hard work, courageous efforts and noble purpose, built the California Eagle from a mere sheet to a paper of worth and distinction. You have stood for the uplift and betterment of your race in season and out. You have stood for the highest and have ever been on the watch tower, looking out for things you thought worthwhile and best for your people.

Therefore the women of the Sallie W. Stewart club want you to know that they believe in you. They do not in any sense doubt your honesty and sincerity of purpose and your high integrity and worth. This letter is for publication.

Very sincerely yours,
The Sallie W. Stewart Club

Dear Editor:

I noted your pictures showing results of the flood at La Cienega CCC camp. The lads are to be commended for their stalwart behaviour throughout the trying period. The truck drivers handled their vehicles in great style, driving over the dangerous roads without accident.

Although cut off from most forms of communication Co. 2923 had their stalwart radio operator, Eugene C. Porter, who kept in constant touch with the headquarters at Van Nuys. Peers is the only colored radio operator in the Ninth Corps Area which includes 200 camps.

Secret commenced to scratch his head. "I hadn't thought about that," he says.

"We'll have to hire a lot of women, to wash all them cloths," Secret says, finally.

"I don't intend for no women to wash 'em," I answers. "There's a gang of wetwash laundries around here cuttin' one another's throats for business. With the volume of laundry we got here, I'm going to drive a hard bargain with some of 'em, and get these cloths rough-dried for about twenty-five cents a bundle."

"Maybe they'll iron 'em cheap too," Secret says.

"Not on your life," I answers. "We going to put them 500 colored women to work, what lost their jobs on the W. P. A. We'll give each of 'em twenty bundles to do, at fifty cents a bundle. That'll put $5000.00 in their hands inside of 5 or 6 days."

Secret commenced scratching his head again. "But there won't be nothing much left for us", he said dolefully; "Not after you buy drinks for all our customers."

I put my hand on his shoulder. "Son," I says, "Big business is done off volume, and off reputation. Whatever it costs, we got to deliver the 'goods', in order to get more business. "Besides," I concludes: "Whatever YOU make it'll be a darn sight more than you had when you come here. You can't expect to get rich overnight, when you ain't got nothing invested."

Secret was real quiet for about two minutes. Then he says: "Listen here! How we going to pay to get all the laundry rough-dried, when neither one of us ain't got no money? It'll cost us $2500.00 even at 25 cents a bundle."

PROCLAMATION!

To the Citizens of Los Angeles, Greetings:

WHEREAS, the United States Public Health Service has designated the period from April 3rd to April 10th, 1938, inclusive, for the twenty-fourth annual observance of National Negro Health Week; and

WHEREAS, the Negro community of this city, with the cooperation of other groups interested in the advancement of colored people, has planned a detailed program of educational and practical activities in connection with this event, and especially emphasizing the urgent need for combatting the spread of tuberculosis among our Negro citizens,

NOW, THEREFORE, as Mayor of the City of Los Angeles, I do hereby set aside and proclaim the said period of April 3rd to 10th, 1938, inclusive, as Negro Health Week in and for this city, and I do further commend to all citizens due attention and appropriate observance of this important occasion.

FRANK L. SHAW, MAYOR.

Mayor Shaw Proclaims Negro Health Week

Released exclusively to the California Eagle, Mayor Frank L. Shaw this week issued a proclamation designating the week of April 3rd to April 10th inclusive, for the twenty-fourth annual observance of such week appears to me most desirable. I trust the program planned for Los Angeles is successful in every way.

MAYOR FRANK L. SHAW

Leading the local observation of Negro Health week is the California Eagle which will publish a special session devoted to Negro Health in the regular issue of the paper on April 7th. Prominent doctors and health specialists will cooperate.

The Better Health League and coperating organizations, in addition, are laying plans for the celebration, which bids fair to surpass observances of previous years.

Climaxed on Sunday, April 10, the program will enlist the special attention of the YMCA, YWCA, Urban League, Elks, Golden State Ins. Co. and similar organizations.

Dr. Ruth Temple is chairman of the Better Health League committee. She is aided by Floyd Covington, Nathaniel George, the Rev. Clayton Russell, Mrs. T. A. Cole, S. Finlayson, Geo. A. Beavers, Jr., and other civic leaders.

Dane in Study of Race Relations

Studying race relations in Los Angeles this week was young Sven Boldsen of Denmark, son of Mrs. Thyra Boldsen, woman sculptor, working in California.

Mr. Boldsen was guest of Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor of the California Eagle, and friend of Mrs. Boldsen, on a tour of Negro business places, and homes.

Woman Gets Ticket On Horse in Race

Lucky Ticket - Holders Apartment House Maid and Avenue Salesman

The third time proved the charm for Mrs. Lucille Wooden, one of 52 Los Angeles persons who held winning tickets in the Irish Sweepstakes when results of the drawings were made public this week.

Mrs. Wooden drew a ticket on "Bellboy", which entitles her to $2300 in prize money and a chance of bigger winnings when the race is run on Friday.

Two other Negroes were lucky. Winner of a $500 cash prize was Edward Ford, 1344 E. 50th street, who bought his ticket with Dorothy Fitzgerald of 2272 West 29th Pl., under the name, "Dot and Edward".

Mrs. Wooden's horse, "Bellboy", will run in the Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree, outside Liverpool, England, Friday. Holder of a ticket on the winning horse stand to win upwards of $100,000.

The horse chosen by Ford and Miss Fitzgerald was scratched from the race and the $500 is a residual or consolation prize.

AN APARTMENT HOUSE MAID

Mrs. Wooden, employed as an apartment house maid in the Vermont avenue district, lives at 5300 Ascot avenue. She was at work when an Eagle reporter called for an interview, but her daughter, Mrs. Emma Lee Jefferson, of the same address, was willing to give full particulars.

This was Mrs. Wooden's third ticket, Mrs. Jefferson explained. This one might have had particular luck, she thought, because it was sold to Mrs. Wooden by an Irish woman.

No, her mother was not a race horse enthusiast, Mrs. Jefferson said. Purchase of the sweeps ticket was merely a whim. Within her life time Mrs. Wooden had bet on a horse on only one other occasion and it had failed to show, it was stated.

If she doesn't win the top prize money, Mrs. Wooden will use the $2300, which will amount to about $1700 after government taxes are deducted, to aid dependent relatives.

REFRIGERATOR SALESMAN

Young Ford, an electric refrigerator salesman from the Zora Williams General Electric Appliance shop, was enthusiastic over his drawing. He told the Eagle reporter, he was persuaded to buy the ticket by Mrs. Fitzgerald to whom he had sold a refrigerator.

What will he do with his share of the prize? Well, he said "if I could find the right and willing girl, I'd use it to buy a license and the accompanying trappings."

. . . the line forms to the right girls.

Blodgett Secures Low Cost Tract

Announcement was made today by L. M. Blodgett, Los Angeles pioneer builder, and president of the Liberty Building Loan association, that he has secured a 35 acre tract located on Imperial avenue at Wadsworth street, where it is planned to erect low cost houses under terms of the Federal Housing authority.

RADIO INTERVIEW — Attorney Thomas L. Griffith jr., will be interviewed tonight on the EAGLE broadcast by Feature Editor Almena Davis.

Pasadenan Dies in Pittsburg

Mrs. Sarah Gordon Neal, mother of Audley L. Cole jr., promising young baritone, and Betty and George Cole, formerly of Pasadena, died late yesterday from an appendectomy, in Pittsburg, it was reported here by George Garner.

Mrs. Neal was married three months ago to Jean McNeal, prominent undertaker of Pittsburg. She was well known in Southern California where she lived until moving to Pittsburg two years ago to be near her son who was completing his education.

In Appeal to Legislator

An appeal to Assemblyman Augustus Hawkins, lone Race member of the legislature, to introduce legislation amending the Civil Rights Code, especially sections 51 and 52, was made this week by Charles D. Wherry, private citizen, giving his address as Station K, Box 184.

The two sections of the code which Wherry had reference to, amended would revoke licenses of public places that refused to serve Negroes.

Wherry received assurance of action from Hawkins, plus a word of caution that Wherry enlist the interest of the general public to insure such an amendment's passage.

Hawkins, it is remembered, is in no small measure responsible for the passage of the housing bills in the recent special session of the legislature. Vetoed by Governor Merriam after previous votes, the bills were introduced again by Mr. Hawkins and received the Governor's signature last week.

Would Probe and Publicize All Mob Acts!

Chief Executive Finally Breaks Silence On Anti-Lynch Bill; Two Points

WASHINGTON, Mar. 24. — At long last President Roosevelt broke his silence on the anti-lynch bill when he disclosed Tuesday that he had proposed to Congress a compromise for the anti-lynch bill under which G-men or legislators would investigate and publicize all acts of mob violence.

The substitute proposal as outlined by Roosevelt at his press conference, presumably would not call for Federal prosecution of mobsters, but would serve merely to provide a full exposition of the facts, which he said, is what the Nation needs.

The anti-lynch bill, proposed by Senators Wagner and Van-Nuys, including excerpts of the measure submitted by Congressman Gavagan, has been filibustered repeatedly by the Senate. This bil wloudd authorize Federal prosecution of state enforcement officers found to have been derelict in their protection of prisoners from mob violence. Southerners, led by William E. Borah of Idaho, fought it, presumably on the grounds that it is a violation of states rights.

MUST WORK OVER FILIBUSTER

President Roosevelt said the filibuster must not be permitted to block attempts to cope with mob rule. He disclosed the two alternative suggestions that he made to Congress as follows:

1. Adoption of legislation empowering the attorney general to investigate lynchings and other violence and to make the facts public to Congress, the President and the press.

2. Creation of a permanent congressional standing committee to make the investigations and subsequent attacks. The inquiries would be restricted to attacks which ended in death.

Outlaws Breach of Promise Suit for Common-law Wife

Because Dora Young, plaintiff in a sensational breach of promise suit asking $5000 damages from Joseph Young, never got a divorce from a former husband, Judge Thomas C. Gould, presiding in Department 29 of the Superior Court, ruled a dismissal of the charges at a hearing of the case Friday.

Evidence brought in the case which was argued by attorney Lloyd C. Griffith, representing Young, revealed that Young and the woman had lived together since 1916 as husband and wife. They came to California in 1920, from New York, acquired real estate at 3724 Paloma of an approximate value of $5000 and $2000 in personal property.

The couple separated in May, 1937. At that time Young brought action against Mrs. Young to partition the property. Mrs. Young filed a complaint against him in addition to her answer to the partition suit, for damages in the sum of $5000 for breach of promise to marry.

The two cases were consolidated and tried before Judge Gould on Friday. Trial lasted two days.

During the trial Mrs. Young was unable to prove that she had secured a divorce from her former husband, A. Tilson, of Kansas City. Separating from him in 1915, she served as housekeeper for Rev. J. W. Hurst, and there met Young.

Young also has a wife from whom he has not divorced, Mrs. Louise Thomas, of New Orleans, Louisiana.

Settlement of the case resulted finally in a division of property with the court ruling that money paid on the property was joint earnings of both parties.

High School Student Shot, Killed in Beverly Home

A verdict of justifiable homicide, handed down Tuesday morning by the coroner's jury, absolved of blame a white policeman in the fatal shooting of a seventeen year old colored youth, caught burglarising a home last week-end.

The dead youth is John Wesley Sneed, Jefferson high school student. He was ambushed and shot to death Friday night by Policeman D. P. Henderson of Beverly Hills.

Henderson told the coroner's jury that he had conceived the plan to trap a notorious "party burglar", believed responsible for more than 150 burglaries during the past year, in fashionable sections of Los Angeles and vicinity. Accordingly, the police officer had obtained permission from Joseph Rosenfeld owner of the house in which Sneed was shot, at 301 So. Maple Drive, Beverly Hills, to use his home as a trap for the suspect. Rosenfeld had been victimized, assertedly by Sneed, on a previous occasion.

GUESTS ENJOY DINNER

While guests of the Rosenfeld's enjoyed dinner in the fore part of the house, Henderson staked out a rear room for the unsuspecting thief. He unlatched a window and removed the screen from it, placed two purses on the bed as decoys and hid in the washroom adjoining the bedroom.

At approximately 7:20 p. m., he said he saw Sneed appear at the window, push it open and peer in. He disappeared, the officer said, then reappearing, climbed in. He was barefoot, this identifying him as the "barefoot burglar", so described by police who had glimpsed him on previous escapades.

Clad in dark clothes, hatted and gloved, the burglar crossed the room, to the bed and snatched up the purses. As he did, so he saw Henderson.

The police officer then stepped into full view, he told the jury. He claimed that he stood six feet from the boy, clad in full uniform and cried "Hands Up." The boy disregarded the command, the officer said, wheeled and ran.

Henderson shot once when Sneed had gained seven or eight feet toward the window. The bullet, from a 38 Colt revolver, entered the back, crashed through the chest, killing the youth instantly.

On the outside officers testified they found the young bandit's shoes and in his pockets a small pair of scissors which he obvious-

Report Discrimination at Prairie View Conference

PRAIRIE VIEW, Texas, (Special to the Eagle)—According to a special dispatch received here early this week, students of the senior class and a number of faculty members are still smarting from the humiliation caused by alleged discriminatory practice in housing educators during the week end educational conference at the Prairie View State Teachers' College, Prairie View, Tex., which began Friday, March 18. Dispatches say that all inmates of Anderson Hall, most adequate dormitory building on the campus, were compelled to move out of their rooms to Evans Hall, another dormitory, to make room for white educators attending the conference.

The report says that the white delegation did not fill the build-

Clarence Muse-- A-TALKIN' TO YOU

The public generally knows what it wants. It is difficult to understand what it wants at times, BUT IT HAS A DEFINITE WAY of expressing its likes and dislikes. Many would-be prophets, try to curve the PUBLIC desire to satisfy their predictions. I am commenting, my friends, on the excellent way the JOE LOUIS PICTURE was received. "Spirit of Youth" was my hope of what the thinking public wanted; a sincere effort on the part of all who were interested in its production, high-class, a real cross-section of all NEGRO TYPES, a clean simple story of a lad that made GOOD. Few adjectives were used in exploiting the production and in many cases ESPECIALLY HERE, A VERY LITTLE publicity, BUT THE MERIT OF THE PRODUCT packed the LINCOLN THEATRE on CENTRAL AVENUE for Nine Days which is a record for this house that only plays films "THREE DAYS". I would like to say here that YOUR EXCELLENT RESPONSE will do much to encourage another film of this CLASS and CALIBRE. The original idea of cost was greatly exceeded as this story began to unfold before the cameras and the producers were very much upset for a while, when they realized that the high standard demanded ran thousands of dollars beyond the original budget. Of course the only hope was that YOU, THE PUBLIC would pay and YOU DID! It is indeed inspiring that you even made it plain to the average theatre EXHIBITOR that you WANT GOOD PICTURES done in accordance with HIGH STANDARDS. That any old product just because it is colored with a lot of LYING PUBLICITY is not sufficient. EXHIBITORS and PRODUCERS are beginning to learn THAT OUR GROUP want QUALITY, and will get it regardless of their cheap attitude. It is not necessary to fight the cheap product, because you have proven to me THAT YOU WILL NOT SPEND YOUR MONEY TO SEE IT. And that is the answer. I just felt that I should pay TRIBUTE TO YOUR SOUND judgement. Also the producers are happy and I feel that even the EXHIBITORS will cooperate more HEREAFTER. Thanks, PUBLIC. CHAINGANG EVILS STILL EXIST DESPITE GEORGIA CLEAN-UP

Prisoners Ask Public to Protest Brutality to Governor

CHICAGO, March 24. (ANP)—Although Georgia has officially "cleaned up" its infamous chaingangs and has stated that its new policy is to extend prisoners a more humane treatment, convicts in the prison camp near Sylvester, Ga., receive the same old brutal treatment with iron fetters welded on and the sweat box in common use, the Associated Negro Press has learned.

An appeal to individuals and organizations everywhere, begging them to ask Gov. Rivers of Georgia and other state officials to stop wardens and guards from continued maltreatment of prisoners, has just been made by two convicts, whose names are not revealed for obvious reasons.

In the camp near Sylvester, it is alleged prisoners today must still work from sun-up to sundown, with brutal whippings and confinement in sweat boxes the penalties for infractions of rules. These sweat boxes, made of wood or concrete, are not wide enough for sitting nor tall enough for standing. The prisoner is forced to remain in a hunched-over position for many hours in the cold or hot sun, and is often unconscious when removed. Many have died after a long period in these boxes, it is reported.

This work from "sun to sun" consists of such manual labor as picking and shoveling, with insufficient food. Breakfast, served before daylight, is composed of cold black coffee-water, biscuits made without milk and generally without grease, two small pieces of salt pork, and molasses. Meanwhile the cooks, who arise at one or two a. m., have prepared breakfast and dinner together.

No Second Helping

This dinner, eaten cold during a half hour's rest in midday, invariably consists of corn bread, peas, and two small pieces of salt pork. It is generally mixed up in old syrup cans, often rusty. Supper, when the tired men return to the camp after sundown, is cold cornbread, greaseless greens, and one piece of salt pork. Second helpings are prohibited, for guards tell prisoners there is no more and the food given them ought to be enough for any man.

Although many men are ill or physically incapable of such hard labor daily for from 12 to 16 hours, they must work until they drop or accept punishment, it is charged. The work-week ends Saturday at noon, but from then until taken back to the job Monday morning, they are locked in a small part of the building with no space for recreation.

Those who are sick are visited by a doctor who generally looks at the patient through the bars, gives him tablets, and then allegedly bawls them out for "pretending to be ill." Next day the patient is put back to work, and if he protests, the guard tells him the doctor said the prisoner was able to continue laboring.

This according to the A. N. P. has resulted in convicts with advanced stages of tuberculosis, syphilis, or other contagious diseases inhabiting quarters with healthy men, to the detriment of the latter and no attempt to cure the former.

JAMES BYAS

CHARLES W. GILTON

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—The plans of LeMoyne College to send a debating team to meet the representatives of the Australian and New Zealand Universities and Colleges were advanced this week when the names of the LeMoyne College team were made public by President Frank Sweeney. The men selected are: James Spencer Byas and Chas. Webster Gilton, both of Memphis. Byas was selected on the strength of his debate experience during the past two debating seasons, while Gilton has been a stalwart of LeMoyne's forensic squads for the last four years. Professor Borris G. Alexander, debate coach and head of the Department of Political Science and Economics, will accompany the debaters.

Sweepings From The News of The World

Conceals Stolen Funds in Golf Bag

MINNEAPOLIS—Testimony of Otis Allen, director St. Paul branch, Neal Brothers funeral homes, highlighted the trial of W. Squire Neal, charged with concealment of $5,903 of the $118,000 funds embezzled from the First National Bank and Trust Co., by his brother John Neal, now under sentence of 15-years in Federal prison. Director Allen said the brothers' funeral business had no earnings the past four years, that during 1937, John Neal put money into the business at the rate of $100 to $200 weekly. At his arrest last January, Brother Squire took Federal operatives to his home, brought out a golf bag in which $5,903 was concealed. He is charged with concealing funds stolen from a National Bank and also concealing a felony.

3 Killed, Scores Injured in Midwest Tornadoes

KENNETT, Mo.—At least 3 Negroes were killed and scores injured in last Tuesday's tornado epidemic which swept through six states, took a huge toll in lives and property damage. At Wardell, Mo., Mrs. Henry Johnson and her son, 9, were killed; at Cape Girardeau, six farm houses were destroyed. Eli James injured; in Demopolis, Ala., a Negro district was hard hit, leaving one woman dead and several injured.

Held Charged With Impersonating Officer

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—Charged with impersonating a Federal officer in Birmingham, Ala., a man giving the name of John A. Jameson, Washington, D. C., is being held in county jail here in default of $1.000 bond. He claimed to be a trainer for the New York Giants when the late John J. (Muggsy) McGraw was manager of the team.

Studies Rural Housing in the South

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala.—L. E. Fry, in charge of Tuskegee's department of architecture, has been studying rural housing in the South, under a faculty grant by the General Education Board. Fry's plan: To provide builders' plans necessary for (1) repairing houses already built; (2), the building of new homes within a very low price range and (3), to supply models of simple home conveniences that may be produced at low cost.

Tired of Paying Rent; Buys Place of His Own

RALEIGH, N. C.—Tiring of paying rent and wanting a place of his own, but his only assets "a pretty good dog," Ben F. Butts decided to make a start toward independence. He sold his dog for $50, bought three acres of land in Perquimans County. Then he sought the help of neighbors and friends, built a house, now owns a cow and mule. He plans ultimately to have all three acres under cultivation, to buy more land later. Far Agent J. B. Small said of Butts: "He has an ideal homesite and will have a nice place when he gets it developed." In several more years Butts' original investment of $50 should make him self-supporting and working "as his own boss."

Early Wildflowers Beginning to Show, Automobile Club Reports

First signs of a beautiful wildflower season in the Southland were apparent last week although not to an extent to warrant a special trip.

Reports garnered from all sections by the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California told of several acres of small blossom varieties just beginning to color fields south and east of Shaster in Bakersfield and of a few poppies and lupine appearing around the Edison oil fields. Worth-while displays were not exptcted until next week-end.

Advces fsom various district offices of the club also told of a few scattered flowers throughout the Coachella valley southeast of Palm Springs. Another week shohld bring them out in attractive array.

A sprinkling of lupine and other buds has just begun to tint the Palos Verdes hills south of Redondo Beach and above Hollywood Riviera, it was reported from that area.

Extensive, vivid showings throughout the entire desert country are expected in the near future as a result of the widespread rains.

The almond blossom display at Banning was hindered by the storms and has vanished, and it is still much too early to look for cherry blossoms in the Beaumont area.

'Opportunity' Mag Finds Job Situation Improving

NEW YORK, March 24—Negro labor made more significant advances in 1937 than in any year since 1930, it is revealed in a survey of last year's job situation made by Reginald A. Johnson and published in Opportunity for March.

"Gains for the year included large membership enrollment in the major labor groups and many appointments to public offffice by way of the Civil Service," the article points out. "The American labor movement served Negroes to a greater extent during the year than at any other time in recent history. The Committee for Industrial Oroganization, in its developement of an industrial labor program, adhered consistently to a policy of non-discrimination, resulting in the addito of many thousands of new members to newly formed and reorganized unions in transportation of steel, and auto manufacture.

LESSENING OF COLOR LINE

"Out of this growth in unionism came unmistakable benefits in wages and hours, some lessening of the color line in industry, and the admission of Negroes into organizations in fields from which they heretofore had been barred, such as the electrical industry and the rapid transit. . . On the other hand, there were losses resulting from racial displacement, from the failure of labor movements in certain communities to obtain their objectives, and from the general loss in employment due to the recession."

Lee Funeral This Afternoon

The last rites for Mrs. Josephine Lee, of 922 East 35th street, will be held from the church chapel of the Angelus Funeral Home, 1030 East Jefferson Blvd. this afternoon (Thursday) at 2 o'clock. Rev. A. C. Capers will conduct the ceremonies.

Mrs. Lee died at her late residence last Sunday night. She had made Los Angeles her home for the past 45 years, coming here from her birthplace in Waco, Texas. For a number of years the deceased was one of the prominent members of Central Baptist Church, 27th and Paloma.

Surviving are a daughter, Miss Cora Lee, a nurse at the General hospital; and a son, Andrew Mayfield. Interment will be in Evergreen cemetery.

Tuskegee Architectural Head Studies Housing

TUSKEGEE, March 24. (ANP)—A preliminary report on how to improve unsanitary and distressing living conditions of the Southern rural populaton has just been turned into the U. S. Department of Agriculture Extension Service by Louis Edwin Fry, head of the Department of Architecture at Tuskegee.

In his report, Mr. Fry said that many of the farmers objected to attempts to improve their living conditions. The survey is probably the first comprehensive study of rural housing made among those families who often have an annual income of less than $300.

Tenants and sharecroppers seldom bother to improve their homes because of their unstable status and lack of recompense for such improvements, the survey disclosed. Some independent farmers were similar to one in Russell county, Alabama, who said "I ain't got nothin', I don't want nothin', I just want to be left alone."

LACK SIMPLE CONVENIENCES

His study disclosed, among other things, that most Southern farmers, whether landowners or not, lack such simple conveniences as kitchen sink, water supply in house, and closets. Many of them afford thse conveniences but lack eithtr the desire or information to get them. Comfortable houses, however, can be built at low enough cost to be within the reach of practically all, and research should be conducted into cheaper building materials, such as forms of earth, the report suggested.

WHITE WRITER SAYS ITALY CANNOT HOLD ETHIOPIA; ALL CHAOS

Declares Ras Hailu Awaiting Chance to Drive Out Italians

VALPARAISO, Chili, March 24. (ANP)—Impartial French observers believe Italy will probably be forced to abandon Ethiopia, according to Ladislas Farago, South American writer, who has made a study of conditions there and recently reported his findings in the South Pacific Mail, widely read publication of Valparaiso.

Unless a journalist or traveler is a Fascist or on official business, he is not permitted to enter Ethiopia, said Farago, because the country is in a state of chaos. It is far less safe for white travelers than in the days of Haile Selassie or Menelik, and famine is widespread. The invaders are trying to keep all news of the real state of affairs from leaking out by banning visitors, but have not been entirely successful.

Only three of the once powerful races are still alive, the writer states. They are Ras Seyoum, in Adowa under heavy guard; Ras Gugsa, the traitor, now in Makale, and Ras Hailu, who rebelled against Selassie in 1932 and was imprisoned on an island in Lake Zawi until released by the Italians, now in Addis Ababa.

Although Hailu was reported mistreated while imprisoned and bound with golden chains, he is in the best of health and far from a cripple. Italians constantly watch him. For he is still considered the last hope of the Ethiopians who believe he will eventually overwhelm the invaders, being a reckless and ambitious man of action instead of studious like Selassie. It is understood to be his greatest ambition to rule Abyssinia over the dead bodies of the Italians.

Marshal Graziani is absolved of blame in the atrocities and condition of Ethiopa, Farago said he always tried to use humane methods toward the conquered people, but Rome ordered him to be completely ruthless. It is said that when De Bono, originally in charge of the invasion, received his orders from Mussolini, he asked the Duce, "Do you want Ethiopia with or without the Ethiopians?"

When Ras Imru was captured, Rome ordered his immediate execution. Graziani refused, replying, "Imru is a prisoner of war and his bravery entitles him to the honors of war. He fought us honestly until he could fight no more." Rome then ordered the ras sent to Italy, where he was placed "officially" in exile on Lipari island, but was actually executed, according to authoritative information.

When Graziani sent soldiers after Ras Desta, the marshal told his friends, "I hope the poor devil manages to escape into Kenya," the writer said. But Desta did not try to escape, standing his ground until he was defeated, taken prisoner and executed. However, his death was not greatly deplored by Ethiopians because the ras was considered a profiteer until the end of the campaign. It is understood that when he received ammunition from Addis Ababa, he sold it to his soldiers, and those who had no money got no ammunition.

Despite Italian claims of controling the country, Ethiopian natives actually are in possession of all but the larger towns, Farago writes. Only 20 miles from Dessye, a strong force commands the main road from Asmara to Addis Ababa and no Italian vehicl ecan pass. The "conquerors", throughout Abyssinia, can only move in large forces accompanied by tanks and armored cars, through country previously observed by airplanes. More Italians have been killed since the war officially ended than during the war itself.

File 3 Appeals in Scottsboro Case; Set May

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Mar. 24. (ANP)—Three new appeals in the widely known Scottsboro case were filed Monday when Osmond K. Frankel, New York attorney, asked the Alabama supreme court to consider the convictions of Clarence Norris, doomed to die; Andy Wright, under a 99 year prison sentence, and Clarence Weems, sentenced to serve 75 years.

The three were convicted last year in Morgan county for allegedly raping two white women on a freight train in March, 1931, and later were denied new trials. Four others were released last July in what Olen Montgomery, one of the freed boys, recently charged was a "deal" with officials. Heywood Patterson is serving a 75 year sentence and Ozzie Powell, freed of criminal assault charges, is serving 20 years for attacking a deputy.

Frankel indicated the appeals may go to the U. S. Supreme court as has been done twice previously in connection with the case. The Alabama supreme court set arguments for May.

POLITICAL POT-PIE

By IRA

A flood of appointments, to be made by Governor Merriam, is scheduled to sweep over the state shortly. The pie to be distributed should have been cut long ere this but the Governor has kept it on ice to be used as sop to pay off debts for legislative assistance in putting over pet measures and otherwise repairing his damaged machine. If the past can be taken as a criterion, the Colored Brother had just as well not lick his chops in happy anticipation!

Listing the names of legislators casting "good" votes, Ye Scribe is pleased to note that first place is accorded to Hon. Augustus F. Hawkins of the 62nd District.

Looks like the Republican battle for the gubernatorial nomination is going to be waged between Gov. Merriam and Lieut.-Governor George J. Hatfield. Colored Republicans are carrying on a flirtation with Hatfield that looks like it is going to bear fruit unless Merriam makes an about-face, which looks very doubtful.

Judge Emmett H. Wilson has dismissed contempt charges against eleven persons who refused to testify before William Moseley Jones' vice pfobe, conducted by the Legislative Interim Committee on Public Morals. The committee was declared to be without jurisdiction. What next?

Several black Democrats are said to be casting an eye on Assemblyman Gus Hawkins' seat. However, Gus says he has something on that seat that has an eye skinned a Swedish mile.

Democratic leaders are as busy mixing medicine as a hive of bees. Strange as it may seem, Dr. Somerville, Sam Baumann, Dick Abrams, and other front-liners in the black contingent of the party are as silent as the grave. How come? Too early we presume, for Mr. Will to hand them their script?

With Hoover in Europe, the Republican party is making headway on a "comeback" program. If he can only be kept across the pond, all will be well.

Used to meet and chat with John Fowler, grand old boy and first Negro to join the Roosevelt ranks in '32, almost daily. But since his historic book, "Spreading Joy", came off the press, we haven't laid eyes on John. If we've offended we humbly and publicly beg pardon. It was an error of the head and not the heart.

Charlie Alston, rock-ribbed Republican, is not pulling his punches by any means. He's simply getting the party told as to what will have to come to pass if the party expects any support from the Negro.

The question in Republican circles is, "Will Fred Roberts be an Assembly candidate in the 62nd district in the coming primaries?" Fred says "No"! Twice hit on the head with a hammer is enough and three times would be too many.

The fellow who yells loudest about high taxes is the first to fan the flames of recall against some official. The Shaw recall is an excellent example. The petitions should meet the disapproval of every voter and taxpayer.

GETS APPOINTMENT

The State Board of Medical Examiners at its semi-annual meeting held at Independence Forrester's Hall last week granted Dr. Darrington Weaver, 351 East 33rd Street, Los Angeles, California, a license to resume his practice of Medicine and Surgery in the State of California.

Following his graduation from the Meharry Medical College, Nashville, Tennessee, in 1920, Dr. Weaver was appointed to the position of Deputy Coroner for the City of St. Louis, being the first member if his Race in the State of Missouri, ever to hold such a position. He also won distinction for himself as a physician and surgeon in the State of Missouri.

Dr. Weaver entered the practice of Medicine in the State of California in December, 1923, and practiced in the City of Los Angeles continuously until 1931. He has three sons, two of whom are attending high school and one Junior College. Mrs. Weaver, the Doctor's wife is a charter member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority.

He was represented before the Board of Medical Examiners by Attorney Lloyd Cornelius Griffith. And when asked for a statement the Doctor said: "Mr. Griffith will tell you all about it. He did the thinking and talking before the victory and I guess he can do it afterwards."

Dr. Weaver has opened his offices for the general practice of Medicine and Surgery at 4406½ South Central Avenue, ADams 12302.

Woman Candidate for Lt.-Governor at August Primary

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24—A campaign declared to offer more promise of "color and surprises" than any since the turn of the century was launched here today with annoucement by the Women's Non-partisan League of California fo its purpose to seek the Democratic, Republican and Progressive nominations at the State Primary election in August for a prominent San Francisco business woman for Leutenant Governor of California.

Miss Geneve L. A. Shaffer, realtor builder of San Francisco skyscrappers -- globe-trotter, prominent in civic, social and literary circles of the State was the woman named by the Women's Non-partisan League to be their standard bearer.

"It is about time that we women of California seek a voice in the State's affairs--and we have decided to act", was the laconic announcement of Dr. Eleanor Chambers, president of the League.

Coincident with her acceptance, Miss Shaffer released the following Statement to Voters.

"In the August primary election voters of California will nominate their candidates for a new Lieutenant Governor. During the next twenty weeks I hope you will hear enough about my qualifications to be convinced that I am capable of filling that important office in a sound and businesslike manner, free from the handicaps of political expediency, and that I can bring to the office of lieutenant governor a fresh perspective with a woman's viewpoint.

"A man Governor now provides the man's viewpoint. Should not the women of California also have their viewpoint voiced by a complementing woman Lieutenant Governor?"

Houston Named for Flood Group

Norman O. Houston, secretary-treasurer of the Golden State Insurance company, was one of five prominent citizens of Southside Los Angeles, recommended this week as members of the Flood Control Recovery committee of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

Houston was the only Negro named. Selections were made by County Supervisor Gordon L. McDonough.

Says Africa No Longer Asleep

PARIS, France, March 24. (ANP)—When the question of Germany's demand for return of the African colonies came up for discussion recently in the Chamber of Deputies, M. Teinson, Socialist Deputy, sounded off:

"If you try to transfer the Cameroons of Togoland to Germany, the natives themselves will resist your surrender. They will revolt, for Africa is no longer asleep."

The Los Angeles Musicians' association will be host to the James Welodn Johnson club of the Los Angeles Junior college Sunday, March 27. The meeting will open promptly at 4 p. m. at the Gray Musart, 4068 Central Ave. Everyone is invited to attend and learn about this splendid organization which is doing great work in the junior college.

PRAIRIE VIEW CLUB SETS UP LOAN FUND

The Prairie View club of Los Angeles, it was reported this week, has established a revolving loan fund for worthy students desiring to attend the college.

Federal Men Probe Chicago Policy and Vice Incomes

CHICAGO, March 17. (ANP)—Chicago's Southside trembled last week when it was revealed that the Internal Revenue department had sent 200 agents here with instructions to find out why Uncle Sam is not getting his share in taxes of the $5,000,000 monthly "take" from vice and gambling. A large detail has been assigned by Federal Agent Edward McBride to investigate the policy racket and vice in the colored sections.

Indictments and court sentences, similar to those given Al Capone and other racketeers, loom for both big and little shots. Investigators are asking, "Who shares your profits with you, and how much do you make a month?"

Although profits or income may be derived from illegal sources, they are not exempt from federal taxation. Agents point out that even employes in illegal businesses must hold social security cards, and the current drive is to make vice and gambling pay its current share of governmental expenditures. All information obtained will be turned over to A. P. Haddon, chief of the special intelligence department, who will direct any prosecution for income tax evasion.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR . . .

Dear Editor:

Although I am properly sympathetic with the personal plight of poor George Farley, who is to stand trial for his life because he killed two police officers, I cannot help observing that out of it, some good is coming.

Of late, there has been a noticeable determination on the part of the people not to be robbed unjustly of their homes. I read in the paper recently an article about a white woman barring herself in her home to prevent officers from moving her out. She contended that her home had been taken from her unlawfully.

I think the brave, although foolhardy, action of Farley has been an inspiration to harassed homeowners. Although I hope none will go so far as to kill, a determined fight should be put up for one's home.

Respectfully yours,
ERNEST BAREFIELD

TOO MUCH MENTION OF NEGRO

Dear Editor:

I am a faithful listener to your broadcast of news over the radio each night. I feel that it is a definite contribution to the culture of this city, as has been said by others before me.

However, in reading the letters written by other people, commending you on it, I notice that none of them offered criticisms for its improvement. While it is far above the average, it could be improved, I am sure you will agree.

Personally, I think there is entirely too much mention of the word "Negro". This is a broadcast by Negroes, from a Negro paper, and as the announcer says, especially designed for the Negro population of Southern California. So we presume that the persons mentioned, unless otherwise stated, are Negroes.

For my part, I think there is all together too much mention of the name in the press and on the platform. It tends to make us too race conscious. Some of it is all right, but too much is injurious.

Again accept my congratulations.

Sincerely a well wisher
PAUL O. JACKSON

EVERYBODY'S WELCOME

Dear Editor:

Wish to express my appreciation for your news broadcast. I think it is fine, a noteworthy effort.

Your anonuncers are comparable to the best of the other race and the things you talk about are an education.

Would like to know if the public is invited to witness the broadcast. I shall look for an answer in the paper.

Respectfully yours,
N. N. C.

Ed's Note: Thanks to N. N. C. for his kind letter. Yes, the public is cordially welcomed to the station. The studio is located on the top of the J. V. Baldwin Chevrolet Building at 15th and Figuroa.

Dear Editor:

Why should we worry, why be blue?
Because the Anti-Lynch bill didn't go through
You can't make a man good by passing a bill
There's a kidnap bill, but they're kidnapping still.
Some folks won't pay any law, any attention—
Men used to get drunk, during days of Prohibition.
Yes, American slavery was abolished in 1863—
In 1928, a family of 5 had to be set free.
You're supposed to tell the truth and pay your income tax—
Folks are still dodging, going to prison—Aren't these facts?
You may argue, formulate, pass all the bills you can—
If man breaks the laws of God, he'll surely break the laws of man.

RAILROAD CLATTER

By: CHARLES L. UPTON

UPTON SAYS

One of the finest dreams I have ever had came to a very sad end on Monday of this week. You see, it was this way. Sometime ago I purchased a sweepstakes ticket and my dream started. Well, folks, I bought a brand new car, built a swell new home, purchased a great, long railroad ticket, and you talk about the glad rags I bought — well, I'm telling you I was just about the hottest guy in town. Them old, two for a nickle cigars I am smoking now were a thing of the past during this dream of mine. I paid up all of my debts and folks were calling me on the phone that I thought had completely forgotten I was still alive. I was living the Life of Riley and then, like a bolt out of a clear blue sky Monday morning, the papers printed the names of the lucky holders of sweepstakes tickets. And was my name among them? It was N-N-N-N-N-O-T!

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

FLOOD DESTRUCTION COTINUES TO HLD PULLMAN PORTERS IN TOWN

Worst Tie Up in History

RAIN' RAIN' RAIN' What have you done to me. This is the woeful song that the railroad boys were singing to everybody after entering their second week of idleness and making no money. And that is just what the rain has done to the boys. With miles and miles of railroad track washed away along with bridges the Los Angeles district has been one of confusion. Among the porters who have been held in town for the past two weeks are: J. W. Richardson, Dan Hood, B. P. Duncan, J. E. Brown, J. Bell, Sr. all the porters operating on the Salt Lake Lines, Seattle and Portland. According to reports, W. B. Holland was just about the most popular man in town during the tie-ups. He received over fifty-five phone calls from the various Pullman Porters, wives, inquiring if he knew when their husbands would be in.

BUMPING RAMPAGE STARTED BY PORTERS

Have you got a line? This was the question being asked by many porters this week when Pullman Company Ax chopped off several cars on various lines, the result having created an epidemic of bumping in the Los Angeles District. Hardly any porter feels safe nowadays with such men as H. O. Phillips, C. C. Bruce, H L Armstrong, Wm. Thedford, Oscar Soares, J. L. Barnette. And just to think that Wm. Glenn bumped Oscar, his best friend, which goes to prove what a bad shape the district in for lines.

GROVER AKE LAID TO REST

Grover Ake, cousin of H. L. Armstrong, was laid to rest last Saturday amidst a multitude of beautiful flowers as a token of the friendship and high esteem he was held in by his many friends. As early as 12 o'clock the funeral parlors of Conner and Johnson was filled up and the people continued to come right up until the time the services were conducted. Many Pullman Porters and their wives were present a swell as the dining car fraternity with whom the late Grover Akes was employed by in former years. Police Officials from Newton and University were also in evidence. It was by far one of the largest funerals held in the parlors for some time and his many friends shall miss him.

CHARLIE WHITE IMPROVES

Charlie White is gradually recovering his health, slowly but surely and is in much better shape then when last reported in these columns. He desires to express his appreciation to Wm. Asbury, James White and others who have called to see him during his illness and give him a word of cheer. For those who desire to visit Charlie, his address is 1315 E. 48th.

J. CARTER REPORTED WELL

You can not keep a good man down, says John Carter, Pullman Co's best. They say a cat has nine lives but I can go him one better I have ten.

JOHN WORTHEN OFF

Daddy Jack Worthen has been confined to his home with a lame hip for the past week. Some of the boys say Daddy tried to do the Big Apple and threw it out of joint, but I don't believe it.

W. B. HOLLAND FEASTS ON DUCK

As Dinner Guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Glover

A bright angel hovered over W. B. Holland last Sunday and guided him out to the White House of Mr. and Mrs. Glover at 9554 Graham Ave., where he was wined and dine to a queens taste. According to reports Mr. Holland wrecked a duck completely and the place looked like a tornado had struck it after he had finished. Other guests of Mr. and Mrs. Glover were Mrs. Louise Johnson, Mrs. Bessie Brown, Mrs. West and Mr. Clyde Lackey.

HAVE YOU CAST YOUR VOTE?

Election Nearing End

All members of the Brotherhood Of Sleepins Car Porters who are eligible to vote and have not yet voted should do so immediately. The time is gradually drawing near the close of the elections and you may be too late, so VOTE NOW, DON'T DELAY. There are still a number of members who have not voted.

FRANK SMITH BACK EAST

Frank Smith, recently appointed Asst. Editor of this column and former Editor of the U. P. Baker Heater, is now fighting snow-balls back East and will return to these parts in several days with the latest news in dining car circles.

JIMMY DAVIS SPORTS A NEW BUICK

Jimmy Davis, Southern Pacific's Ace waiter, is gliding up and down the Avenue nowadays in a brand new black Buick coupe. Boy is it hot!

CLARENCE R. JOHNSON HOME

Clarence R. Johnson, General Chairman of the Southern Pacific Dining Car Cooks & Waiters Union has returned from San Francisco where he has been working out a new contract for the boys for several weeks with great success. The organization's recent wage increase is largely due to the brilliant mind of Johnson who is in a class by himself on Dining Car Employees agreements. Congratulations, Clarence, for your swell job. The members of the Brotherhood Of Sleeping Car Porters rejoice in your latest victory.

TOLAN'S SPEED LANDS HIM IN COURT

DETROIT, Mar. 24. (ANP)—Eddie Tolan, who once bore the title of "world's fastest human" and won two Olympic championships at Los Angeles in 1932, got in trouble Tuesday with his speed behind an automobile steering wheel. Brought into traffic court on charges of speding 38 miles an hour, his case was dismissed by Judge Thomas F. Maher, who said, "You could have run faster than that."

Unidentified Man Falls into 50-Foot Excavation

NEW ORLEANS—Last Sunday, pasing the site of the new Charity Hospital, Herbert Lambert, white, pered into the 50-foot excavation, saw a huddle dform at the bottom of the pit, called police. The victim, an unidentified Negro, was taken unconscious to Charity Hospital, suffering a fracture of the right leg, general contusions of the body. Hospital officials said heha d applied for treatment on Saturday, was told to return Sunday. How he tumbled into the deep pit was not learned.

Espee Dining Car Employes Win New Wage Increases

Despite the proposal of the American Association of Railways (representing all Class 1 carriers), seeking substantial wage decreases for all classes of rail employes, the Dining Car Employes Union succeeds in raising wages of cooks, waiters and porters represented by the organization more than $100,000 annually.

On March 16, 1938, a mediation settlement was reached between the gigantic Southern Pacific Co., and its dining car employes. This agreement affords increases as high as $13.00 per month per man. This settlement so highly favorable to the workers, culminates a fight which has been vigorously fought for more than 1 year.

Clarence R. Johnson, general chairman of the organization, stated that this settlement is the largest ever made on his class of employes, first, because of the large number of workers involved and, secondly, due to the amount to be received by each employe.

In addition the agreement is retroactive to October 1, 1937, thus netting each regularly assigned employe back pay ranging from $60 to $80 per man. In round dollars and cents this victory will bring upwards of $50,000 covering back pay over a period of five months. Many of the scheduled new rates of pay for various classifications are far in excess of rates for similar employes on other roads, some of these rates running higher by $54.00 per month.

The brilliant success of Dining Car Employes Local 582, is directly attributable to its splendid officers and loyal militant members: Mr. Douglas DeVaughn is president. His indefatigable efforts in behalf of the members of the organization is outstanding.

The recent victory of this union conscientious group bespeaks for the power and value of organization.

Two Women Assaulted Over Weekend, Report

Women were the objects of ruthless rape-robbery attacks over the week-end by thugs and degenerates according to arrest reports and complaints recorded on the blotter at the Newton street police sation.

Women have been repeatedly warned by police authorities not to venture forth unescorted after dark. Dispite these warnings however two were reported viciously raped.

One of them Mrs. Viola Nielson was subjecttd to three attacks by three men, two Mexicans and one Negro, Sunday night. Mrs. Nielson told police who arrived on the scene during the third attack that she was going to her home at 730½ Kohler street from a Chinese restaurant at 7th and Central about three a. m. Sunday morning when she was accosted by a Negro, Woodrow Toombs. She was dragged up an alley at 8th and Linden where two other men participated in the attack.

Police arrived and aprehended one of them, Alex Rosas, a Mexican.

Later in the day Toombs was arrested as he presented himself at the Newton street station inquiring for Rosas. He denied knowledge of the attacks, but Mrs. Nielson identified him.

ACCEPTS RIDE

Dispite the obvious dangers of riding with unknown men, Mrs. Ada Myers of 729 E. 29th Street, accepted a ride from the corner of 47th and Central, proffered by an unidentified man, a Negro.

The man drove Mrs. Meyers to a liquor parlor where the couple drank some wine, then on the pretext of taking her to her destination, drove to a spot beside the railroad tracks and assaulted her.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my deepest appreciation to my many friends and acquaintances for their heartfelt sympathy and acts of kindness during the recent illness and passing of my wife, Mrs. Celia Miller. Also the friendly courtesies shown by the Tngelus Funeral Home, and the kind words of Rev. J. M. Brown were very consoling to me in my bereavement.

Booklets Tell of New Chances for Work

NEW YORK CITY, N. Y., March 24—"Guiding Negro Youth Toward Jobs", is the title of a new booklet issued this week by the National Urban League.

The booklet is intended to show Negroes what opportunities for work are open to them, and how they may secure the training and permanent places for themselves in the employment world. It is to be distributed in connection with the League's sixth Vocational Opportunity Campaign, which is observed March 20 to 27.

Advocating thorough consideration of every factor involved in a type of work before entering experience necessary to make upon it, the booklet urges that before the young person chooses his life work he analyze his own abilities and investigate working conditions in the field of his choice. It suggests, as aid to an understanding of the requirements of various jobs, making use of libraries, making frequent trips to business and industrial establishments, using such exhibits, demonstrations, and motion pictures as are available, and listening to educational radio programs.

Ford Visits Carver at Tuskegee

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala., March 24—Two distinguished world figures strode side by side across the Tuskegee Institute campus one day last week. They were Henry Ford, the Detroit automobile manufacturer and Dr. George W. Carver, famous scientist of Tuskegee Institute.

Mr. Ford, repaying a visit which Dr. Carver made to him last May came to the Institute from Ways, Ga., where he has a diversified farm project in operation. On arrival, Mr. Ford went directly to Dorothy Hall where he was received by Dr. Carver and other school officials. Formalities over, the two went to the Carver Laboratory in the Millbank Agricultural Building and then to the Carver Memorial Museum in the Hollis Burke Frissell Library where over three hundred by-products of the peanut and other Carver creative contributions are on exhibition. This museum was established last year upon Dr. Carver's completion of forty years of service to Tuskegee, the South and the nation, at which time a bronze bust of Dr. Carver on a pink marble base, done by Steffin Thomas of Atlanta, was unveiled on the Institute campus.

Mr. Ford appeared pleased with the peanut plastics, because he uses a soy-bean plastic for horn buttons, coil boxes and gear-shift knobs, and also with ten different grades of peanut oils which Dr. Carver has developed for aftertreatment of infantile paralysis.

On leaving the Library, Mr. Ford was motored through the campus and then to the Institute Chapel where he spent more than a half hour listening to a personal concert which was given by the Tuskegee Choir of one hundred voices under the direction of William L. Dawson. "It's marvelous, the greatest choir I ever heard," Mr. Ford said.

Mrs. C. A. Bass, Editor
THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE
3725 South Central Avenue
Los Angeles, California

My dear Mrs. Bass:

May I take this method of extending to you my sincerest congratulations on the most excellent radio program which is heard from Monday through Friday over Station KGFJ. Unfortunately for one as busy as myself, a am not always privileged to be near a radio at the hour your program is on the air. In the last week—thanks to chance—I have been privileged to listen in on two of these programs. May I extend to every member of this hour my sincerest congratulations.

I pride myself on having an interest, at least, in radio and, I believe, some genuine enthusiasm and perhaps—modestly—a little bit of knowledge about it. I should like to say to you and to all of those assisting you that this is a most dignified, colorful, and informative program. I am sure it should gain in popularity not only among the American Negro citizenry, but among all of the citizens throughout the city; and this, after all, is the real test of the value of any radio program. I am most hopeful that this very fine activity will be a continuous factor in the civic development of our own racial group and in our city at large.

Extending to you and yours my continued best wishes, I am,

Very sincerely yours,
FLOYD C. COVINGTON,
Executive Director
Los Angeles Urban League.

YCC TO SPONSOR 'JOBS' CONFERENCE FOR APRIL 10

The Southside Youth Coordinating committee announced last Sunday, the program for a jobs conference to be held Sunday afternoon, April 10, at three o'clock at the Avalon Christian church, 43rd and Avalon Blvd. The general theme of the conference will be "Negro Youth Faces the Future" with topics of discussion as follows: youth and relief, jobs in private industry, and civil service opportunities.

ing, but no Negroes were permitted to be housed in the same quarters. Students had to clean their rooms and put clean linen on the beds for the white guests.

Aside from the alleged selgregation, a special dining hall equipped with china plates and separate service were provided for whites while the faculty dining hall is outfitted with the thick white dishes used in boarding houses. Prairie View is a land grant colleges established for Negroes.

FORMER TEXANS QUIETLY MARRIED HERE

Levi Kingston and Helen Bernard were quietly married here Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Mary Calloway, 990 E. 41st place, with the Rev. Mansfield Collins officiating.

Both are formerly of Port Arthur, Texas and are at home at 1326 East 47th street.

THREE HUNDRED AT RECEPTION FOR REV. RUSSELL

Three hundred persons attended the reception honoring the return of the pastor, Rev. Clayton D. Russell, from an eastern sojourn, last Friday evening at the People's Independent Church of Christ.

With the inimitable Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew as mistress of ceremonies and Mrs. Fannie Benjamin at the piano, a repertoire of favorite musical numbers were presented by two chors. Mrs. Bilbrew also rendered a requested reading. Refreshments were served in the lecture room following the tributes from various church organizations and a review of his trip by the honoree.

Mrs. Mary L. Parker gave the welcome address and Rev. J. C. Austin, of Chicago who was an honored guest with his daughter, Dorothea, gave a brilliant response.

Mrs. Lela Harper Dies Here After Brief Illness

Mrs. Lela P. Harper, of 4841 Forestville, prominent Chicago society matron, died here in the General Hospital, Wednesday, at 1:25 p. m. following a brief illness of less than three days duration.

A post mortem examination, ordered by the coroner's office, gave the cause of death as arteriosclerosis and thrombosis (heart trouble).

Mrs. Harper was the wife of Robert H. Harper, accountant, of Chicago, and a lifelong friend of Mrs. Kathryn Nelson, of the Hotel Dunbar, whom she came here to visit three months ago.

Interviewed by an EAGLE reporter before she left with the body for Chicago, Mrs. Nelson made the following statement:

"Mrs. Harper and I were friends since childhood. She has been my houseguest since the sixth of December and had planned on returning home to Chicago Sunday night.

"On Friday I gave a farewell party for her but she suddenly fell ill from acute indigestion which we think caused such a strain on her that a blood vessel was broken."

Drs. Charles Jackson and Leonard Stovall were summoned to the stricken woman and she was rushed to General hospital where emergency methods were used in an effort to save her life. She was placed under an oxygen tank immediately upon arrival at the hospital.

Mrs. Nelson will accompany the remains back to Chicago. Conner and Johnson, morticians, shipped the body to Charles Jackson, undertaker in Chicago, where final rites will be held.

Festival is a Success

The Women's Spring Festival at the Second Baptist church Tuesday was a tremendous success. The program's rapid pace and the beautiful floral effects achieved on the stage were points especially praised. A whistling solo by Mrs. Diette Gross and the violin solo by Miss Emma Smock were outstanding features.

The Vesper and Treble choirs in their many selections performed with artistic finesse. The festival was under the direction of Mrs. Anna Mae Morrow. Further details will be in next week's edition of the EAGLE.

UNIDENTIFIED

As no mark of identification was found on the body, Sneed lay in the County Morgue as John Doe until Sunday when Mrs. Leota Wilborn, 904½ 41st Place, identified him as her son.

She told the coroner's jury the lad had gone out Friday evening, presumably for recreation, and did not return. She said she had known nothing of his criminal activities. She said there was no necessity for him to steal as his wants were provided.

Sobbing quietly through the inquest, she told the jury she was the mother of two other children, both younger than John, who was a student at the time of apprehension and death. His father works in Austin, Texas and provides for the family, she said.

Officers presented for dentification a cap worn by young Sneed at another burglary. Officers said they shot at someone answering his discription on Jan. 15th, in the rear of 204 Palm Dr. in Beverly Hills. Sneed made good his escape that time, but dropped his cap. This was identified by Mrs. Wilborn.

Anuthorities claimed that the youth had a previous record, having been arrested by juvenile officers in 1936 for robbery and burglary.

HARLEM'S ELITE TURNS OUT TO PROFESSIONAL CLUB'S PREVIEW

(By ALVIN MOSES

NEW YORK—The finest 'Exclusive Club' Harlem has known since the section was given its name . . . came into being somewhere around about 9:30, Friday night. To those fortunate SIX HUNDRED, who walked through the portals of a professional club that might easily have been the handiwork of some modern . . . ALAODIN, that date will ever remain a sort of . . . red letter night in their memories. The beautiful invitation sent out by Benjamin Wright, business secretary, read: . . "An invitation to the New Mimo Club." We thought as we roamed the length and breadth of this swank home for those who seek the finest money can purchase in the shape of entertainment and cuisine, it should have read: "An invitation to the type of club civic minded citizens of Harlem have dreamed about and silently prayed for throughout the past quarter of a century.

BILL ROBINSON LION OF THE HOUR

For months Harlem fairly simmered with the undercurrent that Number One citizen . . beloved BILL ROBINSON, would open an exclusive club . . Friday night, while festivities were at their height Bill walked to the microphone in the center of the dance floor and suddenly . . . one could distinctly hear the ticking of your neighbor's wrist watch . .

Genial Bill proceeded to tell the assembled guests a few pointed things about the club which . . was theirs . . not his. Said 'Bo' "Many labor under the opinion that the Mimo club is my own personal club I want to correct that impression right here and now. It is not my club. 'Tis true that I sponsored the club, and have considerable monetary interest in it, but others have had a fine a hand in its creation as I have." Those of us who have watched the development of the better Harlem institutions . . . knew that he referred to Anthony Morrisey and Morris Minton.

Chatter Styles Home Hints

Chatter and . . . Some News

By HELEN F. CHAPPELL

Spring with its attendant new beginnings and new loves that pounce feverishly upon us . . . and make us so much the wiser for one more season of rebirth and rejuvenation . . . chasing cobwebs that clutter the heart . . . the brain, has a finer meaning for one who follows the poetic-adage: "In the spring, a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love" . . . that is if he doesn't turn lightly! Paul Pierpoint Payne grabbed spring a day early . . . and deserted single blessedness Sunday afternoon when he took unto himself Lillian Brazley of the Pico Heights Brazleys in a stately manner . . . white wedding an' all that. All good wishes for your happiness, Mr. and Mrs. . . . and may you fall in love every spring . . . all over again!

That much touted forerunner of spring's first day, St. Patrick's Day, is reason enough for parties and the "Wearin' of the Green" . . . So: Ye Scribe was so happy to be a guest of Laura Slayton at the Orchid Girls' Anniversary dinner . . . in the Dunbar patio last Wednesday evening and enjoyed chatting with Hope Bennett on the right and Winona Wright at the left elbow . . . and will I remember? . . . most assuredly . . . including the generous portions of fried "preacher's fowl". All the shamrocks to Laura, who entered her seventh year as prexy of the popular bevy of girls.

ONCE IN A LIFETIME:

It is given to the unsung to walk an instant beside the sung . . . to bask in the renowned one's smile . . . to remember long a warm handclasp . . . So I have tucked among memories last Thursday's morning experience when I trekked with a spring to the Vernon Street Nursery school to meet Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. Newspaper instinct said "watch the front" . . . so when the First Lady alighted from her host's car, recognition gave wings to the understandings (feet) and temerity to the heart; enough to rush out and rattle "How do you do?" and to have the lady reciprocate with a handshake and a pleasant greeting . . . to take time to answer a few questions . . . very graciously, too.

Monday brought a new offering . . . Sleep was chased heartlessly upon the sound of a voice via telephone: "Do you want to go down to meet Bob Parrish?" . . . Oooo-gee-ooo-gosh! . . . then, "I'll stand by five minutes" . . . In fifteen of them filled with phone calls and rubbing the shine off that sprawling facial feature . . . the doorbell summoned me . . . and off with Leslie Browne (take note of the "e", please) who is a coming Roland Hayes, and Floyd Covington, Urban League secretary . . . to meet the steamer, S. S. Mariposa, bearing this young artist who made Australia and New Zealand sit up and take notice of a rare baritone voice to the tune of four grand. The steamer "tricked" the timetable and glided into Wilmington harbor an hour early . . . so we were denied the sight of sea gulls trailing the sea queen . . . not so with Bob's mater who was there at eight and saw it all, heard her boy call "Mom" long before the Mariposa's nose touched the dock. With her were Mrs. Katheryn Jefferson, mother of Bob's heartbeat, Jean Thompson . . . Mrs. Eva Mackey and Paul Mackey. Next to meeting the unassuming, glad, and enthusiastic Bob, I was taken by so many voluntary testimonies of the cream of Australia on his showing there . . . by the friendly calls of goodbye and best wishes from the millionaires to the good old troopers of the theatre . . . Bob'll be in London by September and I gotta hunch that Jean'll be there, too . . . Right? Hope so.

THE SALT OF THE EARTH:

I come to them, less you think so much gallivantin' after the lauded increases the headsize: Gentle counsellor of the spirit, Rev. J. H. Wilson, Western Recorder ed, is ill . . . and Mrs. Brown, too, mother of Mmes. Emily Portwig and Josephine Brown . . . I certainly hope they are both better and happy by the time you read this.

Mrs. Chester I. Dixon (the former Clifford Freeman and soloist at Angelus Funeral Home) and Miss Theresa Dixon are in the Angel City . . . indefinitely. Both hail from Seattle and both are cousins of Lois E. Towns of West 35th street. Welcome to them and to . . . Miss Allie Frazier of Pine Bluff, Arkansas, who is here indefinitely with her aunt, Mrs. Otey, at 1211 East 52nd street. Enroute, Miss Frazier visited with relatives and friends in Chicago . . . and friends here are glad she's placing no time limit on the stay. Who would? . . . We, also, have with us Mrs. Dave Douglass, sister of the minister to Liberia, Lester Walton. With good luck, we'll bring you more about the prominent lady next time. She comes from Denver . . . and is stopping at 680 East "Four Seven" St.

Spring brought a new ruler to the love nest of James Baucom, postal clerk, and wifey (Alene Jones) . . . it's a girl, born Monday at the White Memorial hospital. James is rippingly happy and so are all the lovely pair's friends. ASIDE: All our new babies are registered in your city birth files as ETHIOPIANS. Even after the way Selassie . . . bless his heart! . . . wouldn't own us. All the colorful terms like cocomo, spade, smoke, and others that you don't approve of go begging . . . while the city vital statistic agencies go such a distance for a reference term . . . 'cuse the flight . . . So long!

MRS. ROOSEVELT TELLS FACTORS IN LOWERING INFANT MORTALITY

First Lady in 'Surprise' Visit to Vernon Ave. Nursery

By HELEN F. CHAPPELL

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt cited the day nursery, together with parent education, as a very definite factor in lowering the Negro infant mortality rate in a brief interview last Thursday morning, March 17, following a "surprise" inspection of the Vernon Avenue Nursery. Only the faculty and one or two reporters were informed of the contemplated visit as a part of the two-day Los Angeles sojourn which culminated in the presentation of the First Lady at the Shrine Auditorium under the auspices of the NYA Thursday evening.

"I think that this work will help in a large measure, but there are a number of other contributing factors", said Mrs. Roosevelt in answer to the query concerning her opinion of how far the day nurseries (which are employing NYA help) will influence the lowering of the high morality rate among Negroes, especially infants. While time did not permit the gracious visitor to elucidate on "other contributing factors", she readily agreed with the view that parent education, particularly of the Negro mother was needed with.

"Yes, yes, indeed, I think education of the Negro parent is a very vital need." She seemed happy to note the growing interest of parents in child care and commended the Vernon Nursery staff on the very splendid work being done there. The school was the only one of its kind visited during her stay in Los Angeles. Faculty members said it was because of the variegated racial groups represented among the forty children and the staff on which three colored and one white are instructors.

During her brief stay, Mrs. Roosevelt took time to admire the rows of tiny tooth brushes, to autograph nursery sketch boks, and to pose for pictures with four chubby little fellows in the side yard. A group of pupils from McKinley Junior High were in the back yard in a special outdoor session; upon the appearance of the distinguished lady on the porch, the children arose and clapped gleefully calling to one another, "That's Mrs. Roosevelt" . . . "That's the president's wife!"

The First Lady was attired in a navy blue crepe of simple lines topped by a red fox scarf. A blue straw hat, suntan hose, and trim black oxfords with boulevard heels completed her ensemble. She was accompanied by local NYA officials.

ENTERS SEVENTH YEAR AS PREXY—Miss Laura Slayton, president of the Orchid Girls who was elected president of the organization last Wednesday evening for the seventh consecutive year. Miss Slayton was hostess to the group and several guests in the Dunbar hotel following her election.

STYLE NOTES

THIS WEEK'S STLYE CHAT follows up last Thursday's discussion of background with the attention to atmosphere . . . that is surrounding yourself with an air that creates the influence or impression you want to make. . . The exuberance of personalities that react to spring can often be damaging . . . definitely so, when brought into play at the wrong time. Let's suppose that you are dressing for an interview which you hope will reap a job . . . you certainly won't don a picture hat or a heavy veil, rather you'll choose a saucy little turned up number or a sailor . . . or a baret . . . thus giving your prospective employer an unobstructed view of your face . . . Your eyes and expression might do the trick, you know! Your dress will be a sort woolen model or a smart suit with enough contrast in accessories to lessen the concerned note that might creep into your voice or any anxious lines at the corners of your mouth. . . confidence prevails and even, if you don't get the job it's one step ahead to leave your prospect feeling that you know what you want to do and how.

There's a mid-spring tea in the offing to welcome a friend home or a garden party. . . you don a dark sheer with a corsage of fresh flowers . . . if you're stout; and a bright print with costume jewelry in one color. There's a man in question . . . pink is the answer to your quandry in getting the question you want him to ask before the attendants change their mind about being in your wedding . . . or the price of silk goes up.

Orchid Girls Club in Sixth Anniversary Dinner Party

The Orchid Girls club was elaborately entertained Wednesday night last by their charming president, Miss Laura Slayton in the beautiful Palm Room of Spates Cocktail lounge. An exquisitly decorated table, carrying out the St. Patrick's motif, had covers laid for eighteen. The center piece was a lovely birthday cake with six candles designating the age of the club. Six years Miss Slayton was the successful organizer of this club.

Previous to the social hour a short business meeting was held for the purpose of completing plans for their coming events and electing officers. The following were elected: Miss Laura Slayton was unanimously re-elected president, which office she has held and handled with the utmost efficiency for six consecutive years; Miss La Verne Handy, vice-president; Miss Winona Martin, secretary; Mrs. Ramelle Bagnerise, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Marion Guest, treasurer, Mrs. Hope Bennett, business manager; and Mrs. Marian Booker, reporter.

Following dinner the evening was spent in playing the fascinating "Fiddlesticks" game. Miss Slayton awarded her prizes to Mrs. Virginia White, first; Mrs. Ellen Smith, second and Miss Ethel Robinson, guest prize.

The guests of the evening were Misses Margret Small, Ethel Robinson, Helen Chappell, Gladys Harris, Jeanne Thaompson and Lillian Singleton.

Over 25 at Ranch for Anniversary of Murrays

More than twenty-five guests wended their way to the Murray's Dude Ranch in Victorville last Sunday to participate in the festivities celebrating the 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Nolie Murray, owners and operators of the desert resort.

The Rancho Yucca Loma in Victorville presented the Murrays with a quadruple decker cake and scores of presents, telegrams, and cards were received. A turkey dinner highlighted the activities.

Among the guests were Dr John Robinson, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Barnett (newlyweds) and party, and the Young Married Women's Club of Pasadena.

S. P. JOHNSONS FETE VISITING WINDY CITY MORTICIAN

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Johnson entertained at dinner to honor Frank Edwards, foremost Chicago mortician, last Wednesday evening, March 16, in their lovely Eastside residence in Twenty-eighth street. The guest list was made up of executives of foremost Angeleno morticians; among them Angelus Funeral Home, Roberts and Sons, Smith-Williams and South Los Angeles Mortuary. The Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company was represented by the Secretary-Treasurer, Norman O. Houston.

'TWEEN TROY & WESTWOOD

By EDYTH MEAUX

'In pursuit of fun' seems to be the motto of the younger generation as each weekend brings parties and more parties. Just to keep the ball rolling Thelma Scott and Dorothy Arnaud got together over last weekend to honor Nola Johnson, down from up north, with a sort of combination hello and goodbye affair.

In our late entrance, which we tried to make a bit unobtrusively, we were effusively greeted by Maynard Jackson who was keeping an eagle eye on Emily Troy, Jewel Harris dancing with Tommy Brewer, stopped long enough to welcome us . . . Leon Coleman interrupted his conversation with Rose Garrett long enough to inquire if we needed a guest columnist. . . Hattie Hopgood kidding Luther Scott, stopped to bid us a cherry hello. . . and Emmett Tabor and Bertha Tabor, just on the point of leaving sent a grin in our direction.

Indulging in a bit of bridge between dances were the Ovid Pierces and the Sam Beadles (Maxine Tingle) and Elizabeth Cunard paused a moment to watch the progress of the game.

Emmett Ashford stopped long enough in his search for Willa Gene to settle a little matter with us. And shortly after our entrance we caught sight of Elaine and Clothilde Archer as they vanished in the direction of the door with Rudolph LeBlanc. Likewise doing a rather early fade-out we glimpsed Lillian Nickerson, Alan Roberts, and Yvonne Roberts just as they were leaving.

Basketball is really finding its place in the sun these days judging by the crowds in attendance as witnesses to the Sunday evening games.

Glimpsed among the regular Sunday night fans were Antoinette and Eddie Atkinson — the Frank LaVignes — the Archie Woodyards — Flo Riddle — and Gwen McDaniels.

Melvin Nickerson, likewise one of the loyal enthusiasts, doing a bit of sideline directing of the basketball game was spied without Francis Carroll.

Scarcely taking their eyes off any plays in the fast and furious game were Bertha Tabor and Eddie Smith—the Freddie Billups (Shirley Riddle—who by the way is a recent addition from home to our coastal St. Louis colony) —Tomiwetta Moore and Walda Robinson. Frank Underwood and Robert Jenkins were so carried away with the game that they forgot to resume their seats to allow the rest of the spectators to see.

Birthday Party for Little Miss Alfreda M. Wilkins

Alfreda Marie, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Alfred Wilkins, 1112 Morton Avenue, Pasadena welcomed guests to her eighth birthday "after school" party last Wednesday afternoon. St. Patrick's colours were used for decorations and after games, ice cream, cake and candy were served the little people, who were Luis Jean and Rose Marie Bunn, Lois Jean and Virgie Lou Banks, Odella Yvonne and Marilyn Bartlette, Lorna and Ronald Beers, Ruth and Juanita James, Ethel May Floyd, Mary Louise Groomes Muriel Johnson, Marceline Steward, Nadja Stone and Marjorie Jean Wilkins.

Sun wash . . . and a high wind that pushes along the billowy tumble of clouds . . . dust flurries . . . and the forlorn scattering of leaves that never tire of their endless sifting . . . bird calls . . . and the scattered patter of the winter rain . . . now spent . . . bird songs that shaft through the airy cages that are the trees . . now budded with the shimmer of green-brown, tender leaves . . here in nature's ordered disarray there bursts and blooms the crocus, the clean perfume of hyacinth, the butter yellowness of jonquil . . . all these amid the stiff onion-like tubes that now hold the withered narcissus . . . amid the tangled snarl of creepers there blooms the triad iris . . . down along Pasadena's main stem the shopkeepers have put away the bright green of old Erin; and in its stead have come the pastel shades of rose and mauve and blue and pink to deck their shop windows . . . . in this charming city of contrasts one might easily people the marble facade of the Postoffice with swaggering Spanish grandees or be shawled Castilian females . . . undulating and seductive . . . and yet, just around the corner there is a bit of Paris in the meticulously planned Civic Center . . . the scene needs only the addition of a few ancient motor equipages for its completion . . . a brisk pace down and along Gren street and you are transported to the old Quartier Latin of New Orleans . . . that bit of grilled and laticed decadence that seems to speak of rouge pots and crinoline and all those fripperies that decked the face and form of legendary beauties . . . the Creoles . . . and from this tragic-gay reverie you come upon the austere Gothic dignity of the First Methodist Episcopal church . . . and you are at once transported . . . at once and entirely . . . these are the sounds, the sights and the scenes that a waning March wind buffets into my mind and memory.

Mrs. Arthur Newsom of Pasadena's Winona Avenue . . . opened her home last Thursday . . . to the members and friends of the forward-thinking Self-Improvement Art and Social Club . . . for the club's customary meeting . . an interim of business discussion . . . and then there was adjournment to enjoy a musicale . . . in effect most artistically given . . . Mrs. Ruth L. Raines Watkins, well-known for her club activities, served capably as SIASC programme chairman for this particularly enjoyable St. Patrick's day meet . . . included on the highly entertaining programme were: Mrs. Jordan Wilbourne, wife of the loan corporation head; Mrs. Maude Price, and Mrs. Maude White . . Mrs. Wilbourne read informatively an historic account written by Mr. Newsom . . . dealing with the beginnings and celebration of St. Patrick's Day . . . Mmes. Price and White charmingly delivered two short stories for the enjoyment of the assemblage . . There followed a series of ten questionnaires . . . an innovation that is closely aligned to the SIASC'c and their pronounced interest in things worthwhile . . . and for which both club and guest prizes were awarded. . . . Mrs. Vernal Barnett and Mrs. Marie Thomas were, luckily winners of the club prizes . . . and Mmes. Jennye Rice and Clara Coffey were victoriously successful in capturing the guest prizes . . . Mmes. Frieda Filer and Lul Boyd were also guests . . . the club's St. Patrick's Day meet was especially noteworthy in that it marked the appearance of our beloved "first lady of Pasadena". Mrs. Anna Baptiste . . . and you may be sure that her charming presence lent no little amount of gayety and high spirit to the afternoon's divertissement . . . for, as always, Mrs. Baptiste's infectious personality furnished the hub about which the wheel of conversation turned and turned . . . decorations and the clever delectables were appropriately of a predominate green.

Add to Pasadena's gay eating spots the new and spritely "Dixie" Kitchen" . . . out Fair Oaks way in the upper ten hundred locale . . . not a few of our well-knowns were on hand last week to witness the opening of this newest dine-out rendezvous . . . among them, the Reverend and Mrs. Elbert W. The Reverend J. W. Coleman, B. D., D. D., and Mrs. Coleman are in the Southland for a several week's stay . . . residing in Pasadena at 1258 Sunset avenue . . . graduated from Richmond, Virginia's Virginia University and the Northern Baptist Theological Seminary, Chicago, the Rev. Coleman is a formed associate of the eminent Chicago divine, Dr. J. C. Austin who pastors Pilgrim Baptist Church's great congregation in that city . . . for more than twenty years the Rev. Coleman served as pastorate in the Chicago area . . . Baptistry knows him well . . . equally for his cluergymanship and for his expert capabilities in the field of Religious Education . . the many persons who are acquainted with Dr. Coleman will be interested in knowing that he will be associated with Friendship Baptist church's Dr. W. D. Carter during the latter's Revival . . to begin March twenty-seventh.

Add to your engagement book the notation . . . Grace Sanitarium and Nursing Home's Ladies Auxiliary will hold its annual tea on Palm Sunday afternoon, from four until seven o'clock . . . to accommodate the anticipated crush of people the Garner Foundation hall has been loaned for the occasion . . . a subscription affair . . . and proceeds will go to swell the coffers of the Auxiliary treasury . . . for aid to the needy patients in dire need of hospitalization within the quiet confines of the Sanitarium . . . Dr. Brandon A. T. Bowlin is, as you know, the head of this splendid Pasadena convalescent home. . . Mmes. Ada Irby Brownlee, Sharnette Floyd, Bessie Railsback, Laura Bailey, Cecelia Hodge, Frances Johnson . . . and a number of others will be at the helm.

AROUND AND ABOUT IN PASADENA

The forthcoming Easter Sunday social courtesy which will introduce to the younger crowd their newest hosts . . . "The 'Gay Cavalliers" . . . . an increasing number of youngsters in the Crown City are taking reservations for the forthcoming breakfast meet of the Pasadena Fellowship League to be held Sunday morning, April third in the Garner Foundation hall . . . all the young lasses and swains are in the throes of expectation and preparation . . . expectation of the Spring vacation holiday away from scholastic hum-drum . . . preparation for the sartorial outburst that, among so many other things, signifies the rebirth and new life that the Eastertide symbolizes . . . and Les Ingenues Demoiselles will corral the dancing crowd in its entirety . . . for Friday evening, April first . . . when they hostess their subscription dance . . scheduled to begin at eight o'clock . . . or thereabouts . . . and to "let out" at twelve . . . and rhythm in toe and tune will emanate from the hall of the Garner Foundation . . 470 Blake street . . . AND . . . this Thursday night will find Crown City Post's Cabaret Dance in full swing over in Riverside Drive's swank Riverside Drive Breakfast Club . . . and this is something you WON'T want to miss . . . so go along to expect an evening . . . and early morning . . . literally packed with high fun . . . incidentally you'll be helping toward the Legionnaire's establishment of a clubhouse.

VISITORS HONORED AT COCKTAIL PARTIES, TEAS BY HOSTESSES

Visitors in Los Angeles last weekend were feted by Sunday afternoon cocktail hours and tea. Outstanding among the entertainments was the cocktail party in honor of Mrs. Beatrice Winters of New York City, by Mrs. Willie Jones in West 30th street. Mrs. Winters is a New Yorker and the guest of Mrs. Jewel Burns.

Guests were Messrs. and Mmes. L. Guy, Durham, Henry, King Johnson, Joe McKinney, B. Bruce, A. W. Starks, Eugene Rogers, E. W. Williams, William Simms, Charles Upton, Henry Hamond, William Day, C. C. Harrison, Watts, Johnnie Watson, Lonnie Gott; Mmes. Louise Roan, Ida Hudson, Clara Franklin, Minnie Bell Darus, Goldie Bennett, Jewel Burns, Gertrude Maynard, Botlett, Eloise King, Fairchilds; Misses Dixon, of Seattle; Elizabeth Dumar, Ruth McGruder and Mrs. Emma McGruder.

Another pretty Sunday afternoon affair was a tea in honor of Mrs. Cora Mannings of San Antonio at the home of Mrs. Dora Bailey with Mrs. Cora Green, daughter of Mrs. Manning, as hostess. The hostess was assisted at the table by Mmes. A. McKinney, N. Craig, J. B. Fair, Story, and Miss Norris. Sixty-five guests attended the function. Mrs. Manning will leave for her Texas home Friday.

THE SNOOPER

By LUCILLE MARIAN DYE

Hello my dear publick (as my sis use to say); here's hoping you're alright and ready to read a little gossip with me; take it away followers: The song that's really taken L. A. by storm recently is "Oh Rock It For Me" especially when sung by Ella Fitsgerald. I ain't no mo good when I hear that . . . The three on a match this week are Vera Collins, Melvin Nickerson and Frances Carrol; for a little definite proof: he picks her up from school and takes her home, and better than that they were seen not so long ago at the theatre . . Lavina Twyne seems to be rather tilting the cradle with a newcomer, Bud Belles. I would state his age but you might laugh . . . Mansfield Collins seems to be doing alright for himself over to Poly; watch out! This fellow is really going to town (some day) . . . Jessie Mae Bryant is doing exceptionally well holding the attentions of several well known boys. Oh alright Jessie I won't tell on you . . . Esther Phillips if I were you I'd take it easy for a while . . . Berry Slater is seen quite a bit over at Manual—could it be because of Fedora Betancout.

Correction: Chuck Burris and Barbara Dell you have my apologies on last week article concerning you both, it was a mixture of names on my part . . James Horton, tell us who this Agnes is I hear she's O. K.?? . . Seen at the Swingaree befo day last Saturday mawning were the following: James "Mouse" Collins, Thomas Long, Marguerite "Mic" Webb, Mary Jane "Bunnie" Morris, Rosie Mae Sweeny, Melone Temple, Beverly Hills, Tomweda Moore, Bob "Satchel" Burns, Plantation Boys, Jerry Watson, Louis Hamilton, Charline Byrd, etc. munching doughnuts and sipping delicious coffee . . . after which a party of girls which consisted of Mic Webb, Bunnie Morris, Rosie Mae Swenny and Beverly Hill went over to Melone Temples for breakfast . . . Basketball games are proving quite the thing these windy Saturday and Sunday nights with the cats, the last game was put on by the Modernistic with the Lancers versus the L. A. Hi-Y playing, with the Lancers squirming out a 30-21 score . . . Everybody was seen there garbed in the latest of sport apparel . . . by the way thanks for voting me in the Ebonev Socialites I hear it was 100 per cent, but ears are deceiving at times any way this club is really going to town and I'm very glad to become a member of it, although it beats me when I'll be able to attend meetings, so much for that.

Trouble seems to loom over those, Miles apart between Thedora "Teddy" Jacobs and Allan "Hicky" Crozier, it seems as though Lewis "Billy" Dye (yours truly bub) seems to be breaking this up whenever he's down here from Palm Springs . . . I wonder who's really playing second-fiddle to Dorothy Herron, Algy Landry or James Robinson . . . Saw Bill Williams grinning from ear to ear in a '37 or '38 Pontiac last Sunday, I must say he's doing alright for himself, by the way, Bill, I hear you're going steady with Ouida White. What happened to the "chick" in Pasadena . . . Well I shall burn my trash for the week for what's left over so I'll say adios and aurvoir, "Dogone" my French is really sad although I only put in about six hard years on it.

Federated Clubs Pledge Support to Law Revision

The California Federation of Colored Women's Clubs pledged unanimous support to Judge Ben Lindsay's appeal for the revision of the California Juvenile laws Saturday morning at the club institute in the Twelfth Street Branch YWCA. Judge Lindsay, principal speaker of the morning session, declared that revision for protection would lower costs of correction and consequently of taxation.

He held that proprietors of establishments where children are permitted to "put lunch nickels in slot machines" should be liable to punishment instead of the child. The proposed revision also asks that custody cases be handled in a more simple way and cited the cost of lawyers in the very recent Freddy Bartholomey custody case as being $45,000. The fame juvenile worker attributes the present condition to ignorance on the part of persons concerned, a false pride in the belief that California can't be wrong and the opposition of lawyers and politicians.

The institute was the first sponsored by the federation with Mrs. Esther Greenley as chairman. Other speakers included Dr. Mary Wilde, Miss Marian Matthews, Miss Dorothy Guinn, librarian and YWCA executive respectively, Miss Francis Thompson and Mrs. Mabel Gray, state president. Mrs. Jesise Coles Grayson and Miss Georgene Brown were presented in musical numbers accompanied by Miss Olivia Mae Daniels.

BRIDGE POINTS

Starting this week we institute a question and answer feature, thus enabling you to really know how good you are scientifically.

1. When is a no-trump response partners opening bidding not a negative response?
2. When is a pass a forcing bid?
3. Why is a four card length in a side suit worth a half of playing trick?
4. If you and partner hold seven cards in one suit what is the usual holding in same suit by the other three hands?
5. How many honor-tricks are necessary to make a trump rebid in a new suit?
6. What is an attacking over call?
7. What is the minimum honor-trick requirements to open one no-trump and what is its normal distribution?

The correct answers to the above questions will be given next week, and a new set printed if space will permit.

Anyone may submitt a question or a set of them. They will be printed with your name if accepted.

Friendly Lenten Foods

Orange Charlotte
Beverage

Lemons and fish are friendly associates all the year. In the Lenten season they become an indispensable item among household staples since fish is more frequently on the menu at this time. Lemons provide, in addition to valuable vitamins and minerals, a pleasant acid (citric) which, strange as it may seem to those not familiar with the fate of foods in digestion, helps to keep the blood in proper alkaline balance. This is especially important during winter months when the supply of fresh fruits and vegetables is not so easily available as in spring and summer.

Baked Fish Spencer Style

This is an easy and satisfactory method of preparing fresh fish.

Dip fish fillets in salted milk, using one teaspoon of salt for each cup of milk. Dip into fine dry bread crumbs or corn flake crumbs. Arrange on well-oiled baking sheet and sprinkle liberally with oil. Bake in a very hot oven, 500 degrees F. for about ten minutes. Garnish with sliced lemon and parsley. Accompany with lemon quarters.

Buttered Carrots with Celery Seed

Parboil carrots. Drain off water. Add butter or substitute to taste and 1 teaspoon of celery seed. Cover and steam over low fire till carrots are tender.

Orange Charlotte

A delicate fruity salad is always acceptable to close a dinner menu.

1 tablespoon granulated gelatine
½ cup cold water
Soak 5 minutes. Add:
½ cup Sunkist orange juice, heated but not boiled
Stir to dissolve gelatine. Add:
¾ cup orange juice, not heated
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup sugar
Sprinkling salt

When jelly begins to stiffen, add, beating well:

2 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Garnish with orange segments.

St. Paul Baptist Church
21st and Naomi
S. A. Williams, Pastor

A testimonial service was held at eleven o'clock at which persons were given the opportunity to express their gratitude for individual blessings. There was one accession at the close of the service. At three o'clock a meeting was held in the Bible Temple the object of which was to "pray down the fire from Heaven". These services will be held each Sunday afternoon at three. Rev. F. L. Taylor brought the evening message from the subject, "Thy grace is sufficient".

Next Sunday, the pastor will speak at the morning hour from the subject "After Death, What?" Rev. W. A. Anderson will speak at eleven on "The Sanctified Life and What it Means." Rev. Williams will feature a demonstrative message at the Wednesday Bible Study Movement at 7:30 on "Salt, Light, City". Everyone is invited to attend the Missionary Movement each Thursday afternoon at 2:30.

The Seventh Day Adventst Church at 40th Place and Wadsworth Ave., will present a special sermon Sunday night at 8 P. M., when the Pastor speaks upon the question "Are the members of this Church order The Law or under grace? When did Christ abolish the Ten Commandments and what did HE substitute for them?, all this will be answered in the picture sermon with marvelous screen pictures to make every word plain. Sabbath (Saturday) the Sabbath school begins at 9:25 A. M. with more than 400 present on time. At M., Pastor P. G. Rodgers will preach to the parents of the large number of youth on "Must Parents be old-fashioned to stay their children from modern indiscretions".

Services next Sunday morning, March 27, at People's Independent Church of Christ, 18th and Paloma, will feature an illustrated sermon by the minister, Rev. Clayton D. Russell. He will use as his subject, "Rundown Doorbells".

Hundreds were turned away last Sunday morning when Dr. J. C. Austin, brilliant pastor of Pilgrim Baptist church, Chicago, delivered one of his famous sermons. Standing room was at a premium before the opening of the services at eleven.

"The Stability of the Christians" will be the subject of the morning sermon of Rev. T. T. Addison, pastor, at the Goodwill Missionary Baptist church, 1545 E. 23rd street. A program depicting Bible scenes will be shown at eight.

AME CANDIDATE

The south's most outstanding Candidate for the Bishopric of African Methodism is Dr. C. A. Gibbs, whose likeness appears above, who has been endorsed by conferences of Florida. As pastor of St. Paul A. M. E. Church in the city of Jacksonville, he is actively in touch with the progressive doings of his denomination, has reduced the indebtedness of the church by thousands of dollars and is continously rendering service to all persons.

The Rev. Dr. Gibbs is a graduate of Wilberforce University, and as an educator, has served his home-state of Florida as President of Edward Waters College. During his regime as head of the well-know institution, Dr. Gibbs made changes that has brought the College to the forefront and is at present serving at the capacity of Business Manager-Treasurer.

St. Patrick's Ushers Tea a Success

Celebrating their ninth annual Saint Patrick's Tea, the Usher Board of the 8th and Towne Church entertained at the beautiful home of Miss Vivian Phillips 873 E. 51st Street. The home was decorated with gorgeous spring flowers of green and white. The dining table was a picturesque scene with tall candles in white candelabras mid a center piece of choice flowers. The Lady ushers headed by Mrs. Pearl M. Barrett, President were attired in the newest styles of afternoon gowns, with contrasting accessories, and added much beauty and enchantment to the most colorful and enjoyable affair. Miss Phillips received her guests in a gown of white crepe ensemble with a corsage of Gardenias and gold.

The main feature was the charming contestants dressed in gowns of pastel shades with corsages of spring flowers who greeted their friends with pleasing manners. They were Mesdame A. A. Thomas, Mattie Garren, Janice Coleman, Viola Ross, Julia Moore and Mr. C. L. Lawson representing various church clubs of the city with the prize going to Mrs. Moore.

Letters to Radio Station KGFJ, setting forth your reaction to the broadcast of world-wide news presented by the California Eagle nightly, except Saturday, would be appreciated.

'Reality' is Christ Science Subject

This verse from the Psalms, "They that trust in the Lord shall be as mount Zion, which cannot be removed, but abideth for ever," is the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "Reality" on Sunday in all Churches of Christ Scientist, branches of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

The Lesson-Sermon includes these other verses from the Psalms: Great is the Lord, and greatly to be praised; and his greatness is unsearchable . . . All thy works shall praise thee, O LORD; and thy saints shall bless thee. They shall speak of the glory of thy kingdom, and talk of thy power; . . . Thy kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and thy dominion endureth throughout all generations . . . The LORD is righteous in all his ways, and holy in all his works."

Among the correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, are the statements: "Reality is spiritual, harmonious, immutable, immortable, divine, eternal." "The spiritual fact, repeated in the action of man and the whole universe, is harmonious and is the ideal of Truth."

WITH THE STAFF

NOTED in the very fine column written in Saturday's Evening News by Ned Cronin under the caption "Second Guess" was the fact that all of the Negro athletes that represented Uncle Sam in the last Olympics and preceding ones, were college students, as opposed to the goodly number of graduates and non-college athletes among the whites who ran, jumped, etc. for the good old U. S. A.

This is significant of something or another, mainly our much bleated theory that we, as a Race, don't keep up athletic activity after the school days.

Croning mentioned that Owens was from Ohio State, Archie Williams is a pending graduate of the University of California, Johnny Woodroof is a Pittsburgh U. sophomore, Ralph Metcalfe had just graduated in the summer of 1936 from Marquette U, James LuValle is a Phi Beta Kappa student, now getting his M. A. at UCLA, Eddie Tolan in his hey-dey was attending Michigan State, Dave Albritton is awaiting graduation from Ohio State and Mack Robinson was at the time of Olympic participation, attending Pasadena Jaysee.

A contradiction to this, of course is Corny Johnson, who after the customary two years at Compton Junior college, is continuing his high jumping on the East Coast.

One needs only to observe the public playgrounds, even those in the midst of the Negro district, for evidence to the fact that we get our exercise other ways than in stretching the muscles in games and the like.

Almost any Sunday morning, the recreational facilities at the Ross Snyder playground present a deserted appearance until the Mexican ball teams and a few desultory Negro boxers, training for future matches, put in an appearance.

At Jefferson high school where there are five of the finest tennis courts one could wish, the beneficiaries of the tax payers' money are Chinese and Japanese youngsters, with only an occasional Negro to break the monotony.

Women are the worst offenders. Recently when the California Eagle was attempting to form a basketball team, some twenty-five calls netted only five girls who had been cracker-jack players in high school, and who now, didn't think it beneath their dignity to play.

Tennis in Los Angeles is a masculine affair with the exception of less than ten women who are devoted to the sport. Among the few golfers there is not one woman.

There is no doubt that this is a grave situation. Femininity and all that aside, we would have a healthier, younger-for longer, and more charming Race of women were we a bit more open-air minded.

WE UNDERSTAND that the Ross Snyder Tennis club is carrying on a pre-season tournament among themselves every Sunday afternoon over at the courts.

Ross Snyder will be hosts next September to the West Coast Tennis Tournament, held last year in Oakland. There were rumors of an additional two tennis courts to be provided by the Board of Education at the Ross Snyder playground, but so far they have not crystallized.

Even with four courts, there would not be enough room to carry on the tournament. Last summer with six courts at one point and the use of several others at another point, the matches were delayed because of lack of space. This year's tournament with the publicity received by last year's unprecedented in the history of the organization, should be attended by about double the number.

Although the Eastside would not get the benefit of seeing the matches, which are open to the public, Griffith Park is the most logical spot for the affair.

Afternote: We hope the Ross Snyder group will take as fine care of participants and spectators, socially, as did the Oakland hosts last year.

TOO LATE for correction of last week's column came word that the series of inter-fraternity basketball games had been postponed to April 2, the reason being conflict offered by the games now being held on Sunday nights under the sponsorship of Ralph Cooper and the Million Dollar Productions.

According to announcement by John Brewer, polemarch of the Kappa Alpha Psi frat, Cooper has prevailed upon them to postpone their games until the final set-to of the Million Dollar team this coming Sunday night at the Elks' auditorium. Cooper feels, and justly, that Saturday night basketball might hurt the Sunday night gate and has pledged his support to the frats when his season shall have ended.

In making the announcement, Brewer added a laudation of Cooper, who is as much maligned as he is praised. It seems it is to Cooper that we owe this fine season of basketball on the Eastside. With his winning personality, he is said to have prevailed upon the antlered herd that runs the Elks' hall, overcoming their objections to having basketball played upon the sacred precincts of the dance floor, procured the movable bleachers and in general made everything possible.

In this column and on this page we've lauded and lambasted the Mister Cooper and we admit it, in case it seems that we're turning tail in congratulating him now. At any rate, we've written about him . . . and ask, Coop, he knows that is what he has wanted all along.

Jefferson Spike Stars Will Keep League, City and State Championships Says Writer

By PAUL C. GREEN

What sort of track team will Jeff have this year is the talk of the Jeff fans and opponents. Jeff holds the League, City and State championships and, friends, take it from me, Jeff will regain the same titles this year.

Vernon Small, 880 ace, also on the eight-man mile relay team that holds the world's record, thinks Jeff will be the team to be beaten. Small says that while Bryant Allen, Miller, Matlock and Baker are gone, the Democrats still have Sam and Saul Langford, Roland Denton and Joe Dow, from "B" and "C" ranks.

The 880 ace believes the records held by Allen in the 100 and 220-yard dashes will be left for a considerable time. He thinks either Langford will have to pick them up and lay them down to break the fast time of 9.6 and 20.9, but he thinks one of the Langford boys might do it before they graduate.

MANLEY MIGHT SHATTER 440

Miller and Rout's records in the 440-yard run at 40.4 may be shattered this year by Eddie Manley, Small thinks. And in my opinion the 880 yard jaunt should be a source of heavy points for the Democrat team with runners such as Small, Louis Hunt and Walter Seagraves. Earl Floyd and Leonard Spicer should take care of the mile in neat fashion.

The high and low hurdles will become the special property of Sam Langford, George Allen, Hideo Uba, Thomas Pollard and Nolan McCoy. The only worries to these boys are Neal Collins and Curts Howard of Los Angeles.

Tom Direaux, who holds the League and School record in the shot put says he will be able to beat the boys with his left hand. No telling, Tom might be even-handed.

Dennis is the most improved man on the varsity. Aquirrious Griffith is also expected to give competition but not to Direaux.

High jumping will have able substiutes for Wince King, whose record of 6, 4⅛ is a killer diller, but Bobby Wilson and Nolan McCoy think they are capable of brushing close to it. In the broadjump and pole vault Jefferson is weakest.

The eight-man mile relay team is expected to be good, but not good enough to break the world record of 2m, 58.

Anyway you look at it, however, it will be a rough season. But Jefferson will march on!

Jeff will show her colors first at Los Angeles high in the City Relays. Following that, the Romans and Democrats will meet on Wilson Field April 8.

Wilbur Miller Proves Early Season Sprint Sensation

Wilbur Miller, a diminutive comet, is the man to get in junior college track circles this spring. Product of Jefferson High School, where he consistently ran second in the sprints to Bryant Allen, at one time the fastest prep sprinter in the country, and always won the 440 yard run, in which event he held the national high school record, Miller is burning up the tracks in current Jaysee meets.

He seems to have deserted the 440 yard dash in which he made the best of the city, including Big Tom Bradley, now of UCLA bite his dust, and is giving all his attention to the short sprints. Occasionally this season he has run an anchor lap of 440 yards on the Compton Junior college relay team, this generally done in record-equalling time.

Last Saturday at his school, Compton, Miller blazed across the finish line of the century dash in :7, leading the best of Long Beach and Ventura Junior College. Three tiimers caught him between 9.6 and 9.7, so he was given the 9.7 tiime; however, characterised by consistency as Miller is, he should whittle the mark down to 9.5 before the season is half over and when another year rolls around, should bring the title of "World's fastest Human" to the Pacific Coast.

Pushing to the front as one of the Coast's fastest half milers is Jim Lawson, dusky flash from Jordan High School. When Jordan's Swede Renius produced Lawson, it was the first speed king that had come out of the Watts school since the days of Ashley Burch, short-lived phenomena.

Lawson in high school held the national championship in the 880 yard run. Saturday he led the field in 1m., 59.7.

Youth to Campaign for Jobs

NEW YORK CITY, N. Y. Mar. 24—"Train Today for Tomorrow's Job" is the slogan of National Urban League's sixth Vocational Opportunity Campaign, carried on by Negro welfare, social and educational organizations all over the country during this week, March 20 to 27. Participating are forty-one local Urban Leagues, twenty-four non-league centers, and more than one hundred and fifty schools and colleges.

Pointing out the increased need for vocational guidance and training among Negroes, T. Arnold Hill, director of the League's Department of Industrial Relations hoped that the campaign will be instrumental in stimulating thousands of young people to think about the possibilities of work in the future, and to plan for training that will lead to jobs.

"It would be foolish pessimism", he said, "to claim that because of present troubled conditions most young people have no chance of attaining personal security and a status of good citizenship. What we must do is to evaluate calmly without bias the chief difficulties plaguing aspirant Negro youth, and then indicate how those difficulties can best be solved. When we have done this, perhaps we shall find that many supposedly insurmountable barriers can be cleared after all, and that the odds against success are by no means terrifically forbidding."

Bethel Church Choir Makes Debut

The Gospel choir of the Bethel AME church was presented in its first song service Sunday morning, March 20, before a capacity audience in the church auditorium. The director, Miss Dorothy Crafton, was presented with a basket of flowers by the pianist on behalf of the choir for her untiring work in organizing the chorus.

Sunday night was choir night, and a program was presented in the form of a radio broadcast. Coming attractions sponsored by the choir include the presentation of the Silvertone Male Quartet in a recital on March 31 and a Palm Sunday afternoon vesper service from four to five featuring Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew and Mrs. Lillian Dinkins.

Crouch Wins, Gets Draw; Coates 'Kills'

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

Georgie Crouch, one of the classiest lightweights on the coast, received a bad break and, at the same time, was robbed of a technical knockout victory, last Tuesday night at the Olympic auditorium, when Referee Charley Randolph stopped his bout with Frankie Martin in the fourth. Martin was unable to continue because of an unintentional butt. Randolph called the bout a draw.

Martin suffered a cut eye in the fourth. The crowd was amazed when Randolph held up both hands, signaling a draw. Crouch, according to our count, was way ahead, and seemed headed for a knockout win. He should have received credit for a technical knockout.

COATES COMES BACK

Charley Coates, called the "ex-killer", came back before local fans and scored a second round kayo victory over Sandy McDonad, a substitute. The "Ex-Killer", outweighed by 16 pounds, nearly upset Sandy in the first with a left to the head, and in the second canto he put McDonald down for good when he hit him with a hard right. Sandy's head and shoulders were draped over the lower rope and he didn't twitch as the count was tolled. Water had to be dashed over him before he could get up.

In the prelims, Chico Romo TKO'ed Babe Brandelli in the third in an interesting scrap; Eddie Marcus punched out a one-handed victory over Frank Rodriguez. Marcus reportedly suffered a broken left hand. Rip Slade outpointed Mel Brown in a slugging match and Jimmy McDaniels stopped Roger Whittaker in the curtain raiser.

LEAVES TO ATTEND BROTHER'S FUNERAL

MILLION DOLLAR AND BOJANGLES IN FINAL SETTO SUNDAY NIGHT

Deciding Game to Be Staged at Elks; Both Fives 'Taste' Victory

A cross between an ice hockey game, a Spanish bull fight and a mass Roman gladiatorial combat is likely to be the final setto of the three-game series between the Million Dollar Movie Productions team and Bill Robinson's Bojangles this Sunday night at the Elks' auditorium.

Climaxing the basketball season, the Million Dollar team has engaged in a three game series with the Bojangles for the unofficial championship of the Eastside. Both teams have won one match.

Last Sunday night before a crowd that overflowed the balcony and the bleachers to the sidelines, the Million Dollar boys, smarting from the previous Sunday's defeat, their first this season, defeated the Bojangles, 33 to 29.

The first half of the game was nip and tuck, the score tallying at the whistle, 11 to 11. However, an argument on the six foul ruling between Herman Hill, manager of the Bojangles, and Halley Harding, player and coach of the Bojangles, must have disheartened the Bojangles some as they let Father Myles, Lank Price and team-mates, outpass and out-shoot them to a victory.

MAYHAP A SET-UP

Maybe it was a set-up to insure this Sunday's game, but, as usual, the fine basketball played by both teams and the clowning of Father Myles, kept the crowd on its feet and interested thruout.

Fans are keyed for Sunday's match. The rival camps are expected to be as hostile, within the limits of good sportsmanship, it is hoped, as are the teams. The Million Dollar quintet, composed of fellows much more experienced than the Bojangles, has admitted a lately acquired respect for the basketball ability of their rivals and will be determinedly on their toes to take them into camp this Sunday.

As for the Bojangles, they are determined it can't be done.

COOPER TO PLAY

Including Ralph Cooper, the movie star, who plays forward, the Million Dollar team will include Bert King, George Easter, Pigmeat Cook, Father Myles and Sug Morrison.

Hill's roster includes Spot Thornton, Vernon Hardin, Halley Harding, Drippy Williams, Wilbur Ashford, Francis Garland, Wince King, Al Brewer and Kilgore.

In a much discussed rematch preliminary game between the Musicians and the Tap Dancers, the music makers reversed a 25-24 loss of the previous week by winning 25-16. However, next Sunday the most unusual preliminary tilt of all will take place in which a team of boxers will play Central Avenue's new club of "Sportsmen".

YMCA Tourney Starts April 8

As the final curtain falls on basketball for 1938, the 28th St. branch YMCA is having its annual basketball championship tournament, it was announced this week by Nate George, athletic manager of the branch.

There will be two classes, 145 pounds and open. The league will start April 8 and schedules will be sent out as the entry blanks are returned.

Basketball fees must be accompanied with membership cards. As this is strictly limited to the membership, all entry blanks should be in April 2, and can be obtained by calling Ad. 7193 or stopping at 1006 E. 28th St., George said.

Jeff Hi Nine Ekes Out Win

By PAUL C. GREEN

Not quite having hit their stride in the baseball season just opened, Jefferson High school's baseball nine won a hard fought game from Fremont high last Friday afternoon on the Jefferson diamond, 4-1.

Earl Thomas, sensational pitcher in prep circles, was on the mound for Jeff, with Jerry Watson, stellar football player, catching.

The Fremont Pathfinders found an opening for a run on two errors early in the game. After that Thomas tightened up and with good fielding on the part of his teammates, held Fremont to the one tally.

Heavy hitters on Jeff's nine were Manuel Lucas, Ira Hawkins, Scow Thomas, Jerry Watson and Lefty Gomez.

Southern and Northern league champions of last year, the Democrats lost seven stars of last year by graduation, namely Bryant Allen, Allen Zaulla, outfielders, Sam Miller, Herbert Jenkins and Paul Zaby, infielders.

On the Huntington Park diamond, Jefferson will meet, that school tomorrow afternoon.

CROWELL HEADS LOCAL BOXING NEXT WEEK

Heading an attractive fistic card at the Olympic next week is Chuck Crowell, heavyweight. Crowell is slated to meet the Slav, Erjavec in the 10-round feature. In the semi-windup is Tommy Hart versus Jimmy Brent.

SAN DIEGO NEWS

Mi. 5430 By E. B. Wesley 1721 Logan Ave.

Mr. Demmat Griffin, recent Tuskegee Institute graduate, arrived in the city a few days ago as a representative of the Dr. Pepper Bottling Works, with a view to opening a branch business here. Mr. Griffin, who is a native of Shreveport, La., is head mechanic of the Pepper Bottling company.

Mrs. L. H. Owens, teacher from Imperial, spent the week-end with her husband, Rev. L. H. Owens of Bethel church.

On Saturdayafternoon Rev. Harold Brown of Calvary Baptist Church spoke very interestingly at the 9 o'clock Good Cheer Hour over Station KFSD.

To meet the growing demands the Gilbert Radio service, 2752 Imperial Ave., has made some attractive improvements recently. This enterprise, operated by Mr. G. F. Williams and Mrs. M. D. Williams, has grown from a very small beginning to an enviable place in the business world

VESPER SERVICES

A very splendid program was rendered at the Vesper Hour Sunday afternoon in the Clay street Girl Reserve center with Mrs. Alex McPherson, chairman of religious education in charge.

The meeting was opened by singing the Negro National anthem. Miss Octavia Payne at the piano; Invocation by Rev. L. H. Owens, "The Land of Beginning Again", impressively recited by Miss Payne, Mrs. L. H. Owens sang "Teach Me to Pray", Rev. L. H. Owens was the speaker of the hour, bringing a telling message on "Facing Life Squarely". Two more pleasing numbers were given by the Girl's Glee Club, after which a few remarks were made by Mrs. McPherson, chairman of "Religious Education". Benediction by Rev. L. H. Owens.

The study of the Bible was continued in the BYPU at 4 o'clock. Mr. R. W. Lipscomb, president was in charge.

Evening service began at 5:30 with the Rev Branham again delivering the sermon

Visitors to the services were: Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Sampson of Los Angeles.

SOCIETY

On Sunday afternoon, March 20, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo McFadden, 2909 Imperial Ave., very pleasantly surprised their daughter, Marjorie with a birday party.

Several friends helped Marjorie celebrate her 12th birthday. Delightful refreshments were served and favors given to all. The many guests departed declaring Marjorie a grand little hostess.

One of the interesting and unique parties will be given at the Community Center, 2936 Imperial Ave., on the evening of March 31, 1938 for the benefit of the Young People's Community Assn. This affair is to be called "The Parade of the Widows and Widowers," and will be attended only by the Widows and Widowers of this community.

A most interesting program is being arranged for the entertainment of the guests and also many unusual and novel sidelights will be used. Featured on this occasion will be many songs and games that will revive memories of former days.

This organization, The Young Peoples Community Assn', is a well deserving one and merits the support of all. We sincerely wish this organization much success in the venture.

Mrs. Elizabeth Kincaid was hostess to the Wide Awake Club at the AME parsonage one evening last week. Dainty refreshments were served. Rev. L. H. Owens was the club guest. At their home, 3017 Franklin ave, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lewis were host and hostess at a smartly appointed supper Thursday evening in honor of Mrs. M. Patton, a visitor from the East. The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. Casey Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Brown, Mesdames Hester Burke, Mary Gooden In celebration o the 30th anniversary of its organization, the Golden State Sewing circle was the guest of Mrs. Maggie Baker a few days ago at her residence in East San Diego. Mrs. Baker served a most savory dinner after which she presented the Sewing circle with Seven dollars.

Mrs. Hester Burke entertained the Mary F. Handy Sewing circle Thursday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Casey Jackson, 2126 Everett street.

RIVERSIDE

By FRANCES M. WILLIAMS

Second Baptist church, Howard and 12th streets, Rev. W. Thomas, pastor, will open its anniversary honoring the 13th year of pastoring by Rev. Thomas and having been organized over 47 years. The church having made wonderful strides under his leadership, one outstanding event, thing, which helps any church The program for the week, as follows: Monday evening, Rev. A. L. Washington, AME church, Riverside; Tuesday evening, Rev. L. B. Moss, Park Avenue Missionary board; Wednesday evening, Rev. Foster, Redlands; Thursday, evening, Rev. J. M. Caddell, Calvary Baptist, L. A.; Friday evening, Rev. J. L. Caston, Trinity Baptist church, L. A. Sunday, March 27, 2:30, annual Thanksgiving sermon of K. of P., sermon by Rev. T. A. Patterson of St. Paul, San Bernardino. Every third Sunday for young folk.

Allen Chapel AME church, Rev. A. L. Washington, pastor, Sunday, March 27, junior choir day. Rev. A. Shaw being the speaker for the day. During league hour, Rev. Mrs. Lester Van Meter, from Kumming (Yun Nan Fu) Yunnan, China, missionaries just from the field, will tell of some of their experiences there. March 20 being junior missionary day, Rev. Green of Redlands, delivered a stirring sermon. The striking point, "Are you ashamed to wear the garb of your profession," referring us to the nuns, you know them wherever you see them, to the stewardess boards, are you ashamed to wear your bonnets, uniforms, etc.; to the various sisters and lodges, are you ashamed to wear your uniforms to let the public know you are Ruth, Star, Heroine, etc., then be not ashamed of your Christian uniform," quotes Rev. Green.

Mrs. Peggy Streeter and Miss Myrtle Taylor will be the directors of a unique fashion show, April 15 at Mercantile hall, 12th street, sponsored by the Woman's Study club of Riverside.

Visitors at Allen chapel Sunday: Miss Ethel Butler, Mr. R. Butler, Miss S. Wimberly, all of Redlands; Mrs. Vernon Gordan, of Los Angeles.

The Nurse Training class meeting at the Mercantile every Wednesday evening from 7 p. m. to 9, is gaining much interest with an attendance on last Wednesday of 37. The instruction is well worth anyone's time, to know how to care for the body properly, to know how to give first aid, thus saving the lives of many during epidemics, instructors being graduates and well versed on their subjects and some of the best found at Loma Linda hospital, professionally and spiritually, caring for soul and body.

The Brigadetts held meeting at the home of Mrs. Johanetta Jackson, business was in regards to our coming coffee; attractive prizes were awarded in the bridge game to which the rest of the evening was devoted to. Mrs. Henrietta Banks held high score and Mrs. Dorreen Turner, consolation. First prize was a bottle of Evening in Paris powder; booby was a clever ash tray.

The 7 o'clock coffee, introducing the Brigadetts to the public was what one would call a grand success. Scores of young and elder folk greeted the girls. The dining table was a lovely picture with flowers decorating. Tiny sandwiches and cakes with tea, coffee, salted nuts and candies were served. At the same time a lovely program planned by Mrs. J. Jackson was rendered.

The Brigadetts wishes to thank the two clubs of Riverside, High Hatters and Orchid Girls for their beautiful baskets of flowers. Those attending were Misses Corine Simpson, Elese Johnson, Helen Collins, Anita Beverly, Evelyn Braxton, Evelyn Strickland, Elvie Jackson, Doris Sims, Vera Harris, Rosetta Andrews, Edith Brazil, Beatrice Beal, and Mesdames M. Hucker, Cudpepper, E. Hillsman, H. Trunider, H. Jones, S. Dean, L. Looper, M. Muckelroy, A. Gordon, V. Felix, L. Green, Mr. H. Hillsman, Fred Dennor, Orville S. Diggs, Ernest Green, Opie McClelland, Cecil Owens, David C. Hillsman, A. Johnson, D. Johnson, C. Cooke, J. W. Gordon, J. Jackson and club members.

The Young Women's Branch of the Home and Foreign Missionary Society, AME Zion church, presented their annual educational program and tea, Sunday afternoon, March 20th. The guest speaker was Jr. William A. Bigby, Jr. of Fresno. His subject, "Are The Youth Movements A Menace To Our Democracy." Many fine points calling for deep thinking as to our posterity proved the brilliant speaker was well informed on his subject. The parsonage was appropriately decorated, and following the program, the young ladies of the organization served tea. A fine attendance was appreciated by the society.

Mrs. M. Galvez is confined to her home by illness. Mrs. M. Westmoreland who has been quite ill is up and around again. Mrs. Burcheil Kelley has been called to Los Angeles to the bedside of her daughter, Mrs. Leora Powell. Mr. James Jackson has been confined to his bed during the past week.

Miss Aldene Myers will leave Thursday for San Jose, where she will resume her studies at the State Teachers' College. Owing to the illness of her father, Mr. John Myers, who is now greatly improved, Miss Myers did not attend last semester.

Joe DiMaggio, who has been visiting Hanford with the S. F. Seals, this being their training quarters, gave batting exhibitions. One of the Seal's line-ups played against the Hanford high school last Saturday, Milton Myers a member of the Hanford High team, also played.

Mrs. Mattie Myers is still confined to a local hospital but is greatly improved at this writing.

Donald Welcher and Stanley Benton of Hanford High School attended the track meet in Bakersfield last week where each was awarded a ribbon. Welcher taking first place in the discus throwing (Class A) and Benton taking second place in the 100 yd. dash, (Class B).

Howard Chapel, A. M. E. Zion Church, Rev. George H. Maunder pastor, held their second quarterly meeting last Sunday, with the Presiding Elder, Rev. James B. Holmes of Los Angeles in charge. The morning and evening services were well attended and Rev. Holmes gave very touching and inspiring messages at both meetings. Plans are under way for the 18th Annual Session of the Southwest Rocky-Mountain Conference of the A. M. E. Zion Church to be held at Howard Chapel, in Hanford, October 5th to 10th.

SANTA ANA

By BERNICE YOUNG

Johnson's Chapel AME and the Second Baptist church are both engaged in a pageant play called "Pearly Gate". The date of the pageant will be announced later. Watch for the date and all come who can come. This pageant is worth miles to go and see.

Women's Political Study club had a luncheon Thursday afternoon, March 17, at Mrs. McCarthy's home. The luncheon proved to be a big success.

Thursday evening, March 17, at the Johnson's Chapel AME, the Mite Missionary had a Saint Patrick's program. Refreshments were sold after the program.

Women's Charity club met Thursday afternoon at Mrs. Young's home with Mrs. Irene Clark acting as hostess. The club went through in their regular way, and plans for the anniversary of the club, which will be the 24th of March.

Saturday afternoon, Master Benny Young celebrated his fourth year birthday with members of his family.

Mrs. Jennetta Sterling had a surprise birthday party for her sister, Mrs. Bernice Young, Saturday night. The evening was spent in playing games, and a wonderful time was spent by those who were present.

MONROVIA

Bonjour Mes Amis:

For some time this column has been vacant due to the fac that we columnists have been extremely occupied In the meantime, much interesting news has piled up. Since we can't give you all the news that has happened, we shall try to select the choicest from the huge pile.

A week ago the Monrovia Smartsetters were entertained, by that genial host, James Hall, at an outstanding, colorful party. The food was sumtuous, and the music was for the "Dancers Only", being furnished by Jimmie Lunceford, Chick Webb, Duke Ellington, and Benny Goodman, with John Ruffin at the rtcording controls. Besides the delightful music and food, many guests were entertained by the participants in the "Green Apple". The dancers being Muriel Simons, Alice Presley; Gladys Steward, Geneva Pickens, Comma Lee McNeal, and many others in the gang. Milton "Buzzey" Simons certainly displayed his dancing talent, many of the girls noticed his pronounced rhythm.

During the party we noticed that the University Man, Bill Presley showered his jive on vivacious Lorraine Bell. Ummh!

On Thursday evening, the evening following the party, my fellow columnist, Gladys Steward celebrated her birthday by giving a dinner party. Those guests who were bidden, and spent an evening of hilarity were Ethel Pierce, Tressie Gardenhire, Lorraine Bell, Clara Reed, Earl Steward, Robert Fisher, J. W. Hughes, Edward Farris, and James Hall.

EL CENTRO

By W. A. Payne

The funeral services for Mrs. Lillie E. Bell were conducted from the Hems Funeral Home on the 13th inst. She had lived in El Centro during the past fourteen years and was exceptionally active in Christian work.

The Rev. I. N. Whitten, pastor Second Baptist church preached the funeral sermon extolling the commendable traits of character of the deceased. Interment in the Evergreen cemetery. She leaves many relatives, among them J. T. Bell, her son well known in El Centro. A second son lives in Mississippi.

The Homemaking Department of Douglass high school won a share of the prizes offered at the recently held County Fair, taking three prizes in the culinary department.

The Rev. Louis H. Owens of San Diego was assembly speaker on the program sponsored by the junior class. He was presented by Payton C. Cook, president of the class and delivered an inspirational address that was appreciated by the student body and a number of citizens who attended the morning assembly. The citizens of the community are appreciative of the fine programs presented by the pupils at their weekly asemblies and are making it convenient to attend.

Mesdames A. E. Prince and George Venerable entertained the following gentlemen at breakfast last Sunday morning: Messrs George Venerable, L. J. Stewart, DuBois McGee, A. W. Dixon, James Robinson, W. A. Payne, and A. E. Prince. Messrs James Stocks and John Allen were absent because of the Brawley tennis tournament. Following the sumptuous breakfast served by the hostesses the gentlemen continued their discussion of launching a business enterprise in ths section. A committee has been appointed to consummate plans.

Mrs. Lucille Culberson and Miss Gladys Gier visited relatives and friends in Los Angeles over the week end. Miss Lucille Culberson accompanied them on their return trip and will remain until after the Easter vacation.

Messrs James Stocks and John Allen are playing in the county tennis tournament. This is Allen's first year and he has shown real ability. He has had consistent wins and was vanquished only last Sunday in competition with Clyde Jackson former valley champion and also Pomona College champion. Stocks has come up to the finals winning handily and will play in the finals April 3. Several of the high school boys are making rapid progress and give promise of making the players.

The University club presented Dr. G. W. Thomas, Minister First Presbyterian Church in an address last Sunday afternoon. He discussed quite frankly many phases of racial misunderstanding and proffered remedies. Discussion followed his address led by Dr. W. R. Carter of Los Angeles. Musical numbers were presented by Mrs. Ruth P. McGregor, Mrs. A E. Prince, accompanist.

Mr. A. E. Prince in an address to the congregation of the First Presbyterian church last Sunday night discussed racial relations in this section and offered many fine remedies. Miss Lorraine McGee and Mrs. A. C. Clipper gave readings. The Douglass high school quartette rendered several selections. The program was sponsored by the Orange Avenue Church of God in Christ, Elder W. J. Taylor made the closing remarks.

Mesdames Margaret P. Owens, and Ruth Johnsor and Miss Ruby Hubert visited in Los Angeles and Pasadena the past week end.

Alexander Williams of Calexico passed away at the General hospital last Thursday. He was a member of Pride of Imperial Valley Lodge No. 2 Knights of Pythias. Sir Williams had no relatives in this section but because of his amiable character he had made a number of friends. The Pythian lodge took charge of the funeral services Sunday afternoon at Ruggs Funeral Home. The sermon was preached by the Rev. I. N. Whitten prelate of the Lodge. Sir Williams was a charter member of the Lodge and had been one of the mainstays in helping it to weather adverse conditions

A number of the members of the Washington School P.-T. A. attended the sectional meeting held in this city last Monday. The program of the local P.-T. A. is a very progressive one and has attracted the attention of the entire section.

The elementary school girl reserves held their spring rally in Brawley last Saturday. Mesdames Emily Roberson, Ruth Sims, and Lenore Cooper accompanied a large number of the Washington school girls to the meeting. They entered heartily into the several programs and activities and had a happy time. They are now planning for the Hi Pass Camp next Month. This always proves a great outing for the girls.

Superintendent Aubrey Hackshaw, San Diego division of the Golden State Mutual Insurance Company and Mr. Theodore Dunlap have visited here during the past week and will remain until the middle of this week. Supt. Hackshaw is preparing to extend the activities of hs company in these parts. Mr. Dunlap who has had wide insurance experience will have charge of the local field making El Centro his headquarters. Both gentlemen believe there is a real business opportunity here.

There is general sorrow expressed among the members of the Elks fraternity over the passing of Major J. B. Loving, Los Angeles. As District Deputy he was a frequent visitor here and was generally admired by members of the fraternity.

W. A. Payne was guest speaker at the First Baptist Church of Calexico last Sunday evening. The program was under the auspices of the Missionary Society. Plans are being made for an exchange of meetings between the two Young People's Unions. Mrs. A. E. Prince was also a guest at the meeting and rendered several piano selections. She received many hearty commendations.

Second Baptist Church
Rev. I. N. Whitten, Minister

Sunday was the first of a number of definitely planned rallies preceding the beginning of work on the new church building. Large congregations attended all the meetings and the pastor is happy over the generous response. Rev. Whitten preached morning and evening bringing timely messages, encouraging the members in the task ahead. Dr. W. R. Carter of Los Angeles was present and assisted in the financial campaign. The congregation is looking forward to ground-breaking within a short time. The Sunday School and the BYPU held spirited sessions.

Johnson's Chapel AME
Rev. Hayes, pastor

Friday night, March 18 marked the 38th wedding anniversary of Rev. and Mrs. Hayter and also the 9th anniversary of his pastorate here. A program was sponsored by Mr. A. E. Prince, Mrs. R W. Kirkpatrick, members of the church and Mrs. Edna Morris who has been a life time friend of Rev. and Mrs. Hayter. Rev. Floyd Johnson, pastor of the First M. E. church gave an illustrated lecture on the Holy land, made the more interesting because he had taken the pictures on his tour of the several places. Others taking part on the program were Rev. Thomas Hughes, Chief of Police Sterling Oswalt, Rev. I. N. Whitten, Mrs. Edna Morris. On behalf of the busines men of the city Mrs. Morris presented to the pastor a very satisfactory purse. Rev. Whitten presented a purse the donation from the church and friends.

Sunday school opened at the usual hour with much interest shown. Evangelist C. T. Hooper of Big Bethel, New York City, preached during the morning worship and also the evening service. His messages were helpful and all departed saying as one of old "Did not our hearts burn within us."

Mrs. Aubrey Hackshaw and a party of friends from Los Angeles and San Diego gave the genial Mr. Hackshaw quite a surprise last Sunday by paying him a hurried visit. Sunday was his birthday and they came over to remind him and to assist him in the celebration.

Royal 12 club. Sorry the club was beheaded in last week's issue. Anyway it was the 12'ers whose last meeting was held at the residence of Mr. James Holloway, 1511 18th street, who is a very dependable member. Old and new business was transacted including the stag to be given soon. Every one that attended the Hi-Tri Girls' cotton and corn dance at the Masonic hall last Wednesday evening had a very good time. Even the sponsors, Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Essie Tucker, with the "Big Apple" holding the spotlight. Elmer Mitchell, reporter.

Correction: The recently organized club mentioned in last week's issue is "Top Hatters" instead of toy hatters and is for eligible young single men instead of just young men.

FLUSH KIDNEYS OF POISONS AND STOP GETTING UP NIGHTS

Live a Healthier, Happier, Longer Life

Thousands of men and women wonder why backache bothers them—why they have to visit the bathroom often at night—why flow is scanty and sometimes smarts and burns.

Any one of these symtoms means that your kidneys and bladder nede attention now before these minor symptoms develop into serious trouble.

To flush out waste poisons and acid from kidneys, soothe your irritated bladder and put healhty activity into them, get a 35-cent package of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Capsules and take as directed.

Ths harmless, tried and true medicine always works—you'll feel better in a few days, as the supremely effective diuretic and kidney stimulant drives excess uric acid from the body which is often the aggravation of joint agony, sciatica and neuritis.

But be sure and get GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules—the original and genuine—right from Haarlem in Holland. All good things are imitated.

EASTER SERVICE TO BE HELD IN VAL VERDE

The Outdoor Life and Health association is planning to have a outstanding Easter program to be given at Val Verde this year. A splendid musical program is to be worked up by the Junior Auxiliaries of this association. The sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Clayton D. Russell of the Independent church.

ATTACKING RACE LEADERS IS SOWING SEEDS OF DISASTER SAYS DR. HANCOCK

Indictment Kills Goose That Laid Golden Egg

EDITOR'S NOTE: We are happy to announce this week that Dr. Gordon B. Hancock, one of the clearest thinkers and most facile writers on current affairs, in the group, has joined the Associated Negro Press, servicing this newspaper, as a contributer. Dr. Hancock may be depended upon to discuss freely and pointedly the problems which face America, including those half hidden situations and racial attitudes which are talked about but rarely faced frankly. He will write semi-monthly or more frequently whenever any special condition or situation arises which he feels demands immedate or continuous exposition.

By GORDON B. HANCOCK for ANP

Not only the Race's progress and welfare but its very survival is involved in the concerted, persistent and often malignant attack on Negro leadership today. At a time when confidence within the Race is imperative and at a time when a far-visioned and intrepid leadership could work wonders for our moral and economic deliverance, there is a subtle and determined effort to discredit Negro leadership. There can be no objections to the constructive criticism of particular men and their measures but the sweeping indictment against all Negro leadership is killing the goose that lays the golden egg. In one breath these sweepng critics and moral charlatans speak of the great progress the Negro has made: in another they disparage the leadership that has made this progress possible.

If the truth were really acknowledged there has never been a more wisely led group in the annals of mankind. The brilliant beginnings the Negro has made in every sphere of useful endeavor is proof of this wise leadership. Booker T. Washington, W. E. B. DuBois and Richard Allen stand tall among the moral leaders of all times

Seldom does this criticism emanate from men of great accomplishment and competency but from failures, semi-failures and frustrated youths. It should be driven home to these that if confidence is destroyed in the leadership of today, there will be no confidence in the leadership of tomorrow and without this confidence, the tomorrow of the disaster is grim bustness. Negro is dark indeed. These sweeping critics with their sweeping criticisms are sowing seeds of disaster that are bound to bring a grievous harvest by and by. Those narrow-guaged statesmen who thwarted the anti-lynching bill within recent weeks are no greater enemies of the Negro than the thoughtless Negro committed to a ceaseless and at time senseless attack on Negro leadership.

Negro critics and those who encourage them should understand that once confidence in Negro leadership is undermined, the foundation of our moral and economic and social life is undermined. To resent white leadership and at the same time destroy Negro leadership is to invite disaster.

One of the explanations of this inveterate criticism is to be found in the emergence of the so-called "New Negro" who fares forth from our institutions of learning supplied with degrees various and with a consuming passion to "take charge" of the world. He readily discredits everybody and everything that stands between him and some easy access to affluence and power. At his first rebuff he turns in disillusionment upon Negro leadership with a consuming fury.

For fifty years the "fight" spirit has been engendered in the Negro. The apparently impregnable position of the white man makes our attack seem impossible and futile, and we naturally turn upon ourselves in an internecene warfare that centers about Negro leadership Furthermore, there are many Negroes today who do not believe in Negroes in spite of their much speaking. At heart they think that the only true leadership is white leadership. An attack on Negro leadership gives them their chance to vent their subtle feelings of inferiority. Then there is the feeling of jealousy that the inferior has for the superior, and which the "have-nots" have for the "haves" etc.

When confidence has been destroyed in our leadership, it is going to be reflected in our moral and business relations. To destroy confidence in anything is to weaken confidence in everything! To destroy confidence in Negro leadership is to endanger the Negro newspaper: it is to destroy Negro business: it is to invite ruin for the Negro professional and and it is to close the doors of opportunity in the face of the rising generations of Negroes. The future which faces the Negro today must be made out of confidence that Negroes have in Negroes and any attempts to destroy this is sowing seeds of disaster. Sowing seeds of commonplace facts which concern us more personally. Written for the layman as well as for insurance salesmen, S. S. Huebner's bok on "Life Insurance" and Albert Linton's "Life Insurance Speaks for Itself" are packed full of practical information so clearly set forth that they cannot fail to give the insurance buying public a clear picture of what insurance is and what is involved in the questions so frequently raised in connection with insurance contracts. They set forth the many legitimate ways in which life insurance may and should be employed in the interest of personal, family and business welfare. These are boks which every person should read. You will find them at the Vernon Branch Library, 4504 South Central avenue and the Helen Hunt Jackson Branch Library, 2330 Naomi Avenue.

The LAUNDRYMAN

When "Secret" asked me where we was going to get the money to pay for having all that laundry done, he surprised me, because as a rule, he never worries about anything that requires thinking, but leaves it all up to me.

"Well, Secret," I says: "There is a universal Power that can bring all things to pass, provided you're able to tune in on it just like you do a program on your radio. We're working in a good cause, aiming to make some honest money for ourselves, and trying to help these 500 women of our race what's lost their jobs, instead of sitting down hollering for the white man to do something. Some folks call this Power, Universal Mind, others call it the Sub-Concious. I don't know what it is myself, but I've learned how to tune in on it, and that's what I'm going to do tonight. Come on, let's turn in now, and I'll give you the dope in the morning."

We slept kinder late the next morning as both of us were very tired. Secret got up first, got dressed, and went out in the kitchen to fix breakfast. I pulled out a little, later and put on my dressing gown, and sat quietly in a chair over by the window, meditating about this $2500.00 we got to raise. In a little while Secret come bursting and said, for me to come to breakfast. I didn't make him no answer, 'cause you can't talk and concentrate too. Secret looks at me real hard for a minute and then says:

"What you doing, Laundryman?"

"Don't bother me now". I says: "I'm trying to make a contact. Go on out and shut the door." Secret give me a funny looks and went on out.

About fifteen minutes later I got up, went in the kitchen and sat down at the table. Secret stopped eating right away, and give me a queer, dubious look.

"Laundryman" he says in a half whisper: "Did you make that contact?

"Yes," I says, piling some pork chops and rice on my plate.

"What did it say?" he persisted.

"Well, it said that there ain't no use crossing a bridge till you get to it. The first thing for us to do, is to find a laundry what'll do the work for 25 cents a bundle, and give 'em the laundry. Then we'll have four or five more days to work on gettinig this $2500.00 together."

Secret looked at me kinder sidewise for a long time before he spoke again. "Laundryman" he says finally, "Me and you been friends a long time, ain't we?"

"Sure", I reolies, sipping a mouthful of coffee.

"Well I'm afraid we ain't going to be friends much longer" he says, real sober like.

"Why, What's the matter now?" I says, sitting down my cup in surprise. Secret shook his head sadly. "You ain't fooling me Laundryman," he says, "You know I always did think you was kinder screwy in the head, and now I know it. You was dealing with the devil in that room just a while ago. And I ain't going to be messed up in no such doings. I was Baptist born and Baptist bred" "And when you die there'll be a Dumbell dead", I interrupted.

Well it taken me almost a half-hour before I could convince that guy that I wasn't trying to deal in black magic. And then he wasn't fully satisfied, because he told me he was going to look for a room as soon as I could advance him some money. I finally quieted him down though, and we drove down on Eighth street to feel out some of them big laundries about doing our work.

We didn't have any luck at the first two places we stopped. At the first one, the gum cehwing secretary said that the Boss was out of town, and at the second place, the secretary said her Boss was to busy to see us, and for us to tell her what we wanted. That didn't suit me, because I never could do no business with the Help, so me and Secret kept on going. Finally I seen a big building on a corner with a "Laundry" sign on it. "This looks like a high-powered place. Let's try in here, "I says to Secret. He agreed, and we went on iin.

A young white woman who looked like she was dressed to to go to some ball or something, come out of the office and asked us what we wanted. I told her we wanted to see the boss to get a price on having some laundry done. She said he was very busy just now, and for us to tell her what our proposition was. I told her No, we didn't want to talk to nobody but the Boss. Then she said that if we was looking for special rates she was the one to talk to, because she handled that department. I told her we was sorry, but we had to see the Boss, or nobody.

When I'm getting her told a big broad-shouldered, ruddy faced man come out of the office and started vast us. He heard what I said, and stopped and threw his hard blue eyes on me and Secret.

"What do you boys want here?" he said curtly. The minute he opened his mouth I knew he was the man I wanted to see.

"We want to talk to you about getting a big batch of laundry to be roughdried," I says. His blue eyes taken me and Secret both in, in two quick glances. "The girl will fix you out. Talk to her. I'm very busy this morning", he said shortly, and turned to go.

"You mean too busy to bargain for 10,000 bundles of laundry?" I says quietly. The big white man stopped dead in his tracks, and an engaging smile swept over his face. "Did you say 10,000 bundles?" he asked.

"Yes" I says. The big man's smile grew broader. "What might be the name?" he asks politely.

"Booker T. Washington, Lincoln, Roosevelt Johns," I answers without batting an eye, just to see whether he was to busy to pronounce it after me.

He didn't flinch a hair. "Mr. Booker T. Washington, Lincoln Roosevelt Johns," he said genially: "You and your partner kindly step over here into my private office where we can talk over things without being disturbed." And he led the way.

Well, he give me and Secret a couple of good cigars, and we smoked and talked, and finally made a deal for the laundry at 25 cents a bundle.

"Strictly C. O. D. of course he reminded us, as we was leaving.

"Sure! Sure". That's all understood, Mr. Turner," me and Secret told him. "And the date you want it ready", he asked.

"Today's the 27th! Oh, along about the 5th of April," I says carelessly. He said Okey, and said he'd send a couple of big vans out right away to pick it up, and so me and Secret beat it on back out to the Elks Building to get ready for them. Secret drew a long breath whilst we was sipping two cans of beer in the Elks bar.

"Laundryman," he says soberly, "I sho hope we'll be able to get that laundry out as slick as you got it in".

'Lloyds of London' Tale Fascinating Says Reviewer

By MIRIAM C. MATTHEWS

The average reader unless he is connected in some way with insurance business generally considers books about insurance dull. This could never be said, however, of "The Romance of Lloyd's", by Commander Frank Worsley and Captain Glyn Griffith which tells the fascinating story of the world's most unique insurance association and its phenomenal rise from coffee house to palace. Lloyd's of London is celebrating its 249th anniversary this year having been started in 1688 by Edward Lloyd who ran a coffee house in Tower Street which gradually became a clearing house for shipping information. Although for a couple of centuries, the main business of Lloyd's of London has been the insurance of ships at sea, today, the non-marine business of Lloyd's is greater in volume than the marine business.

You can insure at Lloyd's for everything except life, and even that may be insured for a period not exceeding one year. It will insure you against rain and hail, against the chances of war in any given country, against the chances of your daughter eloping with the chauffeur, or against a change, twice within one year of English kings. It is said that Lloyd's paid more than two million dollars when Edward Windsor traded his throne for love. The earliest instance of wholesale loss occurred as soon after the foundation of Lloyd's as 1693.

writers were ruined and among the failures was one Daniel Foe, who was forced to take up journalism to make up for his insurance losses. Adding a "de" to his name, he has become immortal as Daniel Defoe, author of the great story, "Robinson Crusoe".

Whereas we are always interested to learn about the unusual, we sometimes lose sight of the importance of the more

FAMILIAR FIGURES REMINISCING HITS THE TOP

SOMETIMES DRESSED in a regulation policeman's uniform, and then again, dress-uniform, and then again dress-"Ham" Mayfield, a stern and yet congenial fellow when you get to know him, may always be counted on to hold down the door at the majority of dances given by or for the sepia-tinted populace.

His popularity in this regard may be laid to the fact that "Ham" sort of "fits in" with the preconceived notions of the sponsors or promoters to the extent that he doesn't go for any foolishness.

He takes care of the so-called "gate crashers" and the tough guys as well. He does it in a smooth sort of way, without attracting attention — there isn't any comeback, or going to see the head man about getting in. All in all, "Ham" is a handy fellow to have around. He knows all the tricks of the "gate crasher" and yet he gets this pest told in such a way that the would-be trouble-maker is satisfied about not getting in.

Mayfield is a hefty fellow of about five-eight, but doesn't ordinarily go in for the strong-arm stuff — that is, of course, if you are a pretty nice fellow and go about your business in an up-and-up sort of way.

Yes, when "Ham" is on the door, the dance is a financial success — if enough dance lovers expect to get in.

IT WAS one night last June that we went out to Bohemian Gardens. The Missus had to serve in the ticket office for a scheduled "battle of bands". On the way, we never expected to see and hear what turned out to be a real spectacle.

This so-called "battle of bands" was the appearance of Jimmy Dorsey and Floyd Ray. In reality, it proved to be a personal triumph for Ray. Dorsey's musicians had made for themselves a swell record, while Ray was a comparative unknown who organized a 15-piece orchestra in San Diego.

Subsequent proceedings on the stand left little doubt in the minds of a full house that Ray really "had something". Before the time for dancing arrived and Ray's aggregation was getting warmed up, one of Floyd's associates came over and began extolling his pal, giving us a miniature history of the band leader, his ups and downs, etc.

It seems that Ray had come West from Chicago, landed in San Diego. After a time he secured a short contract with a San Diego hotel. At the completion of the contract in the sea-side city, the little maestro came to Los Angeles and played several engagements here. The Bohemian Gardens affair proved to be his most successful at the time.

At intermission we met the band leader. He was seeking some one to back and manage his aggregation, which included a male soloist and trio. We had heard from the associate who talked with us previously how Ray stood with his group. Whatever he said, "went", and there seemed to be a bound stronger than that of master and servant.

We got right chummy with the whole group, mainly because one of the musicians playde some years ago in the Tuskegee Institute band under the tutelage of Capt. Frank E. Drye, bandmaster, while we were doing a little trumpet tooting in the same outfit.

They were like "one big, happy family", and the next week we devoted a column to the Ray appearance at the Gardens, during which they actually clicked to a greater extent than did Dorsey.

Subsequently the band headed East. In the last few months we have seen where they were a decided hit in Chicago, the mite maestro's home town, and just last week, took Washington, D. C. dance lovers by storm.

It all proves that if you stick with something you like long enough, do it well, and just have a few of the so-called "breaks", you are liable to be catapulted to great heights.

SINCE IT seems we are throwing bouquets this week, we might just as well make a good job of it.

As long as we can remember, Eddie Anderson has always been considered by this pillar as one of the better comics. He got a "break" in one musical, "Lucky Day", which definitely stamped him as a find. Then followed years during which Eddie seemed to keep out of the public eye. He accepted jobs in various night clubs, a feature of floor shows, and appeared in theartes from time to time, but the real opportunity never seemed to come his way.

Lately he has been seen in the flickers, and more recently than that, he has been heard on the Jack Benny program over the networks and that has been his real opportunity.

The fast-rising comedian left

Pickens Takes "The Whipping Post" to Task

By WILLIAM PICKENS for ANP

We hear much these days about some culprit being condemned by some judge to be publicly flogged,--and when we read that the one who is to be flogged, is some fellow who has beaten up his wife, we have the natural feeling that we would like to flog him ourself,--and we are inclined to let it go at that. But let us examine the logic and the wisdom of this matter. Tyranny and degradation often slip unperceived upon a people, because they are so likely to act on primary animal feelings rather than to exercise their human intelligence. If the State stoops to the brutality of the individual, will that disgrace such brutality or dignify and partally justify it?

Just how much better does it look for the all-powerful state to flog an individual human than for some big brute man to flog his weaker wife? But he deserves it, comes the easy answer. That is, however, not the sole consideration: he deserves much worse than that. The question is not what the culprit "deserves" but what the rest of Society can afford. Let us pursue such logic or eye-for eye justice to its end. Suppose some fiend gouged out his victim's eyes: could the state afford to gouge out his eyes in revenge? Would that do more harm or more good? When a human fiend throws acid in another person's face, should the judge order acid thrown into the eyes of that fiend? Any one can go on with such cases in his own mind, and will see that such a course would simply make society itself the biggest Brute among all the lesser brutes.

Of course, something ought to be done, and will be, when a man beats his wife or when a woman beats up her husband, as sometimes happens. But there are plenty of things, quite effective, that can be done without degrading society and attacking the dignity of humanhood itself. It may give a man plenty of pain to be flogged because he flogged somebody else, but it will not convince him of what a nasty, inhuman, beastly business it is to maltreat a human in that way, and to make such a cowardly attack upon human dignity and self-respect. And altho it may cause some feeling of "sweet revenge" in the little mind of the persons against whom this man committed his outrage, we doubt that it does any real good to that other persons.

For example, in a recent case, when a woman's husband had been flogged publicly and painfully by the strong armed sheriff under judgement of the court, she only exulted: "They ought to have given him a hundred more!" Which shows that the flogging did not help her any.

WOMEN

In the News

SYNDICATED

Somewhere in America, smilingly confident or breathlessly unsure, are nearly two million women—scheduled, according to statistical averages, to be married before December 31, 1938.

In April, should only 200,000 bachelors decide to relinquish that status, it will be a slow month indeed in the nation's marriage marts. And if a mere quarter of a million dream girls—young and old, black and white, representing every race, color and creed, say, "I do!" at altar, parsonage or wicket, the averages for the period will be no better than par.

Ensuing months, however, will tell a different tale, for orange blossom time is at hand. Springtime, for centuries on end, has announced itself in a flurry of good wishes, old shoes, showers of rice, and high hopes for happines ever after!

But the uncompromising fact-finders, relentlessly grinding out their statistical grist, dash those hopes with the chilling announcement that some two hundred thousands of this year's newly-weds will fail literally to live up to their wedding day promises—and fail, consequently, to find the story book finale of happiness. For two hundred thousands, the final chapter will be written in the divorce courts!

Big Business is occupying Hollywood's attention these days in front of the camera as well as behind it.

An "industrial cycle" is in full career, and nearly every major studio is busy glorifying at least one romantic form of commercial trade.

The vast Alaskan salmon industry, for instance, and the pirates that prey upon it, backlight the rugged story of Paramount's "Spawn of the North".

"Men With Wings", directed by William Wellman, the man who did the early "Wings", traces the entire history of flying and plane manufacture in Technicolor from the time of the Wright Brothers, while "Test Pilot" confines itself to aviation's production department of today.

MGM is preparing "Northwest Passage", saga of the fur industry.

"The Texans", with Randolph Scott and Joan Bennett, deals with the Texas cattle business following the Civil War.

Paramount writers are working on the script of "Ruler of the Seas", story of the Cunard line and the development of steamships. And "Racing Form", starring George Raft, is a picture dealing with the "inside" of race tracks and bookmaking business.

"Alexander's Ragtime Band", at Fox, follows the growth of the song writing industry from the inception of jazz.

Producers point out that industrial themes are "naturals" for movie plots, since they provide conflict of the sort that audiences in this highly industralized civilizaton understand best.

STOP THE PRESS

IT COULD ONLY HAPPEN IN HOLLYWOOD . . . that ALEXANDER'S RAGTIME BAND, a 20th Century-Fox production . . . now holding an all-time record for JINX pictures, because so MANY of its stars have fallen victim to accidents . . . does NOT HAVE A SINGLE NEGRO PLAYER (except Les Hite's orchestra) featured in its cast!

My opinion is that it should and . . . here's the payoff:

Irving Berlin . . . like Irving Mills and George Gershwin . . . made his fame and fortune from the inspiration of Negro actors. His first songs were inspired by Bert Williams, Avery and Hart. Will Marion Cook he called his "daddy" . . . and everybody knows that it was Will Vodrey who gave his tunes their grand arrangements with Negro flavor.

Why . . . back in 1923, Berlin's Music Box revue was so definitely sepia that LIBBY HOLMAN had to be browned to do her numbers. But . . . what has that to do with Alexander's Ragtime Band? . . . Just this: Alexander's Ragtime Band typifies the strolling minstrels of the south. Musically, the film version presents a cycle of Berlin tunes, most of which were made famous by Negroes. Fancy . . . or can you fancy . . . Alice Faye singing SUPER TIME as Ethel Waters introduced it in AS THOUSANDS CHEER!

Now it may not prove to be a jinx lifter but is will afford a bit more authenticity to Alexander's Ragtime Band to cast SOME Negro artists in feature parts . . . in recognition of Irving Berlin's MAKERS.

. . . AVON LONG is reported SIGNED by RKO for some future pic before he entrained for New York Monday . . . Flash: Emerson (Sax) Scott and his former Wave Cafe Orchestra of Long Beach, Calif., open uptown at the Paradis Cafe for an unlimited engagement.

Emerson and his band have been featured down in Long Beach for the past three years at the Wave Cafe where the band became the pride of this fair City.

Scott who is a fine leader, arranger and singer is also very versatile on the saxaphone, which he is known among the Musicians throughout the Country. His organizatoin consists of seven "Cats" who are all master musicians.

Scott's opening night at the Paradise was one of the most beautiful ovations bestowed upon any orchestra of "Color" in this Vicinity in many years.

The line-up is as follows: Brass Red (trumpet) Mack, Reeds-Emerson (alto. sax.) Scott, Jack (alto-baritone sax) McVea and U. C. (ten. sax.) Banks. The rhythmthm section, Herb (piano) Williams, Alton (drums) Redd, and Johnny (bass) Miller.

Flash: Dootsie (trumphet) Williams and his band which was one reason for such large attendance at the Sunday night Basketball games at the Elks Hall will no longer swing for the dance lovers because of the back salary owed the band by the "high-wired" backers of these Sunday night games. —Freddy Flash: Congratulations to the three Brown sisters on their splendid Coast to Coast program which takes place every Sunday night from 6:30 to 7 p. m. over Station KHJ. Tune in, you radio fans and don't forget to drop these little ladies of Rythm a fan letter, which you know is very important to fine programs of this kind.

BOB PARRISH IN TRIUMPHANT RETURN FROM AUSTRALIAN CONCERT TOUR

Booked for London in September Following Cross Country Appearances

By H. F. C.

Bob Parrish, baritone who entered the concert spotlight after winning a Major Bowes amateur prize and skyrocketed to a definite place in the coast sun, is home again . . . to be off again. Parrish returned from a ten-month's concert tour of Australia and New Zealand Monday morning on the S. S. Mariposa of the Mattson Steamship Line, and was breathless in recounting the royal way in which he was received abroad.

"Australia is the country, if you want to get ahead on the basis of ability . . . if you've got something to give and they think you're okay, they'll give you anything," the young singer told an EAGLE reporter at the Wilmington harbor . . . And evidently, they gave Bob plenty!

Weighted with gifts for friends here and exhibiting all the enthusiasm of a child with his first Christmas tree, answering calls of friends from the Mariposa and the embrace of his mother, Bob was as unassumingly happy as the day he embarked . . . and with good reason. What with a four thousand dollar income for the year's work chalked up against the half hundred he left here with last April 30; a three-weeks engagement which opened at the Orpheum last night; a cross-country itinerary which begins in late June or early July; and a New York appearance that leads to London! Any artist would be happy.

Australians from aboard the Mariposa and Americans returning home voluntarily came to friends and reporters with laudations about the stellar performances of "such a fine boy". One couple on a world tour announced that their trip was arranged to be in London by September in time to hear Bob's concert there; a troup of actors voiced their appreciation through their leader, "He was a big hit . . . well liked, and a fine boy".

Parrish's tour was under the management of Cohen of the Orpheum and sponsored by the Tivoli Theatre chain. He was first encouraged by Floyd Covington, of the Urban league, and spurred to compete in amateur circles; his professional career began with booking on the Orpheum program two years ago.

le blanc's 20-piece band at tivoli tonight

If you saw that big 20-piece band of youngsters in the picnic scenes of "Porgy and Bess", you will want to see it again when it is featured on the stage of the Tivoli theatre tonight. Prof. Le Blanc's boy and girl band has been secured as a musical treat to the Tivoli patrons following their policy of presenting novel features at their regular Thursday night's shows.

In the talented organization are also clever singers and dancers who will add to the novelty.

As another special added feature, the talented Billbrew Twins who were lauded by theatrical critics for their part with the Duncan Sisters' "Topsy and Eva" company at the Egyptian theatre several years ago, will be presented with Kittie Jean at the piano.

ON THE AIR..... .....AND IN IT

By Sally Bell for ANP

CHICAGO—Last Sunday after we had eaten dinner and were lounging around indulging in rather desultory conversation, I noticed that we had not turned the radio off after Charlie McCarthy, and that we were in the midst of a program that sounded like a cross between the Peters Sisters and the Boswell Sisters.

When the program was over, we listened attentively to learn who the gals were who could kick rhythms around with such mellow harmony, and were agreeably surprised when the announcer said, "You have been listening to the BROWN SISTERS--three colored girls--Thelma, Melba and Vera".

You may remember that these three sisters were first brought to New York from California as proteges of Ethel Waters.

If you were lucky, enough to hear them, I know you sat right down and contributed your bit to the fan mail campaign which never ceases. If you didn't, just tune in next Sunday (I hope it'll be repeated) immediately after Charlie McCarthy. Their work was well worth listening to.

Swing fans have created a new set of terms and words to identify this new national craze as something that is here to sway (I mean stay) for a long time. Each day a new expression is added to the new swing language. For instance, the other day, I learned that "shave off the beard," translated into English (or American) means "brush off the welcome mat." But what I started to say is that swing fans' term for clarinet is "agony-pipe" or "licorice stick", but Benny Goodman, whose Tuesday night radio programs do more to make the world swing-conscious than any other person or program, always calls his favorite instrument a clarinet. ("Hang this swing slang," sez he.)

Here 'n' there . . . the Howard University Glee club is singing on the blue net-work of the National Broadcasting company every Saturday night at 7:45 E. S. T. . . Chick Webb stays four more weeks on his first "ofay" nite spot at Levaggi's in Boston, not leaving until April 17 . . . Earl Hines plays Temple Roof, Baton Rouge, La., April 18 . . . Duke Ellington (whom, incidentally, we heard tonite, and who was very, very lovely) wrote the entire score for his new Cotton club show, and will record it for Brunswick . . . Billie Holliday has quit Count Basie's band for Artie Shaw as vocalist . . . Lionel Hampton, now vibraphonist with the Benny Goodman quartet (and a darn good vibraphonist at that!) is being propositioned by Joe Glaser and Rockwell-O'Keefe to form his own band.

world appeal stressed for new pictures

Motion pictures with universal appeal will be emphasized by Hollywood producers during the year that is already well on its way, Adolph Zukor, head of Paramount, declared today.

The history of motion pictures reveals that while a great number of players have come from the United States, other nations have contributed heavily.

Paramount has Isa Miranda of Italy, Franciska Gaal of Hungary, Olympe (O-Lamp) Bradna of France, Ray Milland of England, Georges Rigaud of South America, Colin Tapley of Australia, and Tito Guizar of Central America.

At other studios are Simone Simon of France, Madeleine Carroll and Leslie Howard of England, Luise Rainer of Austria, Charles Boyer and Fernand Gravet of France, Norma Shearer of Canada and Francis Lederer of Czecho-Slovakia, all prominent in the films.

This week Paramount launched its "Paramount on Parade Around the World", a campaign that will call attention to the studio's product.

n. y. guild tells expansion plan at meet

—By LOU LANE—

NEW YORK.—Its groundwork substantially laid, and finances for office overhead assured by the returns of its successful inaugural ball, the Negro Actors Guild of America launched its first membership drive Sunday at a meeting of more than a hundred charter members at the Rhythm Club. Plans discussed also included the first annual memorial drive, with April 3 set as the tentative date.

Mrs. Edna Thomas, chairman of the membership committee, outlined the campaign whereby the drive will be conducted, and explained that since the guild had reached the stage where it could begin to branch out, the time was opportune for the launching of such a drive.

PLAN IS TOLD

"People throughout the country have become acquainted with the work we have set forth to do," she said "and are anxious to lend their support to the humanitarian and cultural program before us. We haven't opened this drive before because we did not want to do things prematurely. It is quite evident that we have reached the stage where we may expand with confidence."

Principles of the guild, she further explained, consist of forming a substantial link betweeen the layman and those in the theatre. Because of the difficulty of having an organization for actors completely staffed by actors, laymen must form the backbone of such a group. Performers, she continued, are als way in and out of town, while responsible laymen with the interest of the actor at heart are the ideal persons to keep things intact. "For this reason," Miss Thomas continued, "the layman forms a most integral part of the guild's set-up."

Negro federal players are ready for opening of century-old opera

"Fra Diavolo," 110-year-old comic opera about an Italian bandit, composed by a Frenchman and sung in English by an all-Negro cast of Federal Music Project artists, will open at the Belasco Theatre on Friday evening, April 1, for a ten day run.

Francois Auber's opera, long in the discard, scored a smash hit a year ago when the Music Project presented its all-Negro version of the work, with modernized staging, costuming and direction by Emile de Recat. Dr. Alois Reiser will again be musical director of the producton, which includes a spectacular ballet, as well as a chorus of 50 voices trained by Carlyle Scott.

CAST

Jewel Smith will sing the title role of Diavolo. Others in the cast are James Miller as Lorenzo, Daniel Scott and Mayme Titus as Lord and Lady Allcash, Septimus Silas as Matteo the innkeeper, Bernice Randolph as Zurlina his daughter, with Siebert Hannibal and John Williams as Beppo and Giacomo, henchmen of Diavolo.

star hungers but not for romance -- wants lunch!

Director George Archainbaud today was rehearsing Dorothy Lamour and Ray Milland in an intimate little love scene on the set of "Her Jungle Love" in Palm Canyon.

The director passionately declaimed the love-laden lines, demonstrated just the required shading of inflection, just the appropriate caresses.

Ray Milland, who is English, watched with fascination the performance of Archainboud, who is French. Miss Lamour got that faraway look in her eyes.

"Ah!" said Archainbaud, "She's in the mood, now. Let's go."

Said Miss Lamour: "I'm hungry!"

"african holiday" screens at grand theatre tomorrow

Described in advance reports as a thrilling camera record, "African Holiday" will open an engagement at the Grand theatre.

"African Holiday" was filmed by Harry C. Pearson, retired business man of Los Angeles, who made an 11,000-mile trip through the heart of the Dark Continent.

Strange people, strange animals and stranger customs are said to make "African Holiday" an existing film odyssey. Among the high lights are first photographs of the giant tribe of Latukas, whose smallest member is seven feet tall; the rare okapi, one of the most valuable animals on earth; the weird dance of the snake brotherhood, and the "unbelievable" blood-drinking ceremony of the savage Sasai tribe.

floyd ray to appear at new york theatre

Floyd Ray and his 18 Hollywood Californians have been signed by Manager Frank Schiffman of the Apollo theatre in New York for a week's engagement beginning March 25. Deal was set by Floyd Ray's personal manager, Reg. D. Marshall.

The Apollo engagement will mark the official eastern debut of his western band and all Harlem is eagerly awaiting the appearance of America's greatest entertaining colored orchestra.

Floyd Ray will feature all his stellar entertainers including Joe Alexander, Johnny Alston, those three girls, Ivy Vern and Von, the Floyd Ray Glee club and all the favorites.

Reg. D. Marshall manager of the Floyd Ray band has established offices in New York City at 17 E. 4th St and will conduct the booking of the band from that address.

The band recently played to 25004 paid admissions at the Trianon Ballroom in Cleveland, Ohio.

Other towns which will play the band prior to their New York engagement include white and colored dances at Columbus, Chillicothe, Lorain, Akron and Youngstown.

Floyd Ray and his boys and girls will stay in the east for about two months before returning to the middle west and far west for a tour of return engagements.

maxine sullivan marries

NEW YORK, (ANP)—Miss Maxine Sullivan, the lass who has sky rocketed into prominence through her unique swinging of Scotch ballads became a bride last week when he married John Kiby, who leads the band at Club Onyx where Miss Sullivan sings.

Miss Sullivan, whose real name is Marriette Williams and who hails from Homestead, Pa., is 26. Mr. Kirby, a native Baltimorean is 29. The couple are at home at 2040—7th avenue.

players flee as film lion loses temper

Nearly 40 persons staged a panic in a Paramount still gallery today when Jackie, famous movie lion, threatened to go berserk at the sight of a bleating lamb.

A chair, backed by a revolver loaded with blanks, and an axe handle in the hands of Mel Koontz, trainer, brought Jackie under control. The only injuries were skinned shins and sundry bruises to persons attempting to get out of the galleries.

The incident occurred while several girl contract players from Paramount's College Swing were being photographed with Jackie. The same girls were later to be photographed with the lamb. However, the lamb arrived in the gallery before the lion had left and photographers, publicity men and chorus girls found that the old Biblican quotation about a lion lying down with a lamb inside of the lion, even though Jackie is the tamest lion in the world.

Attracted by the bleats of the lamb, the lion, gearing his tawny head, looked about quickly and spotted the lamb just as Koontz grabbed the chair. Jackie crouched to spring but Koontz was too fast for him. After a few tense moments and commands and brandishing chairs, Jackie was brought under control.

Chorus girls, still photographers, and all the others present went out doors and windows, crawled under tables and dived over davenports.

The man bearing the lamb still swears he made a new door in the front wall of the gallery.

THEATRE of the A-I-R

OTIS BARNARD, versatile scripter, has turned in a bang-up yarn chock full of humor and homey philosophy for tonight's broadcast of "Shout Hallelujah", an all-Negro show produced weekly by the Federal theatre radio unit.

Tonight's episode, the fourth in the series being aired by KFWB and the California Radio System is entitled "Daniel in the Lion's Den". Parson Sabbath exhorts his people to trust in the Lord and pray as Daniel prayed.

Fifteen minutes of delightful entertainment is promised by the all-Negro cast and 25-voice choir.

SATURDAY

A clever, fast-moving script by Ona Barrota is the basis for today's "Spotlight Drama" aired by Federal Theatre of the Air from KFVD at 4:15.

Entitled "The Sharpest Pencil," Miss Barrota's play deals with the divorce problem and how it affects children of families who are broken up.

attachment fails to hold nat towles and his ork in arkansas dance jangle

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (ANP)—Armed with a writ of attachment, an ex-dance promoter and constable of Hot Springs trailed Nat Towles 90 miles into Hope, Ark., where the writ was served for Towles failing to play a dance in Hot Springs in a dance hall Sunday, termed as "a hole in the ground".

Arriving in Hot Springs Sunday morning, Nat went to look the dance hall over. Not liking the spot and finding the promoter unable to put up the $100 guarantee, he refused to play the engagement. As he was ready to leave for Shreveport where the orchestra was to play an engagement the next night, the owner of the Grand Terrace stopped the orchestra and engaged it to play for her at her nite club.

All efforts to stop the dance failed.

After leaving Hot Springs in route to Shreveport, the promoter and constable holding a writ of attachment left behind the band stopping them in Hope.

The court in Hope ruled the constable and writ were out of their teritory and refused to hold or turn the band over to them. Returning to Hot Springs with out their man, the ex-promoter had charges of receiving money under false pretense filed against Nat's boking agent and all persons concerned with his or the other dance, claiming $150 damage. The suit was thrown out.

waters may be in musical

NEW YORK, (ANP)—Plans are being developed for a first rank musical in which Ethel Waters, (above), and Buck and Bubbles will take leading roles. The play, which would be a musical version of S. N. Behrman's "Serena Blandish," already has half the score written by the late George Gershwin, with Vernon Duke finishing it. Vincente Minelli is mentioned to design and produce the show. Others mentoned for the cast are Maxine Sullivan, Ruby Elzy and Jimmy Daniels.

pinkston's band makes record in chinese cafe

THE MANDARIN INN is one of those swanky Chinese restaurants located in the aristocratic white neighborhoods catering exclusively to white trade in Memphis, Tenn. It has been the policy of the management to keep a colored band there even over the protest of the white musicians after they asked that the cafe be denied the right to broadcast its programs nightly over station WNBR. Tommy Pinkston and his band, there for seven years were featured over the ether nightly until the Mandarin was forced to give up the air or hire a white orchestra. The management gave up broadcasting.

The cafe was formerly owned and operated by Won Kop, but it is now under the management of L. C. Soon. Tommy Pinkston and his Eight Dots of Swing are very popular with the white patrons of the cafe and they will tell you instantly that Benny Goodman has nothing on Tommy and the boys.

The band is made up of Andrew Chaplin, percussion and vocalist; Roscoe Weathers, alto saxophone; Ernest Crawford, bass, trombone and vocalist; Willie Harvey, tenor sax; Alvin Mathias, sax and clarinet; Walter Nelson, piano; James-Johnson, trumpet and Tommy Pinkston, director, vocalist, violin, cello, guitar and banjo.

An eastern booking concern is trying to enlarge the band to tour but the Mandarin Inn says "no can spare Tommiee now."

plan all-negro chicago picture company

The above group of Chicagoans met last week at the home of A. L. Foster, executive secretary local Urban League, to meet David A. Lundy, president of the Sunset Picture Company, Hollywood, Calif., who came to Chicago to establish a studio devoted exclusively to the making of all-Negro movies. The projected studio plans to develop actors and actresses, directors, cameramen, scenario writers and other movie specialists.

In a short talk, Lundy pointed out the marvelous opportunity such a program afforded the race in forcefully and repeatedly presenting to the rest of the world the better side of Negro life--a side he felt, so little known or understood it was responsible for much of the race oppression and lack of equal employment opportunity.

Mr. Lundy estimated that Chicago theatres alone drained $4.-000.000 annually from Negro patrons—None of which ever found its way back under present conditions but that once Sunset Pictures was well on its way, the bulk of this $4.000.000 annual expenditure would return to the community enriching all.

It was emphasized that Sunset Pictures, in embarking upon this enterprise, was merely opening a gate, heretofore closed, leading into this virgin field of race advancement and self sufficiency, and that for its ultimate and complete success, it depended entirely upon the wholehearted cooperation and support of civic minded groups and individuals.

actor hides his screen villainy from little girl

For fear that she might get the wrong impression of him, J. Carrol Naish, screen villain, never has permitted his little daughter, Elaine, to see him in a motion picture.

She knows him only as a home loving daddy who brings her candy and dolls, and tells her fairy stories.

Naish today, on the "Tip-Off Girls" set at Paramount, revealed with considerable amusement how Elaine yesterday at school engaged in a hair-pulling encounter when another juvenile of her age, more familiar with the characters the actor plays, accused her of having a "bad man" for a father.

Gray Artists to End Concert Series April 3

What promises to be a brilliant climax to the Artist Series sponsored by the Gray Conservatory of Music this winter is the final program to be given at the Masonic Hall, 1050 E. 50th Street, Sunday afternoon, April 3rd. The six artists who will be heard include Clarence Hargrave, dramatic reader; Leola Longress, soprano; Victoria Rice, violinist; Diette Gross, artistic whistler; Norris J. Stokes, Jr., baritone and Robert V. Edwards, pianiste.

Season subscribers will be admitted upon presentation of their cards. General admission is 50 cents.

SUNDAY

"Cain and Abel—The First Brothers" is the opus to be aired by Federal Theatre of the Air troupers via KFAC this afternoon from 2 to 2:30 in its weekly series of church dramas, "Living Portrait's From The Bible".

SLUMS MUST GO

The special session of the legislature passed the long prayed for housing act and instead of invoking his famous pocket veto as he did the measure passed at the regular session, Governor Merriam gave this measure his blessing. same.

A meeting should be held among our group to spur prompt action in taking advantage of available funds as well as location of structure.

California law has put an O. K. on covenants, restricted areas, etc., hence it behooves our group to act and act quickly before the funds have depleted to such a low ebb that little or nothing is left, which holds true as to location.

The California Eagle in its fight for the rights and privileges of our people has battled for better housing and the right to live wherever we choose, has led the van in every effort to obtain our right to enjoy the best standards of living.

The housing bill offers the race equal opportunity, so don't sit idly by and after being shut out in the cold by sheer neglect, cry when the fault is all your own.

ACT!!

DISCRIMINATION IN CIVIL SERVICE

Speaking of discrimination in civil service and on public works projects, we note where Lieutenant-Governor Hatfield, who, by the way, is a candidate for the gubernatorial chair, gives a detailed statement against this un-American practice. He cites instances where he has actively gone to the bat to eliminate the practice. However, despite the Hatfield effort, the Negro is still on the outside looking in, so far as State Civil Service is concerned and also state works projects.

If the Lieutenant-Governor or any other official who believes in a fair square deal for all citizens will dig up the root of this evil it will remove a great source of annoyance and injustice.

First of all, eliminate having to state race on civil service application which is a plain admission that if one is a Negro there's nothing doing, and then heave "oral" exams into the trash can and the evils complained of from which colored citizens suffer, will pass into discard.

Who is responsible for this statement of race when filing for examination, and why? Don't all speak at once! We'd like to know. Then, too, no candidate who will not work to have this nasty statement eliminated from requirements of applicants does not deserve, and should not receive the votes and support of fair-minded citizens.

THE "TIMES" AT IT AGAIN

Inflaming the minds of the public and prospective jurors by garbling reports and distorting facts, the Los Angeles Times leads off in the case of George Farley, Negro.

Sick, and brooding over being evicted from a home he had slaved 14 years to pay for, Farley, in a fit of insanity seized a rifle and killed two deputies armed with papers to evict him because of a $36.00 debt owed on a street assessment.

The Times, as usual when a Negro is involved, not only garbled a report of the preliminary hearing but falsely stated facts produced at the hearing.

In an effort to make things as black as possible for Farley, it stated that the cause that brought about the eviction service was failure on the part of the defendant to pay past due rent at $7.50 per month.

The Times' scribe had his back turned when it was brought out that thru a street assessment bond sale the property was bought in for $29.66, after which the purchasers tried to re-sell the property to Mr. Farley for $1100. And thus the fires are being staked by the rich and powerful to send this poor old man whose years are few at the longest period, to the lethal gas chamber or imprison him for the remainder of his few days on earth.

However, every legal means will be exhausted to see that the unfortunate Farley is given a fair, square deal for which a defense committee has been organized to raise funds and work to that end. Give, and give freely to this worthy cause.

HAWKINS WINS AGAIN

Assemblyman Augustus F. Hawkins, of the 62nd district, reports from Sacramento that the special legislative session just closed has been highly successful to the interests of his constituency. Housing bills which he sponsored at the regular session but which were vetoed were again introduced by Mr. Hawkins at the special session and were passed. Providing for the creation of a local Housing Commission by the city, real power to undertake slum clearance, low-rent housing, to build and improve entire communities, to plan parks, playgrounds, health clinics and nurseries, is provided by this social legislation that will materially add to the health and happiness and general welfare of the people of this state.

THE CHURCH WINKS AT MOB MURDER

It may seem like skating on ice too thin to be safe to charge that the Church winks at mob murder. That cause a "rise" out of some of the gentry of the cloth or their followers.

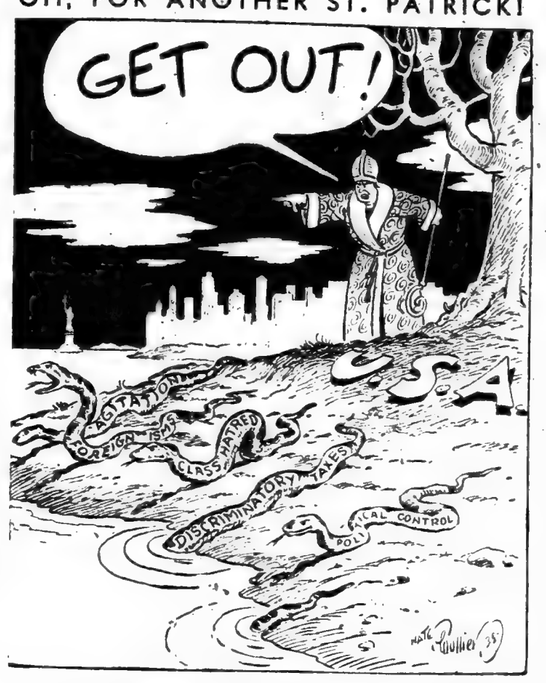
Be that as it may, on the face of the evidence before us, the Church stands guilty as charged.

First of all, we'll take a glance at the evils that have and are now being stubbornly fought by the Church.

Prohibition received the outspoken support of the Church, financial and otherwise. It meant defeat of any candidate in the height of the "bootleg" regime to speak in favor of legalizing the sale of liquor. And today, that organized group is shouting just as lustily from the house-tops: "Down with Demon Rum" as in the days past.

Gambling, Sunday sports and theatres are under the constant fire of those who pose as followers and representatives of the Lowly Nazarene.

The late, lamented William Jennings Bryan fought the charge of a Dixie school teacher so vigorously that man sprang from monkeys that he died from the exertion. Thru that memorable battle the white religious world was vigorously applauding from every nook and corner of this Land of Christian Brotherhood.



On the other hand, when a Negro charged with an offense, was slowly seared into a mass of human charcoal by a mob, many of whom doubtless professed a belief in Christ and His teachings!—— did the Church speak out in a chorus condemning this inhuman atrocity? No! Not a mumbling word save from the Negro pulpit and pew.

A bill to curb such fiendish acts was talked to death before the United States Senate, but no united demand went forth from the Church urging passage of such a law. It is believed that defense of the measure from that source would have saved the day for the bill.

Viewed from this angle, the white man's Church stands guilty as accused.

UKELELES AND AIR BASES

The serene waters of the Pacific are ruffled today by conflicting claims of two great sovereignties, the United States and Great Britain. Challenging Great Britain's claim to two strategic islands in the South Pacific, President Roosevelt has ordered the Department of Interior to place them under its jurisdiction. Colonization is under way. Claims and counterclaims have been hurled back and forth over the ownership of these tiny specks of earth in the Pacific ever since American whalers first visited them a century ago. No romantic interest, but a desire to utilize these islands for air and naval bases prompts the United States to bring them formally into the fold of America's Pacific possessions. Long famed in song, play and story as dreamy, moon-swept isles where the murmur of the surf melts with the mellow twang of the ukelele, the peaceful face of South Sea islands are today acquiring a grimly business-like wrinkle.

"GREATEST ERA"

A former Michigan farm boy who got his start in life as a machine-shop helper at $2.50 a week, cast an appraising look over America with a shrewd, well-seasoned pair of 75-year old eyes a few days ago. Surveying its dramatic growth, Henry Ford predicted not only an early upsurge in business, but the coming of "the greatest era the world has ever known". He cited technological progress as the greatest factor in achieving the birth of this second Renaissance. We hope Mr. Ford is right. Technology is a powerful labor-saving instrument, but first America must master that instrument so millions can welcome, not fear, what achievements it may bring!

MYSTERY FOG

A weird phenomenon which has left science baffled and brought terror to the civilian population, has again been laying its deathly pall over sections of Belgium while terrified citizens flee to the churches and importune the heavens to grant them safety from the "poison fog". Last time the sinister yellow waves rolled over villages in Liege and "the death valley of the Meuse" occurred in 1930, when its mysterious fumes killed 63 persons and choked to death an unnumbered number of cattle. No one knows from whence these billows of poisonous vapors come. Nor does the panic-stricken populace possess any weapon against these noxious fumes save hastily built chains of bonfires which help drive the "fog" upward. Possibly these yellow "fogs" carry fumes from swamps. No one knows. Against the mysterious phenomenon, helpless citizens lay siege with prayers and flickering bonfires while science remains wonderingly mute.

AMERICA'S NEW KING

Silence falls upon the gym rafters of America this week as lightning-winged basketball bows itself out for another year, and no more wild cheers surge upward to steel-girded ceilings. From Winter's chill cloak of snow and rain, baseball diamonds are emerging over the nation, and soon the cry of "Play ball!" and the sizzling crack of bats whamming against cowhide, will go sweeping across the land through spring and summer. King Baseball's crown no longer rests as perkily on his head as in former times.

Judge Lynch Indicted

(From March 9, issue of the Christian Science Monitor)

Book News of the Day

It is a fortunate Negro who, when the lynch passions are roused, is merely hanged. Frank Shay in "Judge Lynch" makes this fact stick by a series of perhaps too numerous but unshrinking studies of America's institution of lynchng. Revolting were the tortures practced by the Borgias and by the savages of Darkest Africa, and we hear appalling accounts of concentration camps. But Shay insists the fury of the lynch mobs in Mississippi, Georgia, and Texas holds a unique place in the history of barbarism. Lynching is frequently analyzed as expressive of the American predisposition to violent action of which hirsute patriots occassionally speak with pride. It is not without import, however, that this national boldness has vented itself upon the lone victim more readily than it has upon the more numerous lynch mob and upon the political forces that support it.

Shay tells what should be an incredible story of humanity's inhumanity to man, of perverted justice, of press venality, and of the averted eyes of the respectable public. American lynch law has claimed 5,112 victims, sometimes for serious crimes, sometimes because a Negro talked back to a white man, sometimes for unascertainable causes, and, in shocking numbers, victims of extreme tortures have posthumously been proved innocent. Americans, Mexicans, Negroes—all have gone down before the mob. Not until America's civilizing influence flowered in the insular possessions did these more primitive outposts experience a lynching. The rope, the torch, the whip, and the corkscrew have fitted the hands of the lynchers. Newspapers have rallied a crowd of 15,000 people from seven states to enjoy an American lynch holiday.

Shay finds no consolation in the fact that the number of lynchings has steadily decreased. Those remaining have grown increasingly horrible.

Col. Charles Lynch, later Judge Lynch, was the revolutionary Virginian patriot who sometimes, in order to preserve domestic discpine and to protect the colony from the Brtish, exceeded the limits of the law. Judge Lynch's restrained excesses do not justify the linking of his name with the monstrous progeny of summary justice, in the author's opinion. Maybe not, but there is a direct kinship between the lynch temperament and the arbitrariness of any person, who, through fanaticism or self-willed persuasion of his own rightness, would set aside the rules of evidence and orderly justice. Perhaps Judge Lynch took an inch and the lynch mob took the mile. Actually, however, no one man's precedent can bear the blame for passions so easily and numerously kindled. This book, gruesome but informative and courageous, leaves the field open for a more thoughtful analysis of the national cults and characteristics and their relation to lynching.

wise unpardonabe labor crime. For, denied by white unions, strike-breaking was in many cases the only employment open to them. Then again, in times of peace, the Negro was a great drawback, since he was forced to work for cheap wages and thus dragged down the entire standard. In many instances, employers used the threat of a change to cheap Race labor in order to stifle movements of their white workers. Then the extreme advisability of allowing the Negro equal membership in unions dawned upon white labor, and soon the colored man was freely admitted to many organizations, including unions of "The United Garment Workers", "United Mine Workers", "United Textile Workers", the Longshoremen, Hod Carriers, and Building Common Laborers.

Of course, this occurred only in those labor spheres wherein the colored worker held a balance of power and was really a serious threat — to this day he is not permitted in the higher, skilled workers unions. Also, the admittance of Negroes only took place outside the South.

In that area, time and tradition have so securely fixed the black man as an inferior being that any organization open to Negroes would face such a maelstrom of adverse public opinion that its very existence would be jeopardized. For instance, in Virginia some fifteen years ago, a union admitted Negroes to membership, although they were not allowed to meet in the same place with the whites or to take part in any of the organization's social activities. When that union sponsored a strike, the employers placed advertisements in the town's leading periodicals which asked the question, "Do You Believe in White Supremacy?" and quoted an article from a New York Communist paper which told of a mixed dance given by a Manhattan union that admitted colored. The strike was a miserable failure.

On the other hand, capital cannot use the threat of Negro labor because it is absolute unwritten law that colored people are not to be employed in certain occupations there.

However, when southern labor, which is seemingly in a state of lethargy, finally awakes, Negroes will be in a position to use the same strike-breaking wedge there that they used so successfully in other parts of the country.

Communist labor organizations, since they aim at a determined class struggle rather than mere bargaining for higher wages and shorter working hours, have always welcomed colored members. One of the greatest obstacles Negro labor faces is the success of capital in identifying in the minds of so many people Communism and race-equality as one and the same.

Experiments in separate unionization have been happy, but for the most part only in those industries in which the Negro is solely employed. A good example of successful separate organization is the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters which just recently has made many gains.

The colored professional worker is almost without exception tied to his Race. The lawyer, the doctor, the teacher — no matter how outstanding among the scholars of the WORLD — must bind himself to his race. In many cases, Negroes in the professions must give a good part of their service to those who have not the funds to pay. The majority, in varying degrees, function as miniature charitable institutions.

However, the two groups of Negroes who are faced with the greatest problem are the white collar workers and skilled craftesmen. Encouraged in the North and West to seek higher education and given social and political freedom, it has been the misfortune of thousands of expertly trained Negro boys and girls to find the same barriers, so far as employment is concerned, in Buffalo, New York, as they would in Birmingham, Alabama. Nor is this singularly incongruous attitude anything new under the sun. It is an old, old story. Throughout the history of the world an exploiting minority has always held disdain for the mental prowess of the exploited majority.

One of the Race's most difficult tasks is to dissuade thousands of honest, sincere Americans who firmly believe the obvious and easily disproved untruth that colored people are naturally dull and unfit for positions of trust.

To the young, educated Negro seeking employment in northern or western areas each place in which he applies represents a fearful mystery. In one, he may be treated with extreme courtesy and be led to believe that the only reason he is not given employment is that there is no available position. In another, he may be told that it is not the company's policy to hire Negroes; and in yet a third, he might be gruffly commanded to get out.

Due to these indiscriminatory practices in private business, the majority of employed Negro clerks are working in some branch of the government — particularly the Post Office, since in that department entrance is based upon civil service tests and not color. Although, of course, in many instances, even here Negroes have been most flagrantly discriminated against. Even, too, in the Post Office Department a Negro is known to go so far — no further.

A survey in 1930 showed that twenty-two international and national skill-craftsmen unions did not allow Negroes entrance by constitution, and the majority of other such organizations did not permit him thru an unwritten understanding. Hence in these higher, more desirable spheres the Negro is almost completely cut off, and cannot count upon the labor strife of manual workers which would permit him to use the strike-breaking wedge.

Then, again, in an open shop where he is able to get a job, the colored worker is always faced with the prejudice of his superiors and co-workers. Rising in private business to an executive position is well nigh impossible, and even if such a triumph is enjoyed by a Negro he has an incredibly difficult time to maintain his standing, since he is expected to exact the full quota of work from his subordinates and yet not step out of his "place" or attempt to "lord it" over them. Despite all these handicaps which a white executive would not have to face, the bosses will always watch a Negro's progress or retrogression very critically, and without fail will accredit the characteristics of the one individual to the entire race.

SO, IT is plain that rising in the skilled crafts or white collar work in white establishments is yet a thing of greatest difficulty and success may be expected only from geniuses and wizards. Hence, if we are to continue to educate our children for positions of trust and ability, we must see to it that there shall be places for them upon graduation from the temples of learning. And how can we do this? By giving ceaseless, determined support to Negro business and industry. We must not, as in the past, suffer ourselves to be taken in by the white man's own propaganda that the Negro is unfit for executive positions. There are too many glowing examples with which to disprove this theory for us to allow it to stand in our way of getting behind colored enterprise.

In the ranks of lower labor, our rise is inevitable — we hold the balance of power. In the higher crafts we are slowly progressing. But the great bulk of our trained young men and women will have to look to Negro business to give them a place fitting of their education. Hence, not to support Negro enterprise is treason against our own children!

WOMEN IN THE NEWS—

Spotlighting the fundamental cause for mounting divorce rates are other startling reports—whose statistical sources are not to be challenged—currently in the news. Their unequivocal answer is: Money! Arguments over regular housekeeping allowances; charges of selfish use of family income; the clink and clank of cold, hard cash, sounding its harsh, metallic note, creating the final discord—those, say the experts, are prevailing reasons for divorce!

Without question, the finding will evoke some astonishment. Many women—and men, too—will find it easier to concur in another statement in the matter, released by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt on the eve of her recent trip to California. "Varying codes of ethics and standards of conduct" is a chief reason for matrimonial smash-up, in the opinion of America's first lady. "Love", she said, "flies quickly, when respect is gone."

dred lashes instead of 19."--and went on to say that it was the sweetest joy of her life to have him flogged. The poor thing did not have the wisdom to see that such exultation put her on an exact plane with her husband, if not lower; for there is no proof anywhere that he might have rejoiced to see some third person beat her up. Her spirit demonstrated that the only difference between her and the man was a difference in strength; that he was just the bigger brute,--only a quantitative and by no means any qualitative difference.

In the Congo, in Kenya, in Nigeria and in South Africa, and occasionally in the back places of Mississippi, they flog humans. But civilized society cannot afford to treat a lawbreaker according to what he deserves, but according to the best interests of society, and in support of human dignity, without which life is not worth living.

SEVERAL NATIONS of the world, within the past two decades, have given their governments into the hands of dictators. In fact, the entire world tendency appears to be toward that type of state, and, in many countries where the change has taken place, economic conditions have been tremendously improved. Thus, the dictators, gloating over this triumph, have often challenged democracy to equal their record of swift internal reorganization.

As the world's leading republic, it is our duty to answer this challenge — else the dictators, smug in the success of their domestic programs, might finally convince even us that theirs is a better form of government. But first we must understand in what ways a democracy is always handicapped.

It is a sad, but true fact that of all the republics our offers the largest number of loopholes through which corruption and inefficiency may seep. This is because, perhaps, our republic was intended to be so directly in the hands of the people. It is a foregone conclusion that the great mass of Americans could not possibly have a clear picture of the hundreds of men and principles for or against whom they must vote annually. No matter how sincere a citizen may be, it is utterly impossible for him to know the principles of each man whose destiny rests upon the various city, state, and national elections.

So there has naturally grown up the modern party machine, which originally was intended to be merely an organization of citizens whose political beliefs were identical, and who exercised their franchise for the election of a common candidate. However, today, the party machine has become, in in many instances, simply a vote-controlling organization, not averse to bargaining with this or that local leader; obtaining, in exchange for promised patronage, a substantial bloc of votes. Also, great industrialists and financiers have found it exceeding helpful to their interests to contribute lavishly to various campaign funds. Hence, the common voter has become, in too many places, but a pawn, sold to the highest bidder.

Nor does this development entirely lack logic, for the majority of citizens have neither the time nor the inclination to make intense studies of our political structure, so they choose some community figure in whose integrity and intellect there is a common belief and rest with him their franchise. However, today, this voluntary confidence in certain political leaders has gone entirely out of bounds. The party machine has become apparently a more or less iron-bound dynasty, threatening loss of job or home to those who "step out of line".

In efficiency, a democracy suffers because it is so difficult to quickly adopt needed legislation. A brilliant statesman whose ideas perhaps would solve instantly a particular governmental problem is shackled by others of less ability or vision whose representative power equals or exceeds his own. The recent shelving of the anti-lynch bill is an example of how the nation's highest legislative body can be tied by a reactionary minority. Yet, of course, this may work both ways. On two occasions, America was saved from the most destructive legislation by a determined, filibustering minority. Hence, although it is my belief that cloture should be used once in a great while, I feel it is our duty as Americans to adhere to Voltaire's famous remark, "I wholly disapprove of what you say, but will defend to the death your right to say it".

But, the question remains, how may we solve this problem of inefficiency in government? By electing to Congress men and women of proven ability and integrity. And how can this be accomplished? By not following the arbitrary dictates of a party machine, but by constant, independent investigation of men's records; by intelligent perusal of the newspapers; by regular attendance at some sort of citizens' forum.

In fact, it is not impossible to resurrect the true purposes of the party-machine, and by intelligent, reorganization change it into an institution representative, not of a few individuals, but of the belief of great masses of Americans. This can be done, as many progressives in both parties point out, only through the abolishment of indifference and the return of a lively interest on the part of the common people. Government and party must cease to be detached, impersonal things, but institutions whose policies and welfare are understood by all. Business, labor, and industry may all find legitimate, not purchased,

LACK OF VISION HELD PERIL TO GROUP HERE

By Fay M. Jackson

Declaring that the needs of the Negro community here call for an enlightening program to lead them out of economic distress, Dr. J. C. Austin, one of the nation's most renowned evangelists, pastor of Chicago's $150,000 Pilgrim Baptist church, said in an interview today that they must organize on a cooperative basis and build from the ground up before any fundamental advancement is realized.

WAY OUT

Recounting his experiences in Los Angeles pulpits in various churches of the city that have been filled to capacity each time he spoke, Dr. Austin said: "Something is said in the overflow attendance at these meetings for they have been more than just an excitable following. I find a thirst for a message which points the way to a God who reveals himself to be a solution to problems on earth. Our people are ready to march if orders come.

"Since arriving in Los Angeles, I have conversed with the civic leaders in business, social and religious circles. Their feeling is that much can be done if

TEXANS BAR MARIAN ANDERSON AT HOTELS

DALLAS, March 31. (ANP)—Although white Texans jampacked McFarlin auditorium last Tuesday night to hear the golden voice of Marian Anderson, they had no accommodations for her either at hotels or cafes, after the recital was over. As a result she had to find lodgings and her meals at a private home.

The strange, paradoxical situation — wherein white people throng to hear the famed contralto sing but refuse to provide her with a night's lodging — emphasized anew the hypocrisy of so-called race relations below the Mason-Dixon line.

Travel in the South presents a problem. On some roads trainmen consider a Pullman drawing room or compartment provides the separation from whites demanded by Jim Crow laws, but others don't. Congressman Arthur Mitchell of Chicago now has a suit pending against a railroad because he was refused first-class accommodations, and had to ride all night in the Jim Crow car, en route from Little Rock to Memphis.

ROBINSON ACCOMMODATED

Recently, C. C. Spaulding, Durham, N. C., president National Negro Business league and head of the North Carolina Mutual Insurance company, was denied a Pullman reservation out of Dallas. Later, Bill (Bojangles) Robinson, noted tap dancer and screen star, was given Pullman accommodations from Dallas, but why the distinction was made, is not known. Motorists also constantly complain of the lack of restroom facilities on highways throughout the South.

C. F. Starks, president of the Dallas Negro Chamber of Commerce, usually arranges accommodations for colored celebrities visiting here. Women are generally taken to private homes while the men are sent to the local YMCA. A. Maceo Smith, civic leader here, said recently he thought in the near future Negro investors would build hotels in the key cities of the South because of the great increase in the number of colored motorists and train passengers.

Al Jolson Tries Bar Thru Petition

Lists Negro with Cows; City Council Refuses Ban in San Fernando

Blackface comedian Al Jolson, whose fame and fortune grew out of caricaturing the Negro on stage, screen and radio, was a leader of motion picture residents of San Fernando valley seeking to bar horses, cows, goats, other farm animals and all persons not members of the white race from residence there in a petition placed before the City Council Monday.

Included in the area is property surrounding Encino, Studio City and Cahuenga Park.

Council rejected the petitions.

The petitions sought city ordinances to succeed deed restrictions which will expire soon. The Planning Committee held that the City carried no jurisdiction because such laws would violate the Federal Constitution by establishing racial prejudice.

Although Jolson belongs to a race, itself not considered white, his petition which also included the name of Francis X. Bushman jr., urged restrictions on the ground that the valley is becoming a residential rather than a farming community, but made no exception for non-farming, non-white residents.

Building Starts Here

A building program unprecedented in the history of Los Angeles, is underway here, it was revealed this week by realtors and contractors who were interviewed by an Eagle reporter.

Exceptionally favorable reports were assured by Louis M.Blodgett, pioneer builder and president of the Liberty Loan association.

Blodgett said that two houses went into erection this week in the 35 acre tract on Wadsworth street at Imperial avenue under terms of the FHA. Men will be on the grounds Sunday to guide interested persons.

Talks of Double Murder Circumstances on Eve of His Arraignment

"I was insane," George Farley, confessed slayer of two white police officers, told an EAGLE reporter, last week, almost on the eve of his arraignment tomorrow morning before Judge Joseph Chambers in the Superior court.

"I was insane or I couldn't of done it", the aged, yet husky and virile-looking man told the reporter over the barrier of a table in the reception room of the city jail.

Tomorrow morning Farley will step into the elevator, manacled to the wrist of a deputy sheriff, and descend from the twelfth to the seventh floor of the Hall of Justice to the court of Judge Chambers—where to questions of his guilt, he will plead: "Not Guilty," and Not Guilty by reason of insanity." He will be represented by Attorney Loren Miller, and perhaps additional counsel if sufficient defense funds are

Rev. Russell to Talk On A. Clayton Powell

For the first time since his return from a vacation east, Rev. Clayton D. Russell, minister of People's Independent Church of Christ, 18th and Paloma, will discuss in detail his visit to New York City when he preaches next Sunday night on the unusual topic, "Does Rev. A. Clayton Powell, Jr., Practice in New York City What He Preached in Los Angeles?"

A guest of the young pastor of Abyssinia Baptist church, Rev. Russell had the opportunity of observing the work of Rev. Powell in the city for several days.

Since there was much discussion of his stirring sermons while here some months ago, and speculation as to whether or not he would speak the same way at home as he did here in Los Angeles, Rev. Russell, will present the facts as he saw them in his sermon Sunday night at 7:30.

Shaw Recall Fizzles Out; Negro Groups Back Mayor

As Clifford E. Clinton's petitions for recall of Mayor Frank L. Shaw threatened to fizzle out this week in a mass of discovered fraudulent and fictitious signatures, members of the city's Negro colony initiated a counter drive of renewed faith in the Mayor.

A resolution, upholding the Mayor, was passed last Tuesday night by the Ma-Po-Fi social club in its regular meeting. The resolution stated that the favorable conditions of the affairs of the city should be accredited to the capable services of the "experienced, democratic and statesmanlike qualities" of the Mayor.

The Ma-Po-Fi club is composed of mailmen, policemen, and firemen, in which branches of civil service employment the Mayor has been exceptionally fair and generous to the Negro, it was pointed out.

This week police continued arrests of persons suspected of signing fictitious names to the petition for the recall of Mayor Shaw, now being circulated on the city streets.

The resolution of the Ma-Po-Fi club follows:

WHEREAS, the Ma-Po-Fi Social club, an organization of men interested in public service and civic welfare, loyal to the best interests of the City of Los Angeles, has been highly gratified by the evidences of progress, of efficient government, of harmonious cooperation, and of constructive policies in the municipal administration in recent years; and

WHEREAS, we realize that this favorable condition in the affairs of our City should be credited to the capable services of the experienced, democratic, and statesmanlike qualities of the executive who has directed those affairs as our Mayor since July, 1933; and

WHEREAS, it is due such a leader that his leadership be acknowledged and supported by his fellow citizens, to the end that he may continue unhampered and confident in his program of welfare for all the citizens of Los Angeles, of every race, group, sect, and class; NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that the Ma-Po-Fi Social Club, and each of its members, hereby declare our undivided and unqualified endorsement of the administration of Mayor Frank L. Shaw, and our intention to continue our wholehearted support of his humanitarian and business-like leadership of our citizens.

'Respectfully,

"Ma-Po-Fi Social Club."

NAACP is Silent on FDR Mob Proposal

When It is Introduced We'll Have Something to Go On, Says White

NEW YORK, Mar. 31. — The proposal of President Roosevelt that the famed G-men be sent to investigate lynchings and report the facts to him, to the Congress, and the general public, was greeted with little or no comment by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People here.

The President made his suggestion at a press conference March 22. According to the account in The New York Times, he said he already had suggested such procedure to the Attorney General, under whom the G-men work. In the account which appeared in the New York Herald Tribune, it was stated that Mr. Roosevelt said he had transmitted the plan to congressional leaders, implying that a piece of legislation would be drawn embodying the White House ideas.

NOT ABLE TO COMMENT

"The NAACP is not able to comment on this proposal," said Walter White, secretary, "because we have nothing except a report of the remarks of the President in a press conference. When and if a specific bill is drawn and introduced in congress, we will have something definite to go on. As it is now, we do not know whether this statement is just an idea and suggestion of the President, or whether it is to be translated into legislation. Furthermore we do not have any details. The bill, if drawn by the Administration, may be something very different from the press statement of the President.

"It should be noted in passing, however, that while an investigation of lynchings by federal agents would be valuable in that it would establish authoritative data, free from the taint of propaganda, as a basis for action, the crux of the lynching problem remains the arrest and prosecution of those responsible for lynchings. Clarence Muse- A-TALKIN' TO YOU

What is a good program for a YOUNG GIRLS' SOCIAL CLUB? This is the question I am getting often here of late from the YOUNG GROUPS. And I feel it is a good question when young girls and boys must work out their destinies in this very difficult ECONOMIC TIME. The way to begin on a subject like this is to call your attention to the generation just passing. I mean the many colored folks that were born immediately after slavery of which I am made conscious daily BY DEATHS of local citizens who were SLAVES just a short time ago DURING the lives of some who are still LIVING. Not far away are we! However, the point is that they realized that the DAY of opportunity was at hand and each and every FATHER and MOTHER began dreaming about a GREAT DAY for their young ones. They worked hard, saved their money, fought prejudice at every hand, and PUSHED their way to a place of DIGNITY and partial security. It seems to me and that is only my opinion that some of the YOUNGER FOLK are not aware of the FACT that the battle is still on. Every boy and girl who has the opportunity of an education must TAKE up where their parents left off. Now, I can answer the question — WHAT IS A GOOD PROGRAM for a Young Girls' Social Club? Do something constructive — forget aristocratic ideas of FORMALS and Slave day hang-overs of LUXURY. But build for security and permanence. Have your fun, YES! But do something worthwhile with your DUES — help some poor, unfortunate YOUNGSTER that can't help himself. Build little theatre ideas to develop self expression and understanding of WORLD problems. Become an asset to your community. Fight injustice, PRAISE success, LEARN more of the HISTORY of your people. Take pride in being a NEGRO, but above all be a success, REGARDLESS of your vocation. AVOCATION makes healthy bodies and alert minds. TIME is precious and very valuable during the days of YOUTH. Silly to spend the entire receipts of a year for a SOCIETY BALL — with unpaid for gowns and rented FULL DRESS suits. The Brigadettes, a local club, is headed for BIG THINGS. Why not more CLUBS, with constructive ideas! (Copyright by Clarence Muse - 1938.)

Vernon Nursery School is Big Aid to Community

The Vernon Avenue Nursery School, 1020 E. Vernon Avenue, was established three years ago as part of a nation-wide project made possible by the Federal government with objectives as follows:

1. To assist 2 to 5 year old children of families in the lower income groups. It was perceived that frequently the youngest in these families suffered most and that there was great need for preventive work in this regard.

11. To help the less fortunate parents in our country, and others who might be responsible for the care of young children, to understand and better meet the needs of their children at home. Parents assist and observe regularly in our nursery schools and a guidance program for parents is part of the regular work in every unit. Our nursery schools and a guidance program for parents is part of the regular work in every unit. Our nursery schools are schools for parents as well as for children.

III. To employ unemployed teachers in socially useful work and also semi-skilled workers such as our cooks and handymen. Part of our program is cooperating with other local or government agencies which are attempting to conserve community resources. SRA and WPA projects send us surplus commodities (food) and some clothing, towels, sheets etc. which are used in the schools. We also assist in training N. Y. A. (National Youth Administration) girls, helping them to understand principles of household management and newer ways with children. Mrs. Roosevelt recently visited the Vernon Avenue School because of her interest in this aspect of our work.

How Vernon Avenue Nursery Schol Was Made Possible

Federal funds for the establishing of nursery schools have been available to communities who could meet the following requirements.

1. Nursery schools must be sponsored by the local public school system.

This s true in Los Angeles. Our nursery schools are part of the Emefgency Education Project of WPA. They are under the control of the Los Angeles Board of Education and WPA.

2. The Federal government insists that housing must be provided by the local community in which the school is located.

At Vernon avenue the housing must be provided by the local community in which the school is located.

At Vernon Avenue the housing was provided by Mrs. Abraham Lehr of Beverly Hills who has long been interested in the welfare of the people in the South Central area. For the first two years of the life of the school, Mrs. Lehr paid the rent and utilities, $28.00 a month, for our school. At the end of that time Mrs. Lehr felt that the school would be soundly built if the people in the South Central area assumed some responsibility for it. She, therefore, said that she would continue to pay $20.00 a month but the other $8.00 must be raised locally. At this time an auxiliary of young business girls in this community with Laura Slayton as president was organized under Mrs. Lehr's leadership to interest club groups in helping the nursery school. The following organization have generously contributed toward the $8 a month which the school must have to survive:

Orchid Girls, Lone Wolf, Beau Brummels, Les Maitres, Buffalo Post American Legion, Women's L. A. Breakfast club, La Jovial club, Alta Qualidad Social Club, Alpha Bowling Club and Constructive Thinkers Club. The school is most appreciative of the support given it by these local organizations.

Parents have assisted the auxiliary in giving two dinners at the church for the benefit of the school. The Coordinating Council has endorsed the school and has assisted in promoting interest and understanding of its work.

3. The Federal Government's part—

When the sponsorship of the local schol system and the housing were provided for, the Federal Government agreed to pay for:

a) Food and school supplies for the children.

b) Salaries of teachers, cook and handyman. Wages are regulation WPA salaries for skilled and semi-skilled workers paid by the government. This is the way in which the Vernon Avenue Nursery School is financed.

Who Is Eligible

Since the Emergency Nursery Schools were first aauthorized in October, 1933, children in the age group of two to five years of age, from needy families or neglected and underprivileged home have benefitted from their services. The income of these families in most cases does not exceed $85.00. The Federal Government has stipulated that the children must come from needy families but has not stated an exact sum above which we may not go. The size of the family is a determining factor. Many of the children come from families who have a much lower income. The average income for Los Angeles is $60.00.

Advisory Committee Appointed

The Vernon Avenue Nursery School is a going concern. The community has supported it and feels its worth. Mrs. Edwin Morgenroth, city nursery schools supervisor, feels that the school needs its own advisory group to guide and direct its policy, to pass upon applications made for admittance to the school and to assist the staff in being of the greatest possible service. At her invitation the following people have graciously consented to give their time and services to the Nursery School.

Mr. W. A. Easter, Adult Education Department; Mrs. Abraham Lehr, who first made the school possible; Miss LaVaughn Washington, South Central Coordinating Council.

The advisory committee will meet once a month and will work with the auxiliary and the community to administer the school in a fair and impartial way so that it may be a credit to us all.

Come and visit the Nursery School. You will always be welcome. The members of the staff are well known in this community. Mrs. Inez Bradford is head teacher and is assisted by Miss Marie Hayden, Mrs. Diette Gross and Miss Patricia Hundley. Handyman is Mr. Harry Miles and cook, Mrs. Irma Harris.

BERNICE YOUNG

The Women's Charity club celebrated the 17th birthday of the club at the home of Mrs. Jennetta Sterling Thursday, Mar. 24. A short program was had before the entertainment started. One of the club's charter member, the only one in the club today, Mrs. Lulla Walker gave a brief sketch of the history of the club. After the program, the members, with their husbands & friends, had a wonderful evening together. The present president of the club is Mrs. Clara Clemons who is now ending her second term as president. Mrs. Irene Clark, vice-president, Mrs. Bernice Young, secretary, Mrs. Lulla Walker, ass't secretary, Mrs. Eva McKinney, treas.; sick committee, Mrs. Callie Dickson, Mrs. Ella Wallace, and Mrs. Birdie Evans.

Flash:

William Anderson the great vagabound lover No. 1 is minus of a girl friend. Watch out you girls.

J. C. Gaines is hitting a new high. Nice trumpeting Gaines.

Miss Lorraine Bell was visiting friends in S. A. last Saturday. We were glad to have her. Come again to the country.

BRAWLEY

The Merry Makers' club meeting was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Spellman, on H Street. Old and new business was discussed, this including a box supper to be given Saturday night, Mar. 19th, at the residence of the president, Fred McPhatter, 1068 J Street.

On Sunday Mr. Jasper Keeting of El Centro was a visitor to his sister, Mrs. Winfrey McPhatton. The Brawley boys and girls softball team seems to be going places and doing things.

We wish success and strong heart to Brawley's new swing band, Cornelius Evans, banjo, Millard Count, guitar, Peter Jackson, guitar, Elmer Nix, clarinet, James Liby, sax, Randy McPhatter, trumpet and Eddiei Hart, piano.

Miss Tony Fuller won first prize in the amatuer contest Friday night.

I wonder what happened to the following young men: Elmer Nix, James Leby and Peter Jackson.

What young lady is full of smiles since L. K. has returned to our fair city?

Why wasn't Archie McPhatter at the meeting Sunday, also Mrs. Ophelia Harrison and Frank Johnson. On the sick list is Mrs. Mary Spellman.

Let's boost the California Eagle, buying it each week from Jack Webster.

MODERATOR VISITS EAGLE PLANT

Among the visitors to the California Eagle offices last week was the Rev. Mr. F. L. Haynes, moderator of the General Baptist Association of California and pastor of the Third Baptist Church of San Francisco. Other visitors included Mr. and Mrs. John Hill, jr. of New York, guests of Rev. Clayton D. Russell. The Hills left Thursday night.

Death Claims Tracy Greer, L. A. Pioneer

Death claimed another of the band of pioneer Angelenos on Monday as Mrs. racy Greer, resident here for 37 years, died at the Los Angeles County General Hospital.

Direct cause of death was a hemorraghe to the brain, climax of an eight day relapse in the six weeks illness of the pioneer woman.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 1 p. m. from the Wesley M. E. church, 8th and San Julian ave., of which the deceased was a member. Roberts and Sons Mortuary will be in charge. The body has lain in state at the Mortuary since Wednesday.

Officiating at the funeral will be members of the Progressive Business Women's club of America of which Mrs. Greer was a charter member, having drafted fifteen sections of its Constitution and its membership pledge, the Women's Political Study club, the Pioneer club, and fraternal orders of which she was a member, the Household of Ruth, Eastern Star, Foresters and S. M. T.

Mrs. Greer was especially well known for her part in the founding of the Eastside Mothers Home, day nursery that is a boon to working mothers who must leave their small children during the day.

The deceased was the widow of Smith H. Greer, fraternal and civic leader, who died here 11 years ago. She came to Los Angeles on her honeymono from Galveston, Texas.

Accompanying the couple was Mrs. Betty Isaac Williams, life long friend of Mrs. Greer.

First AME Scene of Services Today

Last rites for Mrs. Josephine Hutcherson, of 1424 E. 21st st., will be held from First AME church, 8th and owne of which she was a stewardess this afternoon (Thursday) at 1:00. The pastor, Rev. H. Mansfield Collins will preside with the Angelus Funeral Home directing the obsequies.

Mrs. Hutchinson died at the General hospital last Monday morning. She was a native of Wytheville, Virginia, and had lived in Los Angeles for the past 16 years. A large family of sons and daughters survive, one of whom is Mrs. Ruth Butler, prominent member of the La Jovial club.

BAKERSFIELD

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. White th gospel singers who were scheduled to appear on Tuesday were snow-bound out from Los Angeles and were not able to make the trip. An extemporaneous program was given instead.

Mrs. Blanche Green is much better after a verysevere illness.

Our G. G. under the leadership of Sister L. G. Collins is doing very well.

The B. T. G. with Sister Ethelena Upshaw as president and Sister H. A. Green as instructor gave a program on last evening. It is long to be remembered.

The Spelling Bee of the Bible was enjoyed by all.

The Deaconess Board with Sister R. A. Brannon presiding gave a measuring party on Thursday. A good time was had by all, and a good sum was raised for the treasure.

John Henry Lewis to Quit Ring?

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Mar. 31, (ANP)—John Henry Lewis, light-heavy weight champion of the world, said while training here for his fight in St. Paul, Friday night, he was going to quit the ring because he could not meet the heavyweights he wanted to and there were no light heavies nor any money in fighting. He was here with his trainer, Larry Amadee, and stated he wanted to meet Joe Louis, Max Schmeling, Max Baer, or any of the heavy weights that the public felt he should meet.

Mary Briggs at Ward Chapel

Mrs. Mary D. Briggs, acting postmaster of the Los Angeles U. S. Post office, will deliver an address Tuesday, April 12, at 8:00 o'clock at the Ward Chapel A. M. E. Church, 1250 East 25th St.

Sunday, April 3, the Lord's Supper will be administered and the pastor, Rev. J. W. Price, will deliver the Communion meditation.

BEAUTIFUL HAIR... TURNS MEN'S THOUGHTS TO ROMANCE

Make YOUR Dreams Come True... Use GODEFROY'S LARIEUSE

MEN never make passes at girls who wear glasses — and seldom say 'Give me a kiss' to a faded, grey-haired miss. But they admire a woman with richly colored, softly gleaming hair. So, if you are missing love because your hair is dull, iron-burnt, off-color or streaked with grey, get a bottle of Larieuse today.

Larieuse is no more trouble to use than an ordinary shampoo, yet the beautiful color it gives to your hair will not rub off or wash out and will last a long time. Color wanted comes evenly: jet black, black, dark, medium or light brown, or blonde. No dyed look, no stickiness, no smell. Ask your dealer for Godefroy's Larieuse the Hair Coloring in the red box. Every bottle is guaranteed to satisfy or your dealer will refund your money.

If your dealer does not have it, send $1.25 direct to

White Woman Editor Slaps Dr. Willis King, President of Gammon Seminary

ATLANTA, March 31 (ANP)—Mrs. J. E. Andre ws, white editor of the race-bating "Georgia Woman's World" Saturday afternoon slapped Dr. Willis J. King, president of Gammon Theological seminary, when he refused to let her photographer take pictures of a meeting of colored and white college students.

Although police were called to the seminary where the slapping took place, no case was made against the woman. Later she made an apology and is understood to have regretted the incident following pressure brought on her by officials of Emory university and Agnes Scott college, leading white institutions.

The interracial meeting to which Mrs. Andrews objected was the three-day session of the Georgia Student Christian council. She registered Saturday morning as the meeting opened in order to be able to attend all sessions. That afternoon she reappeared with a cameraman, intending to take pictures for use in her publication when her opposition to the mixed gathering went unheeded. Dr. King objected, and she struck him in the face. The educator made no attempt at retaliation.

When police were called, Dr. King urged them not to make a case against the woman although she insisted on being arrested.

"Georgia Woman's World" is the publication which was widely distributed by Roosevelt opponents in the 1936 election. It carried pictures showing Negro New Dealers dictating to white stenographers, Mrs. Roosevelt being escorted by Negroes following ann appearance at Howard university, and facsimilies of colored newspaper articles lauding benefits obtained from the present administration.

WILD FLOWER FIELDS READY TO BURST INTO BLOOM, SURVEY SAYS

Most Areas to Reach Height of Loveliness Next Month

Nature's crazy quilt of color — fields of wild flowers dotting Southern California's landscape from Beaumont and Banning to Lompoc Valley — is ready to burst into full bloom and in most areas will reach its height of loveliness within the next month, a wild flower survey revealed today.

Soon to be in the limelight are the 25-acre fruit orchards at Banning, offering a delicate profusion of apricot, peach, prune and pear blossoms against a background of snow-crowned mountains.

Orange blossoms are already peeping through the golden harvest, and in late March and April the cherry blossoms at Beaumont will color the landscape there.

Already the baby blue eyes and poppies, in the Shafter-Wasco and Arvin areas respectively, are coloring Kern county with the state colors--blue and gold.

MONTAIN LILAC

Mountain lilac is tinting the canyons from San Diego county to Sequoia, and 'desert flowers are creeping through the golden sands in the Coachella Valley, southeast of Palm Springs.

The Brawley flax fields are now blue instead of yellow for it's blossom time in Imperial county too, and Kane Springs and Westmoreland nearby, are already showing splashes of the beautiful blue loco.

The most concentrated display of wild flowers in the Las Vegas area is found near the Colorado River, near Boulder Dam, the vanguard already having appeared. It soon will be followed by a bloom of 112 varieties, including desert aster, heather, desert daisy, desert and California poppy and desert verbena.

POST NEWS--

By TED THOMAS

Ben J. Bowie Post No. 228 of the American Legion received a personal greeting from the national commander, Danuel J. Doherty, who just arrived from the East to take part in the great American Legion day held in San Bernardino at the 28th National Orange show Sunday, March 27. A large number of our group motored from Los Angeles to witness this spectacular event, starring the post's crack drum and bugle corps, who marched away with honors.

The national convention of the American Legion in Los Angeles next September will set at least one new record. It will be the largest family gathering ever held by the service organization. This is the prediction of the national commander who is now in Los Angeles checking details for the session which is expected to draw more than 100,000 visitors.

FRANK ERNEST POST No. 2134 V. F. W.

Hello, comrades! Back again with more news. Don't forget to come to Post meeting Friday night, April 1, 1938. All members who are paid up for 1938 come so you can pick your officers for the incoming year. Comrades let us make this our best year: every member get at least one recruit, so we can have the year's largest recruit class, so everyone try hard, and we are bound to win.

I for one wish to thank all the comrades who sacrificed and turned out for our good comrade, Harold Smith, who passed to his just reward. The Post as a whole sends sympathy to the bereaved family.

Will hear from me next week!

Geo. H. Bramlette, Jr. Vice-Commander.

JACKIE VAQUERO DRAWS FINE

Jackie Vaquero, former Hollywood pugilist, was fined fifteen dollars in Judge Nuffer's court. The 24-year-old Filipino Negro was arrested Saturday night after Patsy Wray, 23, a white waitress, reported Vaquero, had threatened her with a gun. When arresting officers failed to find a gun in his posession, Vaquero was booked on a drunk charge.

99 Fewer Traffic Deaths in State, First 2 Months of '38

SACRAMENTO, March 31—There were 99 fewer traffic deaths in California during the first two months of 1938 than during the corresponding period of 1937, Director Ray Ingels of the Department of Motor Vehicles revealed today in a report to Governor Frank F. Merriam.

The figures for this year show 220 deaths in January, 195 in February, while the January figure for last year was 305 and for February, 209.

Director Ingels said that the present intensive campaign for safe driving, both through enforcement and education, apparently was bringing the desired results.

He pointed out that this reduction, if maintained during the year, would bring the California toll for 1938 under 2,000. The toll for 1937 was 3,139 fatalities.

Make Elaborate Plans for Booker Washington Fete

According to a statement issued by Wm. Alvin Hall, chairman of the comittee from the Booster Club in charge of plans for the second annual Booker T. Washington program this year, an elaborate service is being planned. Many clubs of the city are reserving seats for the occasion. Only the best talent has been secured for solo numbers, etc. and Paul R. Williams is the main speaker, Sunday evening, April 10 at Second Baptist church is the time and place of the program.

SAYS OLEN MONTGOMERY REPUDIATES CHARGES

NEW YORK, March 31. (ANP) —Olen Montgomery, one of the four freed Scottsboro boys, who last week charged the Scottsboro Defense committee with being a "racket" and not interested in freeing the other five youths, has apologized and is sorry for the statement, the committee revealed Tuesday.

Collegian is Named to Liberian Post

WHITTIER, March 31—It is believed that Whittier College is the only college on the coast that has a student who is a vice-consul of a foreign country. Ben Hamilton, Jr., has been notified by Edwin James Barclay, President of Liberia, that he is to take over the duties of Vice-Consul at once.

Hamilton has been attached to the consulate in Los Angeles since 1936. He is reported to have been promoted friendlier relations between the United States and Liberia. Hamilton, who is white, became interested in Liberia through his stamp collection work.

His first assignment will be the publication of the biography of President Barclay and his wife.

Hugh Macbeth of Los Angeles was named to the Consul's post last year.

Founder's Day Observed at Tuskegee Inst. Saturday

Tuskegee Institute, Ala., March 31—Founder's Day exercises will be observed at Tuskegee Institute, beginning Saturday, Dr. F. D. Patterson announced here today. Dr. Jackson Davis, Associate Director of Southern Education of the General Education Board, New York City, New York, will deliver the Founder's Day address in the Institute Chapel, Dr. Patterson said.

During the three day celebration tributes will be paid to Booker T. Washington, Founder of Tuskegee Institute, and who for more than a quarter of a century served as its principal.

The exercises will officially open on Saturday, April 2, upon the arrival of members of the Trustee Board, who will hold their annual Spring meeting in the Executive Council Room in the Administration Building at 10:00 o'clock Saturday morning. Dr. William J. Schieffelin, of New York City, Chairman of the Board will preside.

The annual Alumni dinner, a nation-wide celebration, will be held Friday evening, April 1, in the Institute Cafeteria. Messages will be sent to similar Alumni dinners which will be held in the principal cities throughout the United States, by Dr. Patterson, who will also speak to the Alumni on this occasion.

RAILROAD CLATTER

By: CHARLES L. UPTON

UPTON SAYS

Well, folks, it seems I am about to become a member of the movie colony whether I want to or not. I woke up this morning and found out that I was living in the very midst of a galaxy of sepia stars. I was very much alarmed and made an appointment with my real estate broker who told me in cold, harsh tones that the district I own my home in is now being advertised as "Black Hollywood" — whether I like it or not, and then he drew out his map and said have a look, directly in back of you is the new home of Hattie McDaniels, one of the greatest colored stars in pictures today. On the next street over lives our beloved Louise Beavers, who needs no introduction. Further up north is the home of Stepin Fetchit. Bill "Bojangles" Robinson, famous tap dancer, is building a home out of this world on Catalina and Thirty-fifth street. And about two or three doors from me are two members of Our Gang comedies. Well, what of it, you say. It's just like this — maybe after all, I have been wasting my talent. I have always thought that my wife and I could at least put on a radio sketch depicting the life of "Maggie and Jiggs" and go over the top. Now, folks, all I need is a little encouragement and if I can get it, Clarence Muse or nobody else will have anything on me.

It takes bigness to see bigness; Greatness to appreciate greatness.

Birthday Greetings

Many happy returns to the following readers who celebrate their birthdays during the month of March: J. H. Rouse, Owen Brown, J. M. Brice, H. A. J. Prescott, F. Parr, A. W. Parrish, Vandy hempson, W. J. Logan, Miles Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Harvey, C. Fletcher and Chas. L. Upton. Congratulations.

Brotherhood Takes Milwaukee Railroad Porters' Case to National Mediation Board

The case of the sleeping car and chair car porters, in the employ of the Chicago, Malwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad Company, involving the right of collective bargaining and the selection and designation of representatives of their own choosing for this class of workers, has been presented, for settlement, to the National Meditation Board in Washington, D. C. by the Brotherhod of Sleeping Car Porters, according to A. Philip Randolph, International President.

Because of the possession of a large majority of the sleeping and chair car porters on the Milwaukee Road, the Brotherhood addressed a letter to Mr. H. A. Scandrett, President, March 9, 1938, requesting a conference to negotiate an agreement concerning rates of pay and rules governing working conditions for the above named class of workers.

According to the provisions of the Railway Labor Act as amended in 1934, when the employees of a carrier have organized 51 per cent, they possess the right to meet with the management to negotiate agreements and adjust grievances. These conditions having been met by the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, according to Mr. Randolph, there is no question about the management of the Milwaukee Road meeting with the Brotherhood and writing an agreement as a result of the invocation of the services of the National Mediation Board. A voice then will be possessed by the Milwaukee porters in the determination of their wage rates and working conditions.

Last February, A. Philip Randolph and M. P. Webster, First International Vice-President of the Brotherhod, negotiated a wage agreement with the Soo Line Railroad for the Soo Line sleeping car porters, securing for them substantial wage increases and improved working conditions, states Mr. Randolph.

Porters ake Instructions on New Type Cars

A series of meetings were held last week by the Pullman Company for the purpose of instructing porters to operate the latest type Pullman cars, many porters in town on account of the recent wash-outs took advantage of the opportunity and completed the course. The new cars are the last word in modern travel.

Southern Pacific Dining Car Crew Look Mexico Over

According to reports from the crack S. P. Dining Car Crew which made a recent trip to the beautiful land of fair senioritas, there is only one place they have heard of which the boys are willing to concede is better than the Mexican country and that is heaven. John Studymier, beau brummel personified, could not speak any thing but Mexican when he arived in town. John states that the rapid rise and fall of money while they were there had them rich one day and beggars the next. Adios Amigo.

Who Wants Tipping?

The bad practice of tipping continues because tipping is a social custom, and social customs are hard to change. Certainly few, if any, organized labor groups favor a practice that does not provide standard wages, that in fact puts the responsibility for a living wage on the whim of the customer. And few, if any, customers like the idea of paying for services in this indirect fashion as if the employment of waiters, Pullman car porters, hat check girls, servants and countless others were their responsibility. Rather let the actual employer pay a decent wage to those whose services are essential to the proper operation of his business, and if necessary, charge the customer a little more to cover the added expense.

W. B. Holland Dinner Guest of Mrs. Ross Dean

Mr. W. B. Holland ,secretary-treasurer of the Los Angeles division of the Brotherhood Of Sleeping Car Porters, was the guest of Mrs. Ross Dean last week at a rather sumptous dinner. When interviewed by your reporter as to whether he had enjoyed himself, Mr. Holland remarked that he enjoyed the company of the other invited guests very much and the only complaint he could make was that Mrs. Dean only served: a cocktail appetizer, turkey and dressing, with cranberry sauce, Utah celery hearts, green olives, lettuce, tomato salad, candied yams, hot rolls, salted nuts, black coffee and something that looked like boiled custard, however, he says it tasted very much like egg nogg. The congenial guests invited were: Mrs. A. Gipson of Oklahoma, Mrs. L. McKnight, Mrs. A. Hall, Mr. W. H. Summerford and W. B. Holland. It sure is nice to be a bachelor.

Davenport Bumps R. J. Murray

Friendship is one thing and a good run is another thing, that is the way that the writer has figured it all out in this recent bumping epidemic that has hit the district since the floods. Now comes Davenport, erstwhile bosom friend of R. J. Murray, who bumps him higher than a kite just the other week. Wm. Glenn, erstwhile friend and buddie of Oscar Soares bumped Oscar like a star football player makes a place kick, so I have come to the conclusion that there is no friendship when it comes to getting a line, it's every tub.

Sol Works in A Class by Himself

My Oakland operative informs me that Sol Works was at a big dance in Oakland recently dressed down to the bricks, and had grabbed the title of beau brummel of the Pacific Coast. The only thing that made a shadow come across his smiling face was the guilty conscious of not paying up his dues in the Dining Car Cooks and Waiters Union which has fought to raise his wages and make it possible for him to keep that big front and gain that title.

Derby Hat Papa Thinks He is Getting By

My San Francisco operator informs me that there is a certain mysterious guy who sports a derby hat and drops in Aunt Mary's every trip, hands her a lot of bull and then sneaks out by himself and eats in Stokes. Aunt Mary says she is on to him and don't be surprised if he comes back to L. A. scaled.

Big Shots Can't Raise Price

My local operative informs me that last week, nine of the biggest shots in railroad circles were gathered together in Harris Drug store and could not scrape up 35 cents in the bunch.

Election Results Will be Announced at Brotherhood's Regular Meeting

A packed house is expected to be on hand next Monday morning when the gavel is sounded by the president for the regular monthly meeting. Results of the annual election of officers will be announced at this meeting and due to the fact that much interest has been created about those running for office a capacity crowd is assured. Come early and stay late. If you have not voted, today is the last day.

Call to California Youth Model Legislature Issued

If you were a member of the California State Legislature, what would you do about. . . .

1. The present industrial recession—to create jobs for California's youth?

2. Inadequate housing—to build decent and comfortable homes?

3. Crime and delinquency— to provide healthful recreation facilities?

4. Drop-outs from schools and colleges—to increase educational opportunitiies?

5. Religious intolerance, prejudice and denial of rights to national and racial minorities—to establish democratic equality for all?

6. California's farm acres— to guarantee opportunity to rural and transient youth?

7. The threat of another world war—to guarantee peace and security?

If you belong to any type of youth organization, you will have an opportunity to state your opinion by helping to draft a bill on the subject to be presented at the California Youth Model Legislature which will convene in the San Francisco Civic Auditorium, May 6th, 7th and 8th. All organizations are urged to start drafting bills now on capital and labor, education, agriculture, housing, social welfare, democratic libirties, peace, taxation, delinquency because all legislative proposals and resolutions must be in the hands of the Southern California Preparatory Committee, 824 East Sixth Street, Los Angeles, by May 1st.

MAY ELECT ASSEMBLYMAN

Organizations may also elect 'assemblymen' and 'senators' to participate in California youth's own model legislature, being allowed two delegates to the Assembly if the membership is under fifty and one additional assemblyman for each additional 50 members. Two delegates to the Senate will be allowed every state, regional, or city body or federation with five or more branches and (or) a membership of over 1000.

This Youth Model Legislature will provide practical experience and participation in the forms of Government by which youth's problems must ultimately be solved and place before the State Legislature those bills which are considered most important.

For further information call Trinity 3006 or address the California Youth Model Legislature, All Nations Foundation, 824 East Sixth Street, Los Angeles. The San Francisco office is Room 412, 83 McAllister St.

POLITICAL POT-PIE

By IRA

The Legg who seeks the Democratic nomination for Governor on the Demo ticket seems to have pulled a muscle in the first lap of his skirmish for supporters. Always in a district where black voters dwell not, he issued a statement that given an opportunity he'd deal square with the group in the way of recognition. His golden opportunity dawned a few days ago. In selecting a committee on slum clearance, but the Legg slipped out of joint and he named a member of his own racial group for a place. With the Blodgetts and Terrys, professional contractors and builders; Paul R. Williams, internationally known architect, and many others to choose from, Mr. Legg passed up a golden opportunity to win favor with this powerful group of voters. He has a chance, however, to make amends.

Black politicians are still in the shell. None approached know anything and are just marking time till Mr. Bill circulates among 'em and fires the starting gun. Then the squabble starts. Friends will reach the parting of the ways and in the end, Mr. Bill will have not only the plums but his friendships will be unbroken. When will we learn?

Hoover has returned to the pain of those who are working tooth and nail to re-organize the GOP. If the ex-President could only be induced to remain on his ranch and confine his advice to the group of foreigners employed by him all will be well.

Where on earth is that two-masted schooner, Tommy Myles? What has stilled his voice? It's too soon for the sack to be opened and it may be that he's ill. Hope not. His fight talk makes good fillers when copy is short!

As soon as the "sack" can be located, "clubs" whose names have never been heard since the last campaign will blossom into life. Though many have only one member and a phoney membership, Ethiopia will fulfill the words of the Scripture by stretching forth her hands, only with palms up — itching in the middle. However, each campaign, the grass gets shorter. The political pilots are growing wise.

Just on what grounds Governor Merriam bases a hope to secure colored votes we are unable to see. However, if the Governor would openly declare for Senator Bilbo's program of dealing with the group, some Negro would have guts enough to peddle his campaign thunder and try to explain away the act. Here's where a little Ku Kluxing would be justified.

It's certainly going to be more fun than the quips of Charlie McCarthy to hear Superior Court Judases as they parade on the Eastside trying to explain why Negroes are kept off the Grand Jury. Now just why is it? The judges select the names from which the jurors are drawn!

COMING UP

Next week we'll deal with fly-by-night scandal sheets that blossom and bloom only when a campaign is on tap. Publishers who circulate 52 weeks (one year) regularly are the sufferers from this evil. We'll offer a remedy and it's up to friend and foe who publish paper year in and year out to sheath the hatchet long enough to fight down this bunch of character assassins.

At the request of his many friends and supporters John R. Stephens has consented to enter the race for judge of the Superior Court of Los Angeles County, and has started an active campaign, opening headquarters in every district. Mr. Stephens is a student of law and a successful teacher of the subject in several universities including the Los Angeles College of Law. An original and independent thinker, he considers the high office to which he aspires should be held sacred to interpretation, should be judged without favoritism to class, on principles of natural justice toward all.

Man Arrested as Robbery Suspect

Investigating numerous complaints of drunk rollings in the neighborhood of Adams and Central, officers Bradford and Broady of the Newton street police station, arrested Perry Pearson, 20-year-old transient, as a suspect when he failed to tell a straight story about a yellow cab drivers cap found in his possession along with a bank book No. 65307 and other effects found on his person at the time of his arrest.

According to the policemen, Pearson was discharged from the U. S. Navy for disorderly conduct. He was booked on suspicion of robbery and held for the show-up Tuesday night.

Son of 'Old' Family Passes

Walter Chase Edmonds, son of the late Jefferson Edmonds, and Ida Franklin Edmonds, died last Friday at the Queen of Angels Hospital, after a brief illness.

Born in Hollywood, Eunice County, Mississippi, Edmonds was brought by his parents to Los Angeles when a child and settled in Sawtelle. He was the firts Negro to graduate from the Santa Monica High School where he was an honor student. As a member of the champion debating team, young Edmonds was birlliant. He also won signal honors for his essays and other literary works.

He was married Sept. 9, 1919 to Miss Virginia Martin, to whom two children were born: Walter Chase, Jr., and Evelyn Louise, who along with his mother, four sisters and four brothers, survive.

Rousting Squad Raids Transients' Hang-outs

Swooping down upon poolhalls, drink stands and other places where scores of unemployed transients have been observed loitering night and day, the rousting squad of Newton Street station conducted a series of week end raids designed to reduce the growing number of petty crimes, on the Eastside, it was learned today from a report given out by acting Captain of Detectives Homer Garrott.

Gilbert L. Wilson, of 1327 N. Broadway, was arrested late last night by Officers Young and Baughn on suspicion of burglary when theft of automobile tires and radios were reported from the Busy Bee Auto Works at 4171 South Central avenue

The property was recovered at the Alameda Tire and Salvage Company on Alameda street where it had been sold by the suspett.

Dan Murphy, 29-year-old laborer, of 1700 Central avenue, wanted for theft of a radio stolen from Thomas Lee, 2103 Central avenue, was arested by Officers Hanson and Goldberry and held at the Newton street station for further invesigation on suspicion of burglary.

Seven unemployed men observed loitering on Central avenue corners with no visible means of support fell into the toils of the law in a raid conducted by officers Percy Moore and C. S. Hepdricks.

Booked at Newton street station on suspicion of robbery, they gave their names as: Jimime Davis, 1403 E. 15th street; Frank Hill, 2525 Central avenue; Walter Simpson, 845½ S. Central; Truly Vaughns, 2125 Central; Vernon Jackson, 1318 East 23rd Street; Albert Johnson, 560 Gladys, and Lucky Laceford, 205 N. Serrano.

Benton Tops Local Weekly Radio Hours

Los Angeles leads the country in the number of weekly radio hours sponsored by or featuring Negroes, it was learned this week.

At the top of the heap is the Benton Drug company.

A survey this week revealed that Dr. W. J. Benton, head of the company, has undertaken the most extensive program of radio advertising in the United States, seconded only by the Jones Brothers' Department store on the Southside of Los Angeles.

Advertising the Benton feminine hygiene product, Benton's is on the air the air three hours and 45 minutes per week, covering 18 states. In addition the laboratories rank as the first Negro company to sponsor a program over station KFAC. The KFAC program comes on Monday morning 11 to 11:30 a. m. and is a "Sidewalk Interview" in front of the Orpheum theatre.

Daily over Station XELO Beneseptol sponsors a musical program from 11:30 to 11:45, every afternoon, except Sunday, from 3:45 to 4:p. m. and every Sunday morning from 10:15 a. m. Beneseptol is co-sponsor of the Independent church hour.

Paul Williams Speaks Today

The Woman's Political Study Club of Los Angeles will present the architect and housing authority, Paul R. Williams at three o'clock this afternoon (Thursday) in the assembly room of the Twelfth Street Branch Y. W. C. A. The public meeting will follow the council meeting of the group scheduled for this morning at the same place.

Mr. Williams will speak on Federal Housing being qualified by his service in planning projects for the government under the housing program and by his national sanding as an architect. Mrs. Betty Hill, executive secretary of the group, will preside.

Musicale at Church a Success

By JOHN KINLOCH

With a beautiful floral background, the "Awakening of Spring" Musicale given Tuesday at the Second Baptist Church was a tremendous success.

The program was one that presented an unusual number of innovations. First, the entire proceedings were announced at one time—thus removing the necessity, often a painful one, of a lengthy presentation of each individual artist. Another charming new note was the beautiful yet informal, floral decorations. They were supplied by Mr. Theodore Roberson and the Men of the Vesper Choir, who, by the way, did not perform—the program was presented, performed, and directed by Women.

Outstanding moments of the uniformly excellent program were the whistling solos of Mrs. Diette Gross, the violin number by Miss Emma Smock, and the novel "Who'll Buy My Violets", by the featured Vesper Octette. Songs of the well-known Treble Choir were all expertly handled.

The whistling of Mrs. Diette Gross, however, is something to remember. Seemingly without the slightest effort she perfectly imitates several bird-calls, in the meantime following a tune with only occasional accompaniment to help out. It was remarkable how she reached with such apparent ease, the extremely high note of one of her numbers.

Much credit must be given to Mrs. Anna Mae Morrow for her direction. There was not one moment of boredom throughout. By expert arrangement of program, the whole affair was captivating . . . each new number seemingly 'topping' its predecessor. Another thing for which Mrs. Morrow may take a bow... the performance ended before anyone commenced wishing it would. That, of course, is a feat. The lighting, also a new note in like church activities, was exceedingly well handled.

Mrs. Morrow, Second Baptist, and all who took part in the entertainment have done themselves "proud".

Form Film Committee

At the invitation of Maceo B. Sheffield, a representative group of Eastsiders met early Tuesday morning at breakfast in the Last Round Cafe to form a Committee for the Promotion of Colored People in Motion Pictures.

Among those present were: Mrs. C. A. Bass, Fred C. Williams, George Randol, Vernon McCalla, Clarence Brooks, Daniel Shaw, F. E. Miller, Attorney Walter Gordon Jr., Troy Brown and Emory Crain.

Randol who has produced several successful shorts for RKO and recently returned from a cross-country tour of newsreel picture making, told of advantages to be gained from films sponsored by cooperative organization.

Plans of financing a project to specialize in the production of achievement films of Negro life, as well as suitable fiction, were outlined and an intensive campaign to enlist financial backing from race capital is being organized.

Livaudais Passes in New Orleans

Word was received in Los Angeles this week of the death of Felix W. Livaudias of New Orleans. Mr. Livaudais, well known in Los Angeles and the father of Mrs. Viola Buford of this city died Mar. 19th in New Orleans.

Relatives and friends of the family attended the funeral services for the deceased last Wednesday at his late residence.

hall johnson heads chords for los angeles city schools

ANNOUNCEMEN of the formation of a huge colored chorus under the direction of Hall Johnson, famous music director of New York and Los Angeles, was made this week through the Adult Education Section of the Los Angeles City Schools. Administrators hope that the group will become the largest and finest chorus, not only on the west coast, but in the United States. Jefferson Evening High School, 1319 East 41st St., has been selected as the place of meeting on Friday evening of each week.

Hall Johnson is well known in music circles for his arrangement of the music and direction of the choir for the New York stage presentation of "Green Pastures" and its later motion picture production. His choir has also had many other movie, as well as radio, engagements.

"It has long been my ambition," said Mr. Johnson, "to have a great choir. It can serve as a splendid unifying factor for our groups and promote culture that will extend to home life. Los Angeles is an ideal place for such a group for there are people here from everywhere."

ALL WELCOME

Administrators stress the fact that experience and wide knowledge of music is not necessary in order to become a member of the group. Many persons, it is believed, enjoy singing who are not now members of any organization. These have a special invitation, as well as those who are now singing in other choirs and groups. Teachers of singing in all the Evening School are cooperating in the plans for this new greater chorus.

NEEDS SUPPORT

"This plan is a cooperative thing needing wide support," Mr. Johnson believes. "The City Schools are the logical sponsors for such a wide undertaking." Mr. Johnson reiterates that no musical training is necessary and that all persons over seventeen years of age are invited. Plans are made for ample space for a large number in the Girl's Gymnasium at Jefferson Evening High School on the opening night, Friday, April 1, according to Mr. Cleon Kersey, Principal. Rehearsals will be held from 7:00 to 9:00 p. m. and no fee is charged.

QUALIFIED

Mr. Johnson received his education at the University of Pennsylvania and at the Institute of Musical Art in New York City and holds the degree of Doctor of Music. His original choir was organized in New York in 1925 and has been in Southern California since 1936.

"By hearing The Hall Johnson Choir, I have received one of the deepest impressions musically that I can ever recall. I have hardly ever heard such a direct expression of the source from which art is created," said William van Hoogstraten on hearing the Hall Johnson Choir with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra. "The simplicity and sincerity with which conductor and choir perform is as unusual as it is stirring. I want to thank the artists for having given me one of those rare moments in which one abandons one's self completely to the sheer beauty of art."

Mothers Club Issues Public Statement

The Eastside Mothers Club, an agency of the Community Chest and a member of Community Welfare Federation, which has rendered a worthwhile service in the Los Angeles community for a number of years refuted the claim of a local paper in a statement issued for publication this week. The statement is signed by the president and superintendent of the shelter and is as follows:

March 26, 1938

The Eastside Mothers' Club takes this method of replying to the article appearing in the Sentinel issue dated Thursday, Mar. 24, 1938 regarding a homeless mother seeking shelter for herself and baby at twelve o'clock in the night and being turned away. The Eastside Mothers' Club an agency of the Community Chest operates a temporary shelter for needy, unemployed girls and women; its effort is directed towards finding employment and adjusting whatever difficulties may stand in the way of obtaining employment. We are not allowed to duplicate types of service given elsewhere.

The young mother had made inquiry about housing her entire family on March 17, and was given the necessary information concerning same and referred to the proper agency. On the evening of March 21, several days later—and not at twelve midnight the girl returned seeking shelter for herself and baby. She was told by the matron that there was no space to even give her emergency care for the night, but that she would give her 25 cents to obtain a bed for the night and the girl accepted. This was a personal donation from the matron and not from the organization.

It is, indeed, a sad affair for people to try to criticize, instead of cooperating and helping an organization to expand in order that needs of the community may be served. The Eastside Mothers' Club operates according to the rules and regulations governing a Community Chest Organization with a specific type of service to render, cooperating with other agencies and rendering other emergency services when the facilities permit. We have a signed statement from the girl involved as to the time of evening she appeared at the home on March 21.

Signed Hattie Baldwin, president. Nettie B. Reese, superintendent.

Find Dead Baby's Body Wrapped in Old Papers

Answering a call from H. W. Larson and J. M. Geopfert that a dead body had been found in an alley at 16th and Compton streets, radio car patrolmen from Newton street station discovered a newly born baby's body, wrapped in old newspapers late Friday afternoon.

Witnesses stated that two school children had first discovered the 'package' and were kicking it around in the alley when investigation revealed its contents to be that of a photeus.

Nearby officers found a towel with the name of an Eastside hotel sewed on it.

POLICE NAB MAN ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Wanted on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon in connection with the theft of a driver's cap found in his possession, McKenzie on March 11, Leroy Chambers, aged 40, of 1235 East 22nd Street, was arrested Thursday by officers Slaughter and Kelly, of Newton street division.

9 Whites Quizzed in Death of Woman Cook

ASHBURN, Ga., March 31. (ANP) — At a coroner's inquest here Tuesday, an inquiry was launched into the strange circumstances surrounding the mysterious disappearance and death of 29-year-old Aza Martin, comely colored cook, who vanished last December 11. Nine whites were summoned as witnesses.

Louis Nears Million as Fighter

Heavyweight Champion Defends Title in 'Chi' Tomorrow Night

CHICAGO, March 31—In defending his title against Harry Thomas tomorrow night at the Chicago Stadium, Joe Louis, heavyweight champion, approaches the million dollar mark in earnings with his fists during the past four years.

Louis' earnings were peaked in New York in 1935 by the $240,833.39, which was his share of the Max Baer gate. For his first fight Louis was paid $50.00 and adding all that up to date he has earned exactly $942,061.37.

This figure, of course, covers only payment for actual fighting. He has probably exceeded the $1,000,000 mark by way of the movies, exhibitions and indorsements.

This is Louis' second defense of his title within a month. He will be aiming at his thirty-eighth victory in thirty-nine fights.

To date there have been found only two people who believe Thomas can lick the champion, Thomas and his manager. This contention is based on the fact that Thomas stayed eight rounds with Max Schmeling once. Tomorrow night's bout is a scheduled fifteen rounder, but experts predict it will go only four rounds at the most.

This bout is a tune-up for Louis' major defense of his title against Max Schmeling, his only nemesis in 4-years. That match will be held in June, possibly in Detroit or Chicago, but most definitely not in New York, where anti-Nazi boycotts would depreciate the gate.

Louis is in "fine shape" co-manager Julian Black revealed.

Rules under which the battle will be fought were agreed on last week. The no foul rule will be in force. In event of a low blow the referee will confer with the judges as to whether the boxer guilty of the foul should lose the round. If a boxer is knocked out of the ring, a 20 count will apply. The 10 count rule will be used for other knockdowns. The gloves will weigh 6 1-8 ounces.

On the supporting card are four colored fights. Elza Thompson, 1937 Golden Gloves Indianapolis heavyweight champion who has been a pro less than a year, fights Abe Simon, white. George Nicholson, Joe's favorite sparring partner meets Buddy Knox, white. George Dixon II, known as the "Negro lightweight champion," boxes Johnny Stevens, Dave Clark, Golden Gloves middleweight champion, in 1935, scraps with Bill Palmer in the 175 pound class.

FARLEY--

raised for him by interested parties. The prosecuting attorney has not been named as yet by the district attorney's office.

Trial date will be set at tomorrow's arraignment, forty or fifty days in the future, it is believed. During that time Farley will remain a prisoner in the airy jail department high above the city on the top floor of the Hall of Justice.

When an Eagle reporter visited Farley last Tuesday, he was led out by an armed deputy into the reception room where the eager conversation of other prisoners and visitors made the room a veritable bee-hive. He was dressed in the regulation denim. He looked physically fit with the exception of his right arm, which rested on a splint and was done up in a sling. That arm was shattered by police bullets in the duel which followed the fatal shooting of the two officers who were evicting him from his home at 1741 E. 23rd Street

Farley has a massive physique and even the rigors of fighting for his life, which was almost terminated by eight bullet punctures in different parts of his body, and the confinement in jail, have not dissipated it. His close-cropped hair is considerably greyed, however, as is his mustache and bristly beard.

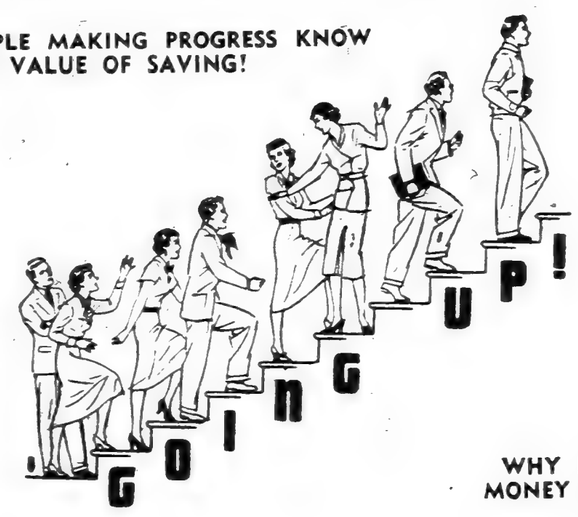
ANSWERS VAGUE

His answer to questions which were necessarily cautiously put because of the sensitive frame of mind Farley still is in, were kindly, but vague.

He continually rubbed his hand across his unshaven chin and talked through his fingers.

When the reporter asked "why he did it", he gave an embarrassed and disparaging laugh, more a nervous grimace than an expression of mirth, and looking away, said, "I dunno".

Then his conversation grew more general as he talked about the movements of the evicting officers on the fatal morning, February 17th.



The reporter observed that the thing that seemed uppermost in his mind was the officers moving his possessions about.

"I told them they hadn't ought to do that," he said. "They were piling my things up", he mumbled.

Interested citizens, white and colored, in sympathy with the unfortunate killer, have formed a Farley Defense committee and are attempting to raise funds to insure the best possible defense for him, whom they believe to be a victim of circumstances.

Chatter and . . . Some News

By HELEN F. CHAPPELL

"Don't do anything today that you can put off until tomorrow" . . . came a bantering tone over the "phone Saturday noon. Being taken aback at such an odd salutation, I ejaculate primly, "What!"

"Do you know who wrote that? . . . You're Miss Chappell, aren't you?"

"Yes, but . . . er, I don't know; I think you're mixed up," and before I could ask who my interrogator was . . . the voice volunteered all in one breath.

"You went to Wilberforce . . . you're a member of the class of '36 . . . well, this is Jimmy Woods . . . 'member?"

"Jim . . . me-e-e-e!" and all my cultivated equilibrium went the way of the wind in the excitement of hearing a classmate's voice . . . a valued friend of one close to me . . . tsk . . . not too, too? And so a grand week-end began . . . Jimmy coming to renew old memories of the best days in life . . . 10:30 and off (reluctantly, yet gladly) to the Westside to snooze until five a. m. Five-thirty, off with the motorcade instigated by Mrs. Emily Portwig . . . to Palm Springs, desert resort, where the salt of the earth gets a peak at the place where celebrities go . . . if not at the dear celebs . . . in the flesh.

ITCHES AND ETCHINGS:

The former being caused by the love of nature that spurred the young and others to scramble up and over rocks . . . hanging on to anything in reach to gain the top of an overgrown hill and look down . . . down on clear crystal pools bubbling over white rock and ivory rock . . . swirling 'round magnfiicent palm and filtering through first florescenes. NURSES TO OPEN NEGRO HEALTH WEEK PROGRAM WITH TEA AT 'Y'

The Adloyho Nurses club will open the Los Angeles National Negro Health Week with a literary tea at the Twelfth Street Branch YWCA on Sunday afternoon, April 3, from four to seven.

MRS. PAUL PIERPOINT PAYNE, the former Lillian Brazley, and first bride of the Spring. Mrs. Payne is a graduate of Chapman college and is a Delta Sigma Theta soror.

Decorations for the affair will carry out the club colors of pink and white both in flowers table arrangement. The hostesses will wear afternoon dresses of pastel shades and corsages of fresh gardenias; and Mmes. Clyde McCollum and Ross Wiggins, jr., will preside at the table.

The tea being the first public affair of the popular club of nurses, both registered and in training, is expected to draw a galaxy of civic, social and educational leaders. Two organizations, Temple Health Institute and the Outdoor Life and Health Association, will be recipients of the funds. Dr. Leonard Stovall of the latter organization will be the principal speaker of the afternoon. Other participants will represent the Temple Health Institute, the Medical Association, Advancement League and the Tuskegee Club.

Among the outstanding soloists will be Miss Evelyn Warren, Miss Amelia Chatman will serve as pianist throughout the afternoon, and Miss Ferrol Bobo heads the committee in charge of arrangements.

Lillian Brazley Bride of Paul Payne in Sunday Wedding

Miss Lillian Brazley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Brazley of Rico Heights, became the bride of Paul Pierpont Payne, son of T. Payne of Columbus, Ohio, in a pretty spring wedding in the bride's home at 1153 So. Kingsley Drive on Sunday afternoon, March 20. The Rev. Mr. E. E. Lightner, pastor of Lincoln Memorial Congregational Church performed the ceremony.

The bride was gowned in a white lace redingote over white taffetta with high neckline and wrist length sleeves; a three-quarter length veil of tulle caught above her brow with orange blossoms lost its soft folds in the redingtoe train. Her bouquet was of lillies of the valley and her shoes of white satin cut on sandal lines. She was attended by Mrs. Sydnetta Dones-Smith as matron of honor who wore blue net with a coat jacket of rose and caried a bouquet of tulips; Miss Viola Brazley, the bride's sister as maid of honor in pink net, bolero jacket and matching veil and a v-shaped garland of pansies in her hair and a bouquet of pansies; and Mrs. Ruby Johnson-Braxton as bridesmaid in yellow net, bolero jacket and veil. She also wore a v-shaped garland of pansies in her hair and carried a shower bouquet.

Little Miss Agatha Bellamy was flower girl and wore peach net and carried a nosegay of assorted spring flowers, while little Miss Mary Ann Brazley, in apricot net, niece of the bride carried the bridal train; and James Anthony Braxton, ringbearer, wore a white double breasted suit of gabardine.

The bride's mothers, Mrs. Lillian Brazely was lovely in pink rose point lace.

Serving as hostesses to the three hundred guests who attended the reception were Mmes. Mamie Waugh, Edward Atkinson, J. O. Marshill, Maude Johnson, Stella Turner, Clara Taylor; Misses Martha Wauh and Vera Henderson.

Immediately preceding the ceremony, solos were rendered by Mrs. C. D. Frederick and Miss Violet Aldridge accompanied by Mrs. Lauretta Butler. The candelabra setting was enhanced by white tulips and white stock.

The bride attended Fisk University one year and completed her collegiate work at Chapman College. She is a member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority. The groom is employed in Hollywood. They are at home in South Kingsley Drive.

'TWEEN TROY & WESTWOOD

By EDYTH MEAUX

Notes from a columnist's diary: Saturday, March 26, 1938

Gee, another week . . wonder what the Bruins and Trojans are up to over the week end . . . maybe nothing in which case there won't be nothing to write about and I can't write nothing about nothing . . . now can I?

No such happening though . . Remembered just in time that Ucla's university club meeting was over at Jo Blodgett's house so dashed madly over to get in on the festivities of the sort of get-acquainted meeting.

Tom Berkley and Tom Bradley were both there . . . looked all fresh and everything but I know they must have been plenty tired after their fine exhibition in the track meet 'gainst Arizona.

Otis Bowdoin made a nice host . . . Noticed how he saw to it that Geneva Arnette and Dr. Cotten were well taken care of in the refreshment line . . . Saw vice-prexy Hugh Macbeth welcoming new people from the campus as he strolled around with Betty Bratton.

Found a nice comfortable spot where I could observe without being observed and was almost sat on by Prexy Donald Derricks and Charlotte Hartsfield who most apologetically declared that they didn't see me . . . Nancy Harris, from all outward appearances, was enjoying herself thoroughly with Harold Garibaldi . . . Caught a glimpse of Vernon Spaulding and Cora Tucker, the new little co-ed from Pennsylvania who is majoring in chemistry out at Westwood.

Discovered Johnny Simmons betraying Troy by escorting Bruinette Gwen Jones for the evening . . . Likewise Bill Williams, forsaking all loyalty for Troy, was enjoying his evening among the Uclans.

Wondered what the intense conversation between Bill Beverly, Anna Rosa Broyles, and Fay and Tilman Thomas was all about . . . Found out they were just doing a bit of serious planning on the Easter meeting.

Was finally ferretted out of my comfortable hiding place by Victoria Caston who pointed out Westwood's newest campus additions among whom were Billy Faulkner . . . Frank Matthews . . Harold Sinclair . . . Clifford Johnson and Alzalia Aliewine.

Nice meetings these Bruins have . . . must make a note to go again sometime . . . if I'm invited.

Sunday, March 27 . . .

Didn't finish that essay which I started out to complete at exactly 8 a. m. this morning but did my quota of lung exercises for the week up at the Elks during the final game between Bojangles and the Million Dollar Production.

Rubeline Glover and Ed Boyd were really enthusiastically doing their share of rooting as was Theron Kirk, voted the most loyal Bojangles fan by all spectators anywhere within the range of his continuous lusty-voiced "I'm for you, Bojangles" . . .

Noticed Dorothy Arnaud and George Lee as they courted suicide by engaging in such enthusiastic rooting while perched precariously on the edge of the planks . . . Elaine Archer and Rudolph LeBlanc, limp from having already watched two other games took in the last game a little on the quiet side . . . . Couldn't quite figure out June Baker, and Bob Craddock's unusual quiet demeanor, but from the sympathetic gazes which they were eliciting from George Roland I came to the conclusion that it must have been the result of that Victorville sun-tan which both were sporting after having spent the day on horseback with the rest of Les Bonbonieres club up at Murray's Ranch . . . . Dorothy and Bertha Tabor looked surprisingly fresh though even after the long trip.

Almost fell through those (censored) planks while waving to the Georgia Williams-Nolan Payton . . .Shirley and Freddie Billups and Florence and Joe Hutchinson sextet.

The game waxed so exciting forgot to look around to see who else was there but remember seeing Grover Ake with the Simpson sisters . . . the John Longs . . Marion Forsythe and Era Larieu, Roy Glenn, Victor Nickerson and Wilma Brown.

Kathryn Banks in Hospital

Kathryn Banks, 12 year-old daughter of Mrs. Georgia Banks, Eastside Beautician, is in the General Hospital wher she was rushed after suffering a bursted appendix.

SWIM SEASON IS UNDERWAY AT MURRAY'S RANCH

The swimming pool at the Murray's Dude Ranch in Victorville was invaded Sunday. Alfred Trice, manager of the Hi-De-Ho Cocktail Lounge, was the first to brave the pool . . . and so the season began! Sunday saw members of the Les Bonboniere Social Club and twelve friends and the Smart Set Social club as guests for the day. Horseback riding was the principal diversion of the day.

Guests at the ranch included Mrs. Bessie W. Dones, violinist, in company with her daughter and husband.

20 Sportsmen to Swing at Club Alabam

The Twenty Sportsmen, purposing to open the Club Alabam two nights weekly to give employment to waiters and musicians, will swing the spring show in with a dance that promises to attract socialites on Easter Sunday night, April 17. Baron Moorhead and his Twelve Barons of Swing will reign in the orchestra pit with a floor show featuring Herbie Jeffries, singing star of "Harlem on the Prarie" capping the entertainment.

The club originated among a gorup of men formerly employed at the Alabam who liked to fish, hunt and play golf. The first public affair was staged last Mother's Day when they presented stage and screen celebrities: Mr. and Mrs. Bill Robinson, Louise Beavers, Tip Tap and Toe, Earl Hines, Ida Mae James, Art Tatum, Lindy Hoppers and the Four Hot Shots . . . it turned out to be one of the biggest shows ever staged by a club on the coast.

President of the popular score is "Lefty" Blackwell; Jesse Colbert is secretary, and Kenneth Hinds, treasurer and business manager.

M. C. Conways Celebrate

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Conway of 2029 W. 28th street, celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary this week.

Married at Harrisburg, Texas, March 21, 1888, the couple has resided in Los Angeles since 1919.

They are the parents of Detective E. A. Conway and Mrs. Cora Henry of this city, and Dr. William Conway of Missouri.

Mr. Conway was one of the leading realtors in Los Angeles until illness caused his retirement several years ago.

SOCIALITES PREPARE FOR FRAT BASKETBALL CLASSIC AT ELKS' HALL

While Chairman Dunbar Hunt of Kappa Alpha Psi and James Robinson, of Alpha Phi Alpha, are going through their final paces in launching the cream of the season's basketeering, socialites are donning their swankiest sports togs for Sunday night, April 3, when the two fraternities will renew friendly rivalry. The game, the first in three or four years will not only climax the basket ball season, but will probably prove a high point in the weekly fashion parade.

The black and gold of Alpha and the crimson and gold of Kappa will dominate the rooting sections to be marked by streamers, penants . .and sweethearts in colorful attire. Two young ladies will serve as cheer leaders. In the Kappa section, trim Almena Davis of the EAGLE and the Eaglets Basketball team will keep that "good ole Kappa Spirit" in tow; while Betty Smith (if Jimmy Robinson shows her the point) will 'egg' the "Ape" fans on.

Immediately following the game, lads may whirl their lassines to the tune of swing music by a local orchestra. he game and dance will be held in the

ANGELO OBSERVES THAT:

Mrs. Charles Crook, wife of the prominent Chicago mortician, continues to bask in the friendly sunspray of our California scene . . . though I am afraid that, before very long we shall have reluctantly to bid her goodbye . . . inasmuch as late spring will find her amid the surroundings beloved of Chicago's year-round residents . . . and so does Chicagoan Frank Edwards find an undeniable welcome in the Southland . . . what with friends . . . former Chicagoans themselves . . et. al . . he's having no dull time of it . . . to all appearances the famous singing ensemble that is Hall Johnson's grows finer in performance with each new engagement . . . witness their last Sunday's concert and you have what I mean . . . the choir is now in the throes of preparation for its forthcoming concert at the Wilshire Ebell heatre . . . full information will be included later for the large numbers of us who will want to go along . . . and speaking musically . . . many thanks to a deserving, musically top-notch friend who sends along an expreTssion of gratitude . . . hose contemporaries who find herein something worthy of inclusion pay me an entirely undue compliment . . . I hasten to beg off . . . Elijah Hodges, baritone member of the Hall Johnson Choir, was the featured soloist during last Sunday's evening service at Scott Methodist Episcopal Church, Pasadena . . .

Miss Paullyn Garner hostessed the sub-deb members of her Linger-Not Club . . . last Saturday afternoon. . . in the rooms and hall of the Garner Foundation in Blake Street . . . with quite a coterie of our future debutantes present . . . Mmes. Jordan, Skillman and Garner chaperoned the group and lent advice during the business session of the club . . . afterwards there was a delightful supper to be enjoyed, games to be played on the Foundation lawn and a general free for all "taking turns" bicycling up and down Blake St. . . . members Nancy Balch, Gloria Russell, Gloria Roberts, Elizabeth Garrott, Yvonne Cole, Florence Cole, Jennard Worsham and Roberta Scott were joined later by Gloria Mimms, Lucille Fairfax, her brother; Roger Dickerson, Billy Boykins and Arthur Callier . . . young friends of Paullyn's . . . to join in the fun.

Mrs. Grace Boswell of East wenty-eighth Street, Los Angeles entertained on Saturday for a party of distinguished friends who are visiting the Southland . . . the clerically important Rev. Penick, Chicago minister and officer of the National Baptist Convention, Inc., of which the Rev. Lacey Kirk Williams is the renowned president; the Rev. John Branham, young Baptist divine who gives creditable promise of making a name as illustrious as that of his father, the Rev. John H. Bhanham of Chicago; Mrs. Willie H. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Reese H. Hicks, Thomas J. Duckett . . . the party spent most of the day motoring through the Southland countryside . . . including the sylvan beauty of Forest Lawn in the itinerary . . and a later on visit with your coulminist at the Garner Center . . . where Mrs. Garner exerted herself capably as hostess . . . serving tea to the guests in a manner thoroughly reminiscent of the beautiful years in England . . . and conversation, the while, barked back to the days spent in Chicago . . . continuing until well toward dusk . . . that evening Mrs. Boswell opened her home in Twenty-eighth street . . . asking in additional guests for a clever and delectable Spanish supper party . . . to round out a day that gave honors to the Reverends Penick and Branham . . . the following morning Mr. and Mrs. Rese H. Hicks, who have a charming place out South Los Angeles way, entertained twenty or more guests at breakfast . . . the Hickses courtesy was also given to honor Rev. Penick and Rev. Branham.

STYLE NOTES

For style accent and individual taste this week let's turn to an often neglected but definite note of dress--the sleeve and sleevelessness . . . on which the smartness of many an outfit depends. Your sleeve like your colors and patterns should be chosen for background, occasion, personality, and, of course, figure. Blessed, indeed, are those fortunate few who have perfectly moulded figures and know the secret of making the most of them . . . who can be the belle of the ball in a dream gown with dropped shoulders or go sleeveless with a high decollete according to preference letting the degree of fullness depend on height and headdress. This chat is designed for flat chested ladies who must don sleeves balloon like design or minaiture cartwheel proportions; who dare not purchase the simplest frock less there be some action in the sleeve; and for those buxom ones who must match their wits in pitting height against width. First and unchangeable rule for the flat bosomed . . . avoid sleevelessness for any and all occasions . . wear will o' the wisp shee sleeves in your afternoon frocks or ruffled-edged cuffs on straight ones that end at or above the elbow; wear bows, and if you like wear long sleeves fitted at the wrist, let them be generous from shoulder to forearm or offset your lack of roundness with pleats and buttons. Choose your sleeve to keep the eye away from the place where nature has been stingy or a bit too generous. In the latter instance, you'll find long tailored sleeves with the action below your elbow or at the cuff your best bet . . . and for you too were created the brief insertions at the shoulder that end in from one to three pleats at a point that hides the muscle in your arm.

Spring tea hostesses, strike a dramatic note in dressing your arms with action and color . . . complete your attire with a bracelet if you like or let the sleeve speak for itself. If rightly treated it will speak volumes . . . in your favor.

YOUNG WOMEN'S CLUB PLANS TEA TO AID OUTDOOR LIFE ASS'N

The regular meeting of the Young Women's club of Hamilton M. E. church, was held on last Wednesday evening, with Mrs. Elizabeth Hall as hostess. Plans were completed for the church and pastor's 19th anniversary that was held last Monday night.

Plans are also in progress for the tea to be given at the home of Miss Ruby C. Jefferson on Sunday, April 24, proceeds from which will go to the Outdoor Life and Health association.

Delicious refreshments were served, after which the meeting adjourned to meet with Mrs. Lottie Jones.

THE SNOOPER

By LUCILLE MARIAN DYE

Hello chumps! As I am writing this, the wind is blowing terrificly outside, but that still does not keep me from writing and telling you all I know about you or somebody else. May we pause for a bit of society notes: We're Glad to See—Mrs. Z. B. Banks, popular society matron of 3734 S. Gramercy Pl. home from Phoenix, Ariz. where she spent the week end with friends and relatives. She was the house guest of Mrs. Juanita Dickey who is very prominent there. She was elaborately entertained by the following: Miss Elizaebth Crump and her mother with a pre-Easter breakfast-luncheon, Mrs. Sally Bush and Mr. Webster Readue were also there from L. A.; Dr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Crump entertained her with a dinner party, and the elites of society: Mesdames Burley Readue, Fred V. Williams, Lloyd D. Dickey, Thomas A. Crump and others, were hostesses to her at a picnic at Pabago Park, which proved very successful.

Now for the Gossip of the Week—Guess I'll start off with a little sports news: The inter-class track meet at Jeff proved very successful with many debs and etc. there; from other schols, to see how their power was this year Well, let me tell you! They are going to star this year 'cause they have some mighty fine stuff on the team . . . John O'Neal seems to be following in his brother's footsteps in track, he does exceptionally well in high jumping . . . We have hopes of seeing good competition between George Allen of Jeff and Neale Collins of L. A. Hi. So far George Allen hasn't broken the record that Neale set when he went to Jeff . . Theron Kirk seems to be going back to Beverly Hills, what happened Evelyn?? . . . Chuck Burris seems to have left the two chicks in L. A. for the certain two chicks in Pasadena, for why Chuck, for why?? . . . Francis Garland and Josephine Campbell seems to have really struck the real thing, at last, in romance. I wonder does this have a small effect on Frank Matthews?? We wonder what happen to Louie Hamilton?? . . . Wonder what Almo Phelps is doing these days, still giving every gal he meets po fellow why don't you stay settled for a while!! . . . The new Teddy Wilson is Bill Safier of New York out here on a limited engagement, meanwhile spending two weeks in Palm Springs.

Put This on Your Don't Miss It List: The girl reserves from all over are planning a skating party for April the 23rd to be held at the Shrine auditorium, so be sure and be on hand, and now for what you've been waiting for so long: Kappas "Kats" vs. Alphas "apes" basketball game, this is really going to be a killer because they're suppose to be such rivals, to be held on April 3 at the Elks auditorium. See ya there (I hope) . . . What's this we hear about Bill Tabor and Thelma Hughes, what happened to Veda Darby, Bill?? It seems as though Perry Jenkins has been seen quite a bit over on 35th st. could it be because of Maxine Side?? . . . The latest thing in cars is posing, owned by none other than Edmund Prescott, his car (if you might call it that) goes a block and then stops, it's also said that after a bit of jive and flattery he'll take you any where you want providing you buy that one necessity, gas, but you got something there Ed, and if I may say so this lessens the roll of that second fiddles jive.

Just Heard That: Chick Webb and Ella Fitzgerald can be heard every Saturday on KECA at 3:45 p. m. . . . Algy Landry says he will play first fiddle or nothing at all in the life of Dot. Herron . . That fat sweet LaMar Payne is back in town, guard your hearts girls he's a rich man! . . . Clarence Smith was seen not so long ago at a certain chick's house in Pasadena, by the way, what happened to that so called engagement of yours? Lots of people have been asking me when my sis, Celia Dye, is going to get "hitched" to Arthur McNealy, well! how should I know I'm not their keeper . . so much for that bull until I bore you next week here's hoping you've enjoyed my column, this week.

Sanitarium Tea to Enlist Legion Women's Aid

By GEORGE GARNER

The several hundred Pasadenans and Angelenos who last year avowed their interest in Pasadena's Grace Sanitarium and Nursing Home to the extent of attendance to last year's Palm Sunday tea and reception well over the one thousand mark, will be equally interested to know that this year's subscription tea is also scheduled for Palm Sunday, April 10th; and will take place within the hall of the Garner Foundation, 470 Blake Street, from four until seven o'clock.

Members of Women's Auxiliary to Crown City Post No. 536 have signified their willingness to assist for the success of the affair; among them, Mmes. Charles Perry, Harold Nelson, Barney Durham, W. C. Crutcher, Herman Moore and J. H. McRiley.

Splendid efforts are being made by Mmes. Ada Irby Brownlee, Sharnette Floyd, B. Railsback, Eva Burton and the several other members of the Sanitarium Women's Auxiliary, to aid in making the reception tea even more outstanding and well-attended than that given last year.

Dr. Brandon A. T. Bowlin, leading Crown City physician-surgeon; Drs. Edna L. Griffin, Pasadena specialist in women's and children's diseases; and J. H. McRiley, Pasadena surgeon together with leading white physicians comprise the Sanitarium staff of which Dr. Bowlin is the head.

Funds garnered from the reception tea will be used for the good of Sanitarium patients who are unable to pay for necessary hospitalization.

BRIDGE POINTS

By M. L. MILLIGAN

Responses to last week's questions:

1 A no trump response to a opening suit bid of one is not a negative response when there is a part-score of 30-40 or 50, it is usually a forcing bid for one round, and can be depended on in most cases as a trap bid.

Under such circumstances as the above, if there is an intervening bid, and declarer pass, it is a force to the original no-trump response. The other situation under which a pass is a force is: South one spade, West pass, North three spades, East four clubs, South pass, North must bid.

3 A four card length is worth a half of playing trick because if distribution is normal, after the suit is played three times; it will hold the last card in that suit.

4 With seven cards of the same suit, in the two hands, the normal distribution is 4-2, 48 times in 100 deals, 3-3, 36 times, 5-1, 15 times, and 6-0, 1 time in 100 deals.

5 A jump re-bid in a new suit is forcing to game and has five or more honor-tricks with two biddable suits, and eight or nine sure winners.

6 An attacking over-call is a bid of one more than necessary take out double, an immediate bid in opponents suit-by far the most powerful defensive bid.

7 An opening one no-trump bid must have four honor tricks, and not more than five honor-tricks in at least three suits, and 4-3-3-3 distribution and nothing better than a four card minor biddable suit.

Well bridgers how well did you do.

CLARENCE JOHNSON SPEAKS FOR SUPPER MEETING

"Current rends in Labor" was discussed by Clarence R. Johnson at a supper meeting sponsored by the Coffee Hour Girls, Business Girls League and the Business and Professional Women's Club. A lively discussion followed the presentation. Two piano selections were rendered by Miss Eugenia Caldwell. Toy Loan Nears Goal With Eight Hundred Playthings

The Eastside Toyrartan sponsored by the South Central District of the Los Angels County Department issued an appeal for 200 toys this week. According to the committee in charge of securing the playthings, a total of 800 toys have been contributed . . . and the next 200 MUST be obtained within the next week to open the library on schedule.

Already toys have been given by several P. T. A. groups through principals of neighborhood schools, several social clubs the American Legion and a number of individuals. The committee emphasizes that the toys need not be new, but must be repairable and durable and non-military—no guns, soldiers etc. Organizations and persons desiring to make donations are urged to call Adams 11605, Vandike 3627, or the Coordinating Council at Prospect 4921 and the toys will be picked up. Contributors may also bring their donations to the Avalon Christian Church, 43rd and Avalon Boulevard where the East side institution will be housed. Toys will be lent without charge and disinfected before use by respective borrowers. Mrs. Chrystabell Hunt Armstrong is the chairman of the group.

ABYSSINIA BAPTIST CHURCH INCORPORATED LAST SUNDAY

Dr. T. L. Griffith Speaks On 'Unity of the Spirit'

Abyssinia Baptist church, 42nd and Hooper avenue, held its incorporation services Sunday afternoon, March 27, at three o'clock, with Dr. T. L. Griffith, pastor of Second Baptist church, in the pulpit.

Dr. Griffith preached on "The Unity of the Spirit" and emphasized the advisability of the church following its slogan, "Not quantity, but quality". Rev. L. D. Stevens, pastor of the newly-incorporated church, praised the membership and official boards on the work done since the organization of the institution on December 3, 1936.

The trustee board of the church completed the final details of incorporation with the state authorities on January 11, and Sunday's program marked formal celebration of the work. Mr. Johnson served as master of ceremonies presenting among others: Miss Young in a paper on incorporation; and the Second Baptist Choir under the direction of Mme. T. Outley. Evening services were conducted by the senior choir of Abyssinia with a sermon by Rev. Reed.

Services at the Seventh Day Adventist church, 40th place and Wadsworth Ave., are held every Sabbath (Saturday) with the Sabbath school at 9:25 a. m., and the pastor speaks at 11 a. m. This week his subject is "The Woman at the Well". Sunday night at 8 p. m. will be the first service in the Week of Health program, with a special screen lecture on "Cheating the Undertaker". Scores of the latest pictures will be used to direct every mind to the subject.

Rev. E. E. Lightner, pastor, Lincoln Memoral Congregational church, Vernon and Hooper, will deliver the fifth sermon in the Lenten series, "Following the Trail of Jesus". Sunday's subject is, "His Way of Keeping Fit". The Lord's Supper will be administered at the close of the service. In the evening there will be an open forum on "Advantages of Church Membership".

At Hamilton M. E. church, E. 18th St. and Naomi Ave., Rev. S. M. Beane, pastor, will deliver the communion meditation; Holy Communion will be administered at 11:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Passion Week services will be held beginning Sunday evening, April 10.

A recital by the Samuel Houston college a capella choir highlighted the day at Wesley M. E. church, Eighth and San Julian streets, Rev. E. W. Rakestraw, pastor. Dr. Rakestraw will speak Sunday morning from the subject, "Divine Reciprocity"; in the evening, he will discuss, "Living Up to the Label". Holy Communion will be administered both at the morning and evening hour.

St. Paul Baptist Church
21st and Naomi
S. A. Williams, Pastor

"After Death, What?" was the subject of Rev. Williams' sermon Sunday morning. The evangelical choir under the direction of Mrs. Beulah Shepherd, rendered music for the service. At three o'clock, a meeting was held in the Bible Temple, and a meditation and confession period was held. These meetings will continue each Sunday afternoon.

In the evening, Rev. E. A. Anderson spoke on "The Sanctified Life and What It Means" and the senior choir, directed by Miss Amanda Woods, sang. There were two accessions at the close of the service. The Wednesday night Bible movement and the Missionary movement on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock are held regularly in the Bible Temple.

APRIL SHOWERS BRING TEA HOURS

The choir of Birch St. Christian Church is sponsoring a tea of unusual merit, at the home of Mrs. Sudie May, 955 East 10th Street, Sunday, April 3rd, hours 3 to 7.

A very enjoyable musical program is promised by outstanding talent of the city. All members and friends are invited to attend.

Rev. Harris Praises Bethel AME

Rev. Frank Harris, presiding elder of the Los Angeles District of the African Methodist Episcopal church, praised the phenomenal progress of the Bethel A. M. E. church under the leadership of Rev. Arthur A. Moore who has made greater progress in so short a period. This was cited at the quarterly conference held by the presiding elder Monday evening, March 28.

Among the accomplishments during the last six months are a new parsonage purchased and completely furnished; new pews in the church auditorium; new altar drapes; and the newly-painted and redecorated interior. Reports showed that all these with the exception of the parsonage have been paid for in full; and all club and auxiliaries are active. Financial income since January 9 was reported to be $1005.56. There have been twenty-two accessions since the annual conference.

Laud Breakfast Club Musicale

Standing room wasat a premium last Sunday afternoon at Independent church when the Women's Breakfast Club sponsored the regular fourth Sunday musical of the Senior Choir of the church.

Educational and thoroughly huge audience was captivated by the superb renditions, with Mrs. Faustina Johnson presiding for the Club.

One of the highlights of the program was the appearance of the A'Capella Choir of Jordan high school with other outstanding musical talent of the city. he choir was directed by Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew.

Manila Guest Honored

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Alexander of East 52nd St. honored their guest, Miss Francis Johnson of Manila, Philipine Islands with a twilight supper Sunday followed with music, games and dancing by candle light. Miss Johnson now making her home in the States is an adopted sister to Miss Ethel M. Alexander, author and poetess.

VESPER OCTETTE'S INITIAL RECITAL

The initial recital of the Vesper Octette supported by the Treble choir of fifty voices under the direction of Mrs. Anna Griffith Marrow was received by a capacity audience on Tuesday evening, March 22.

The program began at 8:30 with Geneva Mae Bass at the organ in "To The Spring" by Grieg . . . the processional was made up of a daisy chain of fifty ladies formally attired with Kathrine Freemand and Betty Davis as attendants. Dr. W. D. Carter of Pasadena offered the invocation and Miss Dorothea Austin of Chicago was guest hostess of the evening.

The reportoire of the evening included such favorites as "Would God I Were A Tender Blossom", "Come To My Garden", "By the Bend of the River" and "He Gave Me a Rose." Members of the octette and choir were gowned in evening dresses; the octette's gowns being made of varying pastel shades of tafetta with touches of rhinestones and violet corsages on their wrists. They were Margerete Pett, Rosie Talbert, Florence Crowley, Katherine Linsey, Esther Griffith, Margrete Hearon, Consuelo Van Vactor, and Sara Johnson. Soloists were Julia Moore, Margrete Pett, Thelma Pruitt, Willie Mays, Alice Pruitt, Emma Smock, violinist; Diette Gross, whistler; Robert V. Edwards, accompanist; and Benzell Graham in original poetry.

Mrs. Morrow has directed the vesper choir for two years

COLLEGE OCTETTE TO SING SUNDAY

The Live Wire Club of the People's Independent Church of Christ will present the Samuel Houston College Octette in a recital Sunday, April 3, at four o'clock in the church auditorium. The group is from Samuel Houston College in Houston, Texas, and is directed by Edward Staling. There will be no admission charge, but a silver offering will be asked.

ZION TEMPLE CHURCH
1315 E. Vernon Ave.
Bishop Butler, Pastor

On Sunday morning, the first Sabbath in April, the rite of holy communion will be observed, and the right hand of fellowship extended to all new members. Sunday school convenes as usual at 9:45 a. m.

A class in "Truth", taught by Mrs. Lillian Fleming will be held from 6 to 7 p. m. This class is just being organized. All truth-seekers are cordially invited to enroll. Beginning promptly at 7 o'clock, the juniors of Zion Temple will hold their monthly forum and discuss the following subject: "Should a Child Be Indebted to His Parents When He Reaches Maturity?" Come out, grown-ups, you may learn something from these children.

Church services begin promptly at 8 o'clock. Bishop Butler will speak from the subject, "Walk as Children of Light". A highly spiritual altar and candlelight service will mark the close of this meeting. Public cordially invited. Meditation thought for the week, "For the Lord God is a sun and a shield. The Lord will give grace and glory. No good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly."

INTEREST GROWS IN "JOBS" CONFERENCE

Interest in the "Jobs" Conference being sponsored by the Soputhside Youth Coordinating Council is gaining impetus it was announced this week by the program and publicity committees. The conference will be held at three o'clock in the afternoon on Sunday, April 10, at the Avalon Christian Church. Points of consideration and discussion will be "Youth and Relief", "Jobs in Private Industry" and "Civil Service Opportunities."

IN CALL TO CHURCH

The Presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church, the Right Reverend Henry St. George Tucker, D. D., who is also the Bishop of Virginia has just issued a statemen calling his Church to interest and cooperation in the Fiftieth Anniversary Celebration, May 1, 2, and 3, of St Paul Normal School, at Lawrenceville, Virginia, the largest of the nine schools operated under the American Church Institute for Negroes,—a chain of institutions comprising the largest single educational project for Negroes of the South.

NEW LEADER

Today St. Paul School goes on under the leadership of the Rev. J. Alvin Russell, son of the founder. It has eight departments: Kindergarten, Elementary or Practice School, fully accredited Junior and Senior High Schools, Normal School for teachers (fully accredited by Virginia and North Carolina Boards of Education), Trade School, and Agricultural Departments.

'Unreality' to Be Science Subject

"Unreality" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Christian Science Churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist in Boston, Mass. The Golden Text is from I John: "The world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever."

One of the Bible citations in the Lesson-Sermon presents these words from the Psalms: "Oh that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men! . . . They that go down to the sea in ships, that do business in great waters; These see the works of the Lord, and his wonders in the deep. . . He maketh the storm a calm, so that the waves thereof are still."

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, state: "We must learn that evil is the awful deception and unreality of existence. Evil is not supreme; good is not helpless; nor are the socalled laws of matter primary, and the law of Spirit secondary . . . The Psalmist saith: 'The Lord on high is mightier than the noise of many waters, yea, than the mighty waves of the sea.'"

MINISTERS' WIVES

The Interdenominational Minister's Wives Council of Los Angeles and Vicinity held an open house in the Y. W. C. A. Wednesday, March 23, in observation of the council's birthday.

Fern and flowers predominated the scene and seven pink and green candles were complimented by sweet peas of corresponding colors. Mrs. Florence Harris presented a program in which the following participated: Mmes Lucille M. Williams, Jean Shaw, and Florence Gordon. Introductions and games followed. The next meeting will be held April 13 at 412 Bay St.; Santa Monica with Mmes. Mary Stout, Myrtle Bircher as co-hostesses.

The Girl Reserve Mother's Council will serve tea on Sunday, April 3rd from 3 to 5 p. m. at the Branch. All mothers of Girl Reserves and those interested in the growth of girls into an expression of a fuller and better life. Mrs. Ruth Jones is chairman of the Council.

Laud Hamilton, Rev. Beane at Closing Anniversary Fete

Climaxing a week of celebration of the 19th anniversary of Hamilton M. E. church at its present location on the corner of East 18th street and Naomi avenue and the Rev. S. M. Beane as pastor of the church, members of Hamilton, local ministers and friends lauded the work accomplished by the pastor and church during that time last Monday night at a church reception.

The day before, Sunday, Bishop W. C. Brown, resident bishop of the Pacific area of the AME Zion church, preached an able anniversary sermon on "The Manifestation of Power Through Words". A large number of worshipers heard the nationally known preacher deliver his remarkable sermon.

Of Rev. Beane, the words "he is a man after God's own heart", uttered by Rev. Frank Harris of the AME church, characterized the praises of Hamilton's pastor at the reception.

Responding at the close of the fete, Rev. Beane recited the progress of the church and said, "A church cannot dip into this business and that business. A church's job is to revitalize men and women so that they might make a contribution to the development of the community in which they live. That is what we have tried to do."

Making brief remarks were Rev. Harris, Rev. J. L. Collins, Shaw Mission; Rev. E. E. Lightner, Congregational church; Baxter S. Scruggs, secretary, YMCA; Rev. E. W. Rakestraw, Wesley M. E. church; Rev. Page, CME church; Rev. Foster, Second Baptist church; Rev. Roles sr., Church of God; Rev. T. C. McCall, J. H. Shackleford, Independent church; Rev. Harris, Second AME church; Rev. Garrison, Holiness church; Dr. Lola.

Representing church departments were T. B. Norman, the church; Mrs. Cora Johnson, Ladies Home Missionary society; Mrs. Lucy Dimry, Foreign Missionary society; Mrs. Hallie Brown and Mrs. Artura Tyler Woman's Aid; Wm. Cobbs, Usher board; Mr. Kinsey, choir; Mrs. Mary Grimes, Sunday school; Mrs. Isabelle Clifton, Epworth league; Mrs. Bertha Dandridge, Maids and Matrons' Guild; and Miss Carmelita White, Young Women's club.

Presentations were made by Maids and Matrons Guild, money; Young Women's club, radio; Epworth league, gold cross.

The Young Women's club served as hostesses at the reception, over which Mrs. Lillian Fentress, club president, presided.

Alliance Hears Bishop Brown

Bishop W. C. Brown of the A. M. E. Zion Church spoke to the Interdenominational Ministers' Alliance in its regular monthly meeting Monday. He said among other things: that the Negro needs to conserve the religious ideals handed down to him by the fathers, that the Negro needs to establish more business. The commitete on Easter services reported and the meetings will be held in the Wesley Chapel Center.

The chairman of the committee of 25 was presented and elucidated on the functions of the group; he asked that an advisory committee on Easter services reed from the Alliance. Dr. J. L. Caston, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, 36th and Normandie, now in the midst of a "Better Church" campaign, was elected to represent the Alliance on the Committee of Twenty-five.

Dr. Penick and Mrs. Hooper, visitors, were presented to the body.

FORUM OF RELIGIOUS PHILOSOPHY EVERY SUNDAY

Rev. Anna McMillan announces a Forum of Religious Philosopy every Sunday from 3:30 to 5:30 Jeff. High School, 1312 E. 41st St. C. W. Davis will lecture. All are invited.

Independent Symposium Draws Many

Hundreds of enthusiastic listeners packed the main auditorium of the People's Independent Church of Christ last Monday night to hear Dr. J. C. Austin, pastor of Pilgrim Biptist church, Chicago, and Dr. Carl S. Knopf, dean of the School of Religion of the University of Southern California conduct a symposium on "Christianity in Race Relations." Presiding was Rev. Clayton D. Russell, minister of the church.

From time to time thunderous applause greeted the scholarly remarks of both speakers as they presented to the large audience views on the topic rarely heard from the public platform.

The meeting was said to be the greatest of its kind ever presented on the Eastside. A short program of music by the senior choir of the church preceded the discussion.

Because of the great ovation given the speakers, Rev. Russell promised another symposium shortly of the same high standard.

FRATERNAL ORDER HEARS SERMON

he Knights of Pythians and Courts of Calanthe held their annual thanksgiving sermon, Sunday, March 27, at the First A. M. E. Church, 8th and Towne avenue. Rev. H. ALPHAS AND KAPPAS MEET ON ELKS' CAGE COURT SUNDAY NITE

Greeks Revive Inter-Frat Games After Three-Year Lapse

To supply the still unsatisfied appetite of fans for basketball, Alpha Kappa Alpha and Kappa Alpha Psi fraternities will stage the first of a three-game series on Sunday night at the Elks' auditorium.

The fraternities move into the Elks' this Sunday night after the Million Dollar movie studio team, originators of Eastside games at the Elks, moved out, closing their season there last Sunday night.

The Greek Letter societies are thus reviving the inter-frat games that were played every season until three years ago at the Patriotic Hall. If all goes well, basketball will be listed on the fraternities' calendars for next winter's season and they claim they will enter the swing when the season first opens.

An unofficial frat championship will be conceded the winner of two games out the three, all to be played on successive Sunday's, commencing this week-end.

Recruited From League Teams

Players have been recruited from YMCA and League teams whose groups disbanded when the season closed two weeks ago.

Both teams are rather evenly matched with several experienced players to offset the rookies.

The Kappas will have experienced Al and Johnny Brewer and "Drippy" Williams, plus Johnny Randolph, Bill Six Sharp, Bob Green, Donald Derricks and Dunbar Hunt.

Alphas will have the inimitable Wilbur Ashford, and George Curry, plus dark horses such as Jimmie and Al Robinson, Perry Parks, Bill Lacefield, Kenny Washington and Feltenburg.

The Brewer boys and 'Drippy' were members of the old Kappa team that played in bygone days. Johnny and Al have been keeping in practice, playing for the 2Y8 varsity and Drippy has been a member of the Bojangles team.

Ashford has just completed the finest season of his basketball career, playing for the gold and blue colors of the tap dancer, Bill Robinson. Currie, although handicapped by size, made the varsity at Los Angeles Junior college two years ago.

The other lads are athletes at any rate so they shouldn't be so bad.

There is a good deal of conjecture going the rounds concerning the listing of Kenny Washington. From football, Kenny has advanced to baseball and stellar work at that, and from that he entered class B field events at the Westwood-track meet with Arizona last week. If he turns in a half creditable performance in basketball, fans says he should be given the title of the West Coast's number one athlete.

MILLION DOLLAR WINS MYTHICAL EASTSIDE CASABA CHAMPIONSHIP

Bojangles Play Thrilling Game, But Lose 40 to 33

By ALMENA DAVIS

Never before on the Eastside has there been basketball played as it was last Sunday night at the Elks' hall. All the adjectives could be applied to that game in which Bill Robinson's valiant Bojangles lost the mythical Eastside championship to the Million Dollar Productions' team, 40 to 33. It was thrilling, colossal, stupendous and heart-breaking and heart-straining too.

It was unprecedented, history-making and all the pet phrases rolled into one. It more than justified this display of unjournalistic-enthusiasm, I assure you.

Unprecedented, because witnessing it, was the largest crowd ever asembled under one roof on the Eastside for a sport event in which two race teams competed.

History making, because there was one of the finest displays of finesse, fire and all-around basketball ability exhibited anywhere in the city this season, even at a Stanford-S.C. game with Hank Luisetti thrown in for good measure.

Bill Robinson's quintet lost on the score board, but they won in the heart of the crowd. However, sentiment doesn't take away from the victory of the Million Dollar boys. And even the prediction that Million Dollar will be on the losing end next year, doesn't dim their glory. They have played marvelous basketball all season and doubly so last Sunday night.

The game was the third of a two out of three series to decide, unofficially, the championship of the Eastside. All season, Million Dollar outside the fold of the A. A.U. has defeated all comers. And at the same time, the Bojangles, playing within the confines of the A. A. U., have turned in almost as impressive a record, beaten only by the Olympic Games champions, the team of M. G. M. studio.

When the two met, spectators were as divided as the North and South in the Civil War. The first game was won by the Bojangles, the second the following Sunday, by Million Dollar.

ANYBODY'S GAME

From the start last Sunday night, it was anybody's ball game. Million Dollar led off with the first score, but Bojangles retaliated and the board was even until the third quarter.

At the start of that, the Bojangles unleashed a wild scoring spree, bottling up the Million Dollar sharp-shooters and bringing the crowd roaring to its feet as they flashed four points in the lead.

Then nobody saw it coming, but Father Myles and his cohorts must have seen the golden bauble, emblematic of the championship, receding, and made haste to capture it. One shot by forward Bert King started a rampage. "Father" dribbled in on the side for a one-handed shot. "Lank" Price dropped two free throws and then "Father" scuttled beneath everybody's legs to bucket two in quick success and the game was lost to the home boys.

It really should not have been the Bojangles' game anyway. Younger, less experienced and lacking the accuracy that comes of practice as a unit, they are nevertheless on their way up.

Old hands at the game, buddies who have been playing together for years, the Million Dollar team has just about reached its peak.

Next year Bojangles should be champions with small effort and the following summer, they should be considered seriously for the Olympic team. They have the finest basketball material on the West Coast, several young boys still in their teens and the majority of the others well under 25.

Wince King, who substituted for Francis Garland after the first quarter, potentially is the finest player on the Eastside. He has height and I'll wager he is still growing, speed, an eye that needs development and an indomitable fighting heart.

Garland, named all city center from Jefferson last month, has as much ability, but lacks King's confidence.

Wilbur Ashford, product of Jefferson high school and Los Angeles Junior college, all city prep guard, etc., was the best man on the floor Sunday night. He stuck to "Father" Myles, slippery little-big man of the Million Dollars, like a wet jersey. When "Father" did elude him, it was only because Wilbur was taking too much offensive in a desperate effort to get the ball out of the Million Dollar territory.

A bit over average height, stream-lined figure, except for bow-legs, Ashford's body coordination is absolutely perfect. He whirls, checks, feints, pivots and passes from every inconceivable angle.

High point man for the Bojangles was Kilgore, clumsy forward. Kilgore is a dynamo of energy, but he doesn't let his head save his heels. Although he made four field shots and two free shots, there were numerous attempts, that converted into passes, would have resulted in scores. He and Drippy Williams need the heavy hand of coaching and restraint.

Spot Thornton, husky guard, was a pillar of defense and good on the offensive. Spot's wind doesn't seem as good as the other boys' and he is taken out frequently, but while in, he's all there. He added three field goals, launched about one third distant from the basket, to his team's tally.

With the exception of Hally Harding, who should confine his activities to coaching, the other lads on the team are Albert Chism and Vernon Harding.

PLAYS ENTIRE GAME

The first string of Million Dollar played the entire game. Ralph Cooper, captain, displayed admirable restraint and good sportsmanship, in sitting on the sidelines, himself, to give his team a chance for victory. Not that Cooper isn't good, but he hasn't the experience of the original five boys. Myles, Easter, King, Price and Morrison.

"Father" Myles was high point man for the game with six goals.

Referee was Skippy Buford, erstwhile journalist. Skippy was the best referee this season. He was quick, cool and just in a haelstorm of doubt, although it must be stated for his own good, that he fell too often for Lank Price's cute trick of deliberately dribbling into an opponent, thus netting a free throw for personal contact. Price got seven of these gifts and made three points.

In the first preliminary the 2Y8 team, varsity of the 28th street YMCA, defeated Penn's Super Service station from Pasadena, one of the few Negro teams playing under the sponsorship of a Negro business.

TEAM THROWS BASEBALL AROUND WORLD

HOW far does a baseball travel? In the abstract that is almost as vague as the eternal question, "How high is up?"

Simplifying it substitute the specific interrogation, "What is the mileage by land and by air covered by the baseballs used by one club in spring training?" Guess, and guess again, and be wrong twice.

A check was made on this heretofore unexplored matter during a workout in one of the Pacific Coast League training camps recently. The results were rather astounding. The collective horsehides in a few minutes travelled far enough to make that famous dash of Paul Revere's hoss look like a mere canter. In the ultimate checking, the Pony Express in its dashes from St. Looey or thereabout to Sacramento were made to look like a merry-go-round on a straightaway. The incursions of Attilla's cavalry look like mere junkets compared to the distance a horsehide travels with just one club in spring training. And there are approximately 300 clubs doing their daily dozen in the United States right now.

Five balls were on the field in action at the time of making the survey. Two of these were being used in bunting practice at a distance of thirty feet. Each of these balls travelled thirty feet and back approximately 40 times in a minute or 4,800 feet.

Batting practice was in progress, the ball travelling from the pitcher's box to the plate--sometimes thrown back--but generally hit from 90 to 300 feet, and making these journeys at least six times a minute for a total footage of 4,300, or thereabouts.

Fungo hitting involved one ball being hit to the infield and outfield, and generally tossed around among the infielders before being returned to the hitter. This happened about five times a minute for a yardage of not less than 3,900 feet.

Then over on the sidelines two pitchers were limbering up to a pair of catchers at a range of about fifty feet. These two balls made the round trip approximately 20 times a minute, travelling about 4,000. Multiplying these figures by 60 minutes, and the balls are found travelling approximately 1,000,000 feet in an hour, or 931,200 to be fairly exact. The average club in training puts in five hours a day on the field. A major league club generally trains for six weeks a minor league club from four to five weeks.

On this basis a major league club in spring training--in the course of removing kinks from the elbow--would toss the pellett approximately 36,000 miles, and a minor league club somewhat less than 30,000. But there must be a few eliminations: A bit of time out for short trips made to play exhibitions, although most of these jumps are made at night. Then there may be a dash of bad weather and a few hours of enforced idleness on the field. But even then the athletes generally locate an indoor gymnasium in which to toss the apple. Then the yardage may be cut down here and there by "glass arms," reducing the distance of the throws. But the ball generally completes the distance by rolling. You perhaps yourself have seen a catcher roll the ball part way to second base even in the heat of battle.

But it is safe to say that each club threw the ball around the world at the equator during spring training, and it completed the trip in one piece. And the average major league club--except in Florida where it rains—after lopping off 6,000 miles just to be conservative, also heaved the ball around the world at the equator, with enough footage left over for a side trip to the Orient or Middle Europe. With something like3 00 clubs buzzing baseball athwart the landscape and through the lower ozone it is really remarkable that somebody doesn't get hit.

Loyola Cards 9 Football Games

Loyola University has carded nine games for the 1938 football season Luddy Bremner graduate manager at the Los Angeles school, announced today.

"It's the best balanced schedule we've ever had," Bremner said, "and assures local fans of seeing outstanding teams of the nation again this season."

The schedule:
Sept. 21—Caltech
Sept. 30—College of Pacific
Oct. 9—St. Mary's
Oct. 14—Redlands
Oct. 21—Arizona
Oct. 29—Centenary at Shreveport, La.
Nov. 11 Baylor
Nov. 19—Hardin-Simmons
Nov. 27—Gonzaga

Jeff Hi Nine Defeated

Further down into the Southern League cellar went the Jefferson Democrats as the Huntington Park Spartans defeated them 5-3, last Friday.

It was the Democrats second defeat of the season. However, there was excellent pitching on both teams, part.

It was in the eighth inning when the Demos seemed as if they would romp to victory as they brought home two runs. The Spartans becoming wise to their plans however stopped the attack to bring the rally to a stand still. Jeff will meet the Washington Generals Friday.

Boxers Down Musicians, 29-25

Prize fighters played a picked team of Musicians in one of the preliminary games to the final Million Dollar-Bojangles set-to at Elks Hall last Sunday night.

In a riotous revel the fighters punched and jabbed their way to victory over the music-makers, 29 to 25. Playing for the prize fighters were Leon Zorritta, welterweight and Chester Parks, middleweight.

Prairie View Cinder Team Drills for Relay Carnival

PRAIRIE VIEW, Texas, Mar. 31—Coaches of Prairie View State College sent track aspirants through drills this week in preparation for the Eighth Annual Prairie View Relay and Tennis Carnival to be held here April 6-9. Twenty-five teams are expected.

The events are the 100 and 220 yard dashes, 120 yard high and 220 yard low hurdles, high jump, broad jump, pole vault, 16 pound shot put, discus throw, 440 and 880 yard run and javelin throw.

Feature on April 9th will be the initial appearance of all Class AA high schools of the Texas Interscholastic League competing to decide the State prep championships.

WOMEN ENTERED

Women will again compete. The entire afternoon, Friday, April 8 is given to them. Events carded include the 50 yard dash, and the running broad jump in addition to the five events of last year.

Tennis section of the carnival gets underway on April 6 and lists men's singles and doubles and women's singles and doubles among the events.

Coach Sam Taylor's squad will defend the 440, the 880 and the one mile relay titles which the Panther combination won a year ago.

The Southwestern Conference teams, Wiley, Bishop, Texas, Southern, Arkansas State, and Langston and the non-conference entries as Tuskegee, Xavier, LeMoyne, Alabama State, Samuel Houston, and Tillotson College have all improved their squad and bid fair to set the Panther aggregation back on its heels in the relay section for the first time in the eight year history of the meet.

All eyes are focused on this newcomer to the Southwest, Xavier, with Ralph Metcalf, former Olympic star at the helm.

Jeff Tennis Squad Looks Good

Coach Stanley Gould of Jefferson High is getting his racket squad into shape for the conference schedules. Opinion is that the squad should goes places with five returning lettermen and several rookies who are making fine showings.

Curtis Edwards is Jefferson's seeded No. 1 player.

The schedule:
April 21st—Huntington Park, at Jefferson
April 28th—Bye
May 5th—Fremont at Jeff.
May 12th—Jeff at Washington.
May 19th—Jeff at Manual Arts
June 4th to 11th inclusive—All city championship at UCLA.

Asks Negro in Major Loops

NEW YORK, Mar. 31—Another New York sports writer came forth this week with the proposition that Negro players be taken into major league baseball. The writer is Hugh Bradley of the New York Post, who declares in his column of March 16:

"Judge Landis is at the head of the money making section of the baseball game, a section called organized baseball. The Judge, like so many of the writers who applauded him, is grand on fostering liberal doctrines when they do not affect the pocketbook or the status quo. Probably that is why although the National League is a decripit organization direly in need of the twenty colored players of major league calibre who could give it new strength, there is no Negro in organized baseball today.

Curtain Rings Up on Softball

With the stage set for the hottest championship race in softball history for both the men's and girls' divisions, the curtain rings up in the AAU softball championship circuit on Friday night, April 1, at Loyola Stadium.

The season will be launched in gala style, amid the blaring notes of bands, and with movie celebrities on hand.

The Sontag Drug girls' club, which has won from Loyola for two years under the banner of the Birdies and with a number of new stars added to the lineup, gets the honor of opening the season against the formidable Eastside Beer squad, runners-up for the title last season. In the men's contest, the A. Levin and Company nine, formerly Safeway will renew old rivalry with Carl Sawyer's Stationers Corporation.

Democrat Coaches Pleased as Inter-Class Records Fall

By PAUL C. GREEN

After witnessing the Jeff interclass meet on Fulton field Thursday afternoon and comparing it with other schools, all doubt has faded from my mind as to the sort of team the Demos will have this year.

Sam Langford broke the interclass record in both the 100 and and 220 yd. dashes in the fast time of 10 and 22 seconds flat. The 440 run was well in the hands of the 880 ace, Vernon Small in 52.2s. The record in th 120 low hurdles which stood at 14.1 was reduced to 13.05 by a freshman from McKinley who also shared first place honors in the high jumping with O'Neal. Thomas Pollard and O'Neal leaped 6'2" setting a new interclass record.

Tom Dreux who is called the "Powerhouse" executed power Thursday when he broke the shot put record from 51'11½" to 56'2".

COACHES PLEASED

Coach Harry Edelson and Co-coach Ralph Crawford was well pleased with the splendid performance of the boys.

This is a summary of Class A:

100—won by Sam Langford, Saul Langford, Roland Denton: Time: 10s.

220—won by Sam Langford, Saul Langford, Roland Denton: Time: 22s.

440—won by Small, Williams, McNelley: Time: 52.2

880—won by Hunt, Spicer, Seagraves: Time: 2m. 05s.

Mile—won by Floyd, Ingram,: Time: 4m. 56s.

120 low hurdles—won by Pollard, Allen, McCoy: Time 13:05.

180 High Hurdles won by Allen, Pollard, McCoy

Shot put—won by Direux, Chatman, Griffith: Dis.: 56'2".

High Jump—tie between O'Neal and Pollard, Allen: 6' 2".

Pole Vault—won by Boswell, O'Neal, Foster: 10'

Broad jump won by McCoy, Gory, McNelley: Dis: 20'

CITY RELAYS SATURDAY

The city relays open all high school track seasons Saturday at Los Angeles High School, at 2 p. m.

L. A. vs JEFF N

Los Angeles Highs Romans will travel to the Jeff Fulton field, Friday, April 8. This meet will be good as both of these schools are top-notchers for the city championship.

Sepia Gridder Adds League of Nations Flavor at Loyola

It's a good thing that Loyola University's head football coach has a good Irish name like Tom Lieb—otherwise he might find himself in "hot water" when football season rolls around in September.

For a while it looked like it would take no less a personage than Ramon De Valera, president of the Irish Republic to handle the coaching job at the Los Angeles university this fall.

A glance at the football roster reveals the reason—and also why the gridiron stalwarts have been re-nicknamed the "Irish Lions". But to the oppose this during the spring workouts. Coach Lieb has been running a team composed of the following players through signal drills:

The Loyola headman admits he tossed in DeGaetano, an Italian, and McCowen, a colored youth, into the line-up merely to give the squad a League of Nations flavor.

"Don't think," he'll warn you "that I can't field an all-Irish eleven."

Negroes out for the team in addition to McCowan are George Sims, member of the varsity last year and Al Norman, up from the frosh team. Al Duval, great of three years back, is line coach.

SAN DIEGO NEWS

MI. 5430 By E. B. Wesley 1721 Logan Ave.

Mrs. Edward Paul of Louisville, Ky., is visiting with her daughter, and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Simmons of the Simmons Hotel, formerly the Robinson Hotel, 542 C. street.

Mr. and Mrs. Churchill Lewis, formerly of this city, have returned from San Francisco and are living at the Simmons Hotel Mr. Arthur Preetyman, O. S. I. C. and his popular wife, Mrs. Mildred Prettyman of Washington, D. C. at one time resident of Long Beach are making their home in Cornado, Calif.

Elder Parks of Kansas City, Mo., is the guest of Elder and Mrs. Jas. A. Jackson, 1703 Logan ave.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Vest of Colorado Springs were visitors in the city a day or two last week, the guests of Mr. A. E. Vest, brother and brother-in-law respectively.

Mrs. Martha Hardeman, grand lecturer of the O. E. S. chapters of California was the distinguished house guest of Mrs. Harry Dickinson of Ruth Chapter, No. 11, the local order. Mrs. Hardeman is making her annual visit to the various chapters throughout the state.

Mrs. Beulah Robinson, wife of Joe Robinson, prominent business man, returned a few days ago from New Orleans where she reports having had a delightful visit with relatives and friends.

One finds it quite interesting to spend a few moments in the Flower Arrangement class which meets every Friday evening at the Clay Street YMCA auditorium under the instruction of Mrs. W. H. Meek. This class is listed with the WPA Recreational dept. of which Mrs. Lucille Brown is director.

At last Friday night's meeting the instructor artistically arranged a basket of choice flowers after which he called for vounteers to set another basket in order. Mrs. J. E. Long and Mrs. Moss responded and their skillful arrangement of the beautiiful buds brought forth much praise and favorable comment from the class and visitors.

Mrs. Margaret Baker, socially prominent wife of Mr. S. Baker, one of our four firemen, was painfully injured oned day last week by an automobile. She was knocked down by the vehicle. Fortunately, however no bones were broken.

D. V. Allen, postman and president of the widely know Race Relations society, is home from Macey hospital where he underwent a delicate eye operation.

At the next meeting of the Women's Civic League of which Mrs. J. E. Craft is president, Miss Ruth Richardson will be the principle speaker. Miss Richardson will be prepared to answer any questions pertaining to the local welfare where she is employed as case worker.

Mr. Fowler of Los Angeles was in the city this week to organize a political club. The meeting was held in the home of Mr. Marvin. Mr. J. Porter, president of the NAACP was chosen chairman. Mr. Fowler was accompanied by Mrs. Fowler in their Spreading Joy House Car, in which they will tour the state.

CHRCHES

At the eleven o'clock services of the Bethel A. M. E. church last Sunday, Rev. H. Francis McClure occupied the pulpit, preaching from the subject: "Free Heart", which was in keeping with the Lenton season. A large congregaton was in attendance. Visitors were Mrs. E. Paul of Louisville, Ky., Mr. Eugene Jackson, Los Angeles and Mrs. J. C. Anderson of this city.

A full house heard W. A. Easter, State Specialist in Education for Negroes speak at the Friday Evening March 25th on "Open Doors to Economic Progress". This discussion was the last in the series on Vocational and Occupational Opportunities for Negro Youth. Mr. Easter pointed out the facts regarding employment and availability of jobs for Negroes. Following his discussion the audience participated in an open discussion period. At the opening of the meeting Miss Octavia Payne's Evening High School choral group rendered two musical numbers: "Build Thee More Stately Mansions", and "Morning."

The Friday evening Forum meets this week at Bethel Baptist Church at 7:30 P. M. A New series of discussions on "Your Government and You" will begin on Friday, April 1st. Attorney Bertram McLees will speak on the subject of "Local Government—Why Be Informed About It?" as the first in the new series. The Forum is sponsored by the United States Office of Education and the Adult Education Department of the San Diego City Schools. Miss Lorraine Van Lowe is forum chairman.

Calvary Baptist Church

At Sunday school concluding plans for Easter exercises were made and practices started.

The Rev. G. N. Banks, pastor of Beacon Light Adventist church was the speaker for the morning giving a very enlightening address from Proverbs 17:22.

Church of God In Christ

At 12 a. m. Elder Parks of Kansas City spoke choosing as his subject "The Place of Worship". Y. P. W. W. at 6 p. m. saw a fine group of young people present. Many good thoughts were brought out under the excellent guidance of the president Miss Mytrle Presley and Miss Katra Tucker, sponsor of the League.

MONROVIA

Second Baptist Church
Maple and Shamrock Aves.
Rev. John A. Davis, Pastor

Last Sunday members and friends turned out in large numbers to the Second Baptist church to commemorate the 31st anniversary of the Incorporation of the church.

The pastor brought a powerful message at the morning hour to a full house, from the subject, "The Beginning." Text. Gen: 1:1. Taking the church from the year 1903, when a prayer meeting was started in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Watkins on Maple Avenue, up to the present time, of progress the church has made.

The evening was given over to hearing of reports of the Anniversary Rally. There were many visitors out during the day. Among them were Mrs. Jessie Hawkins of Los Angeles, who was the Supt. of the Sunday school in 1924 and Miss Kathrene Kinzey, Mrs. Mabel Robinson, and Mrs. Sanford Harris, all of whom were members of the early Second Baptist Church.

On Monday night the Reception Committee, Mrs. E. Enge, Mrs. G. Presley, and Mrs. G. Abernathy entertained the members and friends with a very elaborate reception in the dining room of the Church.

Dr. and Mrs. H. Franklin Bray of Idlewild, Mich. were special guests, and Rev. and Mrs. D. J. Duvall. Dr. and Mrs. Bray have had many functions given in their honor while sojourning here for the past six or seven months. The A. H. J. Club last week, honored them with a farewell reception. It was also the occasion of the Installation of Officers of that Organization, and Mrs. Mable Gray, State president of the Women's Federation for California, was the Installing Mistress. The Monrovia Duarte Literary and Art Club also represented in this meeting, and Mrs. O. M. Cobbs was the Mistress of Ceremonies.

The Central Section of the Missionary Society of the Second Baptist Church entertained Mrs. Bray at their meeting this past week in the beautiful home of Mrs. E. Enge. On the Second Sunday afternoon a mass meeting was called in the A. M. E. Z. Church, at which time Dr. Bray was the principal speaker. A very large crowd came out to hear him. Dr. Bray and Mrs. Bray left Wednesday, March 30th for their home in Michigan. The people of Monrovia regret to see them go for they have certainly made an indelible impression on the people here.

Mrs. M. W. Davis, wife of the present pastor, was the Mistress of Ceremonies during the first part of the program. Believe it or not Mrs. Davis has come to the Second Baptist Church for the second time, each as the wife of the pastor. In 1924 she was the wife of the Rev. E. Wilson. Rev. Wilson pastored Second Baptist for five years. Then he resigned to start a Mission in Alhambra; and he finally passed on to his reward. After several years of widowhood; she met and married her present husband, Rev. John A. Davis, who came from Washington, D. C. to California in 1931 and settled in Duarte, California. When the Second Baptist Church did not have a leader, after the resignation of the Rev. G. W. Reed, the church extended a call to Rev. Davis, thus bringing Mrs. Davis to the church for the second time, as the wife of the pastor.

The Pastor and the Committee on the Anniversary wish to thank every member and friend who helped to make the anniversary a success.

RIVERSIDE

By FRANCES M. WILLIAMS

Park Avenue Baptist church, Rev. L. B. Moss, pastor, Senior Missonary Society, entertained with a formal reception at the home of Mrs. L. M. Jackson. A delightful evening was spent playing games, and at a late hour the following group of Red Circle Girls dressed in formals served a delicious repast. Mrs. Helen Jones received first prize pinning the tail on the donkey; Mrs. Izola McCoy, second; Mrs. Juanita (Allen) Sorrell, third. While Mrs. Blakely opened the gifts Miss E. Toppin read the cards. Mrs. V. Fleming, Mrs. Robinson assisted the hostesses.

April 3, 2:30 p. m. at Allen chapel, will be rally day, sponsored by Harris Foundation, a benevolent institution, dedicated to the perpetuation of the black race the establishment of responsible leadership, the creation of business industry. W. J. Alexander, and W. Harris, chief executive, principal speakers, will expound philosophy on the cycles of races. W. Porter, general manager, will speak on organization.

Sick List

Mother Mays had a spell that affected her nerves to the extent it caused her voice to be very weak for an hour or two. Little Frances Turuda swallowed a whistle which pressed her heart and caused her weakness, but at this time it has moved below the heart and the gravest danger is over. Mrs. Elliot of Corona is recovering very slowly. Mr. and Mrs. H. Russell are the proud parents of a baby boy, born to them March 25th. Mother and son are very well. Mrs. A. C. Clisby confined to her bed but is not seriously ill.

Allen Chapel, Rev. A. L. Washington, pastor. The junior choir assisted by members of Second Baptist church rendered a wonderful program with Rev. Alvin Shaw as speaker and Rev. and Mrs. Van Meter of China. Miss Ola B. Norris having prepared a lovely dinner, had guests as follows: Revs. A. Shaw, A. L. Washington, Misses Ida, Laura Harris, Verna Gordon, Odessa Woodward, Frances Williams, Mr. Terry DeBeal, James Norris, Mrs. Washington, Mrs. Norris. Dinner was served in the old fashioned way.

Val Verde

Mrs. Anderson Nickelson is home again after a stay of three weeks in the Los Angeles hospital.

Mr. Mary B. Martin of Louisville, Kentucky, was a visitor in the canyon, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Fortier. The Fortiers have completed furnishing their home, here, and it is ready for occupancy.

As Easter time draws near, the Val Verde residents look forward with heartfelt interest to the annual Easter Service held here on Sunrise Hill. The Out Door Life and Health Association has charge of the program.

Val Verde Improvement Association held a meeting Sunday afternoon, March 27th at 2 o'clock at the Community Club House. All property owners were invited.

The main highway leading to Val Verde is now open to traffic.

The Rhodes, Davises, Smiths and other owners of property in the valley have been here, inspecting their property, but found no damage caused by flood water.

Miss White and Miss Peck of Los Angeles entertained a party of 75 friends from Panama and Peru, South America, at the Club House.

We found the following names on the register of the Club House: Miss Robinson, Chicago, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Horace Owens, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mars. H. C. FISK PRESIDENT SEES NEGRO EXODUS TO NORTH

CHICAGO, Mar. 31. (ANP)—Because profound and widespread changes in the South's economic life are imminent, a new exodus of Negroes from the South to the North, similar to that of the World war era, may soon be expected, declared Dr. Thomas E. Jones, president of Fisk university, in Chicago last week for the special musical program launching the institution's $3,000,000 nationwide endowment drive.

EL CENTRO

By W. A. Payne

Citizens from throughout the Imperial Valley assembled in Fountain Chapel AME church, Calexico and witnessed the Thanksgiving services of Pride of Imperial Valley Lodge of Knights of Pythias and Tidrington Court of Calanthe. Sir Knight A. E. Prince, acted as master of ceremonies and presented Chancellor Commander Joseph Wedlaw, Grand Vice Chancellor W. A. Payne, Worthy Counsellor, Mrs. Beatrice Wesson, and Past Worthy Counsellor, Mrs. Georgia Mae Burleigh in addresses. Rev. I. N. Whitten, Prelate of the lodge preached a most acceptable sermon using as his subject "The Power of the Gospel". Music for the occasion was furnished by Past Worthy Counsellor, Margaret P. Owens, District Deputy, Mrs. Frances M. Burleigh, and the Calipatria Male Quartette. Both the lodge and the court had a splendid representation. A capacity sized congregation enjoyed the exercises. Sir DuBois McGee, District Deputy Grand Chancellor was chairman of the program committee and was the recipient of many compliments from members of the fraternity and the citizens.

Beta Kappa Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority held initiatory ceremony Saturday evening, March 26, bringing Ruth V. Johnson into its sisterhood. After the ceremony a delicious dinner was served by the El Centro members. Regular business meeting was held during the dinner hour. Sorors attending were: Mesdames Exie Lee Hampton, Alvessie Hackshaw, Ruth P. McGregor, Lucille Culberson; Misses Evada Long, Octavia Payne, Lenora Cooper, Gladys C. Gier.

The Spirit of Youth film, featuring Joe Louis, Clarence Muse and other racial stars is being shown at the Broadway theatre. The management's confidence in the race's willingness to patronize the all race pictures has been justified by the capacity attendance that this and other pictures have had. The management promises to bring in other pictures soon.

The public schools, the Civic organizations several of the fraternal organizations, and two of the churches are combining in the celebration of National Negro Health Week April 3-10. The effort this year is to make the programs more attractive and instructive, also to have them reach a greater number of persons. Next Sunday, Dr. Ruth Temple of Los Angeles will address the citizens at 11 a. m. at the Douglass high school auditorium. This program is being sponsored by the Second Baptist church and the AKA Sorority. Assemblies will be held in the Douglass high school auditorium at 10:30 a. m. every day during the week of April 4.

The Junior College group will have charge of program Monday morning; Principal A. E. Prince will be the speaker Tuesday morning; Prof. L. J. Stewart will deliver the address Wednesday morning; Dr. Warren Fox, the County Physician and Miss Edith Eicke, school nurse, Thursday morning; Friday morning the Homemaking department will present a health play. During the afternoon Coach James Stocks will direct play day activities. The week will close with a program Sunday afternoon, April 10. Dr. Robinson of Los Angeles has been invited to deliver the closing address. Mrs. Ruth P. McGregor will direct the musical part of the several programs. Plans also are being made for a broadcast. Much good has resulted from these observances and the citizens are cooperating with those who are organizing the celebration.

The Washington school basketball team defeated the Wilson school five 38-19 last Thursday. The Washington boys showed decided improvement.

Holtville high and Douglass high held a dual meet last Wednesday. Holtville winning 40½ to 28½. Both schools won four events but Holtville showed superior strength in the shot put and the broad jump.

For Douglass, Roland Maples was the high point man with 11½ to his credit. He won the 440 and tied for first place in the high jump. Louis Craig won the 100 yard dash and the relay team of T. Craig, L. Craig, P. Cook and R. Maples won the four man 440 relay, first place. The boys are now zealously for another meet this week.

Mrs. Artie Mason Carter, one of the founders of Hollywood delivered a most pleasing address to the citizens of El Centro last Thursday evening. The program was given in the Douglass high auditorium and was sponsored by the Women's Civic Improvement Club. Mrs. Frances M. Burleigh, Past State President of the Federated Clubs presided at the meeting. Musical numbers were presented by Mrs. Ruth P. McGregor and Mr. James Robinson, Mrs. A. E. Prince. The proceeds from the evening's entertainment were donated to the Girl Reserves and the Boy Scout organizations.

Troop 22, John Allen Scoutmaster participated in the Court of Honor held at the Wilson school last Thursday evening. The beautiful arch built by Troop 22 and used in one of their services was used on this occasion. Harry Tolliver was one of those receiving the second class scout honors.

The Freshmen class presented a music appreciation program last Friday. Numbers presented by members of the class showed much musical ability. The program closed with the rendition of several classics the history of each being given by Annie Spruell. Jesse Keeling presided at the meeting.

Messrs. John Saulsberry of Los Angeles and Charles Moore of Pasadena were week end visitors in El Centro.

Among the recent visitors to the city were Messrs Alpheus Brewer, William Sharpe, Jr., John Randolph, Jr. of Los Angeles; Miss Joyce Dantzer of Calexico.

Rev. Charles H. Hampton and Mr. William A. Payne, Jr. were visitors here Sunday.

Messrs Loman of San Diego and John Payne were vsitors in the city last Sunday.

With the Churches
Second Baptist Church
Rev. I. N. Whitten, Minister

The pastor preached during the morning worship, speaking from the life of St. Paul. A large congregation listened attentively to his helpful message. The choir rendered an excellent program of music, presenting as guest soloist, Mr. James Robinson. Guests present during the morning worship were: Mr. John Saulsberry of Los Angeles, Mr. Charles Moore of Los Angeles and Mr. John Payne of San Diego. The building rally continued and will close April 3. The old building is being salvaged and cleared away. The membership is happily looking forward to an early start on the new building. Rev. George E. Davis, a former pastor of the church, preached Sunday evening. Mrs. R. A. Allen formerly of Houston, Texas was received into the membership of the church. Mrs. Annie Johnson who has been on the sick list for sometime is reported improving.

Johnson Chapel AME Church
Rev. H. Hayter, Pastor

All pastors of the city are cooperating in a joint service on Good Friday from 12:15 to 3 p. m. at the United Artist theatre. The public is cordially invited to be present. The missionary ladies of the San Diego district are rehearsing for the play they are giving at their get-together meeting at Quinn Chapel in Brawley in April, the date to be announced later.

Hanford

By WILLIE BELL WATTS

Mrs. Ella Islehour, one of the pioneers of Hanford, was given a surprise party last Monday evening at the AME Zion church parsonage. Many friends gathered to enjoy the pleasant celebration of her 80th birthday.

Mrs. Leora Powell, 31, passed away in Los Angeles, Monday, March 21. She was a native of Hanford and had lived in this city until three years ago when she moved to the southern part of the state to make her home. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the chapel of Peoples Undertaking parlors in Hanford, amid a profusion of gorgeous flowers and attended by scores of friends and mourners. Rev. George H. Maunder officiated. Duets were sung by Mrs. Marie Lewis and Miss Katherine Todd, accompanied on the organ by Mr. Frederick Wilson. Pallbearers were Messrs. H. Porter, Trov Black, W. Brown, W. Moulden, Walter Roberts, and Frank Hill. Mrs. Powell is survived by her husband, Norvin Powell; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kelley of Hanford; two brothers, John Kelley of Los Angeles, and Willis Kelley of Sacramento; and two sisters, Miss Sarah Lee Kelley of Hanford and Mrs. Revene Crawford of Sacramento. Interment was in Hanford cemetery. She is also survived by a son, Leroy Powell.

Mr. Tyree Childs left last week for his home in Thornton, Ark.

Still on the sick list but improving fairly at this writing are Mrs. Mattie Myers, Mrs. M. Galavez, Miss Sarah Lee Kelley and Mr. L. Kinnard.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Greenway entertained the following guests at dinner, Sunday evening: Mrs. Ella Isehour, Mrs. Anna Knox, Mrs. Clara Davis, Rev. George H. Maunder and Charles Greenway.

Frank Alexander made a short visit to Hanford on his way to Cincinnati, Ohio, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Crawford and Mrs. Marie Lewis motored to Springville last Sunday to visit their daughter and neice, Miss Bernice Crawford.

Miss Helen Thaxton led a group of her C. E. members, Saturday afternoon, in cooperation with the Kings County C. E. Union, to the Santa Fe depot to greet Don Munro, state president of the C. E. Union, on his way through Hanford.

Howard Chapel AME Zion church, presented Rev. Albert E. Raugust of the Federated church in Lemoore, as the guest speaker in their pleasant Thursday evening program last week. Lloyd Welcher sr. will be the guest speaker next Thursday. Mr. Welcher, one of the outstanding business men of our group is from Tuskegee Institute.

SAN FRANCISCO

A chocolate sip was held in the Parsonage this past Sunday afternoon. Tonight there will be a "White Elephant" social with Mrs. Ora Swartz, chairman.

Dr. J. C. Austin was house guests of Mrs. Jennie Manning in Turk Street. Dr. Austin expressed a desire to return to the city of San Francisco to witness the World's Fair.

The Booker T. Mother's Club held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. M. Smith. Miss B. Hawkins added her name to the membership list. The group plans a tea in the near future.

Little Miss Eunice Huston has returned from the Children's Hospital where she was ill with pneumonia. We are happy to report that she is able to be at home and is doing nicely.

All San Francisco were agog over the wedding of Miss Mary Elizabeth Foy to Mr. Merril Cadice last Satuday. The ceremony was performed in Oakland and Reception in San Francisco. (Thanks to the bridges).

Mrs. Adah Manuey of Berkeley elaborately entertained the Thursday Afternoon Bridge Club at her home in Oregon Street on the past Thursday. Each table was "A'wearing' a bit o' the Green" as was fitting for the great St. Patricks Day. After a delectable luncheon the ladies played bridge and were awarded prizes as follows: Guest awards went to Mrs. Thad. Dawson, Club prize, Mrs. Edith Nicholas and Mrs. Libby Ferguson was consoled after having the afternoon' smallest score. Guests present, were, Mesdames Libby Ferguson, Gussie Lewis, May Dawson, Leona Johnson, Billie King, Mayme Stewart, Willie Lewis, Jayne Hudson, Viola De Claybrooke, Amelia Farmer, Jordan, Birdye Andrews, Lelia Bary, Grayce Payne, Mrs. White and Miss Belle Fleming. Members were Mesdames Adah Edwards, Anna Foster, Ella Foster, Lela Hulsey, Alicia Butler, Adah Wilson, Willa Evans, Edith Nicholas and Adah Manley, hostess.

At the Booker T. Mother's Club was inaugureated an adult educational Class with two teachers one of each color. Classes from the fourth grade on Basic English and Civil Service will be conducted.

Guy Houston, after returning to his home in Los Angeles, was forced to again enter the Southern Pacific Hospital in this city. We hope him a speedy recovery.

Zion A. M. E. Church celebrated Mississippi and Alabama Night with various speakers, musical numbers and delightful refreshments. Misses M. Reed and Walker and Mr. Fitzhugh Foster, Sr., were guest speakers with Miss Walker and Mr. Irving Myers soloists assisted by the evening and Gospel Choirs. A delightful evening was enpoyed.

Friends the biggest thing of the past week was the great revival conducted by the eminent Dr. J. C. Austin.

Dr. J. C. Austin preached to his hearer as never before. All persons worshipping with this fine Christian gentleman were thoroughly benefitted. He came to the Bay region for a much needed rest, and in turn worked giving rest to many weary souls. Evangelistic meetings were held to capacity congregations and all were spiritually uplifted. To hear Dr. Austin is to love him and he came leaving us inspired. Gospel choirs supported the churches of the Bay region in these revivals. Rev. F. D. Haynes accompanied the Evangelist to Los Angeles where they will continue to conduct meetings.

SANTA MONICA NEWS

FIRST A. M. E. CHURCH

The Banquet sponsored by the Brotherhood of the First A. M. E. Church was enjoyed by all who attended. The president, Mr. W. E. Bandy, acting as Master of Ceremonies rendered a very pleasing program, having for the speakers of the evening, Attorney Willis O. Tyler and Dr. Evans S. Morgan. Also on the program were several musical numbers from the Silver Tone Quartette and the Bay Cities local quartette composed of members from the A. M. E. Church. Look forward to other big attractions coming from the church.

Who will be the most popular baby when the contest ends April 21st. Baby Darnamaraire, James Boyd Maxwell, Betty Jane Worth or Lurita Lerlene Brown? Every thing depends on the cooperation of the people so work for your baby.

The Oscar De Priest Political Study Club held its monthly meeting last Tuesday evening at the residence of Mrs. Clara Trotter, 1310 18th St. Mrs. Hendricks civically prominent in this city, was guest speaker. A vocal solo, "Mighty Like a Rose" was rendered by the hostess, Mrs. Trotter. Current events were discussed. A pleasing repast was served by the hostess. Miss Elizabeth White is president.

The Calvary Baptist Church choir is sponsoring a "Silver Tea" to be given the first Sunday in April at the YWCA of this city. A special program is being prepared. Rev. F. K. Leath is pastor.

The "TOPHATTERS", a rapidly growing young men's club, is making plans for a new high in Santa Monica Social activities in the near future. Present membership consists of such notable personalities as Thomas Blanchett, Lloyd Courtney, Ivory Johnson, Elmer Mitchel, John Moore, Oar Levert Payne, Frederick Parks and Ivory Ware. Observers believe that with the purpose in mind, as stated in previous meetings, the TOPHATTERS will soon lead, not just the head but the whole body of Santa Monica society. It was disclosed that a limited number of memberships are still available.

Watch this column for early announcement of the initial TOPHATTER social. John Moore, Pres., Joel Johnson, reporter.

ROYAL 12 CLUB

The weekly meeting which was of a most enjoyable nature, convened at the residence of Mr. Robt. Brown. Following the usual business session each member contributed an interesting current topic. The most interesting ones concerned the life of Joe Louis and the Panama Canal. They were submitted by Robt. Brown and Buster Johnson respectively.

Elmer Mitchell, reporter

CALEXICO

The Calipatria Harmony Eight, will present a concert of Negro Spirituals at Fountain Mission this coming Sunday at 3:00 P. M. Co-managed by Messers James Wedlow and James Brown this octet blends in musical harmony that is pleasing, entertaining and inspiring. It will be the occasion of the Trustees new rally directed by Mr. Cleveland McCloud.

A capacity and appreciative audience crowded Fountain Mission last Sunday afternoon at the annual Thanksgiving worship service of the Imperial Valley Knights of Pythias which was a very dignified presentation of Christian fraternalism. Prelate I. N. Whitten preached the annual sermon from Romans 1:10. "For I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ."

Mrs. Legal Mae Hall, was the guest speaker at the Sunday vesper discussion hour. "What can the Negro contribute towards elimination of racial and class prejudice", quoting Rev. R. A. Jardine, an English clergyman. Mrs. Hall said "American prejudice seems a very foolish attitude in a nation claiming world leadership."

Fountain parishoners were very disappointed that pastor Wilson's family was unable to come to Calexico last week-end from Los Angeles as Mrs. Mary Wilson and son Neal are attending father-in law editor J. H. Wilson who is convalescing from a severe injury and illness.

Mr. R. W. Bostic, president of the Young Men's breakfast club will be the vesper speaker this coming Sunday, his subject will be "What must the Negro Church do to attract more young married people to membership."

Easter Day will be observed with a special 5:00 o'clock sunrise worship service at which time the new choir will be presented.

Race Track Gossip
By JAY GOULD

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 31—D. Murray and Frank Young of Chicago with their wives on a tour through California and then to Havana, Cuba and New York hit the high spots and then back to the Windy City.

Lee Thomas and J. Brice of Chicago were set back for just $500.00 each when Seabiscuit lost by inches.

Joe Brown, of Chicago may take a trip to California if he can use paper for money, he writes.

Sunny Lee and Ted Williams of Seattle were minus at Santa Anita handicap. Rumor has it that they must have been as short as Jimmie Boyd, Billy Hoy, and Bruce Rawles.

Smart women that deal in big money are Pansy Spates, Kitty Nelson, Lagatha Gomez, Mary Moore of Los Angeles, Lil Hart and Maud Townsend of Seattle, Lovie Mapp of San Francisco, Mrs. Joe Robinson of San Diego, Mrs. B. J. Sanderidge of Tulsa, Oklahoma, Della Zears of Kansas City, Lucie Finley of Stockton and Marie Williams of Oakland.

Gertrude Saunders, who used to pack the theatres from the roof to the sidewalk, is now taking it easy in Los Angeles.

Ed Anderson, movie star who gets $500.00 weekly in Hollywood, has a stable of two horses at Bay Meadows but they have never earned any part of the feed bill.

Specks got stuck with a lot of tickets on the Louis-Mann fracas and had to dump a lot of the sixteen fifties for three bucks.

Joe Campbell who split with his wife, Clara, is still wondering why suits don't fit as well after you get them home as they do on the dummy.

Clara Leyha Allen plans to visit Bay Meadows some time next week with Jay Gould and Ruby Philips and then to Los Angeles to be guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Overman, picture stars.

PRIZE-WINNING BOOK BY 29-YEAR-OLD NEGRO WPA WRITER PUBLISHED; WORK GREAT, CLAIM

Book Called 'Uncle Tom's Children; Has 4 Stories

NEW YORK, March 31. — A 29-year-old Negro WPA writer who only a few years ago had difficulty borrowing books to read because colored persons are not welcomed at public libraries in southern cities, today saw a book of his own issued by a leading publishing company and put on sale throughout the country.

The author is Richard Wright, and the book, a collection of four stories of Negro life, is entitled "Uncle Tom's Children." It was accepted for publication after it had won first prize of $500 in a contest conducted by a national magazine for employees of the Federal Writers' Project. More than five hundred book-length manuscripts were entered in the contest. The judges were Harry Scherman, president of the Book-of-the-Month Club, Lewis Gannett and Sinclair Lewis.

In awarding Wright's book the prize, Mr. Scherman said, "Every sensitive white person will at once know that this is authentic Negro life in this country. Richard Wright's talent is clear and unmistakable." Mr. Gannett wrote, "These stories burn like a house afire. They sing as well as sear; and what they have to say is as startling as a race riot."

The four stories that make up the book are written in a forceful, staccato style that gives them great emotional power. Each bears unmistakable evidence of a clear understanding of the inescapable drama of the Negro's lot in present day American life. The publishers, in announcing their acceptance of the book, hailed Wright as "a new author whose graphic prose is as lean and strong as John Steinback's, and who gives definite proof that the Administration's subsidation of writers has been succesful."

Wright has been employed by the Federal Writers' Project in New York City for over a year, assisting in the preparation of a comprehensive essay on "Negroes in Manhattan." He resigned from the project shortly after entering the contest to become manager of the Harlem branch of a New York newspaper.

His talent for prose was first noticed two years ago, when he submitted to WPA officials in Chicago samples of his work that caused them to transfer him from a manual labor job to the Writers' Project. He came to New York shortly afterwards, and won a place for himself on the project here. Before the WPA gave him his first regular employment, he wandered about from city to city in search of work, reading avariciously. Born in Natchez, Mississippi, he ran away from home at fifteen and hitch-hiked northward, working at any job that was offered him and reading at every opportunity. In some communities where Negroes were not allowed to borrow books from the public libraries, he made friends with young white men who got books for him on their cards. In other communities he absorbed knowledge by "just hanging around" saloons and small hotels, and by frequent visits to the movies.

"Before I left home," he wrote in the letter that accompanied the manuscript when he entered it in the contest, "my grandmother despaired of trying to keep me from fighting, lying, stealing and playing hookey; my grandmother predicted I would end on the gallows; and an aunt attempted to bring me under the softening influence of Seventh Day Adventist Christianity without success. But eventually I began to read and learn, and achieved a reformation. The WPA job in Chicago gave me my first opportunity to sit down and think and to put those thoughts on paper. I hope that the $500 prize will last until I get my second book completed. It's about Chicago--Negro life there. And it's got to be good, because I want it to show that Uncle Tom's Children was no accident.'

BOOK POPULAR

Member of the Philadelphia bar, whose book, "Negroes and the Law", is proving popular in the legal profession and with all students of Negro life. Mr. Styles only 37, is a native of Jacksonville, Fla., and a graduate of college and law at Howard. The late renowned editor, T. Thomas Fortune, was his uncle. E. Washington Rhodes, editor of the Philadelphia Tribune and former president of the National Bar Association, wrote the foreword, and Charles H. Houston of the N. A. A. C. P. and R. L. Vann contributed special chapters.

Reading Important for Cultural Background

By MIRIAM MATTHEWS

READING BUDGET No. 1—PHILOSOPHY

Does your reading cause you as much concern as the planning of your budget? If not, it should because nothing else plays quite so important a part in the building up of your cultural background which, after all, tells the world what manner of person you are. Do you squander all your precious income of leisure time on light recreational reading or do you grind out all of it on the one subject which constitutes your business or profession? Neither course is wise for it makes you one-sided. Balance your reading through a judicious blending of a variety of subjects which will help you widen your interests. A series of articles will be presented the next few weeks to suggest various subjects which you may have neglected in your reading budget.

Food for Thought is the first item on the budget which brings us to a consideratoin of philosophy.

One writer describes philosophy as the result of man's search for the reason of life and man's reactions to life. He suggests that a well balanced reading of philosophy will make the religious more religious and give the non-believer something to live by. Furthermore, that it will strengthen the reasoning power; make one's general reading more intelligible, and give life added steering gear.

What better starting point could be offered for a philosophical journey than a thorough investigation of the faltering steps of thought through the ages as described by James Harvey Robinson in his classic volume "The Mind in the Making"? Follow this with Will Durant's ever popular "Story of Philosophy" which traces the history of the world's greatest thinkers from Socrates to John Dewey. Proceed from this point to a consideration of the thought of individual philosophies such as "The Dialogues of Plato", the recorded conversations of the famous Greek sage in his search for beauty, truth and justice; "Thus Spake Zarathustra", by Friedrich Nietzsche, a dynamic, poetic call to live freely and selfishly; John Dewey's significant work dealing with right and wrong which he has called" Human Nature and Conduct"; "The Works of Schopenhauer," a German philosopher; and Henri Bergson's "Creative Evolution," an eminent French philosopher's version of the theory of life.

THUMBNAIL SKETCH--

Mary McLeod Bethune one of seventeen children, born of slave parents in humble cabin near Mayesville, South Carolina. When about eleven years old, little mission school opened near her home by Board of Missions of Presbyterian church . . . Drexel Award for distinguished service to her race and the nation. Life epitomizes for youth strength of spirit and power of will to overcome unhurmountable obstacles.

The big rudry-faced white man looked at me and Secret real hard for about two minutes. Then he said:

"Well, if you two Chiselers have got that much Race-pride, along with your nerve, by God I'll string along with you, because speaking frankly, we are getting tired of having to think for your people. Line the women up, and send them down here tomorrow. I'll have them register their names and addresses, and I'll see that each one gets her quota, with the understanding that the bundles must be delivered back to me finished, on the 10th." Me and Secret told him that was Okey, and went on our way rejoicing.

That night we sent out the call for 500 women over the California Eagle news broadcast. Young Kinloch--an Ace-high announcer--put it on strong, and the next morning there was one thousand women knocking on our door. We selected 500 of them, and sent them to the Laundry to get their bundles.

From there on in, we had easy sailing. On the morning of the 11th, the laundry was brought out to the Elk's hall in a big moving van, and ten thousand of Your Folks laid down one dollar each for their laundry, and one free bottle of beer. We paid Mr. Turner's representative--who came, and stayed with the laundry--the $2500.00 we owed him, and dished out $5000.00 to the needy women who did the ironing; and when we checked up after it was all over, there was TWO GRAND left to split between me and Secret. What did we do with our dough? We'll tell you about it one of these days. The End.

The LAUNDRYMAN

"BIG BUSINESS"

(Concluded)

After me and Secret had gotten Turner's laundry to contract to do our work C. O. D., the next five days rolled by like fast moving freight cars; and meanwhile we failed to make any headway on raising that $2500.00. We tried all the different banks for a Home Loan, but they turned us down cold, stating that we didn't seem to have no Security. Finally, on the night before the 7th--the day we were to get the laundry out,--Secret says to me:

Laundryman! It looks like You in the dog-house now. What we going to do about this money for tomorrow?" I told him yes, things did look kinder bad, but I'd figure out something between then and morning. He didn't say any more about it, but put on his hat and went on down to see Millie. I sat there on the porch awhile, looking up at the stars, and trying to figure out something. But my brains were too tired to respond, So I give up and went to bed.

The next morning at the breakfast table, Secret asked had I doped out anything. I told him yes, that whilst I was lying wake about 3 o'clock last night, the Bible sentence about "Go tell Pharoah, to let my people go", had flashed into my mind, to let our laundry go'."

Secret mopped the last piece of his diminished stack of buckwheat cakes in a puddle of maple syrup and says: "Okay, let's get going."

Well, we drove the old Dodge down on Eighth street to the laundry. The minute we hit the door, Mr. Turner invited us into the private office. After I told him we didn't have the money, he wanted to throw us out and would have tried it, I believe, if Secret hadn't looked so big and forbidding. He called us hobos, chislers, and a lot of other fancy names. I let him rave for a few minutes, to get some of his surplus steam off, then I says:

"Maybe all you've said, is true; but it ain't getting us nowhere. You want your money, and we want our laundry. Today's the 6th. On the 11th, all the folks this laundry belongs to are coming after it with their money in their hands, and we got to deliver it finished and ironed. If it ain't ready, all of us stand to lose plenty money."

Mr. Turner kinder quieted down then, and said if that was the case he would have the laundry finished right there in his place, and charge us 75 cents flat, for each bundle.

"I'm sorry Mr. Turner," I says, looking him square in the eye. "But this money is coming from the Central Avenue district, and we're going to see that the biggest portion of it goes back on Central Avenue direct. We've got 500 colored women out of work, laid off the W.P.A., and we plan to pay them 50 cents per bundle to finish this laundry. And if you can't get together with us and figure them in on this deal, there won't be no deal. You'll just have that much laundry on your hands."

Tragic Note
Plain Hypocrisy
On Personalities

POVERTY, MORE than anything else, perhaps, caused another tragic death in the City of Angels the other day. A "barefoot burglar", so-termed by police, was ambushed and killed in a fashionable Beverly Hills home. A mere youth, student in one of the city's high schools, faced death rather than be caught and bring disgrace on a family which had met adversity in this business of living.

The youth's family was in poor circumstances, so the high school lad apparently was forced to ply the trade of thievery in order to help to make ends meet. Outside aid had to be sought to bury the body.

Wiser guidance and a chance to make himself a useful citizen may have averted this bitter end to a young life.

IN DALLAS, Texas, one night within the past seven, music lovers of the city turned out en masse to listen to the voice belonging to Marian Anderson, regarded as one of the world's great singers.

In the audience were representatives of both races who were lifted out of their immediate surroundings and who thrilled to the godliness of a voice belonging to an artist. It made no difference as to the color of the possessor of that voice because the voice itself possessed qualities which make one forget such trifles and pseudo drawbacks.

And yet, at the conclusion of her concert, Marian Anderson, at that moment an American citizen who is, too, a great singer, was unable to secure accommodations in a cafe or hotel for the night! Because she wasn't a great singer? No! Because she wasn't secretly admired and respected? Again, NO!! Because of her color? Yes, of course!

The ultra in hypocrisy thus forced Miss Anderson to seek accommodations in a private residence. It is such evidences of living in the "yesterday" as this that binds the South, as a whole, to ignorance.

They would come for miles to hear her sing, but would not walk a step to see her enjoy the privileges of a citizen of these United States, the same as they!

THE 'EAGLE'---20 YEARS AGO

March 23, 1918

Members of the First A. M. E. church held a Mortgage Burning Ceremony and Pioneer Night Program on March 15, 1918, also celebrating the 25th anniversary of the founding of the church. Realistic indeed were the scenes incident thereto.

Seated on the platform were the pioneer citizens of Los Angeles. These old gladiators, who in years past, had done their bit in establishing the church, sat there as witnesses ready to attest their seal to the history of the church.

The program was presided over by the pastor, Rev. J. Logan Craw (incidentally step, father of Floyd Covington, executive secretary of the local Urban League), and highlighted by a paper on "The Church as I Found It 25 Years Ago", read by Mrs. D. R. Jones, wife of the second pastor.

Mrs. Jones' paper was reproduced in full by the Eagle of March 23rd, but limited space will permit only a few quotations herein:

"The month of August in the year 1893 was an eventful one in the annals of African Methodism on the Pacific Coast.

"From San Francisco, our former parish, after a few days' delay occasioned by the publication of the conference minutes, husband, daughter and myself proceeded to Los Angeles arriving Sunday, August 27.

"The people were apparently pleased and received us gladly. The membership comprised about 125 persons including probationers scattered far and wide over a city noted for its vast area and its inclination to include in its corporate limits every pebble and stone between the mountains and the sea. Some members lived as far distant as Santa Monica, Long Beach, Pasadena, Monrovia, San Gabriel and Pomona.

"Though scattered from one end of the city to the other and beyond the limits, there was solidarity of thought and action, a unison of spiritual power and alertness that made Stevens AME church as it was then known, a potent factor in the religious, moral, education and civic life of the community.

"The church edifice at this time was located on Azusa St., in the business district, was a frame structure of two stories, occupying a lot about 50 feet by 120 feet. A parsonage of seven rooms was in the rear.

"This property had been purchased several years before, costing about $8000 and was at this time something over $5600 in debt.

"To maintain the church and lift the burden of debt was no small matter but the noble people bent themselves to the task, put their shoulders to the wheel and met their obligations promptly."

M-G-M RECASTS "PIX" IN NEW SOUTHERN FILM; HARRIS ROLE

ANNOUNCEMENT was made last week of another independent company formed (in Chicago) to produce all-Negro films. Four or five such companies already exist. Strangely enough all of them show—at first estimates, a profit on their productions. It can not yet be said that any of them definitely will go into the red when final balances are determined. None of these films has been made at a cost of more than $25,000; few actually rate over a $5000 out lay of cash but at least two have eased into "C" production class while the rest hold a "D" rather firmly.

To date, these pictures are no more than "quickies", as the scale of general motion picture productions goes. I recall with as much amusement as with shocking surprise, that a certain producer of one of these all-colored flikkers invited me over to see the shooting of scenes in what advance blurbs described as an EPIC of Negro life. That call came on Monday. Knowing that most of the players had been touted to believe that they would work at least three weeks, and due also to the accustomed Hollywood procrastination, I was able finally to get over to the lot on Wednesday of the same week.

This is what I found: that only one day's shooting remained to be done before the picture was finished!

NATURALLY, the most had been made of overtime—a day's work started at 8 in the morning and lasted far into the night. There was apparently no lost motion anywhere; no long waits between shots; no arguments or conferences among director, producer, technicians; no studied camera angles or time out for retakes. It was a biff-bang business and — by the grace of Something or Other, the thing was finally edited and stuffed with a few feet of stock film rented from the studio morgue (mostly scenic effects, the EPIC of Negro life was finished and is now entertaining the nation's screen fans with unprecedented box office appeal — at least for colored patrons.

THE EXPERIMENTAL fad of all-Negro films — (which I think is on the wane unless there is a change of program) — leaves in its wake many rather illuminating points by which future productions may profit. First of these is the fact that the public WELCOMES the NEGRO as a film subject. Secondly, that the public tolerance of these films is wearing thinner and thinner as they fail progressively to meet the expectations for which they were generally believed to be started.

Up to this point, all has not been quite on the up and up regarding the exploitation of these so-called Negro film companies. Public taste stands just so much baloney and then it changes diet.

Most flagrant of the shaded tactics is the impression that the films are RACIAL enterprise — backed by Negroes' finance. This was planted as a come-on to Negro box office.

It was not a needed factor in obtaining the support of Negro audiences. Certainly does it assume a larger degree of gullibility than an informed Negro public possesses. Who cares whose money backs a worthwhile project? Then why lie about it? And when one tale is told another has to be offered to back that one up and soon there is an entanglement of lies and a complete digression from what might have been a very worthwhile enterprise.

WE ARE SKEPTICAL, and rightly so, of the calibre of some of the characters who are "financing and organizing these companies. In two instances, they have been discarded and in disrepute with regular accepted forces of motion picture industry for shady tactics and the old story of latching onto the Negro — because he is an easy sucker with more fancy than fact; more dreams than reality and more hope than sound economic sense (or is assumed to be) looms up before us as an ugly point for interrogation.

Without anything near the sufficient investigation a project as serious as this deserves — motion pictures (which is the universal medium of expression that brings the Negro before the eyes of the world as no other form of art in our day) — we are finding that our most respected and influential organizations and the facilities of our press syndicates are presently throwing all of their resources behind these questionable Jewish Shylocks who couldn't get to first base with their own people and should not have the ear of anybody else of discernment.

I HAVE SAID BEFORE and I think it bears repetition that it is a dangerous thing to jim-crow motion pictures. We should strive to win, demand or take a place in this industry as artists and Americans. If, however, there are to be Negro films of subjects not treated by major studios, they should be films of racial ACHIEVEMENT, showing the part the Negro has played in the building of this country. Such films will not have to be confined to Negro audiences. They will be interesting and acceptable to ANY audience and they will sell. Such films could consistently be backed by money from Negro people.

There is no visible need of duplicating poorly what Hollywood has done so grandly: continue the portrayal of the Negro as a buffoon and a hopeless mendicant, or a spineless idiot.

There is, likewise, little judgment in reducing the players that have learned and perfected the necessary screen and dramatic technique, to the level of mediocrity for the sake of race. You saw the greatest female box office appeal in major films borrowed from a position for which she is paid hundreds of dollars a week and slapped into a pre-war melodrama IN THE NAME OF RACE! If the player had refused, as rightly she should have, you would have heard a cry of "traitor to race" raised to the high heavens. A race that loves and respects its artists would not ask such a sacrifice. A race that respects itself would not allow a few individuals fronting for non-Negroes to raise the banner of race where only conniving exploiters working in the background are the instigators of such a nefarious scheme.

THIS INDEPENDENT company in Chicago, claiming a Hollywood address, brings nothing new to the realm of current all-Negro motion picture production. Its president is Mr. Lundy. Most of those close to the industry here know Mr. Lundy.

Climaxing three weeks of uncertainty over selection of the colored girl to play the part of "Pix" in Metro-Goldwyn - Mayer's current production of Merriam C. Cooper's "Mlle. Frou-Frou", retitled "Toy Wife", Theresa Harris, outstanding young cinemactress, was finally assigned the role after Billie Yarbaro was signed by the studio, attempted the part and was finally released.

"Pix" is the third leading character in the southern opus which stars Luise Rainer. It is said to be the most important role yet given a sepia player in Hollywood films, with the exception of "Imitation of Life."

Considerable interest was displayed over the selection of a girl for the part and a campaign waged by the cinema editor of the Eagle for recognition of tried talent resulted in reconsideration of Miss Harris.

From the beginning of its casting problems, "Frou-Frou" has demanded the best of Hollywood talent to match the high standard of acting set by Miss Rainier, acclaimed the number one woman actress in the film capital.

Cooper, the producer, spoke in glowing terms of Miss Harris tests and former performances on the screen given by her. Unannounced difficulties over 'type' sent talent scouts scurrying to find another girl who might fit the part better. But there was none to be found possessed of the ability to act "Pix" convincingly and at the same time be the natural pixie in physical appearance without the aid of makeup

It was easily discovered that if an actress could be found to execute the part makeup would do the rest, in quite the same manner as it is applied to other thespians. Miss Harris selection was then settled.

A stellar supporting cast of other colored players will bring together in 'Toy Wife' the greatest array of distinguished Negro cinema players in this year's productions.

IN HE CAST

Clarence Muse, as Brutus; Clinton Rosemond, as Pompey; Sul-Te-Wan, as Eve; and Libby Taylor, as Suzanne, complete the list of important features.

Scores of bit atmosphere and crowd players include: Myrtle Anderson, Gertrude Saunders, Cora Lang, Willa Curtis, Irene Allen, Violet McDowell.

Also Geneva Williams, Olive Ball, Charles Andrews, Edna Franklin and Lew Payton.

u. s. arts bill is backed by 10,000 here

Delegates representing more than 10,000 persons formed a Los Angeles Committee for the support of the Federal Arts Bill Sunday night at a meeting held in the Correlated Arts Center, 452½ S. Western avenue.

Represented were: Federal Writers project, Dancers Federation, Los Angeles Newspaper guild, Pasadena Playhouse, New Music Society and scores of other groups of writers, musicians and artists.

The committee formed here will function as a branch of the national Federal Arts committee organized to campaign for endorsements of the bill which is designed to set up a permanent Federal Arts Bureau of Fine Arts. It aims also to take over the present art projects of the WPA, and provide a permanent program for the five arts: Music, Theatre, Writing, Dance, Graphic and Plastic.

prizefighter cycle starts

Taking up where the "Prizefighter and the Lady" left off in what is believed to be another cycle of films about boxing subjects, Columbia announces the purchase of "Golden Boy", on of Broadway's current outstanding plays.

The title role calls for an actor who must be convincing both as a prize fighter and a violinist —combining the oil-and-water qualities of brute force and spiritual tenderness. To find a star who meets those dual requirements will necessarily be a casting problem but already widespread interest has been aroused throughout the leading male star colony of the film capital.

Now showing over the country is a picture of this type titled, "Spirit of Youth", starring Joe Louis, Brown Bomber heavyweight champion of the world which varies but little from the Columbia requirements called for in "Golden Boy".

CHAMP AIRED

Joe Louis, world's heavyweight boxing champion was the guest of Quin Ryan, Sunday, March 27, on the Highlights in Sports broadcast which was heard with the reading of Tomorrow's Tribune, at 8:45 p. m. (CST). During the coming week, Harry Thomas, challenger for Louis' title and his manager Nate Lewis, famous fight personality will be the guests of Ryan on his Celebrity

l. a. civic leader suggests racial part in forthcoming film epic of the west

— by fay m. jackson —

Evincing the growing interest in motion pictures as a universal medium of expression and the effect which their portrayal of the Negro to world audiences may have upon his future status, Titus Alexander, district official of the Bureau of Power and Light, a pioneer of California and one of the pilars of the Democratic party in the state, sent a letter to Cecil DeMille, Hollywood producer, suggesting that the Negro's part in the building of the Union Pacific be included in the forthcoming film by that name.

Alexander's letter is self-explanatory. It clearly speaks the program which has been launched and carried forward by the theatrical department of the CALIFORNIA EAGLE. Coming, as it does, from a voluntary source, it argues well for the policy which we believe must become even more general in scope and a response and alertness which must be more definitely expressed by individuals of all classes if the Negro race is to be lifted out of the category of slapstick caricature in motion pictures and shown to the eyes of the world in a character commensurate with its actual achievement and contributions to the civilization of America.

Alexander's letter reads as follows:

Dear Mr. DeMille:

I have just heard you say in your broadcast that your next picture would be "The Union Pacific".

—TITUS ALEXANDER

Ever since incorporation the DeMille Productions have been the acme of entertainment. May I suggest that the Negro soldiers of the regular army contributed to the achievement of the great project. The records of the War Department will furnish data.

In every period of the development of the West, the Negro has furnished his full quota. He was with the Jedediah Smith party in 1826, the first party of Americans to cross the Rockies to the Pacific. He was with Fremont in each of his exploration trips to the Pacific. Beckwith Pass in Lassen County was named for Jim Beckwith, Negro trapper, trader, factor, friend of Kit Carson and Jim Bridger.

In the days of Forty-nine, every train had its quota of Negroes. Here in Los Angeles in 1846 from Olvera street rode General Fremont, General Pico and Jacob Dodson (Negro) to Monterey, making the trip on horse back in 72 hours.

Mr. DeMille, your province is to furnish entertainment. You have been eminently successful. You have furnished the best. In the evolution of the drama I have seen driven from the stage the "sheeny", a caricature of the Jew. Christ was a Jew. The clay piped Irishman is gone. John McCormick is an Irishman. There remains the caricature of the sons of Ham. Roland Hayes is a Negro.

3 academy awards go to columbia

Along the Hollywood Boulevard, in star-patronized cafes and on studio streets the recent awards of the Academy of Motion Pictures Arts and Sciences continue to be discussed.

Most comment, which applauds the decisions, centers around the fact that Columbia Studios among ten competing studios, won a total of thirteen nominations and 3 awards.

They were:

Best Direction: Leo McCarey for the "Awful Truth."

Best Art Direction: Stephen Gooson for "Lost Horizon."

Best Film Editing: Gene Havlick and Gene Milford for "Lost Horizon."

Other Columbia personalities and features which had been nominated for various awards were:

Best acteress' performance Irene Dunn in "The Awful Truth." Outstanding pictures: "The Awful Truth" and "Lost Horizon". Best supporting actors: Ralph Bellamy in "The Awful Truth" and H. B. Warner in "Lost Horizon". Best screenplay: Vina Delmar for "The Awful Truth." Best Assistant director: C. C. Coleman Jr. for "Lost Horizon." Best musical scoring: "Lost Horizon." Best short subject cartoon: "The Little Match Girl."

Already Hollywood opinion believes that Columbia will have three strong contenders for the 1938 awards in "There's Always a Woman," co-starring Joan Blondell and Melvyn Douglas; "Holiday" co-starring Kathrine Hepburn and Cary Grant; and Frank Capra's "You Can't Take It With You."

SUDDEN STARDOM

A star despite this being but her fifth picture, Ann Miller, dancing comedienne, has just been cast in Frank Capra's next Columbia production, "You Can't Take It With You."

scenes from 'diavolo' depict opera brilliance

No longer an experiment after its resounding success a year ago, the Federal Music Project's all-colored version of "Fra Diavolo", Auber's ever popular comic opera, wil play a return engagement at the Belasco theatre opening Friday evening, April 1.

The first standard operetta ever presented with an all-Negro cast, "Fra Diavolo" has proved one of the most successful ventures yet launched by the Federal musicians. The acting ability of the colored artists, and their richly blended voices, give distinction to the romantic tale of the dashing bandit and his henchmen who make love to fair ladies and then rob them of their jewels.--until the brave carbineers finally put an end to their swashbuckling escapades.

BRILLIANT STAGING

Spectacular staging innovations by Director Emile de Recat, spirited ballet sequences and 50 voices from Carlyle Scott's popular colored chorus lend brilliance and dash to the familiar airs of the century-old favorite. Dr. Alois Reiser conducts the musical score.

A cast of 85 is headed by Jewel Smith in the title role of Diavolo the bandit. Supporting principals include Mayme Titus, Daniel Scott, Bernice Randolph, James Miller, Buddy Williams, Siebert Hannibal and Septimus Silas.

"Fra Diavolo" will play nightly at 8:30 through April 10, except Monday and Tuesday. Reservations may be made now by calling the Belasco box office, PR. 5156. Seats are 25 cents and 55 cents.

ON THE AIR..... .....AND IN IT

By Sally Bell for ANP

The air was full of educational gems last week. In addition to the Urban league's campaign, there was the initiation of National Negro Health week, which is observed April 3 to 10.

A special radio broadcast was made from New York City by Surgeon General Thomas Parran, of the U. S. Public Health Service on the red network of NBC last Monday.

If you hurry real fast, you might be able to catch the Alabama Negro Extension Service staff's annual Negro 4-H club radio program which will be broadcast from Washington, D. C., at 11:3 a. m. to 12:30 a. m., C. S. T., over 47 associated stations of the NBC network.

The first Saturday in each month is devoted to a radio broadcast featuring 4-H Club work, and one month out of each year is given to Negro 4-H work, and this year that Saturday falls on April 2.

An all-Negro cast from Wilcox County, Ala., will dramatize "4-H Club Members Capitalize on Opportunities at home", a script written by Home Demonstration Agent P. A. Graves and revised by the Alabama Negro Extension Service Staff, Tuskegee Institute, Ala. T. M. Campbell, Field Agent, Negro Work, Extension Service, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, with headquarters at Tuskegee Institute, Ala., will handle the narration end of the program. Listen in, and if you find it enjoyable and educational, write in and tell them so, they'll be happy to know.

rutledge and taylor join up again after two-year separation

Coming as the happiest news of the week among local theatre and nite club circles is the announcement that Rutledge and Taylor, ace dance team, split up for over two years, are back together again and fill their first engagement as a feature of Cotton club entertainment in Culver City.

For the last ten years this team broke all records for popularity of acts of its kind. While not a single step was changed in their routines, theatre and cabaret patrons never seemed to tire of the "Me and My Shadow" dance that first drew Rutledge and Taylor into the limelight on the West Coast. It was not unusual for them to respond to as many as six encores!

Rumor has it that Taylor was the "bad boy" of the team. Rutledge fared roughly as a single and the sledding was hard all the way 'round. Temperaments have been smoothed down and the combination is said to be working in the same old grand style to the delight of all concerned, with the best wishes of the entire profession.

It's a great day for Junie Rutledge in more ways than one, for his estranged wife, the famous Allegretti Anderson, has also patched up differences and the couple are homing it in a big way in their Eastside love nest.

There isn't much news from the orchestras this week: Andy Kirk is still swinging forth from Chicago's Grand Terrace.

WHEN A COMPANY is formed with Negro president, supervisor, and producer, for those are the officers who control production, then we'll feel like listening to some of the pretty stories that are told for the benefit of race. Otherwise, you might just as well take your dime and go to the Hub and see Stepin Fetchit or Willie Best "yas-suh bossing it" in one of RKO or Fox's offerings.

film producers help shriners in pageant

With attendance even at this early date of at least 100 uniformed organizations from 60 leading Shrine temples of North America already assured to date for the 1938 Convention here this June, Director General Robert A. Heffner of the 64th Imperial Council Session, and his executive committee this week began con-concentrated preparations for the Motion Picture Electrical Pageant that will climax the series of six spectacular Shrine events in the Los Angeles Coliseum, Thursday night, June 9.

Appointment of Leo Altman, prominent noble of Al Malaikah temple and advertising executive of the Los Angeles Times, as business manager of the pageant was announced this week. He will work in conjunction with Harold Lloyd, chief rabban of Al Malaikah, in Hollywood contacts. Leading members of the Motion Picture Producers Association have given their approval to the film spectacle plans, and already are designing floats and arranging participation of outstanding stars.

TO SURPASS OTHERS

Practically every picture producer of note is a Shriner, many being Al Malaikah members, and others allied with eastern temples, while among masculine stars of Al Malaikah are Clark Gable, Dick Powell, Warner Baxter, Wallace Beery, Monte Blue, Buck Jones, George Bancroft, Joe Brown and many executives and writers. The convention committee plans to make this electrical motion picture pageant surpass in every way those staged in the Coliseum for 1925 and 1929 conclaves.

20th century fox profits up in '37

Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corporation reports net profits of $8,617,114 for the fiscal year ended December 25, 1937. This was after all charges including surtax on undistributed earnings and foriegn exchange adjustments.

After deducting preferred dividends, profits were equal to $4.11 a share on the 1,741,683 shares of common stock outstanding compared with $7,722,954 or $3.55 a share on the 1,636,169 shares of common stock outstanding in the preceding year.

Dividends of $1,134,000 received from the National Theaters Corporation were included in the earnings for both 1936 and 1937. Twentieth Century-Fox owns 42 per cent interest in the company.

whipper back on stage

NEW YORK. Leigh Whipper, veteran actor who has appeared many times on Broadway in such plays as "Porgy," "Stevedore," and "Three Men On a Horse," is now contributing his bit to the success of "Of Mice and Men" at the Music Box theatre, Forty-fifth street and Broadway. A native of Charleston, S. C., Mr. Whipper's father, William J. Whipper, was a probate judge and brigadier general in command of state troops in Beaufort during Reconstruction. Mr. Whipper lives in the Dunbar apartments in Harlem.

organize expression league chicago federal theatre

ST. LOUIS. (ANP)—Organization of the Vogue League of Expression, an association intended to unite nationally those who lecture, read and recite, was announced last week by Lou Swarz, dean of the School of Expression of Douglas university and well known for her "one-woman shows."

Those helping Miss Swarz found the league include Prof. H. S. Dreer of Douglass U., Mrs. W. C. Bridges, Musilit club president, and Mrs. Mattie N. Daniels, head of the department of dramatics at Douglass. Prof. M. B. Tolston of Wiley college will be southern organized, it was announced.

Purposes of the league, said Miss Swarz, are: To arouse, create and develop a keener appreciation for the drama, dramatic readers, lecturers, solo actresses, readers of poetry; to have national organizers who will establish branch leagues; to assist toward the development of talented persons in the field of drama and dramati cart and to get groups of "play-goers" organized in cities.

A Vogue Little Theatre to function in various cities is also part of the plan.

barrymore rides to work in cart

John Berrymore today went to work in a milk wagon!

This doesn't signify that the actor with the famous profile is peddling milk, nor does it imply that he was early on the job. As a matter of fact, he was late.

On his way to Paramount to begin the portrayal of his role of Inspector Nielson in "Bulldog Drummond's Peril," Barrymore's automobile was halted by a flat tire. The star grabbed a rdie with the first motorist that stopped in response to his vigorous thumbing, and that driver was a milkman.

THEATRE of the A-I-R

Charles Hawkins, Earl Smith, Ruby Dandridge and Jack West play the principal parts in tonight's episode of Otis Bernard's amusing Radio show, "Shout Hallelujah", with an all-Negro cast.

In tonight's episode, entitled "Shout Hallelujah", Parson Sabbath paints a graphic picture of the obstinacy of Pharaoh. He points out the constancy of the Jews for their hope for deliverance, shows how the Lord helped them in Egypt and proves that the Lord's is the kingdom, the Power and the Glory.

Fifteen minutes of great entertainment is promised by the cast and the 25-voice choir, under the direction of Sherman Walker.

FRIDAY

The Federal Theatre of the Air, presents the story of "Christopher Columbus" for their series, "Turning Points in Famous Lives," over station KRKD tonight 6:30 to 6:45 p. m.

SUNDAY

The thrilling episode of a boat race for a fortune is presented for the "River King" series via KHJ and the Mutual Don Lee Network 8:00 to 8:30 p. m.

In tonight's dramatization, Bart Colby, easy-going plantation owner who is also known as the "River King" suspects crooked work when a gambler bets a $50,000 boat against a $20,000 plantation on the outcome of a boat race. This leads to a startling climax that will amaze radio fans.

LEON RENE and his famous sing band novelty act proved a popular feature on Sunday's afternoon program when he was guest of George Jessel. The band achieves all the effects of musical instruments by mouth contortions and arrangements are pleasing.

algiers theme of wanger production

Creation of an entire Algerian native city including several two-story native buildings for the Casbah backgrounds of "Algiers" Walter Wagner's next production ready to begin filming at United Artists Studio was announced this week.

The Casbah set is but one of 40 to be used in the story.

John Cromwell will direct the romantic thriller that introduces Charles Boyer as the leader of a gang of crooks exiled from their native Paris and compelled to live within the confines of the native quarter of a French colonial port. Jimmy Wong Howe has been signed as camera chief. Hundreds of Los Angeles extras drawn from the Eastside colony will be used in the native scenes.

SATURDAY

"Every Day is Christmas" for tonight over station KFWB and the California Radio System 8:00 to 8:30 p. m., brings ether fans the vivid story of three women who, doomed to die from radium poisonings, are given $10,000 each by the owner of the factory where they contracted the disease. What these women do with the money in the one year which they are given to live by the company physician, promises to startle listeners of this program.

By FRANKLYN FRANK for ANP

From its stunning foyer, to the modernistic bar with variagated lighting effects, Club Mimo is the last word of the interior decorator's craftmanship. Throughout the long hours that we danced, met some of the finest people imaginable, and made mental notes for this release, one thought alone commanded our attention:

"It is up to us to give 100 per cent support to a club set up especially for us by far sighted and enterprising Negroes . . . . 365 days in every year."

Flash: Teddy (trumpet) Buckner and his orchestra have for the past Week been packing the crowds Nightly in the Mosby's Big Apple Cafe on the Avenue. Teddy himself is a very fine leader being well liked by the "Cats" in the band as well as being rated as one of the finest trumpeters in this vicinity. Just before Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong left for the East he proudly gave Teddy a very fine trumpet autographed by himself in his appreciation of Teddy's versatility on the Trumphet. Line-up: Brass Teddy (1st trumphet) Buckner, Fletcher (2nd trumphet) Galloway, Reeds Cotche (sax-clarinet) Roberts, Hank (tenor sax) Fullilove and A (alto sax) Taylor. The rhythm section Dudley (piano) Brooks Arman (drums) Hudson, and Vernon (bass) Gower.

Flash: Duke Ellington and his greatest orchestra in the world may be heard every Sunday night swinging in the Cotton Club in New York over a Coast to Coast Net work from 8:30 p. m. until 9 through station KNX. So, dear readers, if you want to "knock yourselves out" tune in and hear Duke and his "Cats" swing.

hampton not to get krupa's job

NEW YORK. —(ANP)—Lionel Hampton, vibraphone star and himself one of the world's greatest drummers, will not replace Gene Krupa who left Benny Goodman's band over salary difficulties. Krupa was receiving $500 weekly and is understood to have sought more before he quit to form his own band.

Because the Goodman quartet is virtually on par with the whole unit and a good drumer is essential while Hampton manipulates his special instrument, it was considered not advisable to give Lionel the job and thus deprive the quartet of his service on the vibraphone. Dave Tough, until recently with Tommy Dorsey and recognized by some critics as on a par with Krupa, has accepted the post.

Echoes from Egypt, the land of the Pharoahs—Titus Triplett, after spending three years solid at the Dancing Casino ("Kit-Kat") Beirut, Syria, has now invaded Egypt at Casino Oriental "Badia" with his band of seven pieces. Arthur Gaines, tenor, also completed his engagement at the "Big Apple" last week.

Misses Alice Carter (sister of Benny) and Lulu Gould are entertaining at Fred Payne's bar to great acclaim.

Freddie Taylor and his newly organized orchestra have returned to Paris from a fortnight engagement in Holland.

Garland Wilson, pianist, who informed me that he has been invited to accompany a French count on a world tour, is still going strong at the Boeuf-Sur-Le-Toit.

Mrs. Booker T. Washington Pittman, comely little wife of that formidable saxophonist who abandoned Lucky Millinder's band on the day of embarkment for America in 1933, returned to Paris last Christmas after spending three years in South America. In the Manhattan bar last week, she said that she and Booker (who has his own band in South America and is doing fine) have been separated for some time; that she made the return voyage with a Russian, and is seeking employment here as an entertainer. Albert Pratt, sax, another deserter of Millinder's outfit, also has his own orchestra in South America, and is doing fine, says Mrs. Pittman.

Both musicians, accompanied by their wives, left here for South America in 1934 with Romeo Silva's orchestra. Pratt, who married a French girl shortly after coming to France, is the proud father of a lovely little daughter.

MISSOURI POLICE OFFICER AND FRIEND RAPE COLORED WOMAN

The latest outrage to the female kind emanates from Kansas City, Mo. A uniformed police officer and his friend are under arrest, charged with raping a colored woman at the point of a gun. The friend, said to have confessed the crime, is being held in jail, while the suspended "copper" is roaming at large under a $5,000 bond.

Much excitement prevails in the two Kansas cities and pulpits are ablaze with sermons demanding that the beasts be given the full extent of the law.

Leading the van in the fight for justice is the Rev. Holmes, Baptist minister, and he is not pulling any punches. He is joined in his gallant fight for justice by leading white citizens who are outspoken on the subject.

A DISTINGUISHED VISITOR

Los Angeles is honored next month with the presence of Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, founder and president of Bethune-Cookman College, Daytona Beach, Florida.

Mrs. Bethune will be here in the interest of the National Youth movement, and Los Angeles is giving her a welcome befitting her high place in the ranks of education and economic uplift.

Mrs. Bethune is one of the foremost women of America and her help and advice is sought by leaders in state and nation.

The California Eagle delights in joining hands with all Los Angeles in a welcome to this great woman.

THEY ALL SAY IT

Any white man, running for, or holding an office, will say that he is against discrimination in Civil Service or appointive positions. And actually believes that his lie is accepted for face value.

However, these fellows are all wet and may just as well know that such hog-wash won't down any longer with the colored brother.

This professed "belief" is never backed with action as is proven on the face of evidence.

Of all the State positions under Civil Service, Negroes qualify right along but are never called and you never hear of one of these "believers" going to bat to see that fair play is put in force. Fact is, a Negro is doomed to defeat when he fills out the application blank to file for examination. Applicants are required to state race, which saves the time of having to interview those who succeed, but instead, when they spy the word "Negro", we doubt if time is even taken to grade the paper. Now is the time for us to join hands and fight down this evil in our State government.

Speaking of prejudice in Civil Service, we believe that Los Angeles County comes nearer treating everybody alike than all others. Many Negroes hold outstanding places with the County because the Civil Service Board placed merit above race or color.

MEXICO AGAIN

Not content with confiscating the million-dollar gambling hell at Agua Caliente, the Mexican government has taken over American and British oil holdings in that country. However, the oil deal seems to have been a step too far and as a result, Uncle Sam is tightening down on Mexico's wind and will grow more drastic unless the Mexicans loosen up.

With the war pot brewing in Europe there's enough to occupy our minds and we hope for an amicable settlement with our neighbors.

ROOSEVELT SMOKED OUT

With the deafening echo of the anti-lynch bill sounding in his ears and announcement by sponsors that the bill will again be brought to the floor, President Roosevelt came forward and laid all his cards upon the table.

It's the first time during all the long drawn out controversy over the measure that the President's stand on placing a legal curb on mob murder has been made public. However, it is gratifying to know that he does not countenance such heinous acts, and therefore, suggested a compromise on the law and if adopted, we believe would ultimately bring about the passage of an anti-mob law far more drastic than the bill that caused Senator Bilbo to vision acres of Dixie white women with black babes in arms.

Now that President Roosevelt has spoken, if white churches throughout the nation would flood Congress with requests to act, the heinous crime of lynching would no longer disgrace our civilization. However, this is only a forlorn hope so far as the white man's church is concerned, which calls to mind an old story which, if not true, is a prophecy being fulfilled:

"A Negro lived in a district in which whites congregated because of the rich, fertile soil for farming. There first, the old man, of course, remained

"A Christian of many years standing, he ventured out to church. Was received courteously and as time marched on, decided to attach himself as a member.

The minister announced one Sunday that the colored brother desired membership, followed it up by saying, 'Now, Brother Jenkins, go home and pray over the matter and ask the Lord to tell you what to do'.

"Three weeks later, the old man was on hand. The altar call was made. The colored brother stood up.

"The preacher said Brother Jenkins was ready to report. Hearts beat faster. 'Is that Negro going to become a member of my church?' was buzzing thru the minds of all.

"Brother Jenkins said, 'Brothers and Sisters, I've prayed daily over this matter for the past three weeks and as stated by the pastor, the Lord has answered my prayers. The Lord told me that He had been trying to get into this church for the past 50 years and couldn't, and it would be best for me not to try.'"

GOVERNOR MERRIAM RESUMES APPOINTING SPREE

Jobs in the gift of the Governor that have been kept in cold storage, awaiting a time when the gubernatorial political fortunes could be best served, are now being passed out.

In bolstering up political fences, Governor Merriam has shown ingratitude to the men and women responsible for his election four years ago. In dealing with the colored group he has ignored every appeal for recognition.

We have plenty of qualified, competent Negroes who can fill any of the positions open but the Governor seems to think his invitation to the A. M. E. General Conference to come to Los Angeles settles whatever debt owed by him to the group. As we have often said, without a change of fronts, he'll be a sadder but wiser man after the primaries next August.

SPRING IS HERE!

THE WORLD THIS WEEK
By ROBERT PATTERSON

GAMES IN THE SEA

On the stage of the biggest theatre of action the world has ever known, a triangular area in the Pacific enclosing 12 million square miles, the U. S. Navy wages far-flung mock warfare from now till the end of April. These maneuvers are known by the name of "games", but there'll be little light-hearted frolicking from the 80,000 men aboard some 150 fighting craft participating in these, the most gruelling tests the fleet has ever undertaken in peace-time. Today "war" rages in the Pacific, but instead of guns, ships flash sudden beams of searchlights on enemy craft, instead of bombs, planes drop flares, and instead of torpedo hits, submarines release smoke bombs. These are the devices which symbolize the death-locked struggles of warfare. But they symbolize not only America's might, but America's determination to employ that might, not for aggression, but for defense, not to foster war, but to hinder it.

POLITICS AHEAD!

More than two years must roll by before America begins to talk, think, and worry in earnest about the presidential sweepstakes, but already aspiring standard-bearers are silhouetted against the political skyline from both the Republican and Democratic ranks. But as far as the voters themselves are concerned at the present moment, they're rooting for personalities with whom they are already familiar. According to the American Institute of Public Opinion, there's no great inclination to rally behind newcomers to the political arena. Many Democrats today appear to favor John Garner or Jim Farley as their choice for presidential nominee. Republicans are most unanimous in their support of Senator Vandenberg of Michigan. But much more significant than voters' current favorites for the great race two years hence, will be the Fall congressional campaigns. They're the barometers to foretell how the gusty winds of 1940 may blow!

JUSTICE IN SLOW TIME

Truly, the mills of justice do sometimes grind slow! Here the citizens of Hampton, N. H., have just restored full citizenship to one Eunice Cole, flogged and sentenced to life imprisonment for "familiarity with the devil" back in 1656. Though the hapless woman, victimized by witchcraft persecution, was later released from jail, she lived alone and despised for the remainder of her days. Gathering in the old town meeting house recently, Hampton inhabitants attempted to right that wrong. All official documents containing the false accusations are to be burned, and Eunice Cole's ashes are to be "reverently" re-interred. Exoneration has arrived just 282 years too late to bring solace to the accused woman. By no means did it arrive too late to give us helpful warning of the irreparable wrongs and shameful misdeeds which can be legally committed when passion and prejudice, instead of compassion and consideration, grip the minds of men.

THE WORLD AROUND US

You have probably suspected this before, but here comes proof of it in the black and white figures of a University of Chicago survey. It reveals nothing less than that 91 per cent of America's adult population read at least one newspaper. There's an answer for the gloomy of heart who feared newsmagazines would supersede newspapers, that radio's chime signals sounded the forlorn death-knell of papers. But as it's been said before, only the home town paper can provide the full and vivid picture of the world and people around us.

Guest Editorial

Serving Their Race

Tuskegee Institute, famous educational Institution for Negroes, reports that out of a 1937 graduating class of 141, no less than 129 have been placed in profitable employment. Of the remaining 12, it is reported seven are pursuing graduate studies while five failed to reply to inquiries.

The most significant facts in the report are the high proportion of graduates who have found their places of work in the South and the large number engaged in teaching, principally vocational agriculture.

Distribution by states reveals that no less than 112 have remained in the South, with Alabame and Georgia leading with 62 and 18 of the class now employed in the two states respectively. Only 23 are located in northern or western states while one is in a foriegn country, in South America.

When Negroes given the opportunity to acquire such valuable and practical education as that offered at Tuskegee, remain in the South bringing the benefits of their training to their own people, they are contributing the best they can to the improvement of their race and the brightening of its future.

The fact that out of 129, there are now 39 teaching vocational agriculture with 44 others employed in other teaching activities, brings striking evidence that education, as understood at Tuskegee, is education to fit the need of the times. Fort there can be nothing more valuable to the future of the Negro race than a knowledge of better ways of life and better methods of work, especially the work of the farm, the raising of profitable crops and the creation of a personal independence that only the intelligent successful farmer can fully know.

So long as graduates of the many splendid colleges for Negroes devote themselves to work for the betterment of their own race, among their people of the South, so long will those colleges serve the South and serve both races.

The Eagle's Feathers

FROM OUR ASSEMBLYMAN

Dear Editor:

I am happy to inform you that the Housing Bills which I sponsored at the regular session of the Legislature but which were vetoed were again introduced by me at the recent special session and were passed. I am confident that this new legislation will materially add to the health, happiness and general welfare of the people of this state and particularly of our Assembly District.

The bills provide for the creation of a local Housing Commission by the city. This commission or Authority as it should be called, will be empowered to undertake slum-clearance and low rent housing, to build and improve whole communities, to plan parks, playgrounds, health, clinics, nurseries, etc. The houses will not be sold but will be rented to those of low income who cannot now find suitiable places at reasonable rentals. More than $50,000,000 of federal funds are available to us for this purpose with additional appropriations to be made.

I am now anxious that our community where there is such a vital and pressing need for housing and unemployment relief be awarded its share of the projects to be included in this program. This would mean much to us: an improved community, new housing facilities, jobs for our citizens, real estate values in general will be enhanced, and the local activity will stimulate local business. The benefits will be shared by every man, women, and child in the 62nd Assembly District.

On behalf of the citizens of our district may I call on you to assist in achieving this end. Letters and petitions should be addressed to the councilmen from this district and to the Mayor of the City of Los Angeles informing them of the great interest in and need for such a program in this area. I will gladly furnish any additiional information which you may desire on this subject.

Sincerely
Assemblyman Hawkins.
Assemblyman from the 62nd district.

A MASTERPIECE

Dear Editor:

Your talk over the radio (Sunday, March 19th, KGFJ; 8:15 p.m.) on the Negro and un-employment, was a masterpiece. I wish it could be repeated in order to reach others who were so unfortunate as to miss it.

A FRIEND TO THE EAGLE

Ed's Note: The material broadcasted was printed in the March 24th issue of the Eagle under the "Sidewalk" caption.

WANTS TWO MORE

Dear Editor:

Having read and found your issue of March 10-38 so very interesting, I desire two extra copies and inclose ten cents for the same.

I liked particularly the article on the President's persistent policy of trying some "method" constantly, regardless of what chances the "method" has of bettering an undesirable condition. (Sidewalk)

Also the unprecedented effort shown by Life, Look and Foto to secure the patronage of the colored magazine readers. By their pages of pictures, they set an excellent example for the colored magazines.

Commending, also, your omission of reference to the Duke of Hollywood, I am

Very sincerely yours.

ACREAGE REDUCTION

Dear Editor:

The voting on cotton and tobacco quotas which was held on March 12th went overwhelmingly in favor of acreage reduction. Unofficial estimates indicate that Negro farmers voted in large numbers and thereby showed their interest in this important economic problem.

A most important factor in getting information to Negro farmers was the Negro Press. Many informative releases were sent from my office either directly or through the Associated Negro Press or Calvin's News Servnce. These stories were widely published and several of the papers made editorial comments.

For your cooperation in this matter, I am writing to express our very sincere thanks.

There are many provisions in the New Farm Bill which will be beneficial to Negro farmers in proportion as we are able to get the information to them. So, from time to time, we will be sending other releases covering those points which are directly beneficial to the small farmer and to tenants and sharecroppers.

Yours very truly, places in such revamped party machines.

If this were done, how well would dictatorship's challenge be answered! For through it would be seen the efficiency of democracy, and the one "talking point" of fascism would be swept away. Thus, America, by demonstrating that a republic can solve her economic and political problems, would really save the world for democracy.

IT CAME to light this week that births of Negro babies are registered in the Bureau of Statistics in the City of Los Angeles as "Ethiopians", while others are listed "Caucasians".

By what stretch of the imagination Negroes are classified in this manner, I cannot conceive. If a racial designation is required, "Negro" or "colored" would suffice. If American Negroes are Ethiopians, white Americans are English, Dutch, or German, as the case may be. It so happened that the first black man that came to these shores was among the first Americans. Alonzo Nino, a black man, piloted one of the three ships that Columbus brought over. Hence, the quiet assumption that Negroes are "Ethiopians" is an uncalled-for and ridiculous attempt at denial of citizenship.

there is more vision and a more vital message proclaimed for the people.

"The great garden of amusements has not in any way so throttled the spirit and interests of the colored citizens here that they are not seriously minded to the end of being ready and willing to strive for permanent things.

"In order to grasp the possibilities of Christianity in the leveling of racial attitudes here, I entered a forum discussion at Independent Church of Christ with Dr. Knopf, dean of religion at the University of Southern California, and a Japanese representative, that in the exchange of views we might catch the vision of the work and worth of the ethical teachings of Christ.

YOUTHS OKEH

Aside from that contact, Dr. Austin has spoken in high schools of the city and conferred with advanced students of all races. He holds a healthy outlook for the youth of the city.

"I find among the young people, forces whose minds are eagerly reaching toward each other," he declared. "In other words, the hands of Ham, Shem and Jepthah are reaching across the table in common interest for a new social order and a body politic which will recognize a human brotherhood.

"In order to observe the economic possibilities of our group in California, I have traveled outside the city for a radius of 100 miles just to observe the open fertile fields which ca now be purchased for a song.

"If the Negroes will just catch the vision and organize on a co-operative basis, they can have their chicken farms, truck and cattle ranches. They can have their markets in the city and in this way build from the ground up, which is the only fundamental and constructive method for the people's advancement.

PRACTICAL

"I have no patience with a religion that merely tries to get folks ready to go off to heaven," the dynamic minister proclaimed. "I'm trying to get them ready to bring heaven here. My theory is not just a goody-goody feeling within but a doing of good," he declared.

On a month's vacation from his services in Chicago, Dr. Austin has spent most of his time in Los Angeles. Noted for being one of the "practical" preachers of his denomination, Dr. Austin described the social welfare work carried on by his church in Chicago.

"We have a program which endeavors to reach from the problems of infants to those of aged and blind persons. Our departments deal with social problems of youth, which is under the direction of Dr. R. C. Keller, a graduate of Virginia Union university, and Rev. Wm. Harvey, master of arts of Chicago university. Another unit, under the supervision of young J. C. Austin, Wilberforce graduate, deals with juvenile delinquency problems. The church serves as a relief station and bureau of information and free employment in cooperation with the Urban league, for the City of Chicago.

MAY RETURN

Versed in law, widely traveled and a student of economics, Dr. Austin brings a wealth of experience and versatility of talents to his ministry. He has been affiliated with the founding of a bank, Steel City bank, of Pittsburg, where he pastored 12 years, and real estate projects there that helped to relieve the depressing housing conditions of the Negro district.

A strong committee of Angelenos is said to have urged his return to Los Angeles, but Dr. Austin was non-committal to the press as to whether or not he would accept the invitation.

He leaves the city for his home in Chicago today.

EVEN BEFORE The California Eagle stepped in to appraise its readers of the Al Jolson petition, which advocates the exclusion of dogs, horses, and non-Caucasians from the Encino district, the Political Study Clubs, of which Mrs. Betty Hill is executive-secretary, had taken the singer to task.

In response to their letter of protest, the clubs received a communication from Mr. Jolson which explained the petition as follows: "A resident of Sherman Oaks bought three horses and kept them on his property contrary to deed restrictions and contrary to the city's health regulations. His neighbors protested in vain . . . so they started this petition, asking the city to bear the cost of enforcing the deed restrictions for this tract of land, so that residents could not create nuisances. That was the 'selling point' of the petition and I signed it to help the poor residents."

The day after The California Eagle published the petition story a purported representative of the screen star called me, requesting a retraction on the grounds that Mr. Jolson, in signing the petition, did not wish to further the cause of segregation. We informed this person that the story first appeared in all the metropolitan papers and that the logical place for retraction was with them. However, we stated that in all fairness, we would print a signed statement of Mr. Jolson's; as yet, no such statement has been received.

The EAGLE, along with the majority of Negro residents of Los Angeles, does not wish to make the petition incident an issue of racial bitterness or hatred. However, due to the great public interest it has aroused, we feel that it might be used as an entering wedge in an attack upon a fundamental injustice in the deed restriction philosophy of our city. Exclusion from residence in any part of Los Angeles because of racial identity is violation of a guaranteed civil liberty, and the action of the City Planning Commission in denying the Jolson petition should be commended heartily. There is but one basic law of property-ownership — financial ability to purchase; any other is foreign to our nation's belief in freedom and the theories of the American Constitution.

However, the desire of residents of a neighborhood to maintain in their community a high cultural level is perfectly understandable. But how much more faithful to the ideals of such a purpose would be the simple maintenance of certain standardized tests to be given all residential newcomers? How much more logical than the wanton barring of whole groups on the basis of skin pigmentation!

Yes, Mr. Jolson, we do censor your petition. Perhaps you did not think — you should have. The removal of three horses is not worth denying a whole groups its most basic civil liberty.

THE NEGRO newspaper occupies a remarkable place in the social and political life of colored America. It is the most powerful organ the race possesses, yet its strength is little suspected by the people it serves. Even the profession does not fully realize the great power of the press, nor is it generally aware of its immense potentialities.

No more bizarre tale was ever written throughout the history of America than that of the beginning and rise of Negro journalism. Many of the first pamphlets were edited by ex-slaves and all were joined in the common anti-slavery fight. Beginning in the early 1826's, small on or two-page Negro publications appeared in 14 cities of importance thruout the North. Some violent, some persuasive — all were dedicated to a ceaseless, unyielding battle against the South's great institution of enslavement. The indifferent Yankee conscience could not long withstand the constant battering of the little pamphlets, and to them goes credit for the enlistment of many thousands to the ranks of the abolitionists. It took great men and minds to keep up that steady flow of thousands of printed words during those days, and giant among them was Frederick Douglass, who is today heralded the greatest pamphleteer our nation ever produced.

But during all these years of constant anti-slavery agitation, the Negro newspaper, although accomplishing a fine work, was becoming journalistically warped. For it is acknowledged that the prime function of a newspaper is to collect news and impartially present it; the editorial aspect is secondary. However, the one excuse for the existence of Negro journalism at that time was to maintain an unending flow of propaganda. In some cases, whole editions were published without a single news item; in others, news was so thoroughly colored that it could scarcely be classified as such.

The great reaction came

Young Sam Langford Gets 20 Years

Convicted On Charges of Rape and Assault; Sent to San Quentin

A sentence totaling 20 years was meted out to Young Sam Langford, ex-prize fighter, by Judge Charles Crum in the Superior Court Tuesday morning.

Langford, whose real name is Willis Tucker, was convicted of two charges, rape and assault with a deadly weapon. He was started, almost immediately following sentence, on the trip to the State prison at San Quentin.

The ex-pugilist was arrested by Officers Clark and McGruder, attached to the Newton street police station, on February 9, on complaint of Mrs. Daisy White, 1220 Compton avenue. Mrs. White claimed that she had been attacked by Langford at the point of a knife in the vicinity of 12th and Central avenue on the Sunday preceding Langford's arrest.

DENIES CHARGES

Langford denied the charges and entered a plea of not guilty. However he admitted being in the neighborhood of the alleged attack and speaking to the woman.

On the witness stand, Mrs. White gave the following statement:

"I was going home and I had just crossed Naomi when I heard a man whistling. I looked around and walked real fast. I screamed. I fell down on account of having a weak ankle and this man came up to me. He had a knife in his hand and he said, 'Shut up. What are you trying to do to me?' I was screaming.

"He grabbed me by my right arm, demanded that I go with him and pointed the knife on my neck at the same time. He said if I made another sound he'd kill me. Then he took me up to near Birch street near the pool hall and in between the pool hall and the house he attacked me.

BUY DRINKS

"After that he caught me by the arm and said, 'I am going to take you to my house.' I was frightened and said, 'Wait a minute. We will go out and buy some drniks and then we will go.' We walked up to the liquor house at 12th and Central avenue and I went in. He wanted me to go across the street instead but still he came into the store where I was. I jumped across the counter, told the clerk in there this man had just raped me."

Langford told the jury:

"I met the lady about 1:30 at night. From 12th and Central we walked down to Hemlock and she asked me would I buy some beer and I says 'Yes, I'll buy you some beer'. A tall guy came across the street and she started to holler and scream and she ran in a whiskey store on the corner of 12th and Central.

FOLLOWS HER

"She ran in there yelling and I went there behind her and this man stood at the door and asked what is the matter and I said, 'I don't know'. She gets behind the counter and says, 'I have been raped; he put a knife on my throat'.

"She didn't say who raped her. She kept saying she got raped and I told the boy who was in the store, 'I want you to call the cops'. And the other guy says, 'If you call the cops while you are drunk you will get put in jail with her, and I said, 'You call the cops'.

"My name is Young Sam Langford and every police in town will know me."

ATTY. BARBARA S. GOODALL, prominent soror of the National Zeta Phi Beta Sorority and a member of Zeta Zeta Chapter in Chicago, who was drafted by the organization to initiate the groundwork for a Los Angeles chapter. Atty. Goodall is the guest of relatives and will return to Chicago Sunday. On Saturday night she will be honored at a dancing party by local Zeta Phi Beta and the Phi Beta Sigma Chapter of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity.

Aside from a busy practice as a member of the law firm of Ellis and Westbrooks in Chicago, Atty. Goodall is legal chairman of the Douglas League of Women Voters and finance chairman of the National Junior League, Inc. She attended Northwestern University and completed her training at Chicago Law School and is one of the Middle-west's most brilliant platform speakers.

NAACP to Defend Oakland Boy

OAKLAND, April 7—The Northern California branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will handle the defense of Elmer Hammond, 17 year old youth charged with murdering his Filipino employer. The case will come to trial on April 27th in the Superior Court of Contra Costa County at Martinez, California.

Hammond was employed by a Filipino labor contractor to do farm labor at a wage of thirty-five cents an hour and in an altercation, arising out of a dispute over wages, shot and killed the Filipino.

H. L. Richardson, prominent northern California attorney, is acting in Hammond's behalf, assisted by Walter Gordon, Berkeley attorney and president of the Bay Cities NAACP.

At the arraignment held a few days ago, it was brought out that Hammond worked from October 1937 to March 1, 1938 for the Filipino, named Alibanebang, and during that time assertedly received only $13.50.

On March 1, while driving with Alibanebang Hammond asked again for his money. The Filipino threatened to put him out on the lonely country road and not allow him to return to the ranch for his belongings if he did not shut up. The argument subsided and the two arrived at the ranch.

It is alleged that Hammond then got a shot gun and returned to ask the Filipino for his wages. Alibanebang assertedly attempted to draw a gun, but Hammond shot first and killed him.

Affections of Man Refused By Woman

Woman's Injuries Fatal; Dies While Police Look On Helplessly

Thwarted in his attempt to force his affections upon her, James Holland, aged 40, of 1318 East 18th street, struck Hortense Mickens, 925 E. 25th street, over the head with a chair, that inflicted injuries which caused her death Sunday night, Officers Smith and Casey reported.

A coroner's jury Tuesday morning found that Holland had struck Miss Mickens with homicidal intents and that the blows on her head caused her death. He was turned over to the police to stand trial.

It was also brought out that had the woman been given immediate medical attention, she might have lived. According to witnesses's testimony Miss Mickens was tsruck about eight o'clock in the morning, but no medical attention was given until late that night, twelve hours later, when witnesses called in the police.

Holding Robert Foster and Estrella Sanders as material witnesses, the officers stated that they found Miss Mickens lying in bed in a critical condition when they arrived on the scene of the murder. She died while they were there.

According to Mrs. Sanders statement, a drinking party was in progress at the Mickens home when Holland made advances to her. She ran away from him and locked herself in the bathroom. A few minutes later she heard a crash, came out of hiding and saw Holland standing over the injured woman with pieces of a chair in his hands.

Other witnesses: Jordan and Mary Thompson; Randall Anderson, Thomas and Frankie Rigsby and Thomas Jefferson corroborated her story.

Holland attempted to escape before police arrived. His automobile, parked in front of the Mickens home, was impounded at the request of Detective C. S. Broady, and he was later taken into custody at his home.

Home Loan Bank Prexy Visits Liberty

In Los Angeles Tuesday was M. M. Huford, president of the Federal Home Loan Bank. In his tour of the city's financial institutions, Mr. Hurford visited the only Negro banking project in Los Angeles, the Liberty BuildingLoan Association, and expressed approval of the service the Association is rendering to the Negro community of the city.

Latest project of the Liberty Association is the 35 acre Blodgett Tract, located at Imperial and Wadsworth avenues, where houses are being erected under terms of the FHA.

Interviewed this week on progress of the Tract, Louis M. Blodgett, president of Liber said that a building boom is on at the Tract and houses are going into construction daily.

"People are attracted," he said "by the proximity of the Tract to the beach and by the altitude that insures a dry, healthful climate the year round."

He issued an invitation to the general public to visit the Tract, stating that guides are on duty there every day.

2 Kidnap, Rob Pedestrian

Charles W. Copeland, 50, was kidnaped, and robbed early Tuesday by a Negro and a white man who forced him into their car as he walked near his home at 1226 Padro street.

After driving him to a deserted spot at 24th and Union Pacific streets, Copeland told police, the pair robbed him of $32, his watch, and his ring, and then gagged him with a piece of rubber hose in his moth, held in place by a wire twisted tightly around the back of his head.

Accused of slugging and rolling drunks in the vicinity of Fifth and Kohler streets, William Dennis, 34, was arrested today by Officers Cleveland and Ayers on complaints that he hung around the corner with a big stick which he wielded in the dark over the pates of inebriated pedestrians.

Dennis was held for the show-up of suspects.

Clarence Muse-- A-TALKIN' TO YOU

The GRAPE STREET SCHOOL in Watts, as you probably know, is about one hundred per cent colored, which is a rare thing in California schools. Miss Nell Haas (principal) recently contacted Mr. L. L. Ostrow of M-G-M, a producer, seeking his help in putting over a GREAT MUSICAL PLAN for the youngsters. She feels that there is a marked expression of musical talent and that these children should have an orchestra. She states that usually the communities furnish instruments, but that SEEMS TO BE IMPOSSIBLE in this district of moderate means. So an SOS is sent out to the studios, to the leading artists, like BILL ROBINSON, LOUISE BEAVERS, HATTIE McDANIELS, LOU PEYTON, ERNEST WHITMAN, STEPIN FETCHIT and others to aid in picking up horns, violins, drums, and all sorts of musical instruments, either new or second hand. Mr. Ostrow is very much interested in our group and he is doing his bit to help and ASKS IF YOU HAVE AN OLD INSTRUMENT please contact Miss Nell Haas of GRAPE STREET SCHOOL in Watts. Friends, I am sure we will soon have the WATTS ORCHESTRA, because one of the best teachers in the business has volunteered his services. Do SOMETHING and do it today — YOU HAVE NEVER FAILED, so let Mr. Ostrow and all the others of the other groups see that we can always DO OUR BIT. This is a grand gesture — DON'T YOU THINK SO?

ocial Security Files Show Native African o Be 125; Believed Oldest to Get Benefit

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., April 7. (ANP)—A native African and an ex-slave who was 40 years old when the Civil War began and fought for the Confederacy in his master's place and who, according to authentic documents, is approximately 125 years old, is believed to be the oldest person in the South to receive Social Security benefits.

According to records of the Social Security board, this aged man, Jim Johnson, spent more than a third of his life in slavery and was sold four times. Because there was little compulsory birth registration before 1872, two Brownsville citizens were required to sign affidavits in which they said he had been konwn to them for the past 50 years and when they first saw him he appeared to be about 75.

In 1887, these citizens said, Johnson's children were grown and married with children of their own. For the past 65 years he has lived on a Haywood county farm in a cabin he built himself. His great age was supported by still other documents case workers found.

Johnson's first master, he said, was a man named Witherspoon who sold him at auction to a Mr. Miller. When nearly grown he became the property of Daniel Campbell and drove a stage coach for him.

FOUGHT FOR REBELS

The Civil war broke out 25 years later and Johnson, huge and strong and around 40 years old, returned home to look after the place while his master fought the Yankees. A year later he served in the Rebel army as a substitute for his master.

When freedom was declared in 1863, Johnson left his master and set out for Tennessee, taking 25 colored families with him, and his wife bore his several children. After his first wife's death, he married Alberta Hawthorne. Johnson said he was 97 when he married for the third time and that one son, now 37, was then born. He says also he has cut his third set of teeth.

His eyesight is failing at last and he seldom goes far from his home, although he insists he can see a little better every day. He tells time by the sun, rarely missing it more than a few minutes.

Friends share his two-room cabin with him and since he is too feeble to work they feed and clothe him with his earnings and his $10 monthly check.

JACK JOHNSON NOW 60 YEARS OLD

NEW YORK, April 7. (ANP)—Jack Johnson, world's heavyweight champion from 1908 to 1915 and a prizefighter for 30 years, was 60 years old Thursday. He was the only Negro to wear the crown before Joe Louis, whom he thinks he can beat even today.

"Li'l Arthur," as he was known, was born in Galveston, Texas, in 1878. He started fighting at the age of 20, but it was 10 years later, when he was 30, that he won the title, holding it until he was 37 and then yielding it to Jess Willard at Havana in an alleged "deal" to permit his return to America. His final ring appearance was in 1938, at the age of 50.

He has the reputation of being the only defensive heavyweight in history, in addition to the most durable. He is unmarked from his 30 years of ring warfare and at 60 is ta ll, muscular and well preserved. His reach was the shortest of any heavyweight champion, being just 72 inches. He is a familiar figure in New York, and constantly wears a blue beret on his bald pate which he shaves that way. His head, despite the absence of hair, is extraordinarily large since Jack wears a size 8 1/2.

Activities in Val Verde

Now that Spring is here, hundreds of people are turning their thoughts to the green hills the wild flowers and the wonders of nature.

Many worshippers are planning to greet the rising sun on the Haly Mount of Val Verde.

Val Verde, the beautiful, unlike yesteryears, is a community of fulfilled promises. The largest big enterprise that has attracted the attention of Val Verde and Los Angeles was the acquisition of a 40-acre beauty spot in hills just one quarter mile north of the club house, by a group of prominent Los Angeles business and professional men.

They propose to develop an exclusive Colony around a picturesque club house. The architectural scheme will be produced by aul R. Williams, one of the promoters. The others are the following members of this unique Private club which they have named The Glen Oaks Mountain Club: Paul R. Williams, Vice-President; Norman O. Houston, treasurer, and Frederick M. Roberts.

Glen Oaks is situated in a secluded section, overlooking Val Verde, where one may enjoy relightful mountain air, dry healthful climate, dancing, hiking, riding, tennis, and the children's playground.

Officers of the club plan to restrict membership to property owners in the Glen Oaks section.

PLANS TWO TOURS

CHICAGO, April 7, (ANP)—Miss Thyra, well known travel and tour conductor, this week announced two trips to Mexico and one to Europe for the Summer season. The dates for the two seminars to Mexico have been set at June 12 to July 2, and July 3 to July 25. The Angelo-Scandinavian seminar will extend from July 7 to Sept. 9.

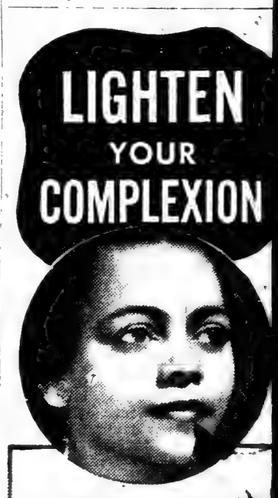
Plans have alseady been made according to Miss Edwards for round table discussions, teas, hikes and excursions with friends in Europe. Leisurely cruises on the Swiss Lakes and on the tropical Black Sea are insluded in the itinerary abroad.

MOB BEATS MAN FOR INSULT TO CAFE GIRL

In a spectacular street fight near Sunset boulevard and north Spring street before dawn Saturday, John W. Wordean, aged 40, of 1727 Garfield Place, was badly beaten by a mob before taken into custody by police.

The violence began when Wordean was accused of having insulted Anna Villa, night club hat-check girl, who was seated in an automobile on North Spring street.

The woman screamed when Wordean approached her, she told police.



Juan Morena, owner, and Enrique Valdez, bartender at the Bamba Club, assertedly ran to the rescue of the woman and attempted to seize Wordean. He drew a club and fought the men off.

The fight attracted others who joined in the melee. They prevented Wordean from fleeing until the arrival of Detectives W. J. Clark, J. P. Luquet and C. E. Ream, who arrested Wordean.

Local Group to Join in National Beauty Week

Mrs. Catherine Allen, president of the Mme. C. J. Walker club of the west coast, announced this week that beauticians of Los Angeles and vicinity will participate in the observation of National Beauty Culture Week to be observed from April 10 to 16. All beauty shop owners and operators are asked to set aside one day for open house to demonstrate the finer points of the profession to the pubic. The Mme. C. J. Walker club is celebrating with a program of lectures and demonstratinos Monday evening from seven to ten o'clock at the Community Beauty Shop, 5505 South Central Ave.

Formal proclamation of the week was made by Mrs. Marjorie Stewart Joyner, president of the National Beauty Culturist's League and an instructor in the Mme. C. J. Walkers School of Beauty Culture.

KNIGHTS AND DAUGHTERS OF TABOR IN ANNIVERSARY

The Pacific Coast Tabernacle, International Order of Twelve Knights and Daughters of Tabor will observe their twenty-sixth anniversary on the evening of Friday, April 8, at eight o'clock, at Taborian hall, 1021 East 41st place.

ple desiring loans for remodeling or building found it inconvenient because of working hours to travel to metropolitan Los Angeles to loaning institutions but that many such people could visit a neighborhood Eastern store at their leisure, till 9 p. m. and obtain such FHA information as they desired.

SIEROTY GIVES VIEWS

Mr. Sieroty said in part, "We must take a new view on economics. If this nation is to prosper, part of the burden must be lifted from the government's shoulders regardless of our political views. That which has the greatest possibility of returning real prosperity is the building of homes on the FHA plan. It will give working capital to building supply institutions, added work to architects, contractors, and building tradesmen, and will give our people better homes in which to live. This plan will give real buying power to the public whose wide spending will make for prosperity in all lines of business activity. The special welfare of the whole people must be considered if we are to have permanent prosperity."

Sieroty further stated his firm was studying every short-cut in FHA loans and was in a position to offer this to anyone seeking it, without obligation.

The Eastern group included J. E. Sieroty, vice president; I. Brown, vice president of Columbia; H. Eckenasy and A. R. Gifford, executives of the firm.

APPLICATIONS AT EASTERN

Plans were formulated, whereby applications and information on any type FHA loan may be had at all Eastern stores. The reason given by executives of the Eastern was, that frequently, people desiring loans for remodeling or building found it inconvenient because of working hours to travel to metropolitan Los Angeles to loaning institutions but that many such people could visit a neighborhood Eastern store at their leisure, till 9 p. m. and obtain such FHA information as they desired.

EASTERN EXECS MEET ON U. S. HOUSING PLAN

Executives of the Eastern, lo cal home furnishing institution, were present at a luncheon conference at the Los Angeles Stock Exchange club with a number of executives of the Bank of America; the purpose, to simplify the obtaining of FHA loans. These two institutions were drawn together by a common mission, one, the furnishing of money to build homes, the other, furnishing the homes on easy time payments.

The Bank of American was represented at the luncheon by Vice President R. L. Carver, Vice President J. E. Fishburn jr., Vice President H. B. Kelly, Assistant Vice President Charles L. Marble, and Manager A. O. Otsea, of the Real Estate Loan Division.

I expect noise sometimes... but in a refrigerator I want

PARTIES would hardly be parties without some noise—but the refrigerator you have in your home day in and day out should be silent! For silence means more than comfort alone. In your refrigerator it means that there are no moving parts to make noise, to vibrate or to wear out. It means absence of costly repair bills, too. The only automatic refrigerator that brings you all these advantages is Servel Electrolux, the gas refrigerator. And remember, it operates with natural gas, the low-cost fuel!

Cooking Grows Up
S'Matter, Al?
Names You Hear

ONE OF the oldest arts in the world is growing up — with all the fullness of maturity. Realization of this was brought forceably to mind the other day as we talked with Esther Brown, whose very name embodies food expertness.

Located in a building close by the 28th street branch YMCA, Miss Brown trains approximately forty girls and women, places them in jobs that command good salaries, and has broadened her work to include radio appearances on station KFWB.

Seated in her cooking school, which, by the way, is spacious and well equipped, we listened to a frank recital of her setbacks and evidences of her will to succeed. Formerly located at 43rd street and Wadsworth, she was forced to move and thru contacts succeeded in securing the building just behind the "Y" on Paloma street.

Her method of placing her girls is not hit-and-miss. She believes, like many others, that cooking is as much of a profession as that of medicine. So at certain times during the year she has what are called guest hostesses at the school, who, at the same time, are prospective employers. These hostesses invite five or six of their friends who are also prospective employers. The girls of the cooking school, eligible to graduate, must pass the tests of preparation and serving of meals to the guest hostesses and their guests before receiving their certificates. If they pass the tests, the hostess and her guests, affix their signatures to the certificate. The graduating cook or maid may then use her certificate as a reference in securing work.

This week, Miss Brown made her initial appearance over KFWB as head of that station's home economics department. She appears three times weekly in 15-minute broadcasts, which proves again that preparation is the best means of advancement. KFWB plans to lengthen Miss Brown's broadcast on Fridays so that she may conduct a cooking class in that station's auditorium to which Beverly Hills and Hollywood matrons and housewives, who compose that class most likely to employ cooks, would be invited.

Radio station KFWB thus plucks a full-fledged home economics star in Miss Brown and therefore is to be commended on its selection. And as the scope of her work broadens through this medium, we are reminded again that one of the oldest arts in the world is growing up.

MANY TIMES on fight nights at the Grand avenue Olympic swatatorium, this town's largest fistic house, we have seen Al Jolson, the comedian, eagerly grasp the dynamic paw of Henry Armstrong, to the accompaniment of the cheers of the patrons. We have seen pictures of the two. We have read reports that Jolson bought Henry's contract, making him his owner. Henry has obliged by supplying a new angle to keep the name of Jolson before the public as the owner of the world's most publicized fighting machinie.

And yet —

Newspapers last week told the story of the comedian's alleged attempts to exclude "horses, cows, goats, other farm animals, and NEGROES" from San Fernando Valley where he and others identified with the motion picture industry reside.

And then, we have seen Jolson's blackened features in newspapers and on the screen as a portrayer of Negro roles.

And, yet —

Not content with classifying the people, with and upon whom he has risen to fame, with "farm animals", he sought to keep them from living in his immediate vicinity.

COUNCILMAN J. H. IRVIN, OF PHILADELPHIA, PRESENTING TO DR. LESLIE PINCKNEY HILL, CHAIRMAN, $5000 GIFT TO NATIONAL YMCA CAMPAIGN

NEW YORK, N. Y.—With a gift of $5,000.00, Mr. James H. Irvin, only colored member of the City Council of Philadelphia, leads all contriutobrs to date in the National Y Anniversary Expansion Campaign. The contribution was made on solicitation of Dr. Leslie Pinckney Hill of State Teachers College, Cheyney, Pa. who is National Chairman of the campaign.

Mr. Irvin not only leads the list of donors in the campaign but has made the largest contribution ever made by a colored man to the National Work of the YMCA. Large gifts in the past have been made to local building funds, outstanding among them that of $10,000.00 by Dr. J. W. Anderson to the Dallas, Texas building.

CLAIMS CHICKEN STEALING TITLE

MEMPHIS, April 7. (ANP)—Know who is the city's best chicken thief? It's none other than Henry Williams, 70, who after his umpteenth arrest Saturday night blandly admitted he is the king and during his 30 year "career" had served more sentences in the workhouse than he can remember.

Henry, who is quite colored, said he learned his "profession" from a "natchal bo'n chicken thief" and had no idea how many hens he had stolen. He said he never takes a rooster because they make too much noise.

Here's his method: First, tap on the outside of the chicken house, and if you get a soft answering cackle, the hens are there. Then get inside, grab them by the legs, and put them in a sack. Always, Henry emphasizes, grab them by the legs. Anywhere else and they'll squawk. Between 8 and 9 p. m. is the best time for stealing. Outside of chicken stealing, he is considered perfectly harmless by the police department. Henry said he had been shot only once during his "career."

Deans of Women to Hold Meeting

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 7. (ANP)—Miss Georgia M. Teal, Dean of Women, Wilberforce University, Wilberforce, Ohio, announces the annual meeting of the National Association of Deans of Women and Advisers of Girls in Negro Schools to be held April 21, 22 and 23, 1938, at Tuskegee Institute, Alabama. The Program Committee, under the chairmanship of Dean Mayme U. Foster of Fisk university, has planned two days of interesting activity for the deans of women. Dean Georgia M. Teal is the president of the organization, having succeeded the late Dean Lucy D. Slowe of Howard university, for whom a memorial service will be held during the meeting.

CONDENSED SUMMARY FOR BUSY READERS

'Spain Battleground for Peace,' Says Hughes

CHICAGO — Speaking here Tuesday under auspices of the North Committee to Aid Spanish Democracy, Langston Hughes, renowned poet and traveler, recently returned from battle-torn Spain, told his hearers: "Spain is today the battle ground of humanity in the struggle for progress, for freedom and universal peace. Within the next few days, the world must rise to that issue or face an even greater offensive of the fascist powers."

Push Plans for Negro WPA Project in Chicago

CHICAGO—Federal and City officials this week pushed plans for construction of the South Parkway Gardens, WPA housing project for Negroes. Tentative specifications provide for 1,600 family units, 800 of them single and double houses in groups, or villages. The other 800 units will be in apartment buildings similar to the three projects now completed and occupied by whites.

BIG INVESTOR

John W. Roxborough, co-manager of Joe Louis, heavyweight champion of the world, has become associated with the Chicago Burr Oak Cemetery association which is completing one of the few Negro burial grounds in the country. At the recent annual meeting of the stockholders and directors, Mr. Roxborough was elected to the company's Board of Directors.

Uphold Right of Negro to Picket White Store

MONROVIA, Liberia. — The right of Negroes to picket chain stores in colored districts where only white are employed, was upheld on Monday by the U. S. Supreme Court—in a 6-2 opinion which ruled that such picketing constitutes a labor dispute within the meaning of the Norris-LaGuardia act. The High Court therefore held the District of Columbia court was in error in granting an injunction restraining a Negro alliance from picketing the stores of the Sanitary Grocery company.

SUNDAY BREAKFAST-MEET SET BY OMEGAS

Church Has Swing Concert!

oOo oOo oOo

New York Leaves L. A. Aghast

It must take plenty to shock the New Yorkers. But church circles of Los Angeles this week were aghast at reports of a Swing Concert held at the Abyssinia Baptist church of New York city on Sunday of last week.

Featuring the playing of "Sophisticated Lady" by Pianist-Orchestra Leader Duke Ellington, singing of "Minnie the Moocher" by the Nicholas brothers, with the audience joining in on the hi-de-ho echoes, the unusual "musical" evoked no expression of surprise from New York, not even from the Harlem newspaper.

Pastor of the Abyssinia Baptist church is convention - busting Adam G. Powell, 29 years old, who recently succeeded his father to the pastorate of the largest Protestant church in the world, as the Abyssinia church is reputed to be in respect to membership.

Sponsor of the concert was the minister's wife, Mrs. Isobel Powell, sister of Fredi Washington, movie actress, and herself a former night club and radio singer.

The concert was given to raise funds for support of a Harlem home for the aged, charitable project of the church. The amount raised was $1,141.61.

The home cost $36,000 and it takes $5,000 annually to maintain it, according to a speech of appeal made by the Rev. Mr. Powell. No admission to the affair was charged. Offerings were lifted and donations made.

Long before the concert began every available seat in the auditorium was occupied, mainly by young people.

Duke Ellington, whose orchestra is appearing at the Cotton Club, foremost late spot of New York, set the spirit of the musical portion of the program, playing on the piano his compositions; "Sophisticated Lady", "Azure", and "If You Were in My Place What Would You Do".

Arriving late because of a previous engagement at the Apollo theatre, the Nicholas brothers swung right into "Mammy's Little Brownskin Boy", following with "Minnie the Moocher", re-

UPTON SAYS

They tell me that this is Negro Health Week and that half of us are roaming the streets in a tubercular condition. Some with one lung, others with no lungs and from the general description of the Negro race in the health warnings, there won't be enough of us to burn on Judgment Day. Well, maybe it is so. I am not the one to say that it isn't. Some of us do need to be a little more careful of ourselves and stop drinking this hard liquor. But it sure seems amazing that our race is considered unbeatable on the athletic fields and, also that whenever the big moving picture producers need giants, they generally send down on Central Ave. and have no trouble in finding the types they want? However, I guess we will have to take our doctor's word for it and try to do something about it. Maybe I have only one lung, who knows? One thing that I do know is, where I am short on lungs, I have made up for it in stomachs. According to the meals I eat, I am the only man alive with two stomachs. If you doubt it, just invite me to your house for dinner. Take my temperature, Doc!

Experience is costly, but, if applied, always brings a profit.

Birthday Greetings

Many happy returns to the following readers who celebrate their birthdays during the month of April: Daniel Roberts, C. T. White, and King Johnson, congratulations.

Upton-Holland Re-elected; H. L. Armstrong Defeats R. J. Murry, In Big Landslide

In one of the biggest up-sets in railroad circles, H. L. Armstrong former member of the executive board defeated R. J. Murray two to one with a majority of twenty-five votes for the vice-presidency and delegate of the Los Angeles Division of the International Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, F. D. Buck running for executive board member was also elected. The defeat of Murray, who has been very active in Brotherhood politics, and is the present headman of the Los Angeles PPBA was a complete upset. Murray has been mentioned on many different occasions as the porters choice for president of the organization which has opened the eyes of the labor world under the able leadership of A. Philip Randolph, International president.

G. W. Henderson, Geo. Corbin and C. W. Lee acted as tellers for the election. The meeting was interesting and had as guests speaker Clarence R. Johnson, general chairman of the Southern Pacific Dining Car Waiters and Cooks who explained to the members the program outlined by Labor's Non-Partisan League which the body voted to affiliate with. Mr. Johnson also explained labor's part as a member of the National Negro Congress.

Brotherhood Plans Installation Ceremonies

Plans will immediately be outlined by the executive board for installation ceremonies of the newly elected officers, and at which time refreshments will be served as in the past.

Strange As It May Seem

We have noted of late a great deal of publicity regarding a family of Los Angeles Pullman Porters. The publicity is good, in fact it is great stuff, more power to them. Only we are so sorry to state that the Brotherhood can not give the boys the glad hand of real fellowship at this time, and we suggest that the master mind drop by the office.

L. Robinson is The Man With the Rosy Cheeks

For many years now we have had the honor to have among our midst a veteran Pullman porter with bushy grey hair and ruddy rosy cheeks, and according to my reporters he is called the Pullman porter Santa Claus on the Los Angeles to Chicago run of the Union Pacific. He has always got a smile for the children and the grown folks and I am informed that Mr. Leach considers him as one of his best boosters. If you have not met rosy cheek L. Robinson, you should.

Porters Now Enjoy Card Games At Brotherhood

The new card table recently installed at the Brotherhood headquarters has been getting plenty of service during the last few days. Porters have been vieing with each other in both bridge and whist. If you are one that loves to play bridge or whist drop around the headquarters.

Wm. Asbury Carrys Pocket Radio

If you should happen to see a strange little man with a cap pulled down over his eyes holding his ear to a head phone. Don't call the police because it is just Wm. Asbury trying to catch the returns of the races.

6 Angelenos Buried By Angelus

Final rites for William Holloway, who died at Wildwood Sanitarium, Newhall, Calif., April 1, were held Tuesday from Bethel Church of Christ Holiness, Adams and Hooper, with Bishop William A. Washington presiding.

Mr. Holloway made his home at 1215 East Adams Blvd. with his widow, Mrs. Marie Holloway. He was born in Columbus, Texas, and came to California 14 years ago. For seven years he was employed as a janitor at the City Hall.

Under the direction of the Angelus Funeral Home, interment was in Evergreen cemetery.

Brief Illness Fatal

Mrs. Susie Roan of 2901 Pennsylvania avenue died last Saturday morning at her home, following a brief illness.

Funeral service was held from the church chapel of the Angelus Funeral Home Wednesday afternoon with Rev. H. Mansfield Collins, pastor of First AME church, in charge.

Dies Suddenly

Final services for Joseph Patrick, who died suddenly at his home, 1610 East 50th street, Wednesday night, March 30, were held from Bethel Church of Christ Holiness, Adams and Hooper, last Monday, with Bishop William A. Washington in charge.

He had lived in Los Angeles for 15 years, and was born in Forrest County, Miss. His widow, Mrs. Sally Patrick, survives.

Interment was in Evergreen cemetery directed by the Angelus Funeral Home.

Texan Succumbs

Succumbing to a short illness, James H. McCormick died at the General hospital last Thursday night. He lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry McCormick at 2021 West 29th Place.

The deceased was born in Fort McIntosh, Texas, and had made Los Angeles his home for the past ten years.

The last obsequies were performed at the Holy Name Catholic church last Monday morning. Under the direction of the Angelus Funeral Home, interment was in Calvary cemetery.

quested by the audience.

Failing to appear were Maxine Sullivan, singing star, who has evoked a storm of protest for her singing in swing tempo semi-sacred numbers, folk songs of foreign nations, and the classics, and Bill Robinson, the famous tap dancer.

Many attributed Robinson's absence to a reluctance to participate in secular activities within the walls of the church.

UNOA Asks Adult Help in Programs

To Negro Parents and Business People: The free programs given each Thursday starting at 7:30 p. m. sharp at Jefferson high, featuring the Famous Covan and Lauretta Butler's, Kiddie Revues; Mrs. Hightower's (Kiddie) orchestra; singers-dancers; popular speakers and community singing, and popular progressive ministers, their congregations and choirs in separate programs are sponsored by your Negro Business and Professional People and the churches.

To acquaint all thinking progressive people with the appalling economic, social, moral, financial and political conditions of our race, and how to cure them.

Our attendance is very large, but mostly children; we must have the presence and cooperation of adults and parents, if our effort to make a job and an opportunity for a Negro program is to succeed. We must all hang together or we will surely hang separately; any person with talent is urged to call Mrs. Hightower, CE. 29905 and arrange for audition.

Auspices UNOA. (Adv.)

'Black Belt' Gets Name From Color of Soil

ATLANTA, Ga.—In a recent address here, Dr. Ryland Knight, chairman of a joint committee of the Northern and Southern Baptist Conventions named to consider the problem of ministerial education for Negroes, spoke of the great mass of Negroes in the South, and explained the meaning of the term "Black Belt." He said: "The Black Belt is not so named because of the color of the population, as some people imagine, but takes its name from the color of a wide strip of a peculiar black soil that crosses from South Carolina to East Texas, through Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

New Safeway Store at 2625 South San Pedro Street

NEW SAFEWAY STORE IN GRAND OPENING TOMORROW, SATURDAY

Featured by a gala celebration announcing it, the new Safeway store at 2625 South San Pedro, is holding its grand opening Friday and Saturday of this week. The unit, one of the newest in Safeway's group of Southern California neighborhood stores, is housed in a brand new building owned by A. J. Ross, et al, of North Parkview street. Adjacent to the store is a surfaced parking lot for the convenience of shoppers at the new Safeway.

MODERNIZED BUILDING

Erected by H. L. Redd, prominent southside contractor, the new Safeway store building includes the latest improvements in earthquake-proof and fireproof construction and is modern in every respect. It is a worthy addition to the community, in appearance as well as in usefulness. Also attractive to the food shoppers of this neighborhood will be the up-to-date layout of the inside of the market.

The fixtures of the new store are a perfect combination of beauty and utility. They feature low-type shelving to make each item in the grocery department easily accesible to the shopper. Merchandise is conveniently and logically arranged to make the location of each item on the day's shopping list as easy as possible. Wide aisles and handy baskets permit customers of the new Safeway to wait on themselves, leisurely or hurriedly, according to their individual desires. Of course, for those who prefer to be waited upon, there is a crew of well-trained, courteous employees to cater to their wants. These men are also ready to take care of child shoppers in the new store.

MODEL MEAT CASES

The meat department of the Safeway food center is equipped with modern refrigerated meat cases. These cases embody the latest developments in humidity and temperature control, and enable the market man to keep each cut in perfect condition for delivery to the customer. Slicing machines, scales and other mechanical equipment in this department are of the most accurate kind obtainable.

Customers in the fruit and vegetable department will find a wide selection of quality produce displayed on sanitary tables. In addition to making the green goods available for easy inspection by the customer, the stands are constructed to keep perishable merchandise in the finest possible condition.

In all, the new Safeway store is a marvel of beauty and efficiency. Here, under one roof, you will be able to fill all of your food needs. Here, you will get quality in every department. Here, you will always find low prices and courteous service.

H. L. POWELL, manager new San Pedro street Safeway store.

R. V. TEETER, market manager, new Safeway on San Pedro street.

2 Named to Safeway Store Posts

H. L. Powell and R. V. Teeter have been selected by Safeway to head the store crew at the new Safeway at 2625 South San Pedro, W. G. Cole, district manager for the southeast area, announced yesterday.

Mr. Powell, the grocery manager, is the veteran of the crew having been a member of the Safeway family since ten years ago this month. He comes to the new store from the Safeway on Sunset boulevard.

Mr. Teeter, the market manager, is a meat cutter of wide experience and first joined the rank of Safeway in 1934. Before coming to the new store he was at the Safeway market on Whittier boulevard. "We are anxious to make the acquaintance of the food buyers of this neighborhood", Mr. Powell stated yesterday. "We hope to be able to demonstrate to the people around San Pedro and Adams the value of Safeway smiling service, Safeway high quality, and Safeway economy prices. We invite every one in the vicinity of the new store to join with us in our grand opening celebration Friday and Saturday of this week."

The crew at the new store is aided and guided by an efficient district manager, W. G. Cole, who first started with Safeway as a market salesman fifteen years ago and has worked his way up by the regular Safeway route from Salesman, to manager, to supervisor, to district manager.

SUBSCRIPTION DEPT. HAS NEW WORKERS

Subscribers will pleased be advised that we have three new solicitor-collectors in the field, one perhaps has already called upon some of you in an effort to renew past due accounts as well as to interest new readers in the CALIFORNIA EAGLE. Some accounts are very much overdue and it is hoped that each person contacted will do his best to pay up. A year's subscription at the regular rate is small when you consider all the benefits to be derived as the result of the existence of a newspaper that advocates the cause of a particular group of people. Help us to help you by subscribing and paying. HANKS!

Jeff High Eve School Plans Campaign

At the last meeting of the adult student body of the Jefferson Evening High school, a committee was appointed by the president, Joseph Taylor, to formulate plans to increase the enrollment in the evening school. Ways and means were discused by the representatives from 15 classes. It was agreed that "Life Long Learning" is essential to every individual's progress.

JOSEPH TAYLOR

All the members of the organization voted to spread the good news of adult education, and to urge adults residing in the community to enroll for special classes now in session.

The adult student body of Jefferson Evening High school has five hundred members. Its board of governors are leaders in the community who have been enthusiastic in their activities for an educated state and nation. They are cooperating with the faculty of the school in order to stimulate residents in taking advantage of the free instruction now being offered in this night school.

Jefferson Evening High school is located at 41st street and Hooper avenue, on the northeast corner. You are urged to visit the school, and learn for yourself what splendid opportunities are available today for increasing efficiency in vocational training and for personality development in other directions.

Mortuary Firm to Observe Anniversary Palm Sunday

By LAWRENCE F. LAMAR

Anticipating a great gathering, officials of the Smith & Williams Mortuary company have made every arrangement to take care of their hundreds of well wishers in a very comfortable way. The firm is holding an "open house" for the public on the occassion of its celebration of the Twenty-sixth Anniversary of its founding.

In addition to the above mentioned motive, the Board of Directors of the outstanding firm are taking advantage of the opportunity and are presenting their newly elected youthful officers to the public. William (Bill) Smith, recently elected president, and Leon Edwards, the new Secretary-treasurer of the firm, are known as two of the youngest executives of a major business firm.

An attractive vocal and musical program has been arranged for the occasion slated for Palm Sunday (April 10), from 4 to 6 p. m. at the Mortuary establishment, 1311 Central avenue. The program will be under the direction of Miss Robert V. Edwards and Mr. Henry Strickland. Mr. Strickland will act as master of ceremonies. Among the artist who are scheduled to appear are, Alberto Mayo, Gertrude Smith, Ernestine Wade, Marie Fredrick, Joseph James, Leslie Brown, Robt. Williams, George Jones, Jewell Smith, Jos. Crawford, the Vesper Octette, direction of Anna Mae Morrow, and the Smith and Williams chapel soloist, Harold Kieth.

The Smith and Williams mortuary company was founded in 1912 by the late Grant Smith and Frank Williams at present a vice president of the company. Mr. Williams, the sole survivor of the founders of the establishment that has grown steadily in esteem in the community, will also be singled out for honors during the Anniversary celebration.

EAGLE SAN DIEGO CORRESPONDENT HERE

Mrs. E. B. Wesley, EAGLE representative for San Diego and vicinity was a visitor to the city over the past week end, the guest of Mrs. Carter Buckner. Mrs. Wesley is one of San Diego's most substantial citizens and very active in the religious and civic growth of the Bay city.

Now's the Time for Blossom Sight-Seeing in Southland

Mother Nature magically unfolded lavish displays of wild flowers in several Southland regions the past week and reports indicate that now's the time for blossom sightseeing.

Lupine present a vast ocean of blue from Grapevine on U. S. Highway 99 and the first ten miles of the road to Bakersfield is bordered with varied blossoms.

Beautiful displays greet the eyes from Bakersfield to Shafter. Varieties include desert sunshine, golden girls, baby blue eyes, birdseye gilia, evening snow, owl's clover, poppies, thistle sage, suncups and cream cups.

Poppies West of Caliente

South-facing foothills west from Caliente are well covered with poppies. A good display of lupine is found at the foot of the White Wolf grade east of Arvin and the south-facing slopes of the ravines up White Wolf grade are solid with poppies and lupine. Other slopes are covered with brodiae and white popcorn flower. Poppies and lupine form a colorful display south of Arvin, even though visitors cannot get close to them. Reports from Taft, McKittrick and Lost Hills tell of considerable carpeting of yellow color.

Wild blossoms have started to spring up in Riverside county. There is a considerable showing of yellow daisies and buttercups on Highway 395 between Perris and Temecula and also along Temescal Canyon road between Corona and Elsinore.

Apricot trees in the upper Ojai valley and along Ventura avenue north of Ventura are in bloom, but flowers are few. Some lupine and mustard color the hills around Santa Barbara.

El Centro reports a few verbena in the Plaster City area, and Redlands offers some purple and white lilac in bloom along Sunset drive and some fruit trees blossoming in the Yucaipa district.

Chatter and . . . Some News

By HELEN F. CHAPPELL

'Mid the concentration on health and attending happiness . . . come sneezes and sundry reactions to good old Spring . . . comes Spring fever that may be anything from laziness to jes plain tiredness or brazen cussedness! — not that that has anything to do with you . . . You're taken with health and beauty celebrations and will probably make it a "must" to go to the YMCA some day this week between nine and nine to view the health exhibit . . . you'll re-think things you heard Sunday . . . in church and at the Adloyho Nurses' tea.

More than that, you're doing your Easter shopping with your tongue in your cheek wondering whether you can join the fashion parade and make that Assistance League Benefit Ball Monday night after Easter . . . in a new gown, as well as the Twenty Sportsmen's initial night at the Club Alabam Easter Sunday night. Take a tip from me and make 'em both . . . because both are for very legitimate and commendable causes . . . and need you; the former for charity, the latter to give jobs . . . to musicians and waiters who have been hard hit . . . by unfinancial waves.

MORE ABOUT JOBS:

Sunday afternoon, the Southside Youth Council will give you plenty to think baout and avenues to doing things in the "Jobs" conference to be held at the Avalon Christian church, Forty-third and Avalon . . . a number of young leaders and youth promoters will be in evidence and it'll be an afternoon well spent. Percy Williams is chairman of the sponsoring committee.

Florence Marie Brawley, of Delta Sigma Theta, who is chairman of coming May Week activity, is putting all hands to the plough and doing a nice job of it . . . biggest event will be the presentation of Mary McLeod Bethune on May 3 in a lecture-reception at Independent . . . with other Greeks assisting the "Ducks". Bishop Sara Butler's job this week-end is arranging for the monthly meeting of the Women's Breakfast Club . . . it's a pre-Easter meet . . . and with Sunday being the day of palms, we'll be on hand to lamp the nifty Spring outfits . . . maybe . . . providin' the S. S. class will excuse teacher . . . again.

Should've mentioned while on the "Ducks" and Mary Bethune that the Inter-Organization Vocational Opportunity committee has a hand in helping plan the official presentation of the lady from D. C. and Florida . . . working with Floyd Covington are Mercier Reese, George Currie, Ira Lipscomb, William Timms, Othello Nance, Leslie Browne, Crispus Wright, Joseph Henderson, Joffre Roberts and Edythe Meaux . . . more later — you already know it's an official NYA visit.

THE EAST OFFERS:

Mrs. Lavinia Bryant of Chicago and Miss Isabel Peterson of Boston . . . who are having the time of their young lives being hosted by the George Whites at 1158 East Forty-first Place . . . Atty. Barbara Watts Goodall, also of the "Windy City", is visiting relatives, generally speaking . . . Mrs. Clemy Holley and family in East Forty-fifth; specifically scribbling, she's rounding up Zeta Phi Beta sorors and pledges and getting in some good ground-work for launching a coast chapter of "finer womanhood" exponents. The lady lawyer spent the week-end in Pasadena as guest of Mrs. Elizabeth Armstrong in her home and at the swanky formal dinner of the Once-in-Awhile Club in the palatial home of Mrs. Lena Watkins at Lomita. Zeta sorors and Sigma fraters will honor the lady in an informal dancing party Saturday evening before she entrains for Chi . . . . Sunday.

The Publicity lady of the Vernon Avenue Nursery wants the Pal O' Mine Club to know she regrets the omission of its name from the list of those contributing to the nursery in last week's release to the EAGLE . . . . Sure you understand that "It's just one of those things".

The Goddess of Happiness smiles again . . . . for the Eugene Rabbs (Lois Williams) are "infanticipating" . . . . and I'm most thrilled to offer congratulations and back it up with saving pennies for a pig bank . . . .uhm hum . . . . Lois being an erstwhile schoolmate and a long-time friend; meanwhile, the master's degree must wait while the "M. R. S." gets a higher degree.

Glad to hear Gwendolyn Valentine is progressing rapidly in the climb back to her old self after being stricked with appendicitis some weeks ago. Gwen's sitting up and all that . . . . but you still must content yourself with sending cards and flowers until she's stronger. Include on the list for flowers our Charlotte Strange who was rushed to the General Hospital right before press time last week . . . . and undergoes an operation today (Thursday). Miss seeing you "hittin' the pavements", Charlotte, and hope you're out again . . . . soon.

The Kats topped the Apes in score Sunday night at the basket setto . . . . but not in spirit; both are tuning up for another encounter this Sunday and the early arrivers . . . . will catch choice corners in the bleachers . . . . "Boots" McCracken, save me a seat . . . . Somebody's going to have a time preaching at sunrise services Easter Sunday . . . . after the "balanced livers" get through with the shindig at Val Verde Saturday night . . . . much too much!

ROANOKE, VA., GETS FIRST GREEK LETTER SORORITY

ROANOKE, Va., Apr. 7 (ANP) —Omega Zeta Chapter of the Zeta Phi Beta sorority was set up in this city last week end as the first Greek letter chapter ever organized here. Father Payton, Washington, D. C., middle Atlantic regional director, assisted by Velma Coppage, state deputy of Virginia, and Carrie Michie, basileus, Tau Zeta chapter, Charlottesville, Va., conducted the installation.

Following the initiation, members of the Phi Beta Sigma fraternity, entertained the sorors with a party at the club house. Elected officers of Omega Zeta chapter were Hazel Bowman, basileus; Lucye Terrell, who directed organization of the chapter, anti-basileus; Daisy Carey, grammateus; Gladys Cox, tamiouches; Vivian Baker, jerveler and Leonilda Burrell, epistoleus.

JR. BUSINESS GIRLS ADD "PROFESSIONAL" TO NAME OF LEAGUE

The Junior Business Girls League became the "Business and Professional Girls League" at a meeting Tuesday evening with their advisor, Mrs. Irene Freeman, and Miss Ruby Jefferson, Girl Reserve Secretary. The change in name was made not only because a number of the girls have "grown up" since the founding of the organization, but also, because, several have entered the professional ranks.

Nominations were made for officers for the ensuing year and Theodosia Hampton was nominated president, an office she has held for two years. Other nominees for the presidency were Dorothy Crafton and Vivienne Baltimore; for vice president: Joan J. Willis, Emily Jane Green, Nellie G. Mills and Jean Thompson; secretary, Momsa Machabie; corresponding secretary, Vivienne Baltimore; treasurer, Fay Wynne; publicity, Evelyn C. Lewis, and contact lady, Joan J. Willis. Miss Nellie G. Mills was named inter-Club Council Representative.

Residing in Oakland

Miss Corinne N. White, one of the popular Twins of Mrs. Francis White, of Chicago, Ill., and able stenographer is now residing in Oakland, California.

STYLE NOTES

For our style chat this week, let's go to the seat of success or failure in making impressions . . . to the alpha and omega of all tests for style creations whether they be by a Parisian stylist, mother, or the dressmaker around the corner. In short, let's turn for final consideration to the wearer . . . to yourself.

This course is inspired by a comment from a kind reader and listener to our Monday evening broadcasts. Said the lady "I've noticed you talk a lot about background and atmosphere. . . .and so much about personality! You have told us what you mean by background and atmosphere. . . . but I don't remember your defining personality — how about it? Especially, just what do you mean by dressing your personality?"

Lady, it's just this: If nature has given you a forehead that's too high for the upsweep hair style and lips that no amount of cajoling will bring to a cupid's bow, and, at the same time, eyes that answer to the description of "clear pools in the moonlight" and a good figure, do you go around lamenting the length of your forehead and the irregularity of your lips? . . .You certainly don't.

You get busy and dress your eyes! You buy a hat that dips enough to cut off some of that forehead in a color that gives flash to those twin pools. You cultivate long lashes and get expert advice on the way your eyebrows should be plucked. You dress that figure in maternals that see it off without giving it commonness! . . . .Saunter into tearooms and club sessions with a sure step because you've dressed your good points . . . go into your dance and to your date with confidence and grace and let your forehead go hang!

Let it go hang 'neath gently curling strands for bangs . . let it go unnoticed because the bright scarf at your throat does things for your eyes.

Maybe you think nature hasn't blessed you with anything . . . all right you'll fall back on "pretty is as pretty does". Get a line on the persons you want to make friends with and find out their interests . . . Spend fifteen minutes a day in the library or at home checking up on your knowledge of what you think they're thinking and come out armed with enough to do battle with the above-average, if not the best. Now just what does this have to do with clothing? Everything.

You buy styles that aren't flashy because you aren't flashy . . . you've toned your voice down to a softness that lingers long after what you have said is forgotten . . . so you dress in soft things touched with fragile flairs and enhanced with fragile scents. You put grace into your walk and let the stage star keep her swing. She needs it for her act. You cultivate a love for people and move among them with quiet propriety. Before the town belle knows it you've walked off with the season's catch! Lady, that's some dressing . . .but it's being done every day by folks who know how to dress their personalities. Just look around at the ladies you call plain that have handsome husbands with positions of envy.

In answer to the first question: Personality is the sum total of all physical, spiritual and mental qualities—that's a psychologist's definition. "Not lip nor eye . . . but the joint force and semblance of them all", wrote Mr. Milton in describing beauty or personality. Very pretty sayings and very true, but I prefer to think it in less sounding terms in unpoetic words . . . that it's a strong point played up well; it's what you've got that your sisters don't have. It's the dip you can wear in your hair, that your rival doesn't dare! It's the way you control a situation with sweet calm while others go off the deep end . . . it's often your knowing the difference between saying too much and too little.

Personality, friend, is what make you you, and me me. Can you dress it? I'll say you can! I fail in making mine when I strain to be you and, conversely, you strike a repulsive chord when you try to be me. You've got a good mirror or a good friend . . . one or both of them can tell you your strong point . . . . Play it!

'TWEEN TROY & WESTWOOD

By EDYTH MEAUX

'Twas like old times' the other night when Greek Alpha Phi Alpha met Greek letter Kappa Alpha Psi in a bit of friendly basketball rivalry up at the Elks.

Out in front of the Kappa rooting section we spied Percy Williams leading yells and giving the gang the old pep talk--Over on the sidelines giving the boys some bits of encouragement when the going got rough was "Moose" Ragland . . . Sitting over in the Alpha section were Wilbur and Ernest Mason, whom we have a sneaking suspicion were a little afraid to do much loyal rooting for the home team in unfriendly territory.

Giving the Kappas their most loyal support, even though precariously perched beneath the Alpha banner we heard the Johnny Orrs (Winifred Rogsdale) . . . the Jo Hutchersons . . the Freddie Billups . . . Bob Craddock . . . T. J. Jackson . . . and Hattie Hopgood and "Sug" Morrison . . . while Lottie and Marion Leopard remaining neutral yelled for both sides.

Quite the reverse Rufus Norman, standing by the Kappa rooting section elicited many threatening glances when he enthusiastically rooted for the Alphas . . . Gladys Harris, watched the game most neutrally and interestedly . . . Eula Dene Ford . . . another neutral figure cheered both teams . . . while Florence Gagnet . . . Eugene Smith and Betty Smith and Andrew Ellis were theorizing on what the Alpha team might have done.

May the best team win was the attitude of Mrs. Jimmie Goodloe . . . Bernice Jones, and Charles Burse . . . who judging from their unbiased cheering had no bets on either side.

Between the halves, trying to get out into the foyer to get a breath of cool air we glimpsed a sight of Bob Parrish and Jeanne Thompson . . . Edith Jones and Warren Eason . . . Kenny Washington, somewhat fatigued after his Alpha cheer leading attempt, strolling with June Bradley . . . Lillian Singleton, who came out on crutches to root for the boys even though suffering from a fractured foot . . . Ethel Payton and Bennie Shaw, indulging in the "pause that refreshes" . . . Mildred and Louis Shores chatting with Marjorie Shores and Henry Feltenberg, who was just a bit tired after the first half of the fast and furious game.

A little skeptical about climbing down since it necessitated a dangerous climb back up were Constance Boring, whom we caught a peek of talking with T. Smith, James Akers, and Jack Bratton.

Trying to see in all directions we backed into Bill Williams, Ouida White and Walda Robinson . . . and barely missed barging into Kenneth Mack and Esther Avery as they made their way back to their seats.

Taking a little time off from Uncle Sam's mail were Adele Matthews and Ethel Carter, whom we slipped upon just as they were making a hasty retreat back to their government abode.

Many a sad Alpha was seen as the whistle ended and necessitated them paying up a few wild bets . . . . Arthur McNealy with some Alpha money in his wallet was already soliciting bets for next week's game as Cecelia Dye looked indulgently on . . . Luella Green and Jimmy Robinson, of the pharmacist Robinsons, judging by their happy countenances had evidently not indulged in any better . . . Helen Mills and Carrie Jenkins were dancing as if Carrie hadn't played a most energetic game . . . Orvis Knowles, with a somewhat puzzled lok was wanodering around in search of someone and Otis Walker was predicting an upset in next week's game to Josephine Blodgett . . .

Taking up a god deal of floor space were Emily Mason and Cato Robinson . . . while June Baker and "Lanky" Price did a bit of serious chatting during dance intervals.

MEALS THAT SCORE

By Arden H. Duane for ANP

EASTER DINNER

French Cream of Spinach Soup
Crown Roast of Spring Lamb
Sweet Potato Puffs
Glazed Baby Carrots
Fresh Asparagus with Drawn Butter
Easter Salad with Fresh Mint Dressing
Strawberry Cream Pie

French Cream of Spinach Soup . . . One cup cooked spinach, two tablespoons grated onion, two tablespoons shortening, two tablespoons flour, two bouillon cubes, one half teaspon salt, four cups milk, six lemon slices, one hard cooked egg yolk.

Drain spinach, force through a sieve. In top of double boiler saute onion in hot melted shortening until limp but not brown. Blend in flour, bouillon cubes and salt and ad milk gradually, stirring constantly. Place over boiling water and cook until slightly thickened, stirring occasionally. Add spinach puree, heat thoroughly. To serve, pour soup over lemon slices, sprinkle top with finely sieved hard-cooked egg yolk.

Sweet Potato Puffs . . . Three and one half cups mashed cooked sweet potatoes, one teaspoon salt, dash pepper, twelve marshmallows, one egg, two cups corn flakes, shortening.

Combine potatoes, salt and pepper; mold mixture around marshmallows until about two and one half inches in diameter. Dip in beaten egg, roll in whole corn flakes. Place in shallow baking pan, adding about one half cup melted shorting to cover bottom of pan. Place in hot oven 450 degrees F for five minutes. Turn potato balls, bake five minutes longer.

Glazed Baby Carrots . . . Ten small carrots, three cups boiling water, sweet sour sauce.

Scrape and wash carrots and cut in halves lengthwise. Cook in boiling water until tender. Place in shallow greased baking pan. Pour sweet sour sauce over carrots and bake for twenty-five minutes in a hot oven 400 degrees F.

Sweet Sour Cream . . . One half cup water, three fourths tablespoon cornstarch, two tablespoons granulated sugar, one fourth teaspoon salt, one and one half tablespoons lemon juice, one tablespoon butter. Bring water to boiling point. Combine cornstarch, sugar, salt. Stir into boiling water and cook about eight minutes, stirring constantly. Add lemon juice and butter. When latter is melted, pour sauce over carrots.

Easter Salad . . . Two (three ounce) packages cream cheese, or one cup cottage cheese, salt, cream, green coloring, one half head lettuce, shredded, watercress, dash of black pepper, fresh mint dressing.

Season cheese to taste with salt and ad just enough cream to make of soft smooth consistency. Tint to delicate green with the vegetable coloring. Mold into shape and size of robin's eggs, making twelve nests of shredded lettuce. Garnish with a few sprigs of watercress. Sprinkle black pepper very lightly over the cheese balls and serve with Fresh Mint Dressing.

Fresh Mint Dressing . . . One half cup vinegar, one and one half cup fresh mint, minced, one fourth cup lemon juice, one and one half tablespoons granulated sugar one half teaspoon salt.

Place vinegar, one cup of the water and one fourth cup of chopped mint in saucepan. Simmer until reduced to one half original quantity. Remove from heat and strain through fine strainer. Add remaining water, lemon juice, sugar and salt. Chill thoroughly before adding remaining chopped mint leaves.

Strawberry Cream Pie . . . Two thirds cup sugar, four tablespoons cornstarch, one fourth teaspoon salt, one half teaspoon vanilla, two cups scalded milk, two egg yolks, one half teaspoon lemon extract, one cup hulled strawberries, one baked pie shell, whipped cream.

Mix dry ingredients, add scalded milk and cook for fifteen minutes over boiling boiler and cook for two minutes more. Cool add flavorings. Pour into baked pie shell, cover with strawberries and top with sweetened and flavored whipped cream. Garnish with whole berries if desired.

WPA MUSICAL BILLS STARS

"Sing for Your Supper," a full length musical revue with more than 100 in the cast is scheduled to open on Broadway late in the spring.

The revue, presented by the WPA Federal Theatre Project, will have in its cast former members of "Swing It" and "Bassa Moona". Federal Theatre hits which owed their success to the excellence of Negro actors and directors.

Comes now a deluge of excitement anent the arrival of the first lady among the feminist leaders of our race. . . Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune . . . whoe far reaching precepts and concepts have done much for the encouragement and inspiration to Negroes everywhere young and old . . . Mrs. Behune's coming to our Southland can be hailed as little less than a boon to all of us who are endowed with a love of progress . . . achieved, as has been hers. . . by dint of an indomintable will . . . Mrs. Florence Marie Brawley, of Pace Avenue, Delta Sigma Theta soror, is heading up the various Delta womne's activities that will revolve about the engaging personality that is Mrs. Bethune's. . .

Sunday morning the twenty-fourth will find the intellectual Deltas gathered about a breakfast board in swank Clarke Hotel . . . Sunday afternoon at 3:30 . . . and that's on May first Second Baptist Church; the Federated Clubs . . . and there you have it. . . added to and coupled with the insistent demands that everyone will make upon Mrs. Bethune's time . . . all in hospitable, friendly spirit so characteristic of Southern California and its citizens.

Demoiselles proved their ability . . . even as novices for the club's just begun . . . put over successful . . . dance for their school of youngsters just about crowded . . . the Garner Foundation last Friday evening . . . and on April Fool's Day too! . . . going on The Royal Knights . . . another organization of Pasadena . . . masters . . . have set the date for their own'd dance . . . to be given on the evening of April twenteenth . . . that's on a Wednesday . . . and during spring vacation . . . which makes everything quite alright . . . especially for . . . week . . . during school weeks . . . next week we'll be . . . Royal Knights to see. . . in the . . . from eight until one in the time.

Given . . . an affair . . . these are the words . . . the program . . . to . . . courtesy . . . Pasadena Fellowship League Attracts World Educators in Brilliant Meeting

By STANFORD W. WILLIAMSON

Sounding a note of unprecedented distinctive culture and brilliance, Pasadena's Fellowship Breakfast league, unit of the Pasadena Community Sing association, marked, with its April breakfast meet, a definite forward step in annals of colored American history, race relations and interracial fellowship.

Held, as is customary, in the hall of the Garner Music Research Foundation, the April 3rd session of the League attracted a number of the most renowned educators, medicos, philanthropists and civic leader in the United Etates and the world at large.

Speaker of the morning was Dr. John A. Sexson, Superintendent of Pasadena's splendid school system and President of the School Administrators of America. It is interesting to note that during the many years of his superintendancy Dr. Sexson's interest in the musical and educational work of the Foundation has been unflagging; and his gracious acceptance of the invitation to bring to the assemblage an address came not only as a result of his belief in the leadership of George Garner, but also as a result of his belief in the ultimate accomplishment of the Foundation's aims.

DR. SEXSONS SPEAKS

Dr. Sexson for his theme: "Living Together and Learning Together". He said in part-dispensing with all unnecessary formality:

"I came because of my indebtedness to a leader. Surely the greater accomplishment is the establishment, the perpetuation of such an institution, such an organization for fellowship with which we find ourselves now surrounded.

We live today in frightened world—a world filled with hostility, wars, grief and suffering. We in America cannot smugly comfort ourselves with an "it can't happen here" attitude; but rather should glory in the existence of such an organization as the Pasadena Fellowship Breakfast League—constant in its work to promote a minimum in human misunderstanding—zealous in its endeavor to stamp out racial antipathy.

I visualize the near-at-hand dav when we shall see this institution, the George Garner Foundation expanded to a size commensurate with the greatness of its present contribution to the Pasadena community."

Professor T. Virgil Truman, head of the Adult Education Department of the Pasadena schools responded to Dr. Sexson's address.

Sharply at the appointed time for the breakfast, junior and senior members of the Garner Chorus sang, with beautiful spirituality 'Du Bois' "Adoramus Te" from the "Seven Last Words of Christ" score; followed by "O Thous Who Hearest Every Heartfelt Prayer", Atkinson.

Dr. Merle N. Smith, pastor emeritus of Pasadena's great First Methodist Episcopal Church, intoned the invocation.

The Reverend Elbert W. Moore Pasadena divine and chaplain-counsellor of the Fellowship Breakfast League since its incipiency, delivered a welcome address that served to link musical and verbal supplication with all that was to follow.

George Garner, as master of ceremonies, introduced the notable of both races who ware present.

They were: Dr. Edwin Diller Strabuck, director, the University of Southern California School of Philosophy, head of the University's Institute of Character Research and winner of the $20,000 award for the preparation of a method of character training in the public schools. Dr. Starbuck, many time over an authority in the fields of pliosophy, psychology and character education, typifies the American educator at the zenith. With him were the eight members who comprise his school of philosophy staff.

Dean and Mrs. Max van Lewen Swarthout, University of Southern California School of Music director; Professor and Mrs. C. C. Thomas, California Institute of Technology; Courtenay Monsen, secretary, Pasadena Board of Education; Professor and Mrs. T. MID-DAY PASSION WEEK SERVICES END APRIL 15 AT WESLEY CENTER

'Seven Last Words of Christ' Will Be Closing Feature

Mid-day Passion Week services, being sponsored by the Interdenominational Ministers' Alliance, will begin Monday, April 11, and end Good Friday, April 15, with services built around "The Seven Last Words of Christ". Rev. E. W. Rakestraw, head of the program committee and pastor of Wesley M. E. Church is in charge of the services.

Speakers in order of their appearance beginning Monday at 12 noon are: Rev. S. M. Beane, Tuesday, Bishop William A. Washington; Wednesday, Rev. J. L. Caston; Thursday, Rev. H. Mansfield Collins; and Friday, the Reverends Baxter C. Duke, L. M. Curtis, E. E. Lightner, L. C. Cleaves, Walter R. Lovell, Thomas L. Griffith, and E. W. Rakestraw. The services will be held in the Wesley Community Center at 1029 East Vernon Ave.

Sunday services at most of the city churches will be marked with palm themes, music and pageants. At the First AME church, 8th and Towne avenue, Rev. H. Mansfield Collins will bring a message of the palms at the morning service while in the evening, a pageant will be presented under the direction of Mrs. Lucille M. Williams who is widely known for her ability in presenting stellar sacred performances.

"The Tears of Jesus" has been chosen for a sermon subject by Rev. E. W. Rakestraw for Sunday morning; in the evening, he will preach a request sermon on "Dry Bones". Rev. Rakestraw is minister of Wesley M. E. Church at Eighth and San Julian Sts.

Rev. E. E. Lightner of the Lincoln Memorial Congregational Church, Vernon and Hooper Avenue, will deliver the sixth in his Lenten series Sunday morning on "Following the Trail of Jesus" from the subject: "His Method of Triumph." At 7:30 p. m., the Holy Week services will begin with Rev. E. W. Moore as guest speaker each evening except Monday.

Rev. S. M. Beane of Hamilton M. E., 18th and Naomi, will deliver a Palm Sunday sermon at eleven; at 7:30, he will deliver an evangelistic message and will continue each evening until Easter at eight. The choir is preparing a Ressurection service for Easter Sunday morning at five o'clock.

Rev. T. T. Addison of Goodwill Missionary Baptist Church will speak from the subject, "Efficient Service" at eleven o'clock and "Do" next Sunday evening.

Palm Sunday services will be held at Ward Chapel this Sunday morning. The message will be brought by the pastor, Rev. J. W. Price. The public is invited to attend Ward Chapel Tuesday evening, April 21, when Mrs. Mary D. Briggs, postmistress will speak.

A great HEALTH SYMPOSIUM will be conducted Sunday night to close Health week which was observed during this appointed time with appropriate services at the Seventh Day Adventist Church, Dr. Ruth Temple, Dr. Copper, Dentist, Dr. Rodriguez, M. D., and others will take part in a service which will mean the saving of many dollars to those who attend and who listen to the counsel given. The Pastor speaks Sabbath (Saturday) at the 11 o'clock service. The Sabbath school convenes at 9:30 A. M.

St. Paul Baptist Church
21st and Naomi Avenue
S. A. Williams, Pastor

"The Big Man" was the subject of a sermon by Rev. F. L. Taylor at the eleven o'clock services Sunday. The sermon was followed with a healthy talk by Dr. E. I. Robinson in observation of national Negro Health Week. Rev. James E. Moore spoke on "The Perpetuity of the Church" Sunday evening.

Pastor S. A. Williams will instruct the Bible Movement Wednesday night from the subject, "Light, Salt, City" and the regular Missionary Movement will be held Thursday at two o'clock. Palm Sunday services will feature Rev. Williams in a demonstrated sermon from the subject "Christ, the Conqueror."

ZION TEMPLE CHURCH
1315 E. Vernon Avenue
Bishop Butler, Pastor

Bishop Sara Butler plans to make this commemoration of Palm Sunday an outstanding one in the annals of the Temple. The church will be beautifully decorated for the occasion.

Morning services will be featured by a special Palm Sunday processional, followed by a fifteen minute period of silence, enhanced by the melting strains of soft organ music. An uplifting message will be delivered by the pastor, closing with Healing and Altar services.

At four o'clock in the afternoon, the peerless "Paul Quinn" quartette will be heard in a Palm Sunday concert. The superb performance of these young artists is so well known to all lovers of Negro Spirituals, that further talk is un-necessary. Just come early if you want a seat, because they always perform to packed houses.

A special musical treat is also promised for Sunday night services, which begin promptly at 8 o'clock. Mr. Leonardo Dinaro, famous Italian radio tenor, has consented to render several selections during the course of the services. He has a marvelous voice, and will bring a deeply spiritual message in song. The public is cordially invited to worship at the Temple on Palm Sunday.

BETHEL SLATES PALM SUNDAY VESPER HOUR

The Bethel AME Church Choir will present Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew and Miss Denkins in a one hour vesper service on Palm Sunday from four to five o'clock in the church auditorium.

The services sponsored by the Three Musketeers Club at 3 p. m. last Sunday featured the wives of the Retired Men's Club. Bishop Sara Butler was the speaker and brought a timely message on "The Lighted Candle". Mrs. Pearl Heard, president and Mrs. Mattie Seldon, secretary, were in charge of the program.

On each fourth Sunday, the Gospel Choir has full charge of the service under the direction of Miss Dorothy Crafton with Mrs. Esther Fortier as pianist.

PALM SUNDAY PAGEANT AT EIGHTH AND TOWNE

"The Answer of the Cross", a pageant portraying types of persons who seek solace at the Cross, both young and old, and presenting the challenge of the Cross after 2000 years since the Crucifixion, will be presented Sunday evening at eight o'clock at the First AME church, Eighth and Towne avenue. The production will be under the direction of Mrs. Lucille M. Williams with the choir assisting. Miss Nell Dixon will render two solos; a pantomime, "The Old Rugged Cross," will be dramatized by Misses Jean Thompson, Georgia Williams and Flossie Williams.

UNION USHER BOARD DIRECTORS TO MEET

The board of directors of the Union Usher Board will meet Friday evening, April 8, at the home of Mrs. Hattie Chamberland, 5523 Dewarte Street. William Goward is president.

Give Christian Science Subject

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" This question is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scieintist, branches of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

A Scriptural selection in the Lesson-Sermon includes the verses from Matthew: "And, behold, a woman, which was diseased with an issue of blood twelve years, came behind him and touched hem of his gament: For she said within herself, If I may but touch his garment, I shall be whole. But Jesus turned him about, and when he saw her, he said, Daughter, be of good comfort; thy faith hath made thee whole. And the woman was made whole from that hour."

One of the correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, presents the statements: "The Principle and proof of Christianity are discerned by spiritual sense. They are set forth in Jesus' demonstrations, which show—by his healing the sick, casting out evils, and destroying death, "the last enemy that shall be destroyed,"—his disregard of matter and its so-called laws."

Health Meet at Independent Church Sunday

Concluding the observance of National Negro Health Week, a mass meeting featuring a symposium on health will be held at People's Independent Church of Christ, 18th and Paloma, next Sunday night, April 10, at 7:30.

The speakers will include Dr. Ruth J. Temple, Floyd C. Covington, executive secretary of the Los Angeles Urban league, and Rev. Clayton D. Russell, minister.

An enjoyable program of music, featuring popular local talent, is being arranged by Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew.

BAPTIST UNION OKAYS S. E. L. CASKET CO.

The Baptist Ministers Union has given its endorsement to the SEL Casket Co., and urges that every Negro in Los Angeles would demand of his undertakers, to be shown the caskets manufactured by this company. We must build Negro enterprises, by supporting such enterprises.

Clean Up, Paint Up, Fix Up—This is Negro Health Week.

"LIFE OF MOSES" AT SECOND AME CHURCH

"The Life of Moses", from birth to death, will be depicted in a pageant at the Second AME church, 1763 East 53rd street, on Tuesday evening, April 19, at eight o'clock. The pageant was created by the Rev. Senator H. Laley, B.S. of London, England; costumes are designed from Jerusalem and Egyptian costumes. The Rev. C. A. Harris is pastor and announces that the pageant is for the benefit of the church.

$5,673 REPORTED BY BAPTIST MINISTERS FOR QUARTER

Quarterly financial reports of Baptist Ministers Union totaled $5,673, according to a release this week by Rev. J. A. Davis, reporter of the union. A total of 126 accessions were recorded. Dr. A. C. Capers previewed the Sunday School lesson.

BEGINS THIRD YEAR
DR. J. L. CASTON
Pastor Trinity Baptist Church

Dr. J. L. Caston, the dynamic and scholarly minister of the Trinity Baptist Church, West 36th and Normandie streets began his third years' work last Sunday. The day was known as "Better Homes" Sunday and three largely attended services were held. Special features of the day included a surprise visit of the Rev. W. A. Johnson, Dr. Caston's immediate predecessor in the morning message, the presentation of a beautiful "Illuminated Cross" for the Chancel to the pastor by Bonita Franklin, the dedication of one hundred new Bibles by Mrs. Virginia Jack, a special sermon by Rev. G. W. Reed and a "Better Homes" program featuring George Caldwell, Jr., Anita Lowe and Beatrice Cassell with Alma Britt presiding. Nearly two hundred persons received communion Sunday night and there were several additions during the day: In the two year period of Dr. Caston's pastorate two hundred seventy-one persons have united with the church.

Lenten at Independent

Beginning next Monday night, April 11, Lenten revival services will be held nightly in celebration of Holy Week at People's Independent Church of Christ, 18th and Paloma, according to an announcement made by the minister, Rev. Clayton D. Russell, this week.

The Gospel Choir will lead the inspirational singing that will be one of the main features of the meetings.

The services will begin promptly at 7:30, and will last one hour. The revival will close with special Good Friday services which will begin at Friday noon, April 15.

Baptist Youths Form League

The L. K. Williams League organized on Friday evening, Mar. 25 following a social given for Baptist Young people by Dr. Mayberry, secretary of Home Missions of Southern California, to correlate the strength of the denomination elected as its president Reverend Thurston Lomax.

The name L. K. Williams, was chosen because of the outstanding contribution made to the denomination by Dr. Williams who is president of the National Baptist Convention, Inc. Other officers include Misses Elizabeth Hampton, vice president; Celestine Shambrey, secretary; Fay Thomas, assistant secretary; Irma Alexander, chaplain; Charlie Mae Crawford, director of music; reporters, Althera Williams and Pearl Wright; Mmes. Geraldine West, treasurer and Adrena Anderson, organist; Rev. J. L. Branham, sergeant-at-arms; and Morris Hampton, cheer leader.

Holy Week Opens Sunday Night at Trinity Baptist

The third annual Holy Week observance of the Trinity Baptist Church, West 36th and Normandie Streets will get under way next Sunday morning when three choirs and one hundred other participants will join in a triumphal procession into the sanctuary at 10:45 a. m. The mammoth demonstration will introduce the newly installed sound system, the gift of one of the members of the church to supply organ music as a background for the worship. In addition to the Palm Sunday theme the day will be known as "Better Church" Sunday, the fourth in a series of seven special Sundays in the church's "Better Trinity" program.

The Sunday night program at 7:45 p. m. will actually start the traditional Holy Week series, when the pastor, Dr. J. L. Caston, will give the first of nightly messages on "The Experiences of Passion Week". Mr. William Gibbs, the church's electrical engineer, will have charge of the interior decorations and the Senior Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Marguerite Hoard will be at its best. The services each night will be one hour in duration, opening at 8 p. m. and closing at 9 p. m. The worship atmosphere will be enhanced by an illuminated cross elevated on a mound of shrubs and flowers furnishing the only light for the sanctuary. Each service will be a "Silent Service' 'and the worshippers are requested not to converse within the church either before or after the worship. None will participate in the singing but all will be expected to sit in prayerful meditation. The minister's message will be dramatically and serially presented but no participant in the message or music will be visible. The doors of the sanctuary will be closed at 8 p. m. so that there will be no disturbances by late-comers.

The pastor said in commenting on the services: "This is our traditional way of re-thinking and re-experiencing the values of that pregnant week. The public is invited to cooperate with us in the details especially those relating to being on time and not conversing. In the past, hundreds of persons have testified that these services have helped them to re-center and undergird their lives. This year with the addition of beautiful organ music we hope to create more vital worship appreciations and thus add another service to the many already provided thru Trinity to this city. There will be no offerings and no reserved seats. Persons intending to share this privilege should be in their seats five minutes before eight to relax and begin the worship in the proper mood."

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA BASKETBALL CHAMPS

Grouped back of the large trophies representing the Southern California champions, the Million Dollar Productions Five are seen as they posed following the deciding tilt on March 26th. In this, Million Dollar beat the crack Wilshire team 37-26 at Patriotic Hall. On the following night they beat Bill Robinson's Bojangles, 40-33 winning a three game series for the Eastside championship.
To reach the finals Million Dollar won every game played in the tournament beginning Mar. 16th. The teams beaten, all of which were white, were All-Nations, 35-22; Whittier Jr. College, 45-31; Clifton's Cafeteria, 43-39, and Wilshire, 37-26. They will tour the country next season in an attempt to win the national championship.

Gaylords Win Softball Tilt

Softball, the newest sport craze, is sweeping everything before it. Bridge players have dropped their cards for the dusty diamond and the sting of leather in the mitt. Fraternities, sororities, societies—they're all doing it now.

Latest non-athletic organizations to be bitten by the fever are the Gaylord Social club and the Royal Syndicators, two groups of lads of junior college age who usually confine their activities to the dance floor and spectator sports.

Last Sunday the Gay-Lord engaged the Syndicators in the first of a three game softball series, the winner of the best two out of three to be feted by the loser sometime during the spring so-social season.

The Gay-Lords barely eked out a victory over their friendly rivals at the Ross Snyder playground, 10-9. John Hall, who hit the deciding home run of the game, was on the mound for the Gay-Lords. Ferrel Floyd twirled them over for the Syndicators.

Next Sunday's set-to will take place at 10 a. m. on the Ross Snyder softball diamond.

Lankford Brothers, Direaux Dominate Prep City Relays

All honors went to the Lankford boys of Jefferson last Saturday afternoon at Los Angeles High School where local preps held their annual City Relays.

Close on the Lankfords' heels, however, was big Tom Direaux, shot putter from Jefferson. In fact it was a Jefferson High School team all the way.

There were too many athletes on the L. A. green for one individual to go more dominating, but the boys from the Eastside high school did something resembling that anyway, winning three first places in class A events, one of which was disputed by officials ruling, and one second place.

CUTS ON CURVE

Denton, one of the speediest men in the 3-man mile Jefferson specialty, cut in front of a Fairfax sprinter on the curve and beat out the Jefferson boys the victory after they had looped in ahead of the field by twenty-five yards in the race. The Lankford boys, Saul and Sam, gave a demonstration that was a solid session of pulling for 25 yards in front of the field.

Harry Edelson's aggregation came back to take the 440 shuttle relay race from L. A. High.

Allen, Pollard, McCoy and Sam Lankford ran it.

A toss of 52 feet 1a inch netted Tom Direaux the shot put. Later Tom put the iron ball 53 feet, 1 inch from where he stood, but that mark was disqualified because it came on his eighth attempt.

Third place in the shot put was won by a youth from L. A. High, Henry Duval. Duval is the younger brother of Al Duval of football fame. Al graduated from Jefferson high school, and went on to Lovola where he was one of that school's all time football greats.

The class B shot was won by a Jefferson boy, Higbee, with a score of 47 feet, 6 inches. Later Jefferson won the class C 440 relay in 46.4, with Broadway, Dennis A. Lewis and T. Lewis doing the duties.

Jordan high school's Clarence Mabry leaped 5 feet 11 inches to win the Class B high jump.

Metcalfe Spurs Xavier Track Team Into Form

NEW ORLEANS, April 7 By Leon Lewis for ANP)—Entering its second year as track coach at Xavier university, Ralph Metcalfe is giving his track team taxing workouts, preparatory to entering one of the toughest schedules of the season's history.

Within the last two years, Xavier has produced [illegible] athletes, and it is reported, according to Metcalfe, that she shall hold a comparable position in national track and field.

Excellent material is coming drilled into form and it is expected that Xavier will produce a few outstanding trackmen.

On the team roster are Chas. Dupree, half-mile contender, Lloyd Thompson, [illegible] national AAU high jump champ, 37; and national [illegible] 38; Joshua Williamson, who was 1936 junior high jump champion and is showing great promise as a javelin tosser.

Gilden Farrow, a freshman hurdler, low and high is expected to develop into a champion competitor. He finished third in junior national 120 meter high hurdles and 200 meter low hurdles. Ralph says these kids are going places.

This year's schedule includes the following meets, carrying them into the realm of the best competition in the country:

National AAU, July 2 and 3; Prairie View Relays, April 9; Southern Conference Meet at Atlanta, April 23; Pensylvania Relays, April 28 and 29; Xavier Track Meet, May 7; Tuskegee Relays, May 14; Memphis Cotton Makers Jubilee, May 21; National Collegiate at Minneapolis, June 10.

Democrat Nine Loses 9-3 Game

Jefferson high nine was nosed out by a wide margin of 9-3 by the Washington Generals, Friday afternoon on the loser's diamond. Scow Thomas lost his first game in two seasons as the Generals rang single after single from the bat.

Errors were the chief cause of the loss of this important game. Ira Hawkins, Jefferson third baseman played a commendable game making several nice catches and getting the first hit for the Jeff team. Tomorrow the Green and Gold travel to the Fremont Pathfinders diamond.

Alphas Rule Favorites Over Kappas

Defeated last Sunday, the basketball team of the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity nevertheless is the favorite to win this coming Sunday night's tilt, the second of the three game series, at the Elks' Auditorium on the Eastside.

Last Sunday in the opening match of the fraternity post season trio, Kappa Alpha Psi trounced the Alphas 46-34. High point man and star of the evening was Magellan (Crip) Mars, former Fresno State College basketball ace.

Mars was followed closely by Bill Lacefield of the Alphas, who scored highest for his team.

In the preliminary Jefferson Hi Y defeated the Los Angeles Hi-Y, 38-12. Skippy Buford was referee and dancing to a fraternity jazz band followed the athletic exertion.

ASHFORD MIGHT SHOW

Alphas are favored to win this coming Sunday night because of the expected addition of Wilbur Ashford, member of the Bojangles team that almost annexed the championship from the Million Dollar quintet this season.

Wilbur will be supplemented by Al Robinson and the Alphas testify that's all they need to take their fellow Greeks into camp.

However the Kappas have something to say about that. They claim that the return to the fold of Drippy Williams, who was ill last week, will overbalance even the Ashford lad. Drippy, formerly of the Howard University basketball squad, has just turned in a fine season on the Bojangles team.

The preliminary game will be played by the Jefferson Hi-Y and Manual Arts Lancers, 8 p. m. is curtain-raising time.

Stocks, White Win Net Title

EL CENTRO, April 7—The team of White and Stocks won the doubles championship of the Imperial Valley in tennis matches last Sunday at Calexico. The tournament was played in round robin style where each team had to play every opponent 8 games. White and Stocks were first with 47 points, Jacks of Brawley and Hems of El Centro were second with 43 points, Bowker and Bowker of Calexico were third with 31 points. The defending champions of Yuma, Reisen and Jones, were fourth with 29 points.

White is from El Centro. Stocks, who holds the Pacific Coast men's singles and doubles championships, is a resident of Pasadena but teaches physical education at El Centro high school. Last summer with Lloyd Scott he won the national men's doubles title.

CROUCH GREATEST LIGHTWEIGHT ON COAST IN ROMO WIN

'Big Boy' Bray Tackles Patsy Pirroni at Olympic Tuesday Night

By J. CULLEN FENTRESS

Georgie Crouch proved his right to be tabbed as the greatest lightweight on the coast last Tuesday night at the Olympic auditorium when he decisively trounced Chico Romo, Mexican, in the main event.

A tough hurdle for the best of 'em, Romo was out-boxed and out-hit by the cool Georgie who won six rounds according to our count, losing two because of low blows.

Crouch's two-fisted punching was most effective in the fifth and sixth rounds. In the fifth the tough Mexican battler was hurt and Crouch nearly floored him in the sixth when a left hook crashed against Chico's jaw, spinning him around in the general direction of the canvas.

Always unruffled, no matter how tough the going is, the cool Georgie, who became a papa for the second time last week, impressed the experts with a brand of counter-punching and all-around boxing that stamps him as the best prospect for lightweight titular honors that the coast has to offer at present.

Referee Charley Randolph handled the bout.

FARR IMPRESSIVE

Tommy Farr, the Welshman, who lost to Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis, Jim Braddock and Max Baer in his three American appearances, gave the crowd an idea of his ability in a four-round exhibition with "Irish" Mickey McAvoy. Tonypandy Tommy appeared to be a better than fair country heavyweight, much too good for anything the coast has to offer in the way of opposition.

In the preliminaries, Referee Frankie Van called the Louie Fiver-Babe Brandelli bout a draw shortly after the bell rang in the first when Fiver's right pepper began gushing claret. Van claimed Fiver was butted. The crowd missed seeing a ding-dong battle.

POLEE WINS

Billy Sovse, movie actor Dick Powell's promising middleweight, was too good for "Hippo" Hipps, the latter losing on a TKO in the third. Jimmy McDaniels handling by sepia Sammy O'Dell, saving [illegible] upset Jimmy Casino, in taking a four-round decision. Both bouts were presented watches as the most popular preliminers of the evening. Odell Polee, a coming heavyweight, outclassed Jack Wofford in four. Joey Wilson stopped Jimmy Liggins in the third canto of the opener.

BRAY ON CARD

Big Boy Bray, one of the most feared heavies on the coast, has to meet an opponent from Cleveland in order to get opposition. Next Tuesday night at the Olympic Patsy Pirroni, who has fought most of the top-ranking heavies in the East, will attempt to show the "Big Boy" enough to stop his march to the top—something we doubt he can do!

Hank's 'Cut' Goes to Lynch Family

NEW YORK, April 7—Henry Armstrong's share of the purse in the Lew Feldman bout at the Hippodrome last Wednesday night went to the family of the late Charley Lynch, white, boxing judge and newspaper man. Hustlin' Hank's cut of the gate was $2150. The Lynch family, it is said, is in destitute circumstances.

Armstrong knocked Feldman into unconsciousness in the fifth round, scoring his 38th knockout in 40 fights.

Jeff's Stars to Meet L. A. Hi Tomorrow

Record-breaking Crowd Expected to Watch 2 Teams Battle at Jeff

By PAUL C. GREEN

A record-breaking crowd is expected to fill the Jefferson bleachers tomorrow afternoon as the two leading prep schools, Los Angeles and Jefferson Highs, meet for the first time in four years. The two teams will be closely watched by the fans as coaches bring their fast-moving sprinters out front.

Jefferson leading pointers in this encounter will be Sam and Saul Lankford, Tom Direaux, Thomas Ballard, Nolan McCoy, Vernon Small, Earl Floyd and George Allen.

Preston Russell, Neal Collins, Curtis Howard, Morse Actor, Henry Duvall, Neal Corkhill, Wes Stone and Cole will attempt to lead Los Angeles to victory.

The Jefferson eight man mile relay team is composed of Eddie Manley, Nolan McCoy, Louis Hunt, Vernon Small, Joe Dow, Roland Denton, Sauls and Sam Lankford. That relay should be the thriller of the day.

The Class B and C's will also offer competition to each other.

The Romans should total up nine points in the pole vault as this seems to be Jefferson's weakest spot. In the broadjump, McCoy will attempt to give the five points to Jeff.

If the Romans fail to take advantage of the broadjump and pole vault, there are no other first place honors to be given. Sam and Saul Lankford should take both first and second places in the 100 and 220-yard dashes. Vernon Small and Eddie Manley should take care of the quarter-mile, while Louis Hunt should bring home the bacon in the half-mile. Jeff high-jumpers should take care of the kangaroo duties, as Thomas Pollard jumped 6'2" with O'Neal sharing honors. George Allen, Pollard, Ubanks and McCoy should be the ones to handle the hurdle races.

The meet starts at 3 p. m. at Jefferson High school on Fulton field.

Harry Wills Goes On Fast May 1

NEW YORK, April 17—Harry Wills, one time contender for the heavyweight boxing crown, will start on his annual month-long fast on May 1, it was reported here this week by the champion's wife.

For the thirty-one days of May, Will will completely abstain from eating. He has followed this program, not as a religious test, but as a health measure, for a number of years, it is said.

Police Seek Attacker of Women

Newton street police began an imediate check of details of the numerous "brick-bat" crimes in which a number of Los Angeles women were killed, with complaint filed today by Mrs. Gertrude Washington, of 1207 East 47th street, charging that she was struck on the head with a brick, and her purse snatched as she was walking on East 46th street between Hooper and Central avenues last night.

The assailant dragged Mrs. Washington into an alley, tore her clothing and threatened to kill her, she told officers.

Driving away an attacker with a butcher knife, Mrs. Delma S. Bassa, 24, 1138 East 70th street escaped injury Saturday as a man, 6-feet tall, threw her on a sofa and tried to tear off her clothing, threatening:

"Keep still and I won't hurt you . . . Scream and I'll kill you"

RECIPES . . . NO. 1
Oysters Rockefeller
Place selected oysters, in their half shells, on a bed of rock salt in a pie pan. Make a sauce as follows: Put into a mortar the stalks and tips of fresh green onions; chopped celery; minced chervil; minced fresh tarragon leaves; crumbs of stale bread; Tabasco sauce; and the best butter. Pound together until all the fragrant flavorings are blended. Then force the mixture through a sieve and place one tablespoon of the mixture on each oyster, as it rests on its own shell in its own juice on the rock salt, the purpose of which is to keep the oysters piping hot while being eaten. Then place in a very hot oven and cook until browned. Serve immediately.

Mrs. Jackson and Miss Morrow motored to Los Angeles with Mr. and Mrs. E. Pearson. Mrs. Menzie Wallace spent the week-end in Los Angeles, visiting relatives. Mrs. Wallace has a pretty ranch home in Outay, a short distance from this city. Elder H. F. Parks returned to Los Angeles Friday aftern spending several days in San Diego.

Elder Jas. A. Jackson was in Yuma, Ariz. last week, looking after some valuable holdings. Elders Gray and Scott of Los Angeles were guests of Elder and Mrs. Jackson Sunday. Mr. Victor Jordan of Los Angeles was in town Sunday, looking up his many friends. Mr. Herman Hill of Los Angeles was the guests of Miss Lucille Lefridge and Miss Octavia Allen.

CHURCHES

Bethel Church AME

Sunday school at 9:30 a. m., with Miss Nadine Redmond as superintendent, was all aglow with interest in Easter preparations and plans for raising the Sunday school's quota of the $1.000 for the building fund.

At 11 a. m. Rev. Owens delivered a sermon from the text "Do Justly and Love Mercy". The senior choir rendered the music. The services were well attended.

Mt. Zion Baptist Church

Services at Mt. Zion, were well attended throughout the day, Sunday. Sunday school at 9:30. Supt. Mr. Hazel McFarland, was at his best in receiving the lesson, eachers were all at their posts of duty. A most spiritual and soul stirring sermon was preached at 11 o'clock by the Pastor, C. Johnson.

BYPU at 6 o'clock was also very interesting. The President, Mrs. H. Hensen being ill, at this time. Mr. Leon Morris carried on the BYPU, in a very pleasing manner. At 7:30 o'clock the Prayer band of the church, in Song and Prayers added much to the spiritual part of the service at 8 o'clock, a wonderful testimonial service was enjoyed by all. The Pastor again delivered a very inspiring sermon, after which the Lord's Supper was administered. One accession to the church was made. Evangelist Rev. Keller who just closed a two weeks revival at Mt. Zion was also present and made very interesting remarks. Many other visitors were present during the services throughout the day.

Plans are on for a most enjoyable Easter Service. Sunrise prayer service will be held, at which time there will be baptizing. All are welcome. Sunday night, the Easter program will be rendered, and is expected to be one of the best ever held. You will miss a treat if you fail to be present.

All officers of the church as well as the members are all lined up in full array to do their whole duty by the church. Rev. C. Johnson has a wonderful program and if carried out will be a tremendous help to the Mt. Zion Baptist church.

The Nehemiah Club of the church of which Mrs. Alma Yancey is president, is doing a great work. On last Thursday night they gave a Pot Luck supper. The entertainment was sponsored by Rev. C. Johnson our pastor and never in the history of the church did everyone old as well as young enjoy such a pleasant evening.

SOCIETY

The Bridge and Whist tournament given by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Jessie Thomas Post is looked forward to with much interest. The opening game was played March 31, with Edress and Washington leading the scoring. Next game will be on April 7 at 2124 Everett Street. Look out Patterson, Cotman will pass you. E. Brooks and Holomon are also in the race.

On Saturday night, March 2, the CCC boys of Camp Minnewawa gave a very nice affair in honor of those boys who are soon to be leaving camp. An interesting program was given and an abundance of refreshments served to around 200 guests. Sgt. Pounds, who was in charge of the party was assisted by Mrs. Lucille Brown.

Mrs. Susy Brown and Mrs. Ida V. Jackson were very pleasing hostesses recently to their many friends and acquaintances who now reside in La Jolla, but who were formerly of St. Louis, Mo. and Des Moines, Iowa. A most delicious buffet supper was served at Mrs. Jackson's home 2126 Verett ave. Josephine the lovely little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pace, entertained with tap dancing.

The Widows and Widowers semi-formal party at the Community Center on Thursday night Mar. 31 was one of the most brilliant affairs of the early spring season. This affair was sponsored by the YPCA of which Mrs. Rosa Baker is chairman.

Through these rallies Mr. Harris hopes to swell the treasury of the Harris Foundation (a newly formed institution) to enable this institution to launch a crusade against the social and economic perils that are threatening our Race.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Hopkins are the proud parents of a baby girl, born to them on April 4. Mother and daughter doing nicely at this writing.

CALEXICO

Fountain AME Mission

Mrs. Katherine Watts, principal of Doll elementary school, wil address the Young Men's Club at the Palm Sunday dinner program. Among the guests of honor will be the wives and lady friends of the club members.

Last Sunday at 11 a. m. Rev. Thomas Hughes was the guest preacher, delivering an appropriate and spiritual message to the Mission trustees, which was the occasion of their rally.

At 3 p. m. a large audience filled the Mission and enjoyed a well rendered program of Negro Spirituals presented by the Calipatria Harmony Eight, co-directed by Messers James Wedlowe and James Brown, plans are already underway for a return engagement of this splendid group of singers.

At the 7:30 discussion period, Mr. R. W. Bostic, presented the topic of "What the church must do in order to attract more younger married people to its inembership." Among some of the things he said was, that older church members should live exemplary Christian lives; that the program of church activities should be more vital and modern, correlating religion, economics, educaton and industry.

The Mission will observe Easter Day with a special sunrise service beginning at 5 a. m. Testimonies, sermons and Holy Communion.

The "NEGRO NEWSPAPER OF THE AIR", special broadcast by the California Eagle tonight and every night except Saturday, 8:15 Station KGFJ.

SAN FRANCISCO

Miss Mary Foy became the bride of Mr. Merrill Gadles at the the Church of God in Christ in Oakland Saturday evening, Mar. 26th. Rev. Harris performed the ceremonies.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. Joseph Foy and the late Cora B. Foy and sister of Mrs. C. S. Blackman. She was gowned in traditional white Satin and lace with a long sweeping train. Her lovely veil fell from a Juliet cap that was daintily adorned with Orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of gardenias, white snap dragons and lilies of the valley. She was attended by Miss Julia Gordon, maid of honor, bridesmaids, Misses Elizabeth Ford and Louverna Morgan. These young ladies chose peach and blue net gowns and carried bouquets of roses and snapdragons.

Mr. Elton Gordon was the best man and ushers, Messrs. E. Church and S. Blackman. After the wedding the bridal party was honored with a reception at the home of the bride's father in Oakland and a reception at the home of the sister, Mrs. C. S. Blackman in San Francisco, in Sutter street. Approximately two hundred guests were present. The happy couple received many lovely and useful gifts that will brighten their new home. They are honeymooning in Southern California.

Rev. and Mrs. Holmes of Seattle, Wash. were guests of the city with Mrs. L. J. Thrasher, at her home in Steiner Street. Mrs. Thrasher also has as her guest, Mrs. Evelyn Holliday of Santa Barbara, her daughter.

The Marina Sewing Club met on March 19th, St. Joseph's Day at the residence of Mrs. Lydia King in Willow Ave. Despite the weather conditions many members were present. Mrs. Mabel Jones was tendered a birthday surprise party and received many gifts. Those present were Mesdames; Lydia King, President; Irene Austin, secretary; Mable Jones, treasurer; Minnie Raymond, and Rose Johnson. Mrs. Johnson will direct the group in the art of embroidery, hand made flowers and fancy sewing.

Club Number Two of the Third Baptist church of which Rev. F. D. Haynes is the pastor, is to be congratulated on a fine Musical program and Tea that was given on the past Sunday afternoon. All tables were beautifully decorated, silver Tea Service was in evidence and the Hostess Table was lovely indeed, at which Mrs. William Foster and Miss Ruth Burr presided and poured Tea for the afternoon, and were assisted by members of the Club. All were attractively gowned. A delightful program was presented with Mr. Wesley Johnson, Master of ceremonies.

Mrs. Clara Frazier one of California's oldest pioneers departed this life, Friday, March 26th. She is one of the few of our group that crossed the plain in a covered wagon encountering many dangers including an attack by wild Indians. Mrs. Frazier was the daughter of Minerva and James Logan and was a brilliant character. She was one of California's first Negro Teachers, having taught in Tehama County.

Before her long illness, Mrs. Frazier was active in work both Civic and social and was great lover of music and fine arts, therefore, always possessing a smile. Mrs. Laura M. Toombs, her sister was at her bedside at the end. Left to mourn are her sister, Mrs. Toombs, Niece, Mrs. Laura Toombs Scott, nephew, Frazier Toombs, grand niece and nephews, and a host of admiring friends.

MME. WALKER HOME NOTES:

The Capra Dieum Forum met on their regular date, fourth Sunday, at the Booker Washington Center. Moving pictures of Ethiopia before the Italian invasion were shown and Mr. Harold Mason gave a brief talk on Ethiopia. Miss Franzy Lea Ritchardson gave a piano solo.

Mrs. Elma Graves was hostess to a Stork shower on March 13th honoring her cousin, Mrs. James O. Floyd, formerly Miss Alberta Butler. Those accepting Mrs. Graves' hospitality were Misses Faye Johnson, Ada Butler, June Hunt and Doris Dunlap. Mesdames Alice Miller, Milton Graves, Robert Chapman, J. A. Watkins, Chas Murray, Bernadette Hester, Lenard Cheney, Oscar Lee, Alicia Butler, Hattie Bowman, A. J. Butler, and Herbert Lofton. These various ladies are from Oakland, Berekley, Sacramento, San Jose and San Francisco. Spring flowers and all dainty colors of pink, white, and blue were in great evidence and Mrs. Floyd was made extremely happy with the dainty things received.

Mrs. Beulah Bryant, our own popular singer, successfully filled an engagement at the Wonder Club in Oakland and will fulfill a contract at the Tivoli Club in Eddy Street of this city.

Mr. Charlie Nesby is visiting Mr. Wiley Nesby, his brother and is stopping at the Harris' Apartments Mr. Nesby is of Seattle.

Rev. X. C. Runyon famiarly known as the "Little Shepherd" spoke on the text, "True Li a spoke on the Text "Confessing our sins" taken from I John 1:9. Answering the invitational call was Mr. F. Jackinga. The Choir was at its best with Mr. O. Anderson directing and Miss Inez Lang, organist.

The ladies in charge of the Chocolate Sip report a very unique affair. Entertaining artists were Mrs. Geralfdine Farmar, Mr. O. Anderson, Miss Gaynell Bowen, Mr. F. Jackingna, E. Pierson and Inez Lang. Approximately one hundred guests were present. Mrs. L. Swartz poured chocolate and Mrs. M. Wilson, hostess.

Bethel and A. M. E. Zion again held joint meetings the chief object of which is to make Negroes conscious and to better acquaint them with problems that arise.

Mr. E. B. Gray, real estate dealer of Oakland and Berkeley was main speaker, having as his subject, national and international economics. Mr. Gray also discussed the status of the Negro of America. Rev. E. J. McGruder presented two of his choirs, gospel and senior and they were at their best.

CCC Observes Health Week

Director Robert Fechner, head of the Civilian Conservation Corps, announced today that more than 100 colored CCC camps throughout the country are observing National Negro Health Week with special programs this week until April 10.

For the fourth consecutive year the CCC has co-operated with the U. S. Health Service and Dr. Roscoe C. Brown, director of National Negro Health Week. This movement was initiated by Dr. Booker . Washington, founder of Tuskegee Institute twenty-four years ago.

ELSINORE

By ANNA LOUISE THOMAS
Poe and Flint Street

Lake Elsinore moves gradually higher this week to a new 15-year high of 1258.44. A light shower of .19 inches last Friday, and a sprinkle Monday evening brought the season's total rainfall just a little short of eighteen inches.

Continued efforts to remove all obstacles in the overflow ditch brought better results with every asurance that the district will be safely protected in any emergency. The over flow mark is 12.60 feet.

On Wednesday evening, March 30, a group of talented youths from La Cienega CCC camp presented a benefit show with the Sunshine Club as beneficiaries. The club of five girls all under fourteen were trying to help on payments of a piano, purchased in December for the church.

The necessary amount was raised and presented to the Sunshine club, who on Sunday will present to the church the final payment.

The camp boys gave a very entertaining program of quartets and solos of both spirituals and popular songs also a one act play, "A Small Town Hotel Scene".

Principal actors, Mrs. Correre's daughter, Elma and sons., Mr. Hill, Mrs. Martinez, Mac McLucas. After the show the orchestra played for dancing.

The show was well attended by the Townsend club at whose hall it was given.

Mrs. Lucille Coleman, (formerly of the Coleman hotel) was married to Mr. Mathew McLucas an early settler of Elsinore Feb. 14.

The two races joined in giving her a surprise shower, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Woodruf of Elsinore Sanitarium.

The pastor of the St. Paul Holliness church, Rev. W. M. Harris and his children just returned from a (business) trip from Nevada; he reported a successful, but difficult trip due to storms and road damage.

ESTHER BROWN HEADS KFWB DEPARTMENT

The EAGLE learned this week that Esther Brown, director of the cooking school at 28th street and Paloma avenue, has been selected by KFWB to head that station's home economies department, with 15-minute broadcasts thrice weekly. The airings are heard Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 10:30 a. m.

EL CENTRO

By W. A. Payne

National Negro Health Week is being celebrated in this city. The several organizations--religious, civic, fraternal--are cooperating in the practical observance of the week.

The series of meetings began with the morning worship at the Douglass high school auditorium, Sunday morning. The meeting was sponsored by the Second Baptist church and the Beta Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority. The Sorority pressnted their Soror Dr. Ruth Temple of Los Angeles who brought a most inspiring and informative address on "Preventive Medicines". Her address covered more than the subject would imply. From her helpful experiences and information she brought a message of facts and yet in great measure it was one of hope. A large congregation greeted the Doctor and listened most appreciatively to all she had to say. The choir of the Second Baptist church presented an excellent program of music--featuring Mrs. Culberson in Violin solo; Mrs. Ruth P. McGregor in vocal solo, and Miss Lenore Cooper in piano solo and as accompanist of the several solos.

Monday morning the junior college students presented the program: addresses being given by Misses Ruby Hubert and Lorraine McGee and Mr. French Herron. Mr. Thomas Craig rendered two vocal solos. Mr. Chas. Demorst president of the class was the chairman of the meeting. Interesting programs will be given every day during the week and a program Tuesday evening by the pupils of the Adult Evening School.

The Douglass hi girls played the Brawley girls ball last Saturday, Douglass girls coming away with the victory. A return game will be played in El Centro next Saturday.

The Women's Civic and Improvement Club served turkey dinner in their club house last Thursday afternoon and evening. A large number of citizens responded to their invitation.

The Washington School Girl Reserves gave their annual carnival last Friday evening. The young people proved themselves business-minded and ran off their show in fine style. A vaudeville show, games of various kinds, the Gypsy Fortune teller, and concessions of various kinds made up an evening of hilarity and entertainment. The Hi Pass Camp fund was materially increased by reason of the successful carnival.

Ralph Corbin of the Douglass high school is the latest member of our group to be employed at the Broadway theatre. His duties vary from that of ushering to taking tickets at the door. He is making good with his new duties.

The junior choir of Johnson's Chapel, First AME church gave a delightful tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Prince on Holt avenue, last Sunday. The proceeds of the entertainment will add to the piano fund, the young people are anxious to surprise the church with a piano Easter Sunday. The following program was rendered: Piano selections by Margaret and Irene Prince ;a vocal selection by Regenia Payne. The guests were served by young people in Japanese, Cinderella and Snow White costumes. The junior choir is directed by Mrs. George Venerable and is proving a very dependable organization.

The Rev. Hayes Hayter, pastor of Johnson's Chapel AME church will be one of the speakers at the service which will be conducted at the United Artist theatre on Good Friday. He will talk from the text "It is Finished". Mrs. Ruth P. McGregor will render a vocal number. The services are being conducted by the City Ministerial Alliance.

Mrs. Ethel Towns, Mrs. Vivian Johnson and Mr. J. C. Collins accompanied Dr. Temple on her trip to El Centro. The party motored to San Diego in the afternoon, Dr. Temple having a speaking engagement there.

Mrs. Alice Gier, of Oakland, Calif. is visiting her daughter Gladys and will remain here during the remaining school month.

Phyllis Wheatley Temple of Daughter Elks will hold their annual Thanksgiving services in the Elks Temple Building next Sunday afternoon.

The Lily of the Valley Chapter of the Heroines of Jericho will hold Palm Sunday services in the Douglass high school auditorium next Sunday evening, the Rev. I. N. Whitten will preach the sermon.

Mrs. Margaret P. Owens and daughters Ruby and Clarice and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Kincaid, motored to San Diego for a week end visit, returning Monday morning.

The April number of the Douglass Chronicle features the work of the Boy Scouts. The cover design carries a number of Scouting scenes. Prof. A. E. Prince has given a fine resume of the scouting program among the boys of our groups. The paper carries the usual campus news and also has many city items. The young journalists are doing good work along the line of gathering news and featuring what they find.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR'S OPPORTUNITY IN COMMUNITY HEALTH SERVICE, IS TOLD

Radio Broadcast Year 1938 National Negro Health Week

SUBJECT: THE FAMILY DOCTOR'S OPPORTUNITY IN COMMUNITY HEALTH SERVICE

By DR. ROSCOE C. BROWN, Chairman, National Negro Health Week Committee, United States Public Health Service, Washington, D.C.

The emphasis of this year's National Negro Health Week observance is on "The Family Doctor's Opportunity in Community Health Service." The choice of this phase of health conservation signifies not only the current general interest in the problem of adequate and efficient medical and health services for all citizens of every community, but the determination to translate this interest into fruitful action, whereby both the doctors and their patients may enjoy the reciprocal benefits of cordial cooperation.

Tradition and custom too long have confined the service of the family doctor to emergency calls, consideration of acute and chronic ills, and casual contacts in his civic life. In this restricted sphere of influence and service, he has witnessed the advent of a new social order without the guidance of medical men whose many talents might have guarded against trial and error in experimental courses and guaranteed earlier and more satisfactory results.

However, it is not too late for the family doctor to render aid, discretion, and direction to the unfolding panorama of a healthy people in a healthy nation. But he must be articulate in all that so vitally affects himself as an individual and his profession as a group member of society. Makers of material things of life maintain and promote their institutions by obedience to the law of supply and demand, disseminate facts of their products and services, improve their methods, discern and adopt logical and necessary trends, and cultivate the public's goodwill. Within the code of reasonable ethics — certainly in the justifiable self-interest, the public welfare, and the appreciation of change as the eternal law of life — the family doctor can and will find the right answer to the questions which perplex him in the throes of transition and a rightful place in his chosen field . . .

. . . On the one hand, he must educate his patients — and the public — in ways of health, the importance of regular inventory of their well-being, the wisdom of early attention to incipient and minor ills, lest they become grave and, sometimes, fatal . . .

. . . On the other hand, he should join his training and experience and the influence of his professional organization with the efforts of all other community agencies, offcial and voluntary, to secure proper perspective of the need, consider proposals, and decide upon the most equitable means of providing health care sufficient for all people . . .

. . . In this approach to the solution of community health problems, the Negro doctor has a challenging opportunity to relieve the greater burden of preventable illness and death borne by his people, not because of inherent physiological differences, but chiefly as the result of social and economic conditions affecting a mass of wage-earners unable to secure a sufficient share of food, raiment, shelter, and necessary medical and health services essential to physical well-being and attainable life expectancy. Possessed of superior training and understanding of causative factors, his interest should extend beyond the ministration of remedies for those who seek his care to the related problems of community-wide significance. Thus, through social consciousness and civic responsibility, he may become active in those affairs of the community which require his talents for interpretation of the difficulties and direction of the forces which tend to promote the general welfare of his own group and, consequently, the community at large. The laws of supply and demand and survival of the fittest, persistent even in cherished human relations of modern civilization, can be mitigated in large measure by the doctor's appreciation of the humanitarian implications of his chosen career and the altruism of his professional code.

When the family doctor assumes this attitude of service for the people at large and becomes articulate in the planning and performance of adequate medical and health services for all people of the community, wise counsel and un-

Syphilis, T.B. White Man's Ills -- Parran

In an article appearing in the April issue, Survey Graphic, Dr. Thomas Parran, nationally known authority on public health and the Surgeon General of the United States, gives an interesting insight into the magnitude of the twin scourges of mankind--syphilis and tuberculosis--and tells why Negroes suffer such a high death rate from these diseases. Dr. Parran's article says in part:

"Syphilis is the white man's disease. Tuberculosis is the white man's disease. It is said by medical historians that the Negro slave brought Malaria and the hook-worm to America. If he did, the white man paid him back with usury by giving him tuberculosis and syphilis, from both of which he suffers more greatly than the races originally the reservoir of infection.

"Among the circumstances contributing to his abnormally high death rate from these and other causes, not the least is the fact that the Negro is at the bottom of the economic ladder. For, as among the third of the population known to be ill-fed, ill-clothed and ill-housed, as a race North and South--and especially in the rural South--his house is the most miserable, his clothing the scantiest, his

2 OF EVERY HUNDRED ON RELIEF ROLLS

WASHINGTON, April 7. (ANP)—Approximately two persons out of every hundred of the nation's estimated population of 127,521,000 are listed on federal relief rolls, according to WPA reports recently released. Actual figures list 2,356,875 people getting help at an average cost of $66 per person of which $10 is administrative costs.

Although the South, because of its large Negro population, is popularly considered to be a great drain on government relief funds, the survey disclosed that Montana, which has few colored citizens, is drawing proportionately more than any other state. There 3.4 percent of the population are on WPA rolls. Ohio, with 2.9 percent, and Washington, with 2.8 percent, follow in order. Mississippi, where the colored population exceeds the white, has only 1.5 percent on relief and Tennessee is the lowest in Dixie with only 1 percent.

However, the current figures show a drop from the all-time high of February, 1937, when 2.4 percent of the total U. S. population, or 3,100,000, were receiving federal aid.

T. B. Mortality Shows Gain, Loss in 46 American Cities

Interesting facts concerning deaths from tuberculosis among Negroes in 46 American cities is revealed in a recently released report compiled by G. J. Drolet of the New York Tuberculosis and Health Association. Covering the year 1936, the report contrasts the mortality rate with that of 1935, all increases or declines being made on that bisis.

The greatest increase (198%) was recorded in Portland, Oregon, with a Negro population of 1,645, where in 1935, there was only one death, in 1936, three. Next in increase is Worcester, Mass., population 1,345, two deaths in 1935, four in 1936.

Omaha, Nebr., St. Paul, Minn., and the twin city, Minneapolis, lead the cities of the nation in Negro mortality decrease. St. Paul, with 4,507 Negroes, had 8 deaths in 1935 only 4 in 1936; Minneapolis, with 4,424, had 7 deaths in 1935, only 4 in 1936; Omaha, with 11,436, Negroes had 25 deaths from consumption in 1935 only 13 in 1936.

Two cities among the 46, Syracuse, N.Y., 2,000 Negroes and Cleveland, O., 74,628 Negroes, had the same number of deaths in 1936 as the previous year, viz., Syracuse 1, Cleveland 243.

The ten cities in America leading in Negro population are New York City, 348,152; Chicago, 241,801; Philadelphia, 228,329; Washington, D. C.,

DR. GORDON WRITES . . .

(The personal influence of the physician as a therapeutic aid in the practice of medicine, or clinical psychology.)

By DR. WILBUR GORDON

Until within very recent years physiology, biology and psychology have not been on very friendly terms. Now however the mass of clinical evidence showing the satisfactory results which have been attained by applying Suggestive Therapeutics in the care and treatment of the sick, has resulted in a universal acceptance of the practice. Today Suggestive Therapeutics is as much a part of the armamentarium of the practicing physician as medicine, electricity, surgery or any other therapeutic agency, and its indications just as clearly and definitely defined. From the various forms of therapy at hand the medical man must choose the method best adopted to each particular case.

This general acceptance of Suggestive Therapeutics is certainly a step in the right direction, for the particular reason that in days gone by all too much attention was paid to the pathology and diagnosis of man's diseases and all too little attention was paid to the sick man himself. Today the slogan should be "Treat the Man. Treat the patient and not the disease".

In the application of Suggestive Therapeutics some knowledge of the fundamental principles to be employed in its use, are just as necessary as is the knowledge of how to employ any other therapeutic measure, and only when the Physician throws out suggestions that he himself does not believe, does he stoop to the level of the Christian Scientist, the bonepath or the magnetic healer. In the employment of Suggestive Therapeutics the physician should never deviate from the truth, from the path of complete sincerity, for the experience of the patient will, in due course of time, confirm or disprove his suggestions. This sincerity or lack of sincerity in the personality of the physician will determine the degree of success he experiences in the clinical application of Suggestive Therapeutics.

By the use of Suggestive Therapeutics the well informed physician is able to clinically quiet nervousness, promote sleep, aid digestion, encourage secretion or excretion, restore normal functional activity to perverted functions. The pulse can be retarded, pain relieved or inhibited, temperature lessened and even hemorrhage modified. In fact the clinical application of Suggestive Therapeutics is in daily use by countless numbers of physicians in such conditions as headaches, neuralgias, rheumatism, arthritis, constipation, nocturnal enuresis, hysteria and a host of conditions, met with in the daily practice of the profession. Its technique has to be learned and practiced just as we learn and practice any other form of therapeutic procedure, and Suggestive Therapeutics in no wise differs from other therapeutic measures, in that it is entirely in its beginning. It promises wide clinical aplication in a large class of patients hitherto difficult to treat by medicine and surgery alone.

As physicians in greater numbers come to know that Suggestive Therapeutics is an invaluable adjunct to the practice of all branches of their professional work, and come to use it more largely in their daily work, they will find themselves able to make greater contribution to the common welfare of humanity, a contribution marked by the refutation of obsolete therapeutics measures, unreasonable surgical proceedures, and institutional educational methods, all of which have been hindrances to the welfare of the human race.

Sagacious Sayings . . .

"Only a brave man would say that the present generation of youth is more chaste than the past generation." Dr. H. H. Hazen, professor of Dermatology Howard University, speaking on methods of combatting venereal diseases.

"You've got to have money to get the colored vote and we haven't a cent to spare in this campaign", Joe Guffey, Boss of Pennsylvania.

"It appear to be a necessity that people of like group must control and tutor others of like group. The fact remains that the lack of sympathy of white teachers toward colored students makes it imposible to get the best results." Dr. James M. Scott of Chicago.

"All the South's Statecraft has been directed at reproducing the conditions which slavery brought about before the Civil War. To do anything else would be to admit that the lost cause was wrong. Never that!" Selected Editorial.

'Science' Item No. 2 On Reading Budget, Claim

By Miriam Matthews

Science, the second item in our reading budget may be classified as FOOD FOR LIVING. Everyone knows Pope's saying: "A little knowledge is a dangerous thing" but how many know the following statement of James Joule, one of the world's greatest scientists: "A little knowledge is a little good and much knowledge is a great good?" Living without knowing a few things about science in this modern age of scientific marvels is like taking a trip blindfolded and thereby failing to see and appreciate the beautiful scenery on the way.

Today, science comes in many attractive packages which will please the most reluctant reader. For a systematic but enchanting survey of the whole field of science by competent authorities consult "The Nature of the World and Man", edited by Dr. Wm. Moulton. Here is romance and high adventure in science which will conduct the reader out through the celestial spaces to other worlds and back to the birth of our planet and then forward through its long geological history. It will lead you through the biological fields to ponder on the nature and properties of life and its origin, until the entire picture of the plant and animal kingdoms is unfolded before you. H. G. Wells and Julian S. Huxley offer a splendid outline of biology in their well-known and much-read work, "The Science of Life". Another excellent volume of general interest is "The Endless Quest", by F. W. Westaway which presents to the layman the main facts of science as they have come down to us through three thousand years. It does this in such a way that the reader may, in some measure, judge for himself the value of the evidence by which the facts are supported.

How do you think our world has come to be as it is? What has caused the high efficiency of our present civilization as compared with the crudeness of the cave man's methods? Only the seemingly small discoveries of people no different from you: Newton with the discovery of the law of gravitation; Copernicus, with the discovery of the fact of the solar system; Pasteur with his discoveries of the serum for hylrophobia and the existence of disease bacilli; Hertz and Marconi with their discovery of the elements and subsequent invention of radio; Whitney with the cotton gin; the Wright brothers with the aeroplane; the Curies with the discovery of radium; Einstein with the theory of relativity. These people and many others like them have become world benefactors through the inspiration received from reading about science. Think what it will do for you in widening your horizons and increasing your appreciation of the world around you.

"The Next Hundred Years", by C. C. Furnas is another book which endeavors to give science a popular though painless twist here and there. It is

THE LAUNDRYMAN . . .

Despite the hysteria so plainly discernible in stepped-up newspaper reports on world conditions, desite the defeat of the Anti-Lynching bill, despite the trials we undergo, and the bitter opposition we invariably encounter in our Racial clamor for "OPPORTUNITY"; still, to those of us who, unafraid, are possessed of an abiding Faith in the justness of our cause, and in that Invisible Power which directs the destines of all mankind, the blessed Sunlight of a New Day is slowly but surely breaking through the foggy mists of the Eastern horizon: not only for those of our group, but for the underpriviliged masses of the entire world

Slowly perhaps, but surely, out of the seeming chaos which envelops the civilized world, a New Plan of Life, a New Order of things is being evolved: in which Life more abundant. Life fraught with greater opportunities for Self-development and Self-expression, will be the priceless heritage of the heretofore mute, inglorious masses of World-Humanity.

Rounds On the Ladder of Progress

Representative Hamilton Fish, Repub. of New York told Congress the other day that "If a Negro is good enough to die for his country, he is entitled to the same treatment as the white soldier." He said that he proposed shortly to introduce a bill in Congress opening all branches of the Army and Navy to all colored citizens. Although the Republicans seem to have waited long and patiently for the advent of a Democratic administration before discovering this intolerable situation, nevertheless, no one can tell to what lengths the G. O. P. may go to cozen the Negro vote for the next election. Internal dissension between the North and South brought us physical freedom in 1860; and if we sit tight, and keep cool heads we may reap benefits equally as great today.

Gov. Bilbo and Race Suicide

The Pittsburg Courier of last week contains an article concerning a booklet entitled "Race Purity" which Governor Bilbo is sending to all Congressmen, together with a personal letter, urging them to read it, and keep the white blood-stream pure. The booklet is an argument for sending the Negro back to Africa. While reading the article, I began to wonder if the Governor hadn't picked out the wrong men to send the booklet to. It seems to me that he would get better results by sending a copy to every white man in the State of Mississippi, imploring him to "stay in his own backyard."

I am continually mystified by the yelps of the white Southerners about the threat of Race contamination by the admixture of Negro blood, and by the fact that they invariably blame the Negro for it. Surely the helpless Negro slaves did not force miscegenation upon their proud white masters during slavery days — as a result of which there are about one million mulattoes in this country today, not counting the few thousands who have successfully "crossed the line", and who are raising "white" families.

To my mind, the hysteria evinced by "Southern Gentlemen" upon this subject is no more nor less than a tacit admission that they are moral weaklings; that they cannot resist the lure of black or brown bodies. Such must evidently be the case, because rigid investigation will prove beyond a shadow of a doubt, that not one mulatto in ten thousand, born in a Southern state, is the product of a black father and a white mother. It is indeed a pity, that as the poet Burns so aptly says, "We cannae sae ourselves as others sae us".

News flashes of the nations headliners in stage . . . . screen and radio . . . run the gamut of human interest this week . . . . From politics of the screen actors guild in Hollywood . . . . to the international war scare of Central Europe . . . . this world . . . . at the moment is a stage . . . . and its actors . . . . merely men and Women!

With war clouds gathering fast upon the European horizon . . . . and a feeling of tense uncertainty gripping everyone . . . .entertainment in world capitals experienced a slump in business this week that is rivaled only by the dark days of 1914 . . .

An exclusive release to The California Eagle . . . received tonight . . . stated that all of the clamor and hilarity of Montmartre . . . mecca of pleasure seekers from the four corners of the globe in Paris . . . has been silenced . . .

The two principal streets of Montmartre . . . Rue Fontaine and Rue Pigalle . . . that hitherto had been the scene of much activity . . . are now bare and deserted . . . there is neither person nor vehicle circulating in the district in contrast to just one week ago when gaity and money spending ruled the night.

Scores of sepia entertainers made preparations for immediate sailings back home to Harlem. A few declared they would remain either thru lack of sufficient funds or . . . possibly because they merely want to be on the spot when the tempest breaks.

SAILING

From Paris to London hastily went ALBERTA HUNTER, who stopped off in France from the Hague just long enough to see that the stay wouldn't do any American any good. ALICE CARTER, sister of Benny Carter, former arranger for BBC, who was filling a spot in Fred Payne's Artist Club — frequented by continentals of all classes, also packed her bag and baggage and booked passage on an English Channel boat that takes her to the Maidenvale home of her brother. NINA MAE McKINNEY returned to Harlem by way of Australia and the STRUTT PAYNE Jubilee Singers, who have been in Paris for over 5 years, anchored in New York harbor fortnight ago.

BUT . . . Europe's loss is America's gain for no such scare has yet hit this country . . . and we hope that it never will . . . consequently we see a new high in Broadway theatre and club amusements with a sparkling lineup of stellar players on the sepia side of the billboards.

SALUTE

Topping radio fare on transcontinental hookups are three Los Angeles artists, THE BROWN SISTERS — Thelma, Melba and Velma, bronze sophisticates of rhythm, who rang up such triumphs on Sunday's broadcast that friends from New York telephoned across the country to say CONGRATULATIONS. We join the salute to the Brownies, the most brilliant 15-minutes of modern musical manuevers on the air!

Rouben Mamoulian, who recently staged and directed the Gershwin opera, "Porgy and Bess" — the stage play which gave him his introduction to Hollywood and Broadway producers, has been signed by Columbia Pictures to direct "Murder in Massachusetts".

Chappie Willet, youngest arranger-composer, was named for the staff of arrangers of the newly formed Gene Krupa orchestra.

The recent civil war declared in musical circes as to how an who should sing Scottish tunes is about settled on the fact that Maxine Sullivan will keep on "Swinging Thru the Rye" with her selection to star in Scotch Nights for Detroit audiences.

Funny man AL JOLSON evidently missed his cue last week when he led a group of actors before the City Council to propose race and cattle restrictions on property in San Fernando Valley, for a volley of protests from organizations, newspapers and leading champions of Americanism in Los Angeles spoke their piece in no uncertain terms against what they declare to be an unwarranted bit of impudence.

Writes the Hollywood Citizen:

"There are a great many persons who are very angry with Jolson and his fellow comedians for what they regard as amazing Fascist un-American activity in presenting such a petition. And mindful of the ominous threat back of Sinclair Lewis on dictatorships "IT CAN'T HAPPEN HERE" — these comedians set up a Mason-Dixon Line for the San Fernando Valley."

Agreed the Anti-Nazi press, "Hollywood Now" — "Jolson is using the prestige of his position as mythical mayor of a nearby real estate development, Encino, to attempt to act in violation of the law which governs our country. Jolson is a member of a people which at the moment is suffering the most intense persecution. Yet he asks for the right to inflict the same type of persecution on the Negroes."

Speaking for the Los Angeles NAACP, Atty. Thomas L. Griffith said: "All real Americans resent the desire of Al Jolson to foster the spirit of oppression against Negroes at a time when his own people are suffering at the hands of Nazis. His action is beyond understanding."

GUILD CANDIDATE

Enthusiasm ran high at a meeting of one of the units of the Screen Actors Guild in Ross Snyder Playground auditorium last night when campaigners for Edward F. Boyd staged a rousing rally to elect Boyd to the board of directors of the Junior Guild.

Boyd's platform includes a plank for investigation and improvement of the unemployment situation now prevailing among the ranks of bit and extra players in motion pictures.

Keynoter of the rally was Clarence Muse who said that "The time has come to put into office intelligent young men who understand social economics to help unravel the serious problems of employment of colored extras in motion pictures."

RECITAL SCHEDULED—Mrs. Zelma Watson Duke, dramatic soprano, who possesses one of the most versatile voices heard on the concert stage and who has a large following in the South and East as well as on the coast, will be presented in a recital Thursday evening, April 28, by the choir of the Avalon Christian church. Mrs. Duke possesses a scintillating personality and an enviable record in the music world. She will be accompanied by Mss Juanita Terry.

presents drama by negro radio schedule

CHICAGO, (ANP) — "Big White Fog", a drama by Theodore Ward, talented Negro playwright, will be the next presentation of the Chicago unit of the federal theatre starting early in in April, it was announced this week. Kay Ewing, the director, will feature the same group of colored players who scored a hit in "Mississippi Rainbow," produced last year.

Mr. Ward's play was scheduled for presentation some months ago but was held up after several organizations objected to its realism. It will be given at the Great Northern theatre, in Chicago's loop district.

STAGE DOOR MOVES

Lew Payton moved his dramatic training school to 1115 East 41st street this week and begins a special class for children of the Eastside, it was announced today.

Payton, veteran of stage and screen, qualifies himself as dramatic coach from years of experience in legitimate and screen productions. He was recently seen in a feature role in "Jezebel" and has played in many Broadway hits. Other screen parts include, "Wells Fargo", "Valiant is the Word for Carrie" and the current M-G-M production, "Toy Wife", starring Luise Rainer.

Several of his students were cast in the famous Gershwin folk opera, "Porgy and Bess", which played here recently at Philharmonic.

roland hayes, fisk singers thrill crowd

CHICAGO, (ANP)—Appearing before an audience that taxed the capacity of the Chicago Auditorium Theatre, the gifted Fisk Jubilee Singers and the Fisk University Choir presented a program highlighted by the appearance of famed singer, Roland Hayes, as guest solist. The choir was directed by Harold C. Schmidt.

Roland Hayes was in excellent voice, impressive because of its beauty of tone, depth of feeling and pure recital artistry. His enunciation, typical of his singing, was as flawless as ever.

His appearance on the program with the younger Fisk singers, brought him a great ovation from the delighted audience.

Women Oppose Yuma Jim Crow

YUMA, Ariz., April 7. — Two women teachers, the only Negro teachers in the public schools of this city, were lauded by townspeople this week for courageous opposition to a jim crow attempt.

In attendance at a "Good Fellowship Meeting" at which a Negro gospel singer, a Dr. Teasley, was appearing, all the Negroes were asked to leave after they had taken seats.

The two teachers, Mrs. Sadie B. Davis and Mrs. Thelma V. Sten, sisters, formed a picket line outside the hall and attracted the attention of passersby to the insult.

CALL 'HAITI' STAR TO RADIO

The WPA Federal Theatre Project's Harlem Success, "Haiti," is already attracting attention of theatrical producers and radio executives in New York.

Elena Karen, who plays Odette in "Haiti" received a letter from the executive head of station WJZ, asking her to audition for one of its programs. She was hired to appear on last Sunday night's program of 'Spy at Large'. The young actress gave an excellent radio performance as a French spy.

geegee james plays tulip, maid in "hilltop house"

"Hilltop House", heard Monday through Friday at 5:45 p. m., E.S.T. on the Columbia network, has an unusual member in its cast. Her name is GeeGee James and she is one of radio's outstanding players.

Miss James portrays the part of Tulip, a maid at the "Hilltop House" orphanage who "mothers" Bess Johnson and acts as unofficial adviser in all matters — the problems of the children.

Miss James is not a newcomer to radio. After a varied stage career, she took a chance and auditioned for the "Gibson Family" program in 1935. The part called for a maid who could sing as well as handle dialogue. Miss James sang one chorus of a well-known ballad and was hired at once by the director.

WITH KATE SMITH

Born in Philadelphia, her first experience as an entertainer was on the stage. She made a considerable reputation as a singer of popular songs, but she found that whenever the program called for a ballad of the southland, she received more than the usual round of applause. After Miss James broke into radio, Kate Smith made her a principal in her traveling show. Miss James was billed next to the singing star in a tour of the United States.

She has also appeared with Rudy Vallee and with Louis Armstrong and his orchestra.

fine response greets hall johnson classes

Eighty-five men and women met on Friday night at the opening of the new greater chorus at Jefferson evening high school. Hall Johnson, noted director of colored choruses for movies, radio and the stage is leader of the new group, to which all adults, experienced or inexperienced are invited. School administrators hope to see the group grow into one of the nation's great choruses, with several hundred voices.

"This is a splendid beginning," said Mr. Johnson after the opening session. "I have confidence that we can develop a chorus with excellent opportunities to present dramatic and radio offerings. Los Angeles has always supported music, and interested support is the first step toward success."

All adults interested in singing are eligible to attend. Rehearsals are held each Friday at 7 o'clock at the Jefferson Evening High School, 1319 East 41st Street. No fees are charged.

etta moten takes radio leave

CHICAGO—Etta Moten, will take a five-day leave from her current broadcast, "Cabin at the Crossroads," heard over NBC's red and blue networks each week day morning, it was announced here today by the Chicago Concert Bureau. Miss Moten, who was just recently signed to the Quaker Oats program on a 13-week contract, purposely omitted April 5 to 11 from the agreement so that she might fill concert engagements effected prior to the radio contract.

Her broadcasts will be resumed on April 13.

According to the NBC officials, Miss Moten has received more fan mail than any other participant on the program, and she expresses a deep gratitude for this tremendous support from the radio audience she has been endeavoring to please.

chicago artists stage exhibit

CHICAGO, (ANP)—An exhibition of painting and sculpture by Chicago's artists got underway Saturday and will be open to the public until April 23 at the Chicago Artists Group galleries.

Exhibiting paintings are Geo. Neal, Charles Sebree, Margaret Taylor, Bernard Goss, Charles White, Yessain Charles Davis, William Carter, Ann Wilson, Lorrainel Williams, Elzier Cortor and Henry Avery. Sculptors represented are Joseph Kersey and Clarence Lawson.

steam heat wakes sleeping 'gators

Somebody forgot to turn off a steam jet when he went to lunch today and precipitated a brief panic on the Paramount lot.

The steam jet led into a pool of water on Stage 7.

The pool was full of alligators, which had been used this morning in scenes for "Her Jungle Love", new starring vehicle for Dorothy Lamour and Ray Milland.

In a little while, the street between the stage and the studio restaurant was alive with alligators, stired from the lethargy of their winter hibernation by the rising temperature of the water. Trainers from the alligator farm rounded up their charges, herded them back into the pool and turned off the steam.

ERNEST WHITMAN AND GEE GEE JAMES—As they appeared on NBC radio programs when they won seventh place among radio's leading comic personalities. Miss James is currently cast as the maid in "Hilltop House", five times a week on the Columbia network. She not only acts with the best but sings equally as well. Her splendid characterizations win new friends every day.

ON THE AIR..... .....AND IN IT

By Sally Bell for ANP

I wouldn't be surprised if the colored woman who won the sweepstake and who appeared on Eddie Cantor's program last Monday turned up with a radio contract after the performance she gave Cantor's audience.

She had the crowd laughing so much, one would think her part had been written by seasoned scripters; but it was purely ad lib, and her typically Negroid interpretation of the King's English added not a little to the humor.

She said she didn't think Uncle Sam was going to have as much fun with his share of her winnings as she was, becuase she intended to "get drunk" all by herself. I think she had something when she said that although she hadn't seen her husband for eleven years, he'd turn up now.

It might interest you radio fans to know how diligently artists strive for perfection in their work. A most interesting case is Clarence Muse, baritone, who, although he has been singing on stage, screen and radio for almost 40 years, is extremely rigorous in his self-criticism, and still studies each number diligently as if he had neverseen it before. The new recording machines provide him an excellent method of self-correction; he keeps one in his home, and every radio presentation is faithfully put on wax by his wife. When he returns home, he plays the record over, noting each fault and picking falws no other critic would hear.

Interesting Notes: The Grand Street Boys Association honored Bill Robinson with a combination farewell and advance birthday party in New York Thursday, two days before he left for the coast to begin work on a new Shirley Temple starrer. The advance natal celebration was in commemoration of his 60th birthday on May 25th. He had just finished personal appearanoces at Keith Memorial, in Boston, where he was held over for a second week . . . A new relief drummer is filling Chick Webb's shoes while Chick lets the docs perform a minor surgical operation at Hudson View hospital, N. Y. He entered the hospital last Thursday. . . Nat Williams, (Satchmo) Armstrong and his orchestra will play for the Cotton Carnival ball . . . Maxine Sullivan appeared on the Rudy Vallee program last Thursday with her husband's orchestra (John Kirby's Onyx Club band) and sang two Scotch songs in swing time; she's doing plenty of guesting these days, being a very popular swingster, and will appear on another program next Thursday . . . . Andy Kirk, currently at Chicago's Grand Terrace Cafe gets another weekly shot from NBC, making four total pickups. . . .Kay Kyser, maestro of the tobacco sponsored program which went coast-to-coast beginning March 30, has a manservant who always answers the telephone with a lengthy routine which goes something like this: Amos Smith who is answering de phone am de private secretary cook, chauffeur, body-guard and special representative of . . . . Mistah Kay Kyser.

etchings new offering of khj radio

With its tiitle changed from "Tapestries in Bronze" to "Bronze Etchings." but losing none of the class and flavor of Earnest W. Anderson's readings of universal poetry and the music of Bob Mitchell, KHJ continued this delightful program Monday night from 8:45 to 9 o'clock.

Winning widespread popularity on its West Coast hookup, which is broadcast from Mexico to Seattle, "Bronze Etchings" features Negro poetry, and for the presentation of choice gems in literature and poetry, is one of the outstanding better offerings of current radio fare.

Young Mr. Anderson a graduate of the School of Speech Northwestern University is the first colored student to win the coveted Ralph B. Dennis Speech medal which he was awarded in 1933.

With Bertha Powell singing incidental music in the original Tapestries offering. Anderson was a part of KHJ's staff when Variety awarded that studio the plaque for showmanship in 1937. He was included in the montage or review of all outstanding programs airing from that station.

eagle reviewer pays visit million dollar productions on site of old ray studio

By JOHN KINLOCH

The offices of "Million Dollar Productions", producers of "Bargain With Bullets" and "Life Goes On", are leased in the Louis Weisse studios, one of the larger small lots, on which Adventure films, Spectra Pictures and the short and serial department of Columbia also operate.

Situated on the sight of the old "Charles Ray Productions" concern, the studio boasts a permanent cattle-town street on which it is estimated that more than a hundred gun battles have been fought. The storm scenes of Sam Goldwyn's "Hurricane" wrere shot there, and, with the exception of Warner Brothers, it is the only red-brick studio in Hollywood; the rest are done in white stucco.

Off in the center of an adjacent field there is an immense wooden structure which is some where in the last stages of delapidation. On one of the great collapsing sides there is sprawled in faded yellow paint" Charles Ray Productions". A million dollar institution, this was once Hollywood's greatest property. Ray, an old man, now finds occassional extra work in the major studios.

Selection of the Weisse lot for the "Hurricaine" storm scenes was based on the fact that the studio is situated on the side of a hill—thus making it possible for the huge quanities of water used to wash easily down toward near-by drainage pipes. During production, the surrounding area was knee deep in water for days.

Million Dollar occupy the most extensive offices in the studio, housing Publicity, Distribution, and Production chiefs. They also possess exclusive rights to the studio projection room, where, during production, "rushes" of each days takes are nightly reviewed. However, most scenes of "Life Goes On" were either shot on location or at the old Harry Cohn Studios, which boast the added attraction of permanent enterior sets. This applies also to the new musical opus, "The Duke is Tops", starring Ralph Cooper and Lena Horne, shipped from the East by enthused talent scouts. The new feature, reports Harry Levette, Big man of the Publicity department, is way up in the $30.000 budget class—which is not bad for a company that, just three pictures ago ("Bargain with Bullets") was way, way down in the sub-quickie $10.000 catagory. Stills of the new effort are very encouraging, although a story synopsis has just the opposite effect. It's the old one about the inseperable vaudeville partners splitting up because party of the firts part thinks he or she, as the case may be, is standing in the way of party of the second part. Then, of course, party of the second part gets in trouble and p.o f the f. p. returns to save the day with a sensational fade-out musical number. But, of course, with sufficiently entertaining specialties, the old grey mare might kick in—since it is remembered how successful was Paramount's "Swing High Swing Low" (Carole Lombard and Fred MacMurray) based on an identical story.

An interview with William Nolte, M. D. P. Director, disclosed that the megaphonist distinctly prefers to work with stage folk. He bases this preference on the fact that "legit" players usually possess a superior command of vocal chords, and because "they naturally know more about acting". Clarifying the point, Nolte states that the average first grade movie performer appears in approximately four productions per year. This he contrasted to the stock work in which the majority of stage recruits must "gain their spurs". In such organizations, he stated a complete change in the company's bill of fare occurs weekly—making it possible for the young aspirant to portray all types. Hence, when finally launched on Broadway or Hollywood, no portrayal can completely throw him, since there is very little chance that he has not had to cope with a similar characterization at some time throughout stock experience.

When we inquired concerning the average stage performer's disposal toward "mugging" (over-acting) in front of the camera, Nolte replied that this is natural since on the stage it is necessary to "project" one's performance in order that action might be equally clear in fifteenth row gallery as first row orchestra. The director stated that when dealing with a "legit" artist new to motion pictures, his first move is to explain the increased subtlety demanded by the camera. To this, we pointed out that the explanation had obviously failed in the cases of certain "Life Goes On" performers. Nolte responded with something enent "old dogs" and "new tricks", though he held that a few more screen portrayals on the part of offending (over) actors would most likely clear up the difficulty.

Plans for future production are limited to a yarn glorifying Negro G-men. It was also revealed that the company does not consider Negro historical material suitable for screen transalation at the present time. In addition, ther is an unwritten agreement between Million Dollar and the Hays office that no "racial" films be produced.

footlight flickers

By FRANKLYN FRANK for ANP

NEW YORK.— Imported from the coast at a figure said to compare favorably with that commanded by the foremost name bands, FLOYD RAY, director of California's greatest orchestra and glee club, has taken Harlem by storm.

A singing trio (exceptionally pretty girls) known to radio and stage as "IVY-VERN and VON", sing together about as well as any trio we've listened to during the past ten years of theatre reporting . . . and we are trying to take in all races and colors . . . in this statement.

FLOYD RAY more nearly approaches JIMMY LUNCEFORD as a choral director than any leader we've known with the exception of the one and only - DON REDMON.

RAY, a youngster, at least that is the way he impressed his audience, easily lived up to all of the high pressure advance notices we received over a period of two months prior to his sole eastern appearance(we meant to say New York appearance) and doesn't need to style himself and outfit as the . . . "Sepia Fred Warings." Floyd Ray Glee Club and band can move right along into stardom under its own motive power. Frank Schiffman and Jimmy Marshall of the APOLLO THEATRE, are to be congratulated upon bringing FLOYD RAY into this theatre.

AMERICA'S FOREMOST juvenile stars . . . NICHOLAS BROS. played for one week at the Apollo and as usual received salvo's of applause throughout the week.

Beginning Friday, April 1, the inimitable . . . CAB CALLOWAY moved in to Harlemville . . . . lock stock and barrel to say nothing of a hundred choice . . . HI-DE-HI-DE-HO'S . . . and the "Sold right out sign" is being polished so that it glistens like burnished gold. Man and boy what a . . . box office magnet is the husky voiced, perpetual motion exponent of jazzmania.

JOE BOSTIC—crack radio announcer, is planning a regular Saturday afternoon feature on his clever "Highlights of Harlem" journeys that in less than six months should bring important money into his jeans.

AVIS ANDREWS, golden throated soprano and late star of "Virginia" bows only to MARION ANDERSON in the realm of song. She appears on the same program with the Calloway entourage. . . at APOLLO THEATRE.

TEDDY HILL, with a crack band that has been receiving notices from the country's leading columnists, will soon open an engagement here in New York The week that Teddy does appear on the bill will also usher into local theatres first flicker showing of the HENRY ARMSTRONG —BABY ARIZMENDI fight pictures.

SIDEWALK--

with the Emancipation Proclamation. The majority of Negro publications — deeming their battle won — simply ceased to exist.

Soon, however, it was found that the race still needed a champion — that exploitation and discrimination had not automatically disappeared because the Fourteenth Amendment labeled them illegal. Again liberty was crushed, and again the Negro newspaper fought.

Here in our own city, the California Eagle came into being and, under the guiding hand of its founder, J. J. Neimore, was outstanding in the protection of the rights due all American citizens. To Editor Neimore, Negroes of the state are indebted for the Bribbler Bill, introduced during the "Gay Nineties", which was the first legislation to render illegal the exclusion of Negroes from hotels, places of amusement, cafes, and so on, in California. It was through him that Senator Bribbler was first interested in the measure, and no other man, white or black, did so much to aid its passage.

However, the Negro newspaper remained journalistically illegitimate — purely a medium of propaganda. But from that time forward a great change began to take place. Certain papers commenced national distribution, and many developed special feature departments—hitherto unknown. Comment and propaganda became relegated more and more to their rightful positions on the editorial page or under properly by-lined columns. Papers were serviced by great national news agencies, and many operated their own print shops. Within the past years, J. A. Rogers of The Pittsburgh Courier was sent to far-off Ethiopia as a special war correspondent, while, Miss Fay M. Jackson, stage and screen editor of The California Eagle, covered the coronation of King George VI. Both assignments were epochal milestones in the maturity of Negro journalism.

Still, the profession has not yet found itself. Standards are not firmly set; there are too many glorified hand-bills functioning under the title "newspaper" and generally degenerating the profession. Large national publications, in a frantic attempt to corner greater circulation, have allowed themselves to become too localized. For instance, there will appear on one great, lifeless page, news of Reading, Pennsylvania, Santa Barbara, California, Springfield, Illinois, and several intermediary small towns — all written by rank amateurs and of absolutely microscopic news value. Editorial comment is still do often injected into news items.

But in the future these things may be remedied. A revitalized, reorganized national news service, with possible wire facilities, would be a tremendous asset. And, if a goal of journalistic purity is desired, make-up and composition must veer away from the present sensational tendencies; while the assumption of less hysterical editorial attitudes would also be welcomed. All this can be accomplished, however, through but one medium — the determined, wholeheartedly support of the reader. Disregarding the stupendous service newspapers have rendered the race, there are those who consider if fashionable and sophisticated to knock and slander our journals at every possibe opportunity. This attitude must be changed — it bespeaks ignorance, ingratitude, and lack of vision. It is in the hands of the average reader to transform our newspaper into journalistically flawless creations. And how can we do this? Through intelligent, loyal patronage of advertisers in race periodicals. Such a course would benefit the consumer, the young job-hunting journalist or printer, the newspaper as a commercial enterprise, but most of all the race itself, which, by this action, would retain its most vital and efficient weapon. A "big stick" which no industrialist, business man, or politician would dare defy.

rate college band finest in country

PRARIE VIEW, Texas, (ANP)—Emerging from comparative obscurity to one of the finest college bands in the country in two years, is Prarie View's 65-piece student band, under the direction of Captain Will Henry Bennett.

In addition to the band, P. V. now has a 30 piece symphony orchestra which will soon be ready for concert engagements. Another unit under the direction of Bennett is the P. V. Collegians Swing band, which has gained fame throughout the Southland in Collegiate circles.

Included in the collegiate band are some girls, P. V. being one of the few colleges, as far as is known, to carry girl members. The two young women who sing in the orchestra are Beverly Glenn and Betty Merrell.

Tuskegee's Department of Agriculture Best of Kind

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala., April 7. (ANP)—A fact not generally known throughout America is that Tuskegee Institute's Department of Agriculture is the greatest of its kind in the world, combines a greater acreage and has more live stock than any other single agency in the land.

The school has 600 acres of land under cultivation, 1800 acres of pasture, 115 head of Dairy cattle, 350 head of swine, 100 head of sheep, 25 head of milk goats, 44 head of horses and mules, modern farm machinery and a campus consisting of 125 acres of beautifully landscaped ground with which to support the theoretical training of students enrolled in the school of agriculture, headed by Prof. J. R. Otis.

The Dairy consists of 3 major breeds of cows, an ice cream manufacturing unit, churns, and other facilities with which to give training in dairy industry and production on a level equal to that given in many of the well-equipped schols of the country.

The Animal Husbandry Division has two major breeds of swine, one of sheep, and two of beef cattle .The Horse and Mule Division consists of a variety of Percheron and Coach horses, a 1200 pound jack and other facilities which give the student the necessary livestock with which to demonstrate sound Animal Husbandry practices.

The Poultry Division has 5 major breeds of birds and a flock of 1,000 laying hens, a six thousand capacity Master Buckeye Brooder and other facilities with which to adequately train students wishing to major in this field.

The School of Agriculture consists of a staff of 27 persons, 73 per cent of which have their Master's Degree in the science which they represent. Two curricula are offered. These lead to: (1) B. S. in Agricultural Education, (2) B. S. in Technical Agriculture with majors in Animal Husbandry, Dairyng, Poultry Husbandry, Crops and Soils, and Landscape Gardening.

The Department of Agricultural Education turned out 32 graduates in 1937, 31 of which have been placed. 60 per cent of this number found employed in states other than Alabama.

FOLK SONG FESTIVAL

WEST CHESTER, Pa., (ANP) —Before a mixed audience that jam packed Philips Memorial auditorium on the campus of the State Teachers' College here, the West Chester Community Center last Wednesday presented a Negro Folk Song festival under the direction of famed violinist Clarence Cameron White, Harmon medalists and a member of the National Recreation association.

A large list of patrons and patronessess, both white and colored supported the event.

The concert lasted more than an hour, and aside from its great entertainment value, was noteworthy because it focussed the attention of the public on the notable work being done here kids will thrill to serial showing 'lone ranger'

"The Lone Ranger" heard and popularized over radio, now made into a movie with all the thrills and suspense of its original version intact for movie fans, starts as a serial at the popular Tivoli Theatre beginning Friday.

Each chapter is crammed with action and exciting adventures of the mystery rider whose call: "Hi, Yo, Silver!" as he rides into the night after some Robin Hood act, will echo for every boy and girl (and mom and pop, for that matter) the theme call of today's biggest screen thriller... According to manager Roos, special prices are being offered to all school kids, even bud and sis of High school age, with Saturday matinee novelties well worth the price of admission.

MUSICIANS & ORCHESTRAS

By Freddy Doyle

EDWARD BAILEY, president of Musicians union, local 767, AFM, receives scads of compliments for his chorus work in "Jezebel", current Warner Brothers' hit of the old South.

HERBERT (violin - guitar) ROSE and his Danceland ork begin their fourth year at this popular uptown dance hall this week. Before entering this field of entertainment, Rose was a concert violinist, having made several successful cross-country tours and, years ago, was known as the violin prodigy of the southland.

among colored people by the Community Center, backed by the cooperative efforts of both Negroes and white people.

In his pit are: John Smith, alto sax; Leonard Davidson, brass; Sam Franklin, trumpet; W. G. Woodman, trombone; Everett Walsh, drums; Gibson Dennison, piano, and Rose, violin-guitar.

bark of six-guns beat tempo for hit songs in first negro musical western ever made

Six-guns bark to the rhythm of red-hot swing, ebony-hued outlaws "shoot it out" with the John Laws, and love and virtue triumph in an exciting and glorious climax, as Negro romance climbs into the saddle for a song-gallop over the western plains, turning the wide-open range beyond the Rockies into an open-air Dixie night club, in "Harlem On the Prarie", the first all-Negro musical comedy western screen melodrama, which will be the featured attraction at the Tivoli theatre biginning Sunday.

Produced by Jed Buell, for Associated Features, Inc., "Harlem on the Prarie" is one of the current season's genuine novelties and has the added distinction of being the only picture with an all-Negro cast to be accorded a first run in one of the so called "white" theatres on New York's Broadway.

In addition to a cast of well known Negro artists, "Harlem on the Prarie" is notable for its melodious songs, the majority of which are rendered by its talented cowboy hero, Herbert Jefferies, to the accompaniment of two nationally known quartets the "Four Tones" and the "Four Blackbirds".

The story of "Harlem on the Prarie" written by Fred Myton, concerns the adventures which the hero encounters when he attempts to circumvent the efforts of "Wolf" Cain and his gang of outlaws to lay hands on a gold cache, hidden away some years previous by a hord of outlaws among whom was a vendor of patent medicines, the father of the girl whom the hero loves, but who, suffering from a nagging conscience, is doing everything in his power to regain possession of the gold and return it to those from whom it was stolen many years ago.

The cast consists of Herbert Jefferies, F. E. Miller, Manton Moreland, Connie Harris, Maceo B. Sheffield, Spencer Williams, Jr., George Randall, Nathan Curry, Edward Brandone, James Davis, the Four Tones and the Four Blackbirds quartets.

pony fails to appreciate comic's wit

F. E. Miller, the well-known entertainment artist, may be humorous on the stage, screen and over the air, but, with his long legs forked across the lean back of fractious western pony—that's something else again.

Mr. Miller's first experience as a horseman occured during the production of "Harlem on the Prarie" in which he share the comedy honors with Mantan Moreland, and which picture is the current featured attraction at the Tivoli theatre.

After Miller had been "loaded" on the apparently docile critter's back he waved his ten gallon hat shouting: "Get out of my way—because when I ride I flourish."

Whether it was the waving sombrero or Mr. Miller's comic boast that upset his horse will never be known, but the pony took the bit between his teeth, pinned back his flea bitten ears, and started to gallop across the plains.

Mr. Miller "flourished" 'tis true but he also wrote his weekly radio script standing on both feet, with the family mantle as his desk.

WANTS TO HEAR HIM TALK

Alred, lynch governor of Texas and pal of Gov. Merriam, has spared the life of a condemned Negro a few days to permit him to participate in a radio talk-fest staged weekly by the convicts.

A LESSON THE FLOOD FAILED TO TEACH

Disaster makes all men brothers. Racial feeling, religion, or what-not are forgotten as the work of rescue and rehabilitation are carried forward to make all comfortable and happy. We might add that the reverse can't happen here, but another guess is due for that very thing occurred right here last week in our own Christian, peace-loving Los Angeles County.

The incident is related by a member of a crew of colored workers engaged in clearing away the debris, muck and disease-laden mud and slit left by the flood.

Tired, thirsty and foot-sore, they were clearing around a home all but blockaded with filth left by the flood, a little girl appeared and yelled: "Come quick, mother. Is that a nigger?" "Yes," replied the good Christian mother. "They're niggers. Come inside, quick!" At this point, one of the workers was entering the yard to get a drink from a water faucet, but the tender-hearted, humane mother beat him to the punch by showing up with a fierce, over-sized police dog which she chained to the hydrant.

This is the class from which comes opposers of anti-mob and other human legislation that would give protection to the life and property of a persecuted minority.

It's a pity some good man, woman or child was swept into a watery grave and such an old hell-cat spared to spread her vicious propaganda of hate. However, someday the flood may return and claim its own!

WILL THIS BE THE ANSWER?

Superior Court judges and other officials, City and County, answered summons to testify in a case involving the distribution of political handbills at Shrine auditorium during the lecture of Mrs. Roosevelt. In an attempt to prove that circulating such literature was a common practice, when asked the question if they had not witnessed the passing out of such literature, all of the judges save two "didn't recall such an incident", and if so it had slipped a cog in their memory tank.

When these dispensers parade on the Eastside in quest of votes and the question is put as to why Negroes are kept off the Grand Jury, wonder if any of them will "remember" of having not seen Negroes on that jury, and declare they thought the group was always represented?

It's a pretty tight spot, as they supply the names from which the jury is drawn.

It's going to be worth your while to be present and hear them blunder and stutter down the charge.

The Roosevelt plan to reorganize the government and thereby vest unlimited powers in the President, is the most dangerous thing ever placed before Congress.

Under a smoke screen during the past years of giving the government back to the people, the President emerges in the open and displays what he had in mind at the start: Give the government to Roosevelt. Of all his theoretical ideas of government this reorganization is the most fantastic of the whole works.

A taste of dictatorial powers, the high-handed reign of Hitler and Mussolini has so intoxicated Mr. Roosevelt that he too desires to stand at the head of the helm and dictate the course and policy of a government purchased by the blood of our forefathers and handed down to be ruled and governed by the people.

However, the Roosevelt opiate failed to put the nation to sleep and the Roosevelt dream of a seat along side of the mighty Hitler and Mussolini will never be realized.

Every move on the checkerboard of politics by Roosevelt is brick in the pavement intended to place him in the White House for a third term. He neither affirms nor denies this charge. On the other hand, all of his predecessors have openly and loudly declared that they would not accept a third term and declared such a thing un-American and unfair to the people. With Roosevelt, O no — he wants to live and die as the ruler of America.

COMMUNITY CHEST

When Los Angeles' children are stricken down by enemies too powerful to resist, when vicious diseases of bone and muscle twist and torture childish bodies, the Community Chest agencies are ever ready to extend their kindly sympathy and aid in giving the child his chance in life by making him whole and healthy. Splendidly equipped hospitals, distinguished surgeons, gentle nurses are provided for small victims of infantile paralysis, tuberculosis of the bone, congenital syphilis, and the thousand and one other ailments to which humankind are subject thru no fault of their own.

Services in hospitals, clinics, sanatoria, preventoria, maternity homes for unmarried mothers, child guidance clinics, and related institutions and health education agencies were made available last year to 16,300 adults and 69,100 children through the public's generosity in subscribing to the Community Chest fund.

Creed and color raise no barriers in this humanitarian work of restoring wasted bodies to usefulness.

Negroes of Los Angeles during this week are observing National Health Week, and thousands of visitors are thronging the health agencies of the city to see at first hand the magnificent facilities and splendid services that have been provided for the sick and afflicted of the community

DESCENT FROM POWER

"How the powerful have fallen!" might well describe the sudden, calamitous descent of Richard Whitney, ex-president and ex-governor of the New York Stock Exchange, and leading Wall St. figure. To his position of esteem in the business world he brought shame, and to his associates, shock and bewilderment. A psychologist with the sharp lance of Poe might be able to discern the telltale point during Whitney's early youth at which his moral integrity became sufficiently weakened, so that later in time of crisis it might give way altogether — as it did, and as Whitney himself so frankly indicated. Yet the shock which his misdeeds caused throughout the country constitutes proof of America's deep belief in scrupulous honesty in business dealings. And the rarity of such incidents as this gives welcome evidence that the vast majority of citizens are firmly adhering to the belief.

THE BLIND SHALL SEE!

Sight for the living through the eyes of the dead — this is one of medical science's latest and most dramatic thrusts to shatter the dark world of the blind, and those suffering from optical injuries. Within recent weeks several cornea transplantations from the eye of one person to the eye of another have focused keen interest nationally upon this amazing technique. Recently San Francisco specialists contributed another surprising chapter. They sought, though thus far unsuccessfully because of legal complications, to have city officials permit eye surgeons to make use of the delicate cornea tissues of bodies in the morgue and in medical schools. Experiments have shown that such tissues from the eyes of persons recently deceased is of decided value when transplanted to the diseased eye tissues of the living. Here lies promise of hope, the coming of dazzling light, to some 250,000 blind and near blind in America today.

PRESSURE POLITICS

Like having steam dangerously close to peak level in a boiler, while the engineer sleeps, the pressure along European boundary lines remains nervously close to the explosive point, but it does not explode. It is even conceivable that Europe's two great peace-seeking powers, Britain and France, will succeed in averting that ever-threatening holocaust. They will achieve this, judging from their attitude toward events in Austria, and last week in Poland, not by driving a mailed fist into the war-makers' midriffs, but simply by giving the dictators everything they want without resistance. This permits the bellowing would-be belligerents to let off steam before the explosion point is reached. This is not a pleasant policy for Britain and France to follow, but it serves to keep temporary peace. Meanwhile, they doubtless continue to feel much as you and I would if we knew the boiler in the basement were apt to blow up any minute.

Boasting Rides to a Fall

Everybody except the nations which are driving out the Jews is aware of the world's debt to this persecuted people, which they fail to recognize because they are possessed of such a large opinion of themselves.

Strange how at this one period in the world's history Japan in the Orient, and Italy, Germany and Russia in Europe are each sure that they have a mandate from Providence to lead the rest of mankind. This intense nationalism is like a disease.

The United States went a-jingoing at the time of the Spanish-American war. But because of its mixed elements it was saved from going far in that direction. The Negro is an active factor in keeping the nation in equilibrium. His continued demands for equality, though not granted, are reminders that in principle at least, one man is as good as another.

Germany, Poland and the other anti-Semitic European nations lack this brake on their boasting. In further effort to bolster their self-esteem, they will chose between fighting it out or setting up some victim because the play has to have a villian. Since the nationals want to play the hero, the hated role is given to the group which has not the power to refuse.

But Jews cannot always be the foil for nationalism. Pogroms and migration will move them off the stage. Then there will be need of some other expression of the great-I-am spirit. It will be war.

It is bitter for the Jews to serve the world as a kicking post. But their day of suffering will pass. Not so with the jingo spirit. It is being built up by dictators everywhere. Germany for Germans, a more or less reasonable policy in the light of common practice, has grown into Germans for Germany, not only Germans who live in Germany, but Germans everywhere.

For the moment the United States is so shocked at the gross inhumanity which accompanies the efforts of this overgrown ego to impress the world with its power that it forgets it has done the self-same thing within its own borders, with race the basis of division.

Europe's awful example bids America stop before it is engulfed in the same madness. What if one group not only thinks it is better than another, but actually is better! The test of a good man is not his high opinion of himself, but how he serves his day and generation. For the moment might rears itself above all else, but its very size defeats it in the end.

GYPING GARAGES

Dear Editor:

I feel it my obligation to inform you and the general public of a deplorable racket being practiced at a garage, located on the Northwest corner of Central Avenue, just across the street from a Drive In Liquor and sandwich spot, one block north of the Dunbar Hotel and two blocks from your printing office.

I had an occasion to drive into this spot March 5, 1938, around 7:15 P. M. I needed headlight service and I knew I would not be able to travel very far on such a rainy night past the law with no lights. here was some adjustment to be done on one of the headlights and it was agreed that it would cost 75c. After the work was completed and I asked for the bill I was informed that the charges were $4.95. Of course this caused a heated argument. Seeing that I could get no understanding I called the Radio Car who on their arrival said, they could not interfere as it was a civil matter, but they remained on the scene until some satisfaction was gained. Finally they seeing my determination, offered to accept $1.99 and give me a paid in full reciept.

After making several inquiries or many persons I have been informed that this is a nightly practice of this spot, quoting one price and demanding payment of another price when job is done. It seems to me that we would save ourselves money and trouble if we were to BOYCOT such an establishment not only because of their GYPING ability but also because they do not see fit to employ a Negro mechanic. After all, concerns of this kind that are allowed to operate on such a large scale and reap the profits that we know they must gain, should be made to feel the necessity of patronizing those that assist in making their livelihood possible. At least half of their working Mechanical Department should be Negro men.

It has also been reliably stated that during the recent rainy spell the employees of this HI JACKING spot specialized in running their tow car up and down the Avenue (causing passing motorists trouble) with their splashing water, which got into the ignition of the passing cars and they became stalled. This of course offered a splendid opportunity for the tow car to perform another swindling deal by charging outrageous tow prices plus other costs that they should automatically find necessary.

Why should this racket be overlooked. I call this to the attention of others that they might stand up for their rights for once they understand that a concerted effort is being exercised among motorists and taxpayers to rid the community of such RACKETEERS, the sooner we will build better business along the Avenue. They will know that they must protect the patron.

I do appreciate your allowing me this opportunity to tell my experience and I wish to commend you and yours for your sincere and faithful interest.

Yours Respectfully
AN ARDENT EAGLE FAN

TOO MUCH NEGRO

Dear Editor:

Of course it is easy enough to sit back and criticize when some one else is doing things, but I too, share the opinion of Mr. Paul O. Jackson, that there is too much "Negro" in the broadcast.

I also resent the expression: 'this is for the Negro populace of Southern California.' How would you feel if you turned to a station just in time to hear a voice saying "This is for the white population of Southern California? Suppose all other races made such remarks?

Should not a radio broadcast be for the public?

Is it not?

All these years they have never reminded us that their broadcasts are for the whites. Even in their jokes the announcers have been careful not to offend ANY, especially us.

Now, must we go on Jim Crowing ourselves and accusing others of it?

Other than this, I am proud of the California Eagle, Staff, and especially Mrs. C. A. Bass.

Most respectfully,
MRS. I. PARKS

THE POOR AND THE BANKS

Dear Editor:

The Feb. 24th issue has a question in the first column that I'd like to answer. Why will not banks lend money on property in the Negro district?

Because banks are interested first, last and always in money. Wages are low and a very large percentage of Negroes at present are unemployed. White people, who get low wages or are employed are overlooked by the banks too. If everybody on Central avenue had a secure job at good wages and people on the Westside were 70 per cent unemployed, the bank's money would flow to Central Avenue.

By the way, Mr. Harris of the F. H. A. at a luncheon meeting, recently was asked if the FHA would make loans in the Negro district and he assured us it would. But it looks as though no poor person, white or colored, could get a FHA loan. The U. S. housing act is our only hope.

Yours sincerely,
A Reader
Noll Higman

P.S.: Banks discriminate against poverty, but public schools have no business to do so. Good for the P.-T. A. of 52nd and Hooper ave. school in their fight for better conditions.

The law or ruling that a school cafeteria must be self-sustaining, practically prohibits cafeterias in poorer neighborhoods, the very place they are needed most.

How many of these 40 year old school buildings, I wonder, have a cafeteria, and how many if the 40 are on the Eastside.

FAMILY DOCTOR'S

determine the respective provinces of private practice and public health and provide reasonable personal rewards for the service he renders. The present great and challenging opportunity of the family doctor abides in the need of adequate and efficient health service for his community. Progress and success depend upon his unselfish and unbiased participation in the analysis of the need and the consideration of ways and means to effectually meet it. The problem presented is not one of contest or competition. Rather, it is one for generous cooperation to secure sane policy and sound procedure in the conscientious effort to make available to the people, individually and collectively, the maximum benefits of medical science and health facilities . . .

. . . The far-seeing vision and practicable wisdom of the late Booker T. Washington, apostle of racial uplift and interracial goodwill, founder of the National Negro Health Week, were not more manifest than in his call for the Annual Tuskegee Conference in the year 1914, at which the National Health Week observance was projected. He invited representatives of the profession of medicine, departments of health, and various voluntary health, educational, social, and economic agencies to join counsel and demonstrate the possibilities of a frank approach to the urgent problem of the Negro's health. The foreword of the report of this memorable and productive conference, under the title, "The South and the Conservation of Negro Health," read in part:

"The Workers' Day of the 1914 session of the Annual Tuskegee Negro Conference considered the conservation of Negro health. Addresses were made by the president of the Louisiana State Board of Health, the president of the Alabama State Board of Health, and the president of the National and the Alabama State associations of Negro doctors. The National Child Welfare Association of New York had an exhibit at the conference showing how the health of children might be conserved. The Louisiana State Board of Health sent its two Health Cars to the conference in order that the thousands of people attending the conference might see in a graphic form how sanitary improvements might be made and how diseases might be combated."

So, with the perspective of the philosopher who comprehends the whole of a problem and the realist who considers immediate need and opportunity, he understood the dual relationship of the practice of medicine and the administration of public health, and the corollary of social and environmental factors.

food ration most out of balance.

"Add to poverty is ignorance. For except in a few cities, public school budgets, thin at the best--and especially in the rural South--are divided disproportionately between the white and colored. Rarely has a Negro child the opportunity to go past the elementary grades in the rural schools. Rarely does a rural school offer him more than a few months a year.

"The Negro can not climb over the barriers to his competency unless he is physically sound to begin with. Unless he is given the opportunity for health, he can take profitable advantages to no other opportunity. Not as a matter of charity, but as the expression of justice and wisdom for all races concerned, public health must be the base line of effort —the point of departure for all successful programs of educational and economic improvement."

EAGLE SILVER JUBILEE

Mayor Shaw Extends Felicitations

Turning aside from a busy routine of city and national affairs that have engaged his closest attention over a period of several months, Mayor Frank L. Shaw, Monday night, watched the 160th Infantry march in review in his honor at the National Guard Armory in Exposition Park.

Also in the reviewing stand were members of the Los Angeles City Board of Education watching the colorful parade under the direction of Col. Wayne R. Allen, commander of the regiment.

GIVES TROPHY

For winning the championship battalion rifle tournament in 1937, Mayor Shaw presented a trophy to the Fifth Battalion. Col. Allen reciprocated when he presented the Mayor with the city flag, in behalf of officers and members of the infantry.

Feted earlier in the evening at the Officers' Mess hall, the Mayor expressed the city's appreciation for "the splendid and patriotic work of the 160th regiment".

"In time of peace we applaud your ever ready vigilance. I trust that we may never again have to see you march forth to battle a foreign foe," the Mayor stated.

The ROTC units from the University of Southern California at Los Angeles and the Los Angeles High school also passed in review before the city's chief official.

MAYOR FRANK L. SHAW

TUESDAY'S ACTIVITY

Tuesday when an EAGLE representative called on Mayor Shaw and asked if he had a word of congratulation for the West's greatest and oldest Negro publication on the event of its silver anniversary (under present management) the man who shoulders the affairs of this great city took time off to extend felicitations personally.

Infantry is Reviewed By 'Hizzoner'

Mayor Shaw, like Mayor LaGuardia of New York, has always, shown a great interest in his colored constituents. It is vivid in the minds of black Los Angeles that from the time he entered public office, first as supervisor of the Second Supervisorial district, Negroes who had been neglected so far as white-collar jobs were concerned, even though they applied through the medium of the Civil Service examination, were given consideration by him. Under Shaw, the rising tide of color in public office started and the walls of discrimination were undermined.

FIRST ATTACK

At the General hospital, the first attack was made when Supervisor Shaw ordered the tearing down of walls between colored and white nurses in the institution's dining hall. Even the this city was full-grown — with a population of nearly a million, fifty thousand of which were Negroes, there was but one colored fire station and no fire captain when Shaw became mayor. Today there are two fire stations and two captains.

Newton street, the police station in the heart of the Negro district, could boast of no Negro in an official position prior to the Shaw administration. Now Newton Street Detective Bureau is headed by a Negro; the Juvenile department has a young, well-educated Negro at its helm; a policewoman and a stenographer are employed there for the first time in the history of Los Angeles.

Also in the city library, new, dark faces have been added. Hence, the Negro population of this city will keep faith with Mayor Shaw, who, no doubt, has grown unpopular with some who do not approve his policy of fairness.

Farley Case Widow Files Suit

The widow of one of the deputy marsnalls whom George Farley killed when they attempted to evict him from his East 22nd street home, sought $5,000 damages from the City Council, Monday, contending that her husband, Leon W. Romer, died of injuries received in performance of his official duty as deputy marshall of the Municipal court.

The council referred the petition to the City Attorney and to its finance committee.

Awaiting trial for the murder of Romer and another deputy, Thomas B. Crittenden, Farley is championed by a defense committee of local citizens. In a recent interview with an EAGLE reporter, Farley stated, "I was insane or I couldn't have done it".

It is believed that a plea of "not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity" will be submitted in his case. Many have drawn parallels with this and the Paul Wright "insanity" case.

Child Injured

Nathaniel Roark, 3-year-old son of Mrs. Julia Roark, of 745 East 45th street, received painful injuries yesterday when his arm was caught in a washing machine wringer.

Emergency hospital physicians treated the lad for simple fracture of the forearm.

SENATE COMMITTEE TO PROBE CIVIL SERVICE

WASHINGTON, April 14. — Various types of discrimination in the Federal civil service, including discrimination against Negroes, will be investigated by a committee of five senators under a resolution introduced by Senator Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana and passed by the Senate last week.

Senator Ellender, one of the bitterest opponents of the Federal anti-lynching bill, has long been interested in reforming certain evils which he charges are rampant in the civil service. He claims that the main proposal of his resolution is "to investigate the discrimination that has been occurring in the various government departments under civil service, with reference to promotions, transfers, disciplinary measures, etc."

It is a well known fact that Negroes are discriminated against in the civil service, not only in the securing of appointments after they have passed the examination, but, in the few places to which they are appointed, they are greatly restricted as to promotions and transfers, and are held strictly to disciplinary measures. The postal service, although it has many Negroes in it, is allegedly notorious for its discriminatory treatment.

The NAACP wrote Senator Ellender concerning the investigation, asking permission to appear before the committee and submit records showing "abuses regarding Negroes qualified for civil service appointment". Senator Ellender has not specifically noted the Negroes in his resolution or in his correspondence, but the language of the resolution is so broad that cases of Negro discrimination can be easily included.

The hearing is scheduled to be held in the latter part of April.

Today's edition of the EAGLE marks the beginning of the Silver Jubilee of its present management. In the columns of this issue appear congratulatory messages from civic, social, religious and business firms and individuals who did not forget the long struggle we have made and are still making to keep the West Coast in the front lines of Negro Journalism.

It may be said without undue sentimentality that the sweetest remembrances of all are those that came unsolicited, straight from the heart. The

Britain May Recognize Ethiop's Fall

LONDON, April 14 — Laying the groundwork for a new friendship with Italy which she hopes will react to the detriment of the Rome-Berlin axis, Great Britain, for the first time, officially avowed her willingness to recognize the conquest of Ethiopia Tuesday. In 1935 she led the League of Nations 52-country boycott of Italy.

One of the main terms of the Anglo-Italian pact now being drafted in Italy, recognition of Mussolini's annexation of the African empire is now assured.

Without waiting for formal signing of the pact, the British government asked the League of Nations to put the question of Ethiopia on the agenda of the League Council meeting opening May 9.

Britain is to request that the league free its members of a pledge not to recognize the fruits of Italian aggression.

Formal recognition of Ethiopia as Italian then could follow. Observers state that this new action is a final and fatal blow to Ethiopian independence.

Loss of $300 Causes Redcap Quiz

Harold Walker Held as Texan Claims Porter Stole her Purse at S. P.

Sixteen Southern Pacific station redcaps were detained and questioned by Union Pacific and Southern Pacific investigators of the robbery of a white woman train passenger who reported the loss of $300 late yesterday, as she was being transferred from a Santa Fe train to the east-bound Challenger by one of the Espee porters.

The woman claimed that her only contact was with a redcap as she changed trains in the S. P. station. According to her statement, the porter placed her coat over her bag while her back was turned, removed it and identification tags on the rest of her baggage to prevent trace of the theft.

She described the porter as being "tall, brown and having a shuffle like Stepin Fetchit".

Her purse was later found in one of the mop rooms of the station, empty.

Homes of Walter Moret, Justin Porter and Harold Walker were searched by investigators in an effort to trace the theft.

Walker was held for questioning as a suspect and later taken to jail for further investigation but was released this morning.

Most of the porters are under suspicion and a general shakeup is feared for the entire crew of colored men unless the real theif is found.

Girl Wins Yale Award

Miss Lucille Sarah Baker, of Des Moines, Iowa, has been awarded a $1,200 fellowship in the graduate school at Yale university in the division of general studies.

Miss Baker, a resident of Des Moines since 1932, is said to be the first Negro ever to receive a fellowship in the division of general studies at Yale. She will take up her studies there next fall. She now is a teacher in A. M. & N. college, Pine Bluff, Arkansas.

ATTENDED DRAKE

Miss Baker came to Des Moines six years ago to work in the law office of Charles Howard, attorney in Des Moines, Iowa, and attended Drake university. In 1933, she was hired by Professor J. W. Studebaker, then superintendent of schools here, as a member of the Des Moines public forum office, being the only member of our race to hold that position. After two years of this work, she was appointed secretary to the Des Moines City Assessor. She was loaned by the City Assessor to the Iowa Emergency Relief Administration in 1935 and 1936, at which time she served as Statistical Director of a Federal Survey of Negroes in Iowa. She is a charter member of Beta Gamma Chapter of Alpha Kappa Sorority.

At the conclusion of this work she resumed her undergraduate study at the University of Iowa, where she was graduated in 1937

ADULT EDUCATION

During Miss Baker's work in the Des Moines forum office she became interested in adult education, and her studies at Yale are expected to fit her for a career in the public forum field.

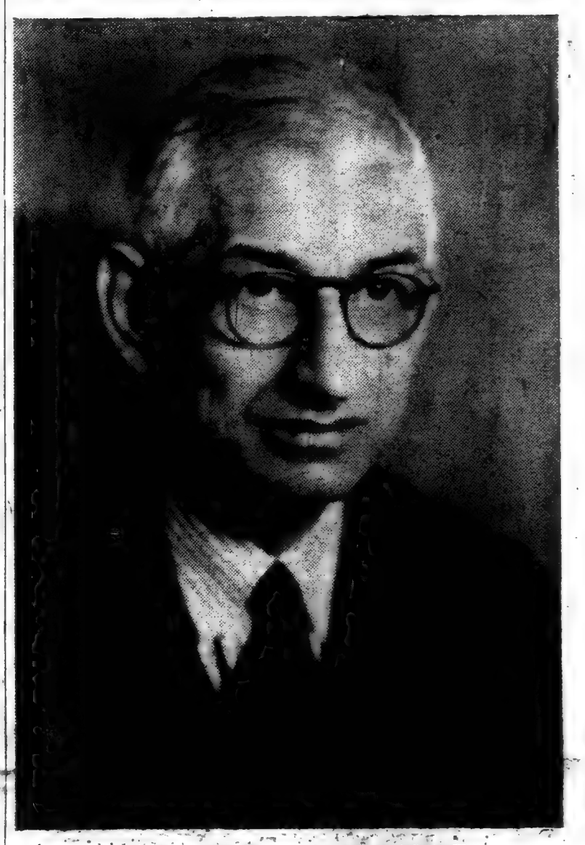
Miss Baker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Baker, live in Fort Dodge. A sister, Vivian is a student at the University of Iowa.

She Handed Him a Glass of Water; He Drank Glass

Police physicians were baffled this morning by a case of attempt of suicide by Louis Lee, 1434 East Adams, who, in the throes of a heart attack, asked for a glass of water, chewed up the glass and tried to swallow it.

Lee was rushed to Georgia street hospital and held under observation.

Quaffling a container of antrol and washing it down with a full glass of purex was the solution chosen by Louise Nettles, of 3422 McKinley in an attempt suicide this week. She was given emergency treatment and released from Georgia street hospital.



Believed to have grown despondent over pregnancy, Mrs. Virginia Jones, aged 27, drank iodine, yesterday to end it all.

The woman's act was reported to emergency hospital by her husband, Archie Jones and it is believed she will recover.

SPECIAL BULLETIN!!

President Roosevelt believes colored people and their friends should continue to fight for Federal Anti-Lynching legislation, he made clear this morning in a White House conference with a delegation of six persons, headed by Walter White, secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The committee discussed frankly with the President, the Anti-Lynching Bill and the long filibuster against it, together with implications involved. The conference lasted 20 minutes.

It was the judgment of the committee that the President favors Federal legislation against lynching and has done so, but did not speak out for it prior to this time because he did not think it would aid the cause. The committee consisted of Dr. Charlotte Hawkins Brown, president, Palmer Memorial Institute at Sedalia, N. C.; Miss Frances Williams, of the National Board of the YWCA in New York; Carl Murphy, editor of the Baltimore Afro-American; Dr. George E. Haynes of the Race Relations Committee of Federal Council of Churches; A. Phillip Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, and Walter White.

WINS SIGNAL APPOINTMENT

HERALDED ... in business was this week's appointment of Dr. Albert Baumann, above, civic and business leader, as head of an agency servicing the Eastside with the "Hot Point" electric ware. Dr. Baumann was selected to head the agency by the Markson Electric and Radio company, with main offices at 3908 So. Western. A retired pharmacist, Dr. Baumann has been a successful business man in Los Angeles for a number of years, coming here from New Orleans, La., where he held similar prominence in the Negro colony.

JOLSON NOT TO BLAME, SAYS ENCINO OFFICIAL

Letters received by the EAGLE this week concerning the Al Jolson petition, allegedly to bar noncaucasians from the Encino-Van Nuys district, were many.

As promised in last week's edition, the EAGLE now publishes exclusive communications from the agents of Mr. Jolson and the Encino Chamber of Commerce:

Encino Chamber of Comerce:

Board of Control-Al Jolson, Edward Everett Horton, Graham Baker.

To whom it may concern:

In regards to the matter of a petition governing certain zone restrictions in Encino, I, as secretary of the Encino Chamber of Commerce wish to bring out several points that are in dispute:

1. This petition was not fostered by Al Jolson, Mayor of Encino . . . it was sponsored by Mrs. C. Herring who lives at 4543 Lennox Ave. Van Nuys, California, together with other women who live in that district.

2. The petition was not directed at any race or creed, but only asked that established deed restrictions covering livestock be enforced by the City of Los An-

Clarence Muse-- A-TALKIN' TO YOU

Look at the desert FLOWERS BLOSSOMING over the hillsides, the budding fruit trees, THOUSANDS and THOUSANDS of grapes showing a pale green young foliage and begin to FEEL WITHIN YOURSELF that certain TIRED FEELING. You know without looking at the calender — it's SPRING. It's in the air, everywhere; children riding their BIKES DOWN COUNTRY roads week days, any hour of the day, TELLS YOU, WITHOUT asking, it is HOLY WEEK, just a few days before EASTER. The school folks have a holiday. The old folks begin to think — SOME OF NEW SPRING CLOTHES, house-cleaning, and most of the good people find time to GO DOWN ON THEIR KNEES to worship the end of LENT and the suffering of JESUS CHRIST on the CROSS, GOOD FRIDAY. There is a great SORROW at these homes and great JUBILATION next SUNDAY MORN when HE IS RISEN! Spring, hand in hand with the TIME STEP of life, instruments of music ornament the ears of the universe. To those who are not bearing ARMS against his fellow man, this is a glorious time of the year to stimulate his SPIRITUAL SELF, but those who are persecuted by dictators are like a THOUSAND of CHRISTS carrying a cross to the top of a hill that has no TOP. Endless are their days of suffering, woe is but a stepping stone in their path of confusion. And here we are in this land of freedom.

CLARENCE MUSE

We still have hearts that beat on time, blood still normal and SOULS TO LOOK UP on Easter Morn and sing praises. Sing with loud voices, HALLELUJAHS that reach the HEAVENS. Friends, we are still lucky, so, if you cannot walk on SUNDAY MORN with a New Easter bonnet, put a red GERANIUM in your hair and WALK bare-headed to some spot, either a church, mountain top, or even your own backyard and GIVE PRAISES! We cannot stand still; SPRING is a tonic, even if it does make LAZY-BONES out of MANY of us. IT HAS THE POWER of making us walk together and even think together, WHEN WE GO INTO the WIDE OPEN SPACES and JUST LOOK!

Admit Nine to Sigma Delta Pi

When the Sigma Delta Pi, national honorary fraternity, admitted into its distinguished ranks nine Junior College Students, notable among the nine pledges which were chosen because of their outstanding ability and grades, were two race students attending UCLA. They were Miss Williana Coleman, brilliant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Coleman, who lives at 1208 E. 34th street and Cosby Earl Turner, handsome intellectual and student of Spanish.

The scene of the initiation was in the fashionable Knickerbocker Hotel on Hollywood Blvd., and Ivar, the heart of the cinema city.

The affair, attended by over one hundred of its members, lasted five hours, Dr. Bayliff of the Spanish department at UCLA, delivering the interesting, short after-dinner speech.

ASSISTANCE LEAGUE PLANS SERVICES

On Sunday morning, April 24, in the historic Eighth and Towne Avenue AME Church, the Assistance League of the Outdoor Life and Health Association will sponsor another one of their series of "Save a Life" services. The invitation to worship at First A. M. E. was extended by the pastor, Rev. H. Mansfield Collins. Among other dignataries, Mrs. Mary Mc Leod Bethune and Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass have been invited to be guests of honor at the services.

SAN PEDRO

On last Sunday afternoon the members and choir of Williams Chapel AME church, worshipped with Macedonia church. A wonderful sermon was heard. On the fourth Sunday of this month we will worship with the members of New Hope Baptist church in Wilmington.

On the sick list are Mrs. John Albert Faulk afid Mr. David Linned.

The Du Bois Social Club met at the home of Miss B. Warren, 206 North Pacific ave. The discussion for the evening was the pre-Easter frolic to be given April 16 at the Elks' Temple, 520 Ester Street.

Bridge was the game for the evening, prizes being won by Mrs. Bobbie Tane, Mrs. Verna Green, and Mrs. Gladys Clark. The meeting adjourned with the home of Mrs. Irene Atkinson cited for the next session.

15th Annual 'Guide Right' Week to Be Observed

TOPEKA, Kans., April 14, —(By G. James Fleming for ANP) —For the fifteenth year, Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity will observe "Guide Right" Week, April 24-30 when in eighty college communities and other cities, guidance conferences, forums and mass meetings will be held in an effort to help Negro youth to choose wisely their studies and their vocations.

In some cities, the programs will be sponsored jointly with the school boards and will be open to all youths, regardless of race, at the request of the school authorities.

This coming Sunday, Easter Sunday, has been set aside as Proclamation Day by the fraternity, when from pulpit and press, Negroes will be called to support "Guide Right" and to join in making its program increasingly effective for the youth of the land, according to announcement from Attorney R. J. Reynolds, of Topeka, the national Guide Right director.

Started in 1923, when the nation was paying much less attention to guidance than it is now, the four-point objective of the movement is to help Negro boys to think through their further preparations for life in terms of a definite vocational choice; to provide friendly contacts between the youths and successful men in various fields; to encourage a proper parent-child relationship upon the subject of guidance, and to inspire within the community at large a concentrated movement toward extending the opportunities of Negro youth.

"I am gratified to learn of the interest of your fraternity in Guidance," wrote Dr. John W. Studebaker, the U. S. Commissioner of education. "In view of the growing complexity of our civilization and the increasing demands being made on everyone, your Guide Right Movement has special pertinence at present. I congratulate you on your willingness to attack the problem and wish for you every success."

PIONEER CLUB

The regular meeting of Pioneer Club will be held at the home of Mr. Will Gray, 5209 S. Compton Ave., Tues., April 19, at 8 p. m. All Pioneers are urged to be present. Special program. Mrs. E. A. Warner, president; Mrs. N. Warner, secretary.

CCC Camp Has Anniversary Fete

Entertaining approximately 250 guests, Camp La Cienega celebrated the fifth anniversary of the Civilian Conservation Corps, Sunday, April 3, at the camp. Afternoon's festivities started with a baseball game between the "Groundhogs", composed of men who work on the Forest Service projects, and the "Overhead", men who work in camp. The "Overhead" won after nine hard fought innings, 11 to 10.

After the game guests were taken on tours of inspection of the camp.

TVA Probe to Cover Negro Discrimination

NEW YORK CITY, April 14—Data on the discrimination against Negroes by the T. V. A., is being assembled by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and will be presented to the joint committee from the House and the Senate which is to investigate the T. V. A.

Negroes are not allowed to live in the government-built town of Norris, Tenn. at Norris Dam. In the vast construction work through the whole T. V. A. area, Negroes were restricted to certain types of work and did not have any supervisory positions. Even on concrete-pouring gangs, there were no Negro foremen. There were no Negro white-collar workers. No Negro skilled labor was employed except in a very few instances when it was engaged in the construction of houses for Negroes only.

Illini Students Back Race Fight

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., April 14. (ANP)—White students at the University of Illinois are squarely behind the 101 Negro students here who are opposing racial discrimination in cafes and restaurants This cooperative action has followed the recent Circuit Court jury verdict in favor of the Hanley-Lewis Confectionary Co., defendant in a $2,000 law suit brought by four colored students who had been refused service in the store's cafe.

New York Has Anti-Lynch Law

ALBANY, N. Y., April 14. (ANP)—A state anti-lynching bill with strong teeth, sponsored by Assemblyman Kreinheder, white, Buffalo Republican, was signed Tuesday by Gov. Lehman and immediately became law. The bill defines a mob as an assemblage of three or more persons which attempts to exercise any power of correction or punishment.

Rakestraw Addresses Local NAACP

What President Thomas L. Griffith called "one of the finest speeches ever heard in the Los Angeles Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People" was given Sunday by Reverend E. W. Rakestraw, pastor of Wesley Chapel, at the NAACP meeting in Hamilton M. E. Church, 18th and Naomi.

Addressing the assemblage on racial solidarity, Reverend Rakestraw pointed out that the Negro's greatest need is unity and that he may hope for little advancement until this is acquired.

At the conclusion of the Reverend's address, Mr. Griffith National Association President, called for open discussion. It was discovered that the oration had provoked much and conflicting opinion among members.

Reports on the sale of buttons in the campaign to raise funds for the deficit in the anti-lynching program showed that the public reaction had been highly favorable, however, it was pointed out that further mass purchases by clubs, fraternities, etc., are necessary before the Association reaches its goal of $200. The buttons sell for ten cents each.

Negro Scouts Cause Concern

NORFOLK, Va., April 14. (ANP)—The national Scout office is very much concerned with the development of scouting in colored America. Scouting is not an experimental thing for colored America, but is a definite program for American boys of all races. A. J. Taylor of New York, assistant national director of Interracial Scouting declared here Sunday afternoon as main speaker at a public mass meeting held in the Dunbar School auditorium.

YOUTH OF CONFESSED SLAYER OF EMPLOYER MAY STAY EXECUTION

Affidavit From Mother of Oakland Boy Aids Cheat of Gas Chamber

OAKLAND, April 14. — The California state law that a person under 18 years of age cannot be executed may save 17-year-old Elmo Hammond, confessed murderer of his Filipino employer, from the lethal gas chamber.

Since entering a plea of "Not guilty and Not Guilty by reason of insanity", Hammond's attorneys have received an affidavit from the boy's mother in Muskogee, Okla., stating that Hammond was born in Plummersville, Ark., July 28, 1921. The birth record from Plummersville must substantiate that.

Investigating officers for the Contra County District Attorney's office claim they have received information which gives the youth's age anywhere within range thirteen to thirty years.

First degree murder charges were filed against Hammond on March 28th. Trial was set for April 27 in Contra Costa County at Martinez, Calif. Hammond claims that in October, 1927 he went to work as a ranch hand for the Filipino, Alibangbang, near Knightsen, California in Contra Costa County. He was supposed to receive thirty five cents an hour for his labor and no extra work for his room and board.

According to the boy's statement he worked continously for Alibangbang until March 1 and during that time received a pair of pants worth $7.00 and $6.05 in money for his labor. He claimed to have asked the Filipino for his money on many occasions, but was put off with excuses.

Finally on March 1, while riding with the Filipino to the city of Oakley, he said he was presented with a bill of $6.00 he was supposed to owe from room and board. A quarrel ensued and the Filipino threatened to put the youth out of the car. Hammond then refrained from further argument and returned to the ranch where he again asked for money. The boy stated that he told Alibangbang at that time, that if he did not give him his money he was going to kill him.

He then left the ranch and rowed across a slough to a fisherman's cabin. He took the fisherman's gun, rowed back to the ranch and confronted Alibangbang.

At his request for the money, Alibangbang assertedly sneered and backed toward the closet where he kept a gun. After a play of words, the Filipino assertedly moved toward Hammond and Hommond shot him.

Hammond then rowed back across the slough, replaced the gun and gave himself up to the police.

The youthful slayer requested that the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People handle the case. H. L. Richardson and Walter A. Gordon were appointed by the association.

Sentiment is somewhat against Hammond because of his deliberateness in rowing over a mile to get a gun.

He had come to California from Oklahoma to seek his fortune. His father, a Baptist minister, is dead. After two years of high school he wandered over the country and has been arrested in several places for vagrancy.

T. B. Charge Shocks Physicians

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 14. (ANP)—The nation's leading Negro physicians and surgeons attending last week's 27th annual meeting of the John A. Andrew Clinical Society at Tuskegee institute were appalled to read news reports of the reputed statement by K. W. Grimley, white, executive secretary Jefferson County Tuberculosis Ass'n, that Negro servants are responsible for transmitting the T. B. germ to their white employers.

Addressing the Birmingham Real Estate Board in session at the Redmont hotel, Speaker Grimley was reported as declaring that T. B. is the most easily prevented and cured of all infectious diseases; that contrary to popular belief, the disease is not confined to the physically weak and financially poor, but is widespread "among persons who are able to keep Negro servants", and that a larger proportion of Negroes have tuberculosis than whites.

OBVIOUS INFERENCE

Many of the more than 200 physicians attending the Clinic at Tuskegee institute said the inference in the official's statement was too obvious to be contradicted, and that it was a direct slur on Negroes, his intimation being that servants are a contamination in the homes of their white employers. Should this "nonsensical belief" become general, the colored doctors stated, it would doubtless result in the wholesale discharge.

What action the doctors will take was not announced. but from reliable sources it was learned the matter would come before the executive committee of the National Medical Association.

Suit Against Joe Louis and Roxborough Dismissed

CHICAGO, April 14—Joe Louis won a dismissal Saturday in Federal Court as a defendant in a $100,000 slander suit brought against him and his manager, John Roxborough, by Sheridan Bruseaux, a private detective.

The court decided that as both Louis and Bruseaux are Illinois residents, the case could not be tried in a Federal Court.

The detective's suit claimed that Louis and Roxborough caused a story to be printed in a newspaper in July 1936, charging that Bruseaux had attempted to extort money from the heavyweight champion.

Unemployment Figures in St. Louis Announced

ST. LOUIS — A recently completed analysis of the age groups, sex and race of the 61,173 St. Louis residents who reported themselves totally unemployed at last November's Federal Unemployment Census — reveals that Negroes, comprising 11 percent of this city's population, were 29 percent of the unemployed.

Boy, 16, Gets Reprieve After Whites Protest

RALEIGH, N. C., Apr. 14. (ANP)—Mann Smith, 16, scheduled to die in the lethal chamber Friday for allegedly raping a white girl on March 31, 1937, was granted a 30 day reprieve Monday by Gov. Hoey after a group of about 20 white sociology students at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, presented a petition to the governor asking that the youth's life be spared because of his age and he be committed to an institution for juvenile delinquency.

Simultaneously, Commissioner of Paroles Edwin Gill announced a hearing on the Smith case would be held April 21. Unless further action is taken, the reprieve automatically sets the youth's death for May 20.

ASK SUPPORT FOR OAKLAND PARLORS

OAKLAND, April 14—A campaign for patronage of mortuaries and funeral parlors owned by Negroes instead of those owned by white is in progress here in the Bay Cities district. Through the local Negro newspaper and civic associations the public is being urged to call in a Negro undertaker when the occasion arises.
